VOL LX NO. 21 — THE WINCHESTER, MASS., STAR, FRIDAY, JANUARY 3, 1941 — PRICE SEVEN CENTS

SOME HIGHLIGHTS OF 1940 IN WINCHESTER

Physical Changes in Center—New Business Houses Here

The year 1940, has witnessed some noticeable changes in the physical development of Winchester. Building figures for the town bettered by more than $90,000 those of 1939, 80 new houses having been built at a cost of $508,048.00 besides the $66,000.00 group house, the erection of which aroused so much discussion. Total construction of all kinds for the year was $663,654 including non-taxable property.

Chief among the many changes in the business center was the removal of the old gate-tenders' shanty with the substitution of electrically controlled gates for the old manually operated variety. With the gate-tenders' shanty went the old Police Box at the Winchester Drug corner, the traffic lights now being controlled by an officer on the upper floor of the new brick traffic tower substantially on the site of the old shanty. How well the new setup will function is something for 1941 to decide. Doubts have been expressed by many well acquainted with traffic problems and the human element in the square.

The general appearance of the center has been greatly improved by new store fronts installed at the Splendid Lunch, Hevey's Pharmacy, Winchester News Company, Randall's and Richardson's Market. Randall's and Richardson's have been completely remodelled inside so that in appearance they are entirely new. Extensive renovation and improvements were carried out in the other stores, and several apartments were opened over Richardson's.

Aside from the improvements in the center and the general building, the handsome new Miller Memorial Tower and Chimes were completed at the Church of the Epiphany, adding much to the appearance of the building. The tower and chimes were dedicated Nov. 17.

Other changes which will be more apparent as time goes on are the breaking up of the Stephen C. Langley estate opposite the Country Club on Mystic Lake into the Brooksmouth development, and the division of the huge Peter Brooks estate on Grove street overlooking the lake into Brooks Park. Many memories of by-gone years attach to these beautiful estates.

Although actual operations have not commenced, plans were sent out and preliminary steps taken for a big new development north of the center where property from the Palace Lunch through the old Cannonball Hotel is to be razed to make way for a big super market to be occupied by the First National Stores.

The fine new professional building, housing offices and technical equipment for physicians and dentists on the site of the old Calumet Club was officially opened with an "open house" on May 26.

New Business Houses

Of chief interest in Winchester's business development during the year was the opening of Filene's local store in the Locatelli Building March 2. From the beginning Filene's has been popular with Winchester shoppers and has had to enlarge to accommodate its ever growing clientele, many coming from out-of-town to shop there.

Along with Filene's new impetus has been given to local business through the opening of Winchester stores by Edette's Gown Shop, Colten-Abelson, Trousseau Linens; Winchester Hardware Company, Eleanore's Beauty Salon, Wilfred Beauty Shoppe, Fred, Hair Stylist; London Shoe Store, Snug Haven Gift Shoppe, Whitney Laundry, Cradle Shop, Edith Humphry's Kiddie Shop, Irene Bennett's and others.

Civic and Political

Winchester cast a record vote in the November Presidential election with 7696 voters going to the polls from a voting list of 8188. The vote was as usual strongly Republican.

Local politics were highlighted by the successful campaign for election to the Board of Selectmen waged by Marshall W. Symmes, who was opposed by the so-called "machine," the four-cornered fight for Assessor, won by John F. Cassidy, candidate for re-election, and Raymond S. Wilkins' election as Town Moderator. Town meeting was chiefly significant for the length of its sessions and the discussion of town salary levels, the limited form of town meeting, parking, providing a site for a west side playground, and appropriating funds for a new town ambulance.

From the discussion came the creation of committees to study the entire salary question, excepting the schools of course, to see if improvements can not be made in the limited town meeting statute under which Winchester operates and to make recommendations to improve parking facilities in the center. These committees have held meetings and are expected to report to the town in March.

SANFORD BATES COMING TO WINCHESTER

Will Speak at the First Congregational Church Senior Forum

Winchester Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church is most fortunate in having as their next Forum speaker the Hon. Sanford Bates of New York. We owe this honor to Mr. Harold Bates of Winchester who persuaded his brother that the Senior Forum was a most unique and valuable group and well worth coming all the way from New York for.

Mr. Bates is a past member of the Massachusetts House and Senate, and is the foremost penologist of our day. As Commissioner of Correction in Massachusetts, Director of the Federal Prison Board at Washington, Director of the National Prison Association, of the International Prison Congress, Executive Director of the Boys Clubs of America, and member of many social welfare organizations; he is preeminently qualified to discuss with us the general subject of "Crime in America." Included in these talks will be a discussion of the cause and effect of crime, the conditions and environment which develop criminal tendencies, the punishment and reformation of criminals, and the preventative work which must be done to reduce the number and forestall the tendency of individuals to err against society.

Mr. Bates has just been appointed the head of the New York State Parole Board.

The Senior Forum is taking for its theme this year the subject, "America: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow."

Under the subject of the "America of Yesterday," Dr. Booth presented a series on "our heritage" . . . the priceless heritage of ideals, courage, sacrifice, and service—those ideals which today enable us to enjoy justice, liberty, equality, and opportunity.

Under the "America of Today" we are studying those phases of our life which make us what we are and what we are to be. The course seeks to foster a great spirit of appreciation for all that our country has accomplished and achieved, and at the same time to realize our responsibilities in helping make her future as great as her past.

Norman MacDonald brought us a presentation on "Our Government." Dr. David Vaughn led our thinking last month on "The Melting Pot," and now we are ready for Mr. Bates' presentation of "Crime, Its Causes and Prevention." In connection with the course, field trips will be taken by some of the Forum members to visit a prison, a law court in session, and a session of our legislature while it is in session.

MANY HEARD BROADCAST

Great Interest in English Children's Talk

In addition to the group of some 35 persons who sat in the studios of WRUL at the University Club yesterday afternoon to witness and listen to the refugee English children broadcast to their parents and relatives over the short wave station, a host of Winchester people sat by their radios in their homes and heard the messages. The reception was good in all instances where local interference did not block and nearly everyone was well satisfied over the results. In the center some sets were not so good, but outside this area and especially on the hills, the reception was excellent. Mr. Lyndon Burnham, who had placed a set in his Boston office and found the local interference too great, was entertained from his father's home, where that radio receiver was placed near the telephone.

The broadcast was a huge success. Mr. William C. Cusack, heading the local Aid to England Unit, was in charge. He was in England a little over a year ago. Chairman of the Selectmen, Elliott F. Cameron, sent greetings to Mayor Griffiths of Winchester, England, Town Moderator Raymond F. Wilkins gave a short greeting and Mr. Cusack, in place of President George R. Carter of our Winchester Rotary Club, who was unable to be present, did the honors in making the president of the English Winchester club an honorary member of the local organization.

The broadcast was well planned and timed. Each child had his or her say, and their messages home were interesting. Those from Winchester who spoke were: Ewen C. and Fergus D. Cameron, grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham of Everett avenue, aged respectively 13 and 12 years; Anne Freeborn, 9, living with Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kingman of Herrick street; Shelaigh Patton, 12, living with Mr. and Mrs. James O. Murray of Crescent road; Ewen Phillips, 12, living with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Aldrich of Swan road; April Davis, 13, and Martin Davis, 9, living with Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kenerson of Brooks street; Jane Seager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric H. Seager of Yale street; and Anne Dubois and Gillian Dubois, living with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills of Dartmouth street.

Mr. Cameron's talk was as follows: "I am pleased to bring the greetings of the 15,000 citizens of the Town of Winchester in Massachusetts to our friends in Winchester, England. These are trying times for you and we are doing our bit to help. Nine boys and girls from England are living here and they are a credit to their

NOTED LIBRARIAN DEAD

Cora A. Quimby Dead After Long Illness

Miss Cora A. Quimby, long in charge of the Winchester Public Library until her retirement Jan. 1, 1940, died at her home on the Parkway yesterday noon. She had been in poor health for a long period. She was librarian at the town library for 52 years at the time of her retirement. Miss Quimby was in her 80th year. She was tendered a public reception at the observance of her 50th anniversary with the library in 1938.

Cora Ardelle Quimby was born in the same frame house where she died at 185 Mystic Valley Parkway. Her parents were Edna J. Sargent and Alfred Washington Quimby. Coming to Winchester from New Hampshire in 1851, they lived for a time in what is now called Ridgeway. In 1860 they purchased the dwelling on Walnut street which is now known as the Parkway. No other family has ever lived in that house.

Miss Quimby attended the public schools of Winchester, graduating with the class of '79 from Winchester High School. Her early recollection of the neighborhood in which she played as a girl, draws a picture of scattered homes, barns which have long since given away to the modern garage, horses, cows and hens.

Many changes have taken place since those earlier days when Miss Quimby, daily, climbed a chair to light the oil lamp at the head of the narrow staircase in the Brown and Stantan block which led to the "library" next door to the police station. In those days the town offered less than 5000 volumes to its patrons. Today, a beautiful structure, equipped with every modern convenience, carries on its shelves approximately 25,000 books.

Miss Quimby devoted all of her energies, with enthusiastic pride, toward the establishment of the finely regulated library service which now exists in Winchester.

She leaves no immediate relatives, those nearest in her family being Mr. Samuel Perry of Wilmington, Mr. Leon Quimby of Reading and Mrs. Wallace Cooper of this town, all second cousins.

The funeral services are to be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Ripley Chapel at the First Congregational Church, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the church, officiating. The burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Three hundred invitations were issued for the affair, the guests including many from surrounding places in addition to Miss Collester's Winchester friends.

The Country Club was most attractively decorated for the occasion, Christmas reds and greens being effectively used through the hall and dining rooms. Miss Collester wore a dress of candle-light color with hip length bodice and full tulle skirt and carried a bouquet of red speciosum and white budlea. Her mother was gowned in black crepe and wore a corsage of orchids. The dancing was to Ruby Newman's orchestra the highlight being the acclamation prizes awarded the gentleman and lady chosen as the most efficient leader of the musicians as selected from the assemblage.

DR. CHIDLEY LEAVES TUESDAY

Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley will leave for North Carolina next Tuesday, as the first stop on the three months' vacation which they are taking at this time. Dr. Chidley will give a series of lectures at the North Carolina College for Negroes, in Durham, after which he and Mrs. Chidley will go to Pinehurst for a two weeks' stay. From Pinehurst they will visit resorts on both the east and west coasts of Florida until the latter part of February, when they will go to Mexico City and other places of interest in Mexico.

They expect to return to Miami the 22d of March, and will motor up the east coast, taking in famous gardens in the Carolinas and Virginia on their way. They hope to be in Washington at cherry blossom time, and will come directly home from there, arriving in time for Dr. Chidley to take the Easter Service on April 13.

This three months' vacation is part of a six months' leave of absence which the church granted Dr. Chidley in connection with his 25 years' pastorate in Winchester. Dr. and Mrs. Chidley hope to get abroad after the war is over for the other three months of their leave of absence.

The doctor says he hopes to collect material for a Fisherman's Sermon out of his anticipated fishing experiences in southern waters.

CHARLES F. COGSWELL

Word has been received in Winchester of the death on Dec. 2 in Port Williams, N. S., of Charles F. Cogswell, a former widely known resident of this town.

For 25 years or more Mr. Cogswell conducted a bakery at 599 Main street in the building now occupied by the Bluebird Laundry. He was well known and his business was successful. He left Winchester in 1925 and since that time has been living on a small farm in Port Williams.

Mr. Cogswell leaves a daughter, Mrs. George Chase of Port Williams, and three grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Maria G. Cogswell died several years ago.

FORMER WINCHESTER MAN DEAD

Word has been received of the death in Hawaii of John G. Purington, a former resident of this town. He died December 26 following a residence in Hawaii for the past six or eight years. He was 60 years of age and was connected with the U. S. Army. The remains are to be brought to the United States and buried in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Mr. Purington was the brother of Mrs. Paul D. Kneeland of Worcester and also the late Mrs. Dr. Mott A. Cummings. Another sister, Mrs. Grace Buckminster, was also a well known Winchester resident for many years.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

by James Coon

School is gradually settling back into the same pre-vacation routine. For the most part the students and faculty have recovered from their holiday.

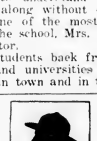

Mr. Bartlett has recovered from his illness and returned to school. The other members of the faculty sent him a book with which to while away the hours. Mr. Grindle, who has not recovered from his serious cold yet, also was given a book by the teachers. The faculty are planning to take turns being ill, it is reported, in order that they might all receive new books.

The Winchester Theatre has adopted a new policy of selling tickets to students of the senior and junior high school ages for only 15c during the school afternoons. This gesture is sure to be appreciated by all the students.

The tickets for the Junior-Senior Class Play are now on sale at the school and McCormack's Drug Store in the center. In order to insure good seats the tickets should be bought early. The cast has gone right back to work and promises to have a finished product by Jan. 18.

The school has finally acquired a student guidance director to take Mr. Cotton's place. After having had a director it is impossible for the students to understand how they ever got along without one before. This is one of the most important posts in the school, Mrs. Peck is the new director.

Many students back from various colleges and universities have been observed in town and in the schools.

TROOP 7 RALLY

Troop 7 of Winchester and Troop 8 of Medford held a rally last Monday night in the Scout room of the First Baptist Church. The visiting troop of 30 boys arrived on the 7:20 train, were escorted to the Scout room by a patrol headed by Paul Butterworth, Addison Augusta, James O'Connor, Richard Powers, Harold Blenkhorn, Michael Boodakian and David Tyler. Paul Butterworth had charge of the events, Mr. Dexter Blenkhorn, chairman of the Winchester district committee and Mr. Carleton Shinney acted as judges. Troop 7 won five of the seven events, which is something to be considered, as some of the boys of Troop 8 are the champions of Fells-land Council. At the conclusion of the program, Troop 8 of Medford put on a short play which was greatly enjoyed by all.

A new Troop, No 10, sponsored by the Second Congregational Church with Rev. Noyes as Scoutmaster were invited guests.

WINCHESTER PLAYS NORTH ATTLEBORO

Winchester High will open its interscholastic basketball season tonight in the local gymnasium, playing first and second team games with No. Attleboro High School.

Little is known of the visitors who have never played in Winchester. Attleboro and No. Attleboro are hot sports centers and it is not likely that a basketball club from that vicinity will prove to be a setup.

Coach Bartlett has been working his charges during vacation and this week in preparation for the game and in a recent scrimmage session with Arlington, the local boys looked pretty good.

It is likely that the opening lineup against No. Attleboro will be the same as against the alumni though there may be last minute changes. The second teams will get under way at 7:30. Joe Tansey, Wentworth Institute football coach, and Charlie Dolan, former Winchester three sport athlete and B. C. grad, will officiate.

PROPOSED DEFENSE BASE AT NATAL

Important Gateway for South Atlantic Air Traffic

Natal, Brazil, one of the proposed South American bases to be used by the United States for defense of the Western Hemisphere, is already an important point on international trade and communications lines, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. On the receiving end of air service westbound from Europe and Africa to the northeast shoulder of Brazil and beyond, it is set at the narrowest stretch of the Atlantic between the Old and New Worlds. Only 1620 nautical miles lie between Natal and Dakar, strategic French air and naval base of Senegal, West Africa.

Italian Line Still Operates Between Continents Despite War

Before the outbreak of the war in September, 1939, two European services linked Natal with Europe by way of the west coast of Africa. A French line ran between the Brazilian ports and Dakar; while a German service operated between Natal and Bathurst, capital of the British colony of Gambia, 100 miles southeast of Dakar.

Both of these air services were discontinued a few days after the start of the war in 1939. In their stead, an Italian line is now in operation on an irregular and unannounced schedule. Its planes fly from Rome to Seville, Spain, whence service is continued southwestward first on Villa Cisneros in Spain's African colony of Rio de Oro; then to Salt Island in Portugal's Atlantic group of Cape Verde; and finally to Brazilian Natal.

Chief Outlet for Provincial Products

Natal is the capital and chief port of the Brazilian province of Rio Grande do Norte. Although this province is relatively small, it occupies the strategic triangle of land, some 20,000 square miles in extent, which caps the northeast point of the great South American bulge toward West Africa.

The terminus of a railway from the interior of the province, Natal has considerable coastwise as well as foreign trade, exporting such products as cotton, sugar, salt, hides and carnauba wax. The latter is a substance made from the fibrous leaves of a palm grown in northeast Brazil, where it is known as the "Tree of Life" because of its many uses. Natives turn its leaves into all sorts of products, from medicine to hammocks and cattle feed. In the United States, carnauba wax from this tree is valuable as an ingredient of polish, phonograph records and floor wax.

Natal's population was recently estimated at more than 56,000 people, almost double the figure for 1930. Its workers are mostly employed in the cotton-textile and salt-refining industries, the city's leading activities. At one time sugar cane was the leading crop of Natal's province. Today, however, cotton has replaced it as the staple of many districts.

Connected by rail not only with the interior of Rio Grande do Norte but also with a number of ports along the eastern coast of Brazil, Natal is a popular stop for foreign salesmen from all over the world, carrying samples and order blanks for products of North America, Europe and Asia.

For its size, this city has excellent shipping and communications facilities. Its large airport, for use in the intercontinental air service, is located about eight miles from town. For its harbor streamlined quays have been built of reinforced concrete set on steel piles and strengthened by steel girders. It has two large warehouses and four five-ton steam cranes.

Honey Bees Lose Stinger

When honey bees sting they lose their stinger, it being fastened to their intestines, and this kills them. In other words their stinger is a single-shot affair, whereas with the bumble bee and wasps it is different —they can sting repeatedly without doing themselves injury; their stinger is something like a machine gun.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

Headquarters Open Again Jan. 7

A number of women in Winchester had welcome Christmas news from England. It came to New York but its real destination was the thousands of women across the United States who have been knitting and sewing to replace the things that airborne bombs and fire have been destroying. Of these Winchester has a faithful and a growing company. The good news in the cable was this: "Every shipment has arrived safely."

This came from the head of Children of Fighting Forces, in Yorkshire.

Our United States units for British War Relief have asked to be kept accurately informed about what the island needs, so that all of our wholehearted will to help will be efficiently employed. The Christmas cable gave this news, too, and very domestic and homely it was, "Stockings and toothbrushes needed." Any woman who has got a little flock of children dressed for the day and off to school can start with that homely, everyday detail and have at once a picture of a raided street, a burned area, that will bring her to the central workroom, in the Epiphany Parish Hall, to find what she can do.

Thanks still to the Talbot Mills, the new recruits who offer for sewing may have the pleasure of making something that will be pretty as well as warm wool cloth lovely in texture and surface and in colors has been cut for girls' dresses and will be ready on Wednesday for their needles.

There is a nice story about the cutting. A Winchester tailor offered to give help with this to the central workroom. Not wishing to ask too much, Mrs. Cameron did not send all the bolts of the woolen. Promptly her messenger came back with the cheerful report that the tailor had told him just to bring the rest of the stuff along and he would do the whole job.

It seemed there ought to be a name attached to such generosity, a complete name that people could remember and give as they passed on the story. The door-plate said only, "Max." But this request for recognition he shook off laughingly. "Oh, no matter about the name!" And so the Winchester Unit of British War Relief just gives its sincere thanks for the help of "Max, the Washington tailor."

VALUABLE PIGEON CAME TO WINCHESTER

Last Friday evening Mr. Carlos Anderson of 32 Water street heard a bird light on a window sill at his home, and opening the window, found what he thought was a homing pigeon.

It was a well kept bird, banded on both legs with the name of its owner, and Mr. Anderson took it to Police Headquarters where it was put in a cage for safe keeping.

The bands were marked with the name of E. W. Johnson, Monroe street, Lynnfield, and the Police of that town were asked to notify the owner that his bird was waiting him in Winchester.

Mr. Johnson came to Winchester promptly and was delighted to get his pet which he described at a valuable "tumbler" pigeon and not a bird of the "homing" variety.

Primavera, Furniture Wood

Primavera is exotic furniture wood. Its grain is much like that of mahogany, but its natural color is similar to that of satinwood, being light yellow with a tinge of brown. It is native to Mexico and Guatemala.

A. W. O. L. FROM WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

Last Saturday afternoon shortly after 3:30 Police Headquarters was notified that a Stoneham young man, admitted to the Winchester Hospital that morning with a high temperature and possible case of pneumonia had left the hospital, clad only in a pair of pajamas.

Officers Irving Reardon and John Dolan were sent to the Hospital and commenced a search of the neighborhood. They were unable to locate the man and had returned to the Hospital when the fugitive inmate was brought in by Officers Bradley and McDonough of the Stoneham Police.

The Stoneham officers had overpowered the man after a stiff battle at a house on Marble street in Stoneham. The four officers got him into bed, but after the Stoneham officers left the room the man again attempted to escape. Officers Reardon and Dolan had their hands full keeping the young man in bed and finally had to handcuff him to subdue him.

Dr. Klainer of Stoneham and Dr. Bouve of Melrose examined the young man whose cries during the struggle with the Police had aroused the other patients in the hospital. He was given his choice of going home and to bed or being taken to an institution and chose to go home.

During the entire struggle the young man made no attempt to strike the officers, but resisted their efforts to keep him in bed to the uttermost. Once subdued he talked rationally enough and quietly agreed to go home when faced with the alternative of going to an institution.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

The first meeting for 1941 will be held on Monday evening, Jan. 6 at the Legion Home.

Mrs. Mae Early, deputy vice president, will be the speaker of the evening. Mrs. Early is most interesting and we hope to have a large attendance at this meeting.

There will be the usual entertainment after the meeting and of course refreshments.

The hostesses of the evening will be Mrs. Eleanor Donaghey, Mrs. Mildred Young, Mrs. Edna Coffey and Mrs. Bernice Sweeney.

The Legion Christmas Party for the children was a huge success! This party was held at the Legion Home on Saturday, Dec. 21. More than 200 children were present. Every inch of the home being crowded with the kiddies who were all served ice cream and candy as well as lovely toys from Santa.

The toys, of which there were loads and loads, were donated by the Marx Toy Co., Mr. Louis Marx being a personal friend of the Auxiliary President, Mrs. Gussie MacAdams.

About 5 o'clock the children left for home loaded with gifts as there were special prizes for those holding the lucky tickets, which were given each child at the door as they entered the home.

It certainly was a great source of satisfaction for those in charge to see the happy faces of those youngsters.

Mr. Martin Foley was the chairman for the Legion Party and was assisted by Mrs. Mary DeMorris, chairman of the Auxiliary. Both of these people worked hard to make this party a success. Mrs. DeMorris was assisted by Mrs. Margaret Murray and Mrs. Mary Gorman. Other ladies who so kindly offered their services to help with the children were Mrs. Catherine Roche, Mrs. Doris Fitzgerald, Mrs. Helen Foley, Mrs. Mary Carroll and Mrs. Agnes O'Brien.

Greater Boston Community Fund's poster, announcing the 1941 Campaign Jan. 18 to Feb. 5, is creating wide attention among the residents of Winchester as it begins to appear on billboards, car dashers and in shop windows throughout the 46 cities and towns of the metropolitan area.

The poster sounds the keynote of home and national defense for the 1941 Campaign, to be headed in Winchester by Herbert E. Stone, chairman.

Posed against the striking red, white and blue background of the American flag, is a symbolic group in photogravure personifying the "Spirit of Goodwill" protecting the community.

"Defend Your Community Now" stands out in bold face with the word, "Give," superimposed upon the traditional red feather symbol of Community Fund campaigns.

"We have chosen 'Defend Your Community Now' as the 1941 Campaign theme," explained Henry R. Guild, general chairman, "because we believe that national defense begins for us right here, in building the strongest possible Greater Boston community.

"The nation is the sum of its communities, and national defense is as strong as home defense," he continued.

"The strength of Greater Boston lies in the health, strength courage, self-reliance and loyalty of its citizens; in the happiness and security of its homes; and in the unity of all its people."

U. she was a member of Beta Chapter of Phi Gamma Nu Sorority, and is now employed in the Admissions Department of Northeastern University.

Mr. Gaffney was graduated from Winchester High School with the class of 1932 and received his B. S. degree in Chemical Engineering from Northeastern University. EMBLEM DESIGN CONTEST

The Winchester Art Association announces a contest for the design of an emblem. The contest, open to all residents of Winchester is now open, and closes Jan. 29. School children are especially invited to compete.

All designs submitted in the contest will be displayed in a special room in the Winchester Public Library throughout February. They will be impartially judged, and the winning design will became the emblem of the Winchester Art Association. Honorable mentions will also be awarded to other designs which show merit. If, in the event that no design is regarded as suitable for the Art Association, the judges reserve the right to reject all.

Here are the conditions of the contest: All designs must be drawn, either free-hand or mechanically, in black ink on white paper or illustration board. The emblem need not include any lettering. The design may be any shape, may include any desired subject matter, and may be drawn at any convenient size. It must, however, be well drawn and be appropriate in every way for use by the Art Association. It must also be drawn with a thick enough line so that it can be reduced to a line cut not over one inch square without loss of effectiveness. This means that if the original drawing is, for example, six inches square, all lines should be almost one sixteenth of an inch thick, or even thicker. If the drawing is half as big, the lines need be only half as thick. We refer to the size of the actual drawing, not the size of the paper on which it is drawn. The emblem must be an original design, not copied from any other emblem or design.

So make as many designs as you like, print your name and address on the back of each so that the judges won't see it until they have made their decision, and hand in your designs at the library desk on or before Jan 29. Good luck to each and every one of you!

FOR FRANCES AND BONNEY AND JANE

(And T. P.)

While we are indebted to many friends for Christmas gifts and expressions of good will, we cannot, except with egotism, hold forth in public acknowledgement. We feel, however, that in one instance at least, we should allow our other friends to enjoy the little contribution extended for our good cheer and happiness this year by Ray and Dorothy Hayward. For some time we have expressed our desire for a good, big megaphone for our camp on the Cape. To our delighted surprise we had such a gift thrust into our hands on Christmas Day by the aforesaid Haywards. Holding to our traditional slowness on the uptake, we failed to open the outer wrapping until later in the day, at which time we found it to be one of the finest of its kind we have yet encountered. Painted in a green to match Camp trimmings, it had two beautiful sea gulls artistically done in color on each side, while attached to the handle was the following bit, composed, we imagine, by joint Hayward coordination:

When T. P. is sitting alone by himself,
With his feet on the piazza rail,
And the food for his dinner is still on the shelf,
And the girls have gone out for a sail,
And his own "little woman" is taking a nap,
And no one has thought about lunch,
With Waquoit the hungriest place on the map,
Why, just then I've a hunch:
That good old T. P. will rise from his chair
And reach for the old megaphone,
And bellow a blast on the waves of the air
In a downright dominant tone.
I venture to say one blast will suffice
To head all the sailors toward land,
And to tell all the world that it's lunch time for Peace,
So that no one will misunderstand.

May this [illegible] faithful and true,
Through [illegible] weather and rain.
With this [illegible] in mind we present it to you,
To call [illegible] and Bonney and Jane.

A Merry Christmas

Also of civic interest was the fact that the Committee of the National Resources Planning Board chose Winchester for the study of efficient and economical methods of administration. Winchester was the first town chosen because of "its excellence methods of procedure and its complete records."

Through the efforts of Lewis Parkhurst, the Rotary Club and other interested citizens the New Hope Baptist Church was able to burn its mortgage and own its church home free of debt.

The Christopher Columbus Club, composed of Italian residents, completed and dedicated its new building and clubhouse on Raymond Place.

Financially significant in a civic sense was the fact that Winchester over-subscribed its quota and raised $31,200.00 for the Greater Boston Community Fund Drive. The annual En Ka Street Fair grossed $7,755.65, clearing $3,134.33. At the end of the fiscal year not a single Winchester water bill remained unpaid.

Winchester's international civic mindedness was evinced by the raising of funds to provide a trailer-ambulance for Winchester, England, and a rolling kitchen for Britain. Some ten or more English evacuee children are living in Winchester homes.

Other Items of Civic Interest

The entire town was interested in the First Congregational Church's observance of its 100th anniversary from May 12-19, and in the 26th anniversary of Dr. Howard J. Chidley's pastorate. The Ladies' Western Missionary Union celebrated its centennial and dissolved. The Unitarian Society celebrated its 75th anniversary in Winchester during 1940.

In the religious field June 3, 1940, marked the death of Rev. Aloysius S. Malone, Pastor of St. Mary's Church. His successor is Rev. John P. O'Riordan, formerly Pastor of the Blessed Sacrament Church in Walpole. Other new ministers of town churches are Rev. Charles Noyes at the Second Congregational Church and Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman who came to the Unitarian Church to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. George Hale Reed, minister there for 20 years.

Miscellaneous Events

A novel feature of last year's graduation at Winchester High School was the presentation of a diploma to bed-ridden John Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farley of Indian Hill. Young Farley had been in the Robert Bent Brigham Hospital for two years prior to his graduation, but continued his studies and was given his diploma at the hospital by Principal Wade L. Grindle.

Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth of this town, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, presided at the annual convention in Swampscott during May. Another Winchester woman, Mrs. Raymond Merrill, was elected treasurer of the Federation.

Mr. Joshua Phippen, after serving in an active capacity for 62 years, was named honorary curator of Essex Institute in Salem. Mr. Francis R. Mullin, B. C. 1900, was elected the first president of the newly formed Mystic Valley Boston College Club. Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, generally regarded as the town's leading citizen, and Mrs. Parkhurst observed their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 17, with an open house for the town at their home on Oak Knoll.

Winchester was obliged to change its Zoning By-Laws as a result of the ruling by the full bench of the State Supreme Court, the members of which decided in connection with the Marchesi bowling alley case that the said by-laws cannot under the enabling statute guarantee financial levels of property in Town. The court in one decision ordered the town to grant a permit for the erection of the building to house the alley. In another it upheld the Selectmen's refusal to grant a license for the actual operation of the alley. Recently the Board has granted a license for an alley at a new location. What will result from this action is yet to be seen.

Winchester had its worst snow storm and blizzard for 25 years on Feb. 14 with a snow-fall of from 17 inches to four feet. During the summer a three alarm fire destroyed the big barn on the farm of Mr. John H. Irwin at 39 Ridge street, burning 25 tons of hay, two horses and 10 pigs, the whole valued at from $6000 to $8000.

Winchester's young manhood registered for the Selective Service Draft Oct. 16, 1940, the first 54 names were drawn Oct. 28, and the first draftees left for camp Nov. 20.

Maurice Dinneen, Winchester's building inspector and agent of the the Board of Health resigned as of Nov. 1 after 32 years' service. On Jan. 5 occurred the death of George H. Eustis, former town treasurer and for 37 years chairman of the Library Trustees, having the longest record of continuous service in an elective office since the town's incorporation in 1850.

Sports

Highlighting the sports year in Winchester was the return of a former Winchester High grid immortal, Henry T. Knowlton, to become director of Physical Education and Coach of Boys at the high school, replacing George Lauer who resigned in June after three years service.

Another sports feature was the formation of a Community Soft Ball League which functioned through the summer season, the Lions' Club winning the first half championship and the Ecos (Economy Grocery Company) the ultimate title.

Nothing of moment occurred in high school athletics with the exception of the Girls' Tennis Team again going through undefeated and the Field Hockey Team this fall having its unbeaten three year record broken by Arlington.

The Cubs won the baseball championship of Winchester, defeating the Millionaires in the odd game of a five-game series. Joan Moffette won the 50 meter swim for novices in an A. A. U. meet in Salem and Helen Carroll was twice a swimming winner, taking the Massachusetts State 110 yard free style race at Marblehead, beating the National A. A. A. U. champ, Gertrude Klauzke; and winning the A. A. U. Junior 220 freestyle swimming event at the swimming meet at Leonard Field in August.

Bill Morton won the Winchester tennis singles championship at Palmer street, Hall Gamage and Richard Riley winning doubles. Riley paired with Dolly Greene to win mixed doubles. Polly Kimball won the women's singles championship of the North Shore and also the mixed doubles. She was runner up in girls' singles in the North Shore tourney. Lois Ladd, Frances Keyes, Priscilla Tapley and Helen Carroll ranked in the first 14 junior tennis players listed by the N. E. Lawn Tennis Association. Polly, Dolly Greene and Mary Keyes ranked among the leading younger girls and Lane McGovern among the younger boys.

The Johnson brothers, Artie and Karl, were signed as pitchers by the Boston Bees, Artie having a fine season at Hartford and Karlie doing well with a Class D club. Lawrence "Lefty" Stewart won the N. E. Intercollegiate A. A. U. broad jump title at Springfield.

Mary Cutter won the Women's Singles title in the Class B. Championship of the Massachusetts Badminton Association. Carolyn "Pug" Mercer and Nancy (Bradlee) Stalker won the Class B doubles crown.

Ted Bishop and J. J. Fay of Woodland won the 17th annual invitation four-ball at Winchester and the father and son tourney was annexed by Tom and Junior Leonard at Nashua, N. H. Featuring golf for the year here was the visit of the open champion, Lawson Little, to the Winchester Country Club where he won a 36 hole match from the club pro, Jug McSpaden, 3 and 2. Incidentally, the country club has tendered McSpaden a contract for life, something very unique in golf annals.

Dick Merrow of Winchester Boat Club won the International Snipe Racing Association N. E. States Championship at Marblehead Race Week and Kendall Spencer from Conomo Point won the Corinthian Yacht Club Fish Catboat Championship at the same regatta.

Fred Fish and Harry Bean sailed Herman Dudley Murphy's old decked sailing canoe, Banshee to win the Union Boat Club Challenge Trophy for Inter-City Competition at City Island, N. Y.

The most significant feature of the fall sports program was the lapsing of the Middlesex Football League, in which Winchester has competed since 1921.

BISHOP CONFIRMS LARGE GROUP AT EPIPHANY

History repeated itself Dec. 29 at the Church of the Epiphany. Ten years before, on the same Sunday, just following Christmas, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley had presented his first class for Confirmation to the newly made Bishop of Massachusetts, his close friend in their seminary years, the Right Reverend Henry R. Sherrill. Mr. Hadley was then Rector of Grace Church, Medford. On Sunday, as Rector of Epiphany, Winchester, he presented a class to Bishop Sherrill, just a decade later.

Throughout November and December the class had received weekly instruction in fundamental concepts of personal religion and of the Church, meeting with the Rector on Sunday afternoons. Many in the class had come up through the Church School of the parish. As pupils in the lower school they had had courses that would develop a feeling of God as Father, wise and loving, and needing from even little children glad obedience in ways of kindness and helpfulness in the child's own social life in order that people may have had the kind of world that God wills for all men to have. The Bishop's sermon said to their more mature minds what had been said to them simply a good many years before, "We are laborers together with God."

One meets nowadays, the sermon said, people who say, "Why is God letting so terrible a thing as this war happen? Where is God these days?" They think that God like a powerful dictator might interence and save men from the suffering and give victory miraculously in this conflict to the men whose will for the world is most like his will for the world. But God is no dictator. It is through what each man chooses and stands up to at whatever cost with God's fatherly guidance and help in his choices and in his faithfulness, that a good world can be created. Man thought he could do it alone. This terrible condition shows that his proud hope is bankrupt. Not alone, but working with God and with other laborers of his, will man get a good world. Peace will not be by miracle nor by men who just take their own will. It is promised by and to "men of good will."

The Quakers have a good name for those who, not born into a Quaker family and reared as Quakers, choose that body of Christians as their fellowship and its ways of life and worship as their ways. They call them "convinced Quakers." Among the 27 whom Bishop Sherrill confirmed were several adult persons who, to borrow the phrase, came into the Church as "convinced" Episcopalians, choosing in maturity this fellowship and this manner of worship.

MRS. GEORGE B. WHITEHORNE DEAD

Mrs. Martha W. Whitehorne, widow of the late George B. Whitehorne, died Friday at the home of her daughter in Southboro in her 89th year. The funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Southboro.

Both Mrs. Whitehorne and her husband were well known in Winchester, where they resided for some 20 years. He died some years ago, and during his residence here built many of Winchester's fine homes, both on the West and East side of town. Mrs. Whitehorne left Winchester in 1926 with her husband, and since that time had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur G. Webster, wife of a Southboro dentist, who is her only survivor.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by Antonio Francis Albiani of Chelsea and Margaret Viola LaMarca of 6 Sheffield road.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

It was indeed pleasant to welcome so large a delegation, seven in all, from our sponsor club, Woburn. We should like to continue this sort of thing. Also Rotarians from Arlington and Reading were present. And finally a visitor who, to reach us had traveled the farthest distance of any Rotarian who has visited this club. We refer to Russell F. Keehn of La Plata, Argentina. Russell is a former resident of Winchester who left this town some 20 years since. Older Winchesterites in the club were very happy to renew acquaintance with Russell who in a brief after-luncheon talk gave many illuminating comments about present conditions in Argentina, especially with respect to foreign relations.

We are pleased to report that Parker Holbrook is making a splendid recovery after his recent operation at the Winchester Hospital. Members who called today found him surrounded with beautiful flowers and were greeted with smiles of pleasure. Also a few words with Alfred Marchant elicited the information that he has been wandering about in his cheerful home quarters. "You can't keep a good man down."

This afternoon listeners over short wave radio station WRUL were privileged to hear New Year's greetings transmitted from President George R. Carter of the Rotary Club of Winchester, Massachusetts to President E. N. Knowles of the Rotary Club of Winchester and District, Hants., England. In addition to his greetings President George took occasion to confer an honorary membership in his club on the English Rotary President. And we well know that this "Hands Across the Sea" gesture is mutually sincere and indicative of constant friendliness and respect.

Our speaker today was Leslie G. Rawding, member of the Rotary Club of Boston, who came to us in the interests of the Greater Boston Community Fund. Leslie gave us an excellent idea of the broad scope of the activities supported by this fund over the greater part of the metropolitan area. Winchester is one of the towns which benefit from this service. At the conclusion of Leslie's remarks a motion picture was shown which proved to be an excellent supplement to the lecture. Included in this projection we noticed a photograph secured at the Winchester Home for the Aged. We wish to compliment Leslie for his very interesting presentation. This Community Fund is urgently in need of generous contributions from every citizen; in fact this year's requirements are greater than at any time since the initiation of the service. We feel that Winchesterites will do their duty.

We are out to improve our attendance marks as we enter the second half of the Rotary year. It shouldn't be a difficult job, not if resolution is accompanied by action. If we look better we shall feel better.

SAIGON, IN STRATEGIC SPOT, IS BIT OF FRANCE IMPORTED TO TROPICAL ORIENT

Saigon, mentioned in recent dispatches as a potential objective along any Japanese drive to the south, is about 700 airline miles northeast of Britain's vital Eastern base at Singapore, says a special bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Between Saigon and the Natoena Islands nearest of the rich Netherlands Indies group, is a distance of less than 500 miles. In terms of average bombing time at the rate of 250 miles an hour, a base located on the island of Great Natoena (Naturna) would be roughly an hour and a half away from Singapore.

Former Capital of Entire Dependency

Saigon is the present capital of Cochin-China, one of the five provinces of French Indo-China, whose leading northern cities are already under Japanese occupation. Cochin-China is the smallest and southernmost of the provinces. Some 26,000 square miles in area, it extends beyond the rest of the Indo-China peninsula to form itself a smaller tapering peninsula, facing British Malaya across the Gulf of Siam. It is one of the world's most prolific rice-growing areas.

Until 1902 Saigon was the capital of France's entire dependency of Indo-China, a vast, rich, and populous region covering some 286,000 square miles. At that time, as the port and chief city of a farming and fishing province, Saigon was considered less suitable as an administrative center than the more industrialized Hanoi. So the capital was shifted to northern Hanoi, now in Japanese hands.

Saigon, however, is still headquarters for two chambers of French Indo-China's Court of Appeals, as well as other tribunals. It holds a number of large French style public buildings, several institutions, tree-shaded, paved streets, a botanical garden, and an exotic zoo. It has a modern water system and electric lighting.

Except for the population, chiefly Annamese and Chinese, the city is strikingly like a French town transplanted to the Asiatic tropics. Between 10 and 11,000 Frenchmen, it is estimated normally live in Saigon. For the native population statistics are elastic, ranging anywhere from 30,000 up to 100,000. The most commonly reported figure for the total inhabitants of Saigon, however, is around 110,000.

Saigon is 34 miles from the coast, on the river of the same name. Equipped with new quays and modern dock machinery, this commercial port handles considerable trade with Singapore, Java, Siam (Thailand), and China. The leading exports are rice, cotton, silk, and hides plus fish oil, pepper, copra, and spices. Imports are normally manufactured goods from France and England. The city is the terminus of peacetime air traffic from the West.

The Kerr "Changepoint" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building. $2.50, $3.00, $3.50.

PROF. JOHN G. CALLAN

Was Noted Harvard Educator

John Gurney Callan, aged 65, of 316 Highland avenue, this town, professor of industrial management at the Harvard business school and authority on steam turbines, died of a heart attack Tuesday while visiting a dentist in Cambridge.

Born in Northfield, Conn., Professor Callan attended the public schools in Waltham, Salem and Lynn, and was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1896, where he specialized in electrical engineering.

He joined the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston the following year, and later worked in the experimental departments of the General Electric Company in Lynn.

He became associated with Arthur D. Little, Inc., from 1909 to 1915, and there helped to organize the research department of General Motors Company and the engineering department of Lee, Higginson & Co.

Professor of steam and gas engineering at the University of Wisconsin from 1915 to 1920, Professor Callan then joined the Harvard faculty. He was the first faculty member appointed by Dean Donham when the latter took office in 1919, and he remained one of his closest advisers.

During the World War, he directed a three-man commission in England and Scotland studying Diesel engines for the shipping board and the American International Company.

An industrial consultant for a number of firms, Professor Callan was chairman of the Cotton Textile State Industrial Relations Board for Massachusetts in 1933-34 under the NRA.

He held more than 70 patents on steam turbines and other industrial engines. He was a member of Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Pi Tau Sigma, Triangle and Newcomen Society, and belonged to the Harvard Faculty Club and the Harvard Club of Boston.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Sven Baeckstrom of Hofors, Sweden, Mrs. Donald T. Whittemore of Cambridge, and Mrs. Georges L. Houle of Winchester, and two sons, John Gurney Callan, Jr., of Sharon and Paul L. Callan of Schenectady, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Church of New Jerusalem, Quincy street, Cambridge. Interment will be private in Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn.

INJURED AS CAR SKIDDED ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

Philip A. Simpson, Brown University student and son of Mrs. Nellie P. Simpson of 47 Wedgemere avenue, had a narrow escape from serious injury early Sunday morning when the Ford sedan he was driving north on Cambridge street skidded and struck a tree near the junction of Swan road.

According to the Police young Simpson's car after skidding on the slippery roadway and swerving to the left, crossed the street and went over a curbing onto a vacant lot on the north corner of Swan road.

On the lot the car continued to slew and turning about the rear end crashed into a tree. When the Police arrived they found Simpson in the rear of the machine where he had apparently been thrown by the force of the impact. He was in an unconscious condition.

Officers John Boyle and Edward Bowler took the young man to the Winchester Hospital in the Police ambulance driven by Officer William Callahan. Dr. Philip J. McManus, summoned by Sergt. Charles J. Harrold at Headquarters, found Simpson suffering from severe head lacerations and a bad shaking up.

It was at first thought that his skull might have been fractured, but further examination proved more reassuring, and on Monday his condition was considered good, with no fracture or internal injuries.

The rear of the Ford sedan which Simpson was driving was badly damaged and the car was towed by a wrecker to the Winchester Super-Service Garage.

TEPELENI ALBANIA WHERE ITALIANS STAND

Greek forces are reported driving north toward Tepeleni, which is said to be the advance outpost of the line which the Italians are planning to maintain along the Shkumbi (Shkumin) River.

The importance of the village of Tepeleni is its strategic position which dominates the roads to Valona, Kelcyra and Argirocastro, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Valona is connected with Tepeleni by a motor highway built by the Italians during the World War. The road covers the 55 miles from the port to Tepeleni.

Here Ruled Ali Pasha

The town is approached only by narrow passes which the Italians are reported covering with artillery batteries and machine-gun nests high on the mountainsides. It commands the valleys of the Volussa, Drin and Bensa Rivers.

Tepeleni has a population of 500, divided between Christians and Moslems, with a large number of gypsy families. It is located on a plateau about 640 feet above sea level, and more than 200 feet above the Volussa River, and was severely shaken by earthquake 20 years ago. It is surrounded by mountains.

This small town has the distinction of possessing the most extensive ruin in Albania, the great castle of Ali Pasha, the Lion of Tepeleni, who became the most powerful pasha of the Ottoman Empire, allied with Napoleon. He was the undisputed master of Epirus, Albania and Thessaly, if any Balkan territory was under undisputed control at the beginning of the past century.

Ali's father was the hereditary bey of Tepeleni and the town was held in feudal tenure under the Pashas of Berat. Alis father had succeeded to the inheritance by the simple expedient of murdering his two older brothers. Ali, before his own assassination is reputed to have garnered vast treasure, that in the fortress at Tepeleni at one time being valued at $10,000,000.

It was in 1809 that Byron first saw the "glittering minarets" of Tepeleni on his visit to Ali Pasha, described at some length in Childe Harold. The ancient Greek name of the town was Antigonea.

The Kerr "Changepoint" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building. $2.50, $3.00, $3.50.

Seamless Steel Tubing

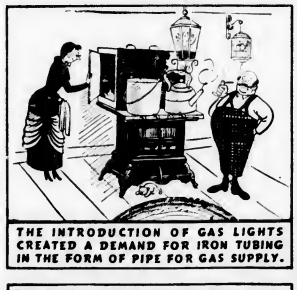

SEAMLESS STEEL TUBING PLAYS AN EXTREMELY IMPORTANT ROLE IN AIRCRAFT, OIL REFINING, AND ALL KINDS OF MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES.

THOUSANDS OF YEARS AGO MAN WAS USING HOLLOW REEDS AS BLOW-GUNS. BAMBOO JOINTS AS WATER BUCKETS AND PIPING WATER THROUGH HOLLOW LOGS.

THE FIRST DEMAND FOR IRON TUBES OF ANY KIND WAS CREATED BY THE INVENTION OF THE FLINT LOCK GUN IN 1640.

THE INTRODUCTION OF GAS LIGHTS CREATED A DEMAND FOR IRON TUBING IN THE FORM OF PIPE FOR GAS SUPPLY.

THE BICYCLE BOOM OF THE "GAY 90'S" CREATED A GREAT DEMAND FOR SEAMLESS STEEL TUBING AND BROUGHT NEW MANUFACTURING METHODS INTO EXISTENCE.

IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE TO OPERATE MODERN AUTOMOBILES AND AIRPLANES WITHOUT THE SERVICES OF HIGH TEMPERATURE SEAMLESS STEEL REFINERY TUBES.

THE STEEL AND TUBE DIVISION OF THE TIMKEN ROLLER BEARING COMPANY, CANTON, OHIO, HAS BEEN INSTRUMENTAL IN DEVELOPING THE SEAMLESS STEEL TUBING THAT IS CAPABLE OF WITHSTANDING THE TREMENDOUSLY HIGH PRESSURES AND TEMPERATURES AT WHICH MODERN GASOLINES ARE MADE.

Prolific Tomato Plant

The bureau of plant industry says that it is not beyond the bounds of possibility to produce one bushel of tomatoes from a single plant. This yield is received, however, by giving individual attention to the plant, allowing plenty of room, liberal feeding and fertilizing. A trellis must also be erected over which the plant can extend its shoots. There is little advantage in trying to get a maximum yield from a single plant, for when the attention is centralized on one plant rather than six the plant takes the space of five or six ordinary plants and the possible failure, due to insect pests or disease, is greater. As many as fifteen pounds of tomatoes can be gathered from one vine without abnormal effort on the part of the grower.

Peculiarieties

The Chinese usually tell fortunes by reading the lines of the feet as well as those of the hands; the Swedes seldom fail to shake hands with one another after they have finished a meal either at home or in a restaurant; and many negroes in our southern states still leave the price tags on new suits of clothes to show that they were not made at home.

Long before any permanent settleknown to the inhabitants of Kentucky and the people beyond the Alleghanies. As a consequence, repeated efforts were made by the white man to get possession of it. These efforts of course led to retaliation on the part of the Indians, who resented the attempts to dispossess them of their native lands, and the continuous raids back and forth across the Ohio river to gain or keep control of this beautiful valley caused it to be called, until the close of the Eighteenth century, the "Miami Slaughter house."

The Famous Dover Castle

For centuries Dover castle, its gray walls high perched on white chalk cliffs, has been the first object to catch the eye—and the imagination—of voyagers to England. "The white walls of England," the cliffs have been called, in the phrase of Hubert de Burgh, its most notable constable, was "the very key and gate of England." The British preceded the Romans on that hill Romans gave place to Saxons, the Norman conqueror built on the foundations of all three, and since his day the castle has never been without a garrison.

Hottentots Cross Breed

The origin of the Hottentots has been a puzzle to anthropologists. It is now generally believed that the Hottentots are a cross between the Bantu negro and the Bushman.

Wealth a Nuisance

"Wealth tends to distribute itself," said Ho Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "One who attains even the semblance of riches must employ many servants to write letters and answer the door bell."

Georgian Bay Islands

Georgian Bay, with its 30,000 islands, is that northern section of Lake Huron which is the waterway between Owen sound, Midland, Penetanguishene and Parry sound at the eastern extremity and the Soo at the western end, touching en route at many fishing resorts on the north shores of Georgian bay and Manitoulin Island. The 60-mile stretch between Midland and Parry sound at the eastern end contains the archipelago of 10,000 islands situated in the "inside channel."

Laurentians Await U. S. Skiing Visitors

ANTICIPATING one of the best seasons in years, preparations are going forward at St. Sauveur and other favorite skiing centers in the Laurentian Mountain district of Quebec province — "Skiers' Paradise" — to welcome thousands of guests this winter from the United States.

As in other years, the Canadian National Railways will operate ski trains to St. Sauveur (home of famous Skiing Hill 70), Shawbridge, Morin Heights, Montfort, Rawdon and other Laurentian skiing points when the season gets underway.

Members of the local chapter of the American Red Cross and a unit of the British War Relief are hard at work making garments and preparing surgical dressings for use in England.

Please be assured that we will continue to carry on and may the day come soon when the right will prevail and the boys and girls who are here in America can return to their homes and loved ones once more."

Mr. Wilkins said:

"People of Winchester, England:

Three summers ago I spent a quiet afternon in your attractive city, wandering your streets and meditating in your historical cathedral. In the latter spot I found much which lent reality to my boyhood reading, the last resting places of Jane Austen, Izaak Walton, and your early kings. But what impressed me most was not architecture, not historical or literary personages, but the large number of tablets and monuments to Britons who over the years had given their lives in war after war. It is quiet here this afternoon in our own town of Winchester, Mass. But we are thinking mostly of your latest and most terrible war in which Britons are again giving their lives in defense of freedom, of their homes, and of the very right to live. In the conduct of this struggle all of you, men, women, and children alike, have gained our deepest admiration. May your courage continue undaunted. May you soon attain the victory which we confidently expect will be yours."

Mr. Cusack said:

To the people of Winchester, England, greetings:

In March, 1939, I passed through Winchester, England, so similar in its beautiful countryside to Winchester, New England. Later that same month I had the privilege of being in your House of Common the day Neville Chamberlain announced to the world that Germany occupied Prague, Czechoslavakia.

Your history since that time, under the inspiring examples of your King and Queen and the courageous leadership of Winston Churchill reminds us in Winchester, New England of the words of a famous American who said in his Gettysburg address about three quarters of a century ago the following quote: "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us," end of quote. Only last Sunday another President of the United States dedicated America to the common problem confronting democracy.

Today as citizens of Winchester, New England we join in that dedication and in doing so we salute you in old England; we salute your Army and your Navy; we salute your valiant air force and above all we salute your will to win.

Shelagh Patton led in sending the messages. Jane Seager was good and April Davis charmed everyone. Mrs. W. P. R. Maudsley of this town, whose husband is a British army officer also spoke, as did a bright Cambridge boy, Peter Alchin, whose mother has died since he left England and whose father is in the air ministry.

The children sang "There'll Always Be An England," with Ewen Cameron playing his accordian, and at the close of the broadcast they all were taken down stairs by Mr. Cusack and treated to ice cream and cake. Report from England from Mrs. Maudsley's husband after the broadcast said it was received there clearly and strongly.

A record was made of the broadcast. If Winchester people would like one they may be purchased by notfiying Mr. Cusack.

TOWN IN GOOD FINANCIAL CONDITION

The town does not owe a cent to the banks, having no temporary loans outstanding. The Water Department reports that not a single water bill remains unpaid as of Dec. 31. Furthermore, the Collector of Taxes reports that 83.80 per cent of all real estate taxes are collected.

STATE HOUSE NEWS

Rep. William E. Ramsdell of Winchester has filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives two petitions asking for change in the law relating to the election of Park Commissioners.

One bill seeks to permit the Town of Winchester to increase its Board of Park Commissioners from three to five member.

The other bill seeks to change the General Law affecting all towns throughout the Commonwealth, permitting them to elect either three or five Park Commissioners.

The hearing on these two bills is to be held next Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the State House. If you are interested bear in mind that the date is Jan. 15 and the place is Room 435. The hearing will be before the Committee on Towns.

These bills were filed by Representative Ramsdell at the request of more than 200 citizens of Winchester, who signed petitions which were circulated throughout the town recently.

Representative Ramsdell has also filed a bill to change the date of Labor Day from the first Monday in September to the the third Monday.

FEW ATTENDED HEARING

The public hearing held Monday evening in the committee room at the Town Hall by the committee appointed to investigate defects in our present form of limited town meeting, was scantily attended. Most of the committee were present, although not all found it convenient to attend. Aside from these members there was one outside citizen. Under these conditions not much could be accomplished in ascertaining how the town at large regards the situation. The committee is expected to make recommendations at the annual town meeting.

PROMOTION FOR COMMANDER RUSH

President Roosevelt announced on Saturday the promotion of Lieut.-Comdr. Richard M. Rush of Woodside road to the rank of a full commander. He is now stationed at the Charlestown Navy Yard where he has been for several years, and during his residence in Wincheter has taken an active part in the social affairs of the town and has made many friends here.

HAPPY RETURNS FROM A YEAR-END INVENTORY

Winchester Unit of British War Relief Counts Up

From a thrilling list of what the dollars of Winchester men and women have been doing for Britain, women at the central workroom have had a good time with a list of what the hands of Winchester women have contributed to British relief.

Not long ago it seemed that sewing might become a lost art or at least narrow down to being a craft plied by special amateurs, like wood carving or modeling clay. But that the art survives in Winchester is attested by the 42 dresses for English girls that are now, we hope safely approaching or in a British harbor. Three work-rooms produced these.

The Winton Club sewed at the home of Mrs. Joseph Worthen, and sewing went on Wednesdays also at the First Congregational Church and at the Central workroom of the Winchester Unit in the Epiphany parish hall. A special note of appreciation for the number and quality of the dresses that Winchester had made came from the Boston Headquarters. Winchester has also sent Britain 106 layette garments and 61 pairs of pajamas and warm quilts.

The work of the knitters is a steadily lengthening list. Women all over our village are knitting in available hours and minutes and this past Wednesday there came in finished to the central workroom after the Christmas holidays, three afghans, 2 caps, 2 R. A. F. helmets, 2 cap scarfs, 1 R. A. F. scarf, 4 double scarfs, 7 thumbless mittens, 2 sweaters, 15 pairs of socks and 5 pairs of sea boot stockings.

Since Sept. 11 the central workroom has given out material and directions and has received and started toward England these knitted articles for civilians, 30 pairs of mittens for children, 3 sweaters and 8 afghans; for the Army, Navy and the Royal Air Force, 364 garments.

To these should be added, to make Winchester's showing complete, 61 garments that the Winton Club have knitted for His Majesty's Armed Forces. Mrs. Alexander MacDonald has a corps of 32 knitters and recruits continue to come. One Winton Club member has turned in 13 knitted articles that she has made! Now where does a woman like that get days to have more than 24 hours in them!

But her fellow-knitters won't spend time coveting their neighbor's speedy needles. Nor on thinking what a good start Winchester women made in 1940. A good many years ago the mother of one of them said, "You'd get along faster if you didn't spend so much time smoothing out what you've already done and admiring it." When she got her first pair of long, long sea boot stockings finished she was tempted to take some time out to think well of them and herself, but she remembered the old advice.

Bombs still fall, houses still burn, ships sink. Winchester women will continue to combat as they can the hunger and cold that English people face. The British War Relief keeps in close touch to know what are the pressing needs. These are still the Rolling Kitchens to feed the houseless and the emergency workers in bombed areas, and warm clothing, new or used.

Used clothing may be brought on Wednesday to the central work-room, Epiphany parish hall, on Thursday to the Fortnightly rooms, Common street, on other days or in the evening to Mrs. Fred Cameron, 47 Church street.

For information about knitting and materials women may telephone Mrs. C. H. Wansker, Win. 2546.

And on Wednesdays the central work-room will welcome newcomers to the group of workers there.

RED CROSS SEWING

We need more Red Cross workers! Apparently there are a great many women who are sure there are other women who are doing all that the Red Cross needs.

A visit to our Red Cross workroom on the third floor at the Town Hall, will find hundreds of yards of material and dozens of garments waiting to be made up. However, boys and girls of England cannot be kept warm in shirts and dresses that are just cut out. Somebody needs what Red Cross asks for. Are you willing to give one, two or three hours a week, any Monday or Wednesday?

Mrs. Garrett, 12 Everett avenue, Win. 2061 or Mrs. Earle Andrews, 196 Highland avenue, Win. 0017, have yarn for sweaters and socks.

MANY CHILDREN OUT OF SCHOOL

Report made this morning of the absentees from Winchester's public schools through sickness give the figures as 520 about 20 per cent of the school population. Six or eight members of the teaching staff are also out sick.

EN KA MID-WINTER MEETING

A mid-winter meeting of the En Ka Society was held on Tuesday of this week at the home of Miss Eleanor P. Dow who very graciously opened her home for the occasion.

Mrs. Charles H. Woolley, president of the Society opened the meeting by introducing to the members, Mr. Carl Wetherell who gave a brief but inspiring talk on the work being done by the Greater Boston Community Fund. Following his speech, moving pictures were shown giving a clear and concise picture of the truly great work done by this organization.

Mrs. Woolley then called on members of her board for reports of work done by their various committees since the last meeting. Of interest to members was Mrs. E. Ober Pride's report. As chairman of the civic committee she reported that 469 hours of work had been done for the Red Cross by En Ka members. Garments have been sewn, knitting done and surgical dressings made. She urged all members to continue to do their bit for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Harold Richmond, chairman of the Finance Committee told of donations made to the British War Relief, Maple Leaf Fund Inc. and to the ambulance for Winchester, England.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Entertained English Children Yesterday

The November meeting of the Board of Directors of the club was held on Monday Jan. 6.

Hats off (when indoors) to General Flu who is conducting a blitzkrieg in our fair town, not to mention many other places throughout the land. Frannie Felt, John McLean and Charlie Murphy have succumbed and we are awaiting reports from other absentees. The General has also presented himself to the families and business associates of various other members with devastating results. Everybody up for total defense.

Parker Holbrook is preparing to say adieu to the Winchester Hospital in a few days. Congratulations, Parker.

Inter-club visitations between nearby Thursday clubs were initiated today and we were delighted to greet the following Medford Rotarians: Frank Farell, Charles Ewell, Ray Gaffey and Allan Wood. We are sure that this method of promoting fellowship will bear fruit. The more of it the better. Wakefield and Woburn also sent able representatives to grace our board.

A recent survey of the 77th Congress of the United States discloses that approximately 60 per cent of its members are Rotarians. Included in this number are Clinton P. Anderson, past president of Rotary International and Congressman from New Mexico; Hugh A. Butler, past director of Rotary International and Senator from Nebraska; Raymond E. Willis, past district governor and Senator from Indiana.

Members of this club feel that they were distinctly honored, today in that they were permitted to entertain several of the English children who are making their temporary homes in this town. Mrs. William C. Cusack, resident of Winchester was in charge of the party. These children participated in the radio broadcast from Station WRUL on the afternoon of Jan. 2 when they sent short messages to relatives and friends in their native England. We were impressed by their bright faces, intelligent conduct and obvious pleasure in partaking of the hospitality of the club. Though there must be heartaches because of their separation from their loved ones they are evidently proving their adaptibility to their new environment. It was indeed inspiring to hear their young voices ring out as they sang patriotic English songs. Is our vision impaired or did we see a sympathetic tear here and there in the eyes of our Rotarian friends?

After a short introductory address by Mrs. Cusack we listened to phonograph records of the broadcast mentioned above and again we marvel at the blessings we are enabled to enjoy as the result of vastly improved methods of communication. We learn that several of the children have already received cablegrams in reply to their radio messages. And we bespeak for them all happiness during their stay with us and an early return to their native land.

Next week we shall listen to an address entitled, "International Service" by Mr. Roy E. Coombs, State secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. A very timely topic and it will be presented by one who knows whereof he speaks.

W. H. S. CLASSES TO PRESENT PLAY

"Young April" is the play that the junior and senior classes of Winchester High School are presenting on Saturday, Jan. 18, at 8:15 in the High School Auditorium.

It is a fast moving comedy-drama packed with laughs from start to finish with a bit of pathos running through it. It portrays the experiences of the McIntyres and their two youngsters, Terry and George, in their later adolescenee.

Terry, the young daughter, has her beaux in rapid succession, almost marrying the "wrong one," until the kindly intervention of mother and dad, together with the girl's own growing understanding, steers her over to the "right one."

The older brother, George, who is in love with an ideal conception ot the "sweetest girl in the world," discovers that she is only human after all. For a time he is completely disillusioned. Finally he realizes that he loves her anyhow, just as she is. We see George growing up at last and adjustin~ himself to some of the realities of life.

Following is the cast:

Professor McIntyre	Arnold Smith
Mrs. McIntyre	Jane Armstrong
George McIntyre	Brock Lynch
Lula	Betty Pride
Vivian	Dorothy Welch
Elsie	Claudia Robinson
Brian Stanley	Peter Hickey
Terry McIntyre	Barbara Regan
Bert Parsons	Robert Nichols
Dutch	William Flewelling
Pete	David Rush
Stewart Miller	Thomas McCarthy
Mrs. Miller	Doris Thornton
Mildred	Leila Jane Smith
Jane	Shirley Brackett
Diane Gilmore	Ann Jo Woodward
Extra	Robert Conlon
Stage Manager	Daniel Roop

The ehoice of the play seems especially apt because of its appeal to the young, whose love problems parallel those of the characters portrayed, and to the parents, who will see themselves in their role of guiding and helping their own children through that tender, romantic, impulsive "Young April" age.

The class play is an important event in the school's activities. To those who are interested in dramatics, it gives an opportunity to try out their talent; to others who are interested in management and production it gives an opportunity to carry responsibility and to assume leadership. There are between 50 and 60 students working on this project. The proceeds from the play are used to finance the junior-senior prom and other events connected with graduation, thus relieving individual expense.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By James Coon

The most recent member of the faculty to be out sick for a while was Miss Bailey, freshman English instructor. The rest of the teachers sent flowers to her.

Dr. Alley, head of the science department, went to New York last week to attend a meeting of a college board committee. When he came back, he told his pupils that it is now necessary to take only three examinations in order to enter Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and any other school that requires exams. You can take a test on a combination of any of the two science courses offered by the school.

As usual there was a tremendous ammount of money banked after the vacation. The total was in all over $300. The percentage of pupils who banked however, was not anywhere near as good. That was about 95 per cent.

Mr. Keeney's college board class had the unusual opportunity of being able to listen to the alumni back from different schools speak to them on their respective schools. Wallace Howard, Cornell; Jean Drake and Priscilla Tapley, Smith; Stephen Holmes, Dartmouth; David Schneider, Yale; and William Palson, Harvard, were the ones who spoke. All the schools sounded very attractive because of the manner in which the speakers described them. The high school students were properly impressed by the amount of work which it seems is necessary in order to get what are ordinarily considered as only fair grades.

The second dance of the series to be held after the basketball games this year was necessarily shortened because of the late arrival of the North Attleboro team last Friday night. Courtney Crandall and his orchestra played at the dance. Many people have spoken about Dan Roop's public address system. It appears to be a distinct advantage. At the next home game, with Wakefield on Jan. 17, there are going to be three cheerleaders. This is a new idea and will be tried for at least a few games. The cheerleaders are going to be Jim Stygles, Ray Harris and Dick Palson.

Already the shadows of mid-years are lessening the general joys of the students. Study, study, study, or you'll be caught. Study, study, study, time is short!

WINCHESTER HIGH LOSES TO READING HIGH

Reading High defeated Winchester High at Reading Wednesday afternoon, 33—27 in a Middlesex League basketball game.

Capt. Peter Provinzano was unable to play because of a bad cold and that hurt the Winchester offensive greatly as he has been high scorer in both the previous games.

Winehster looked good in the third period when they came from behind to take the lead, but just as the last period began, Derby was expelled for four personal fouls and the defense seemed to go to pieces. Stephanian of Reading found his eye to throw in five baskets and those 10 points that he made in the last period were enough to pull the game out of the fire for Reading.

The Winchester second team lost 33—29 in an overtime period. Twombley and Morney scored 10 points apiece for the Winchester seconds in this game.

WINCHESTER SHADES NORTH ATTLEBORO 24—19

Visitors Off in Shooting

With Capt. "Pete" Provinzano leading the way in both shooting and general floor work, the local high school varsity basketball team edged an aggressive, hard working aggregation from North Attleboro by the score of 24—19, in the high school gymnasium last Friday evening.

The game was a nip and tuck affair from start to finish, with Winchester jumping out in front at the start and maintaining a slender margin of points by spurts of good team work when threatened. While he season is too young to expect a finished performance, the local five showed flashes of promise in handling the ball cleanly and effectively.

The attack was, however, often stalled when it reached the front line of Attleboro's zone defense and usually surrendered the hall in a vain attempt to ~enetrate to the basket area instead of peppering the basket with shots from just beyond the free throw line to draw out the defene and also to boost the score. In fact at least three of Winchester's baskets—enough to win the game—were tossed cleanly through the cords from outside the Winchester defense. A team which can toss them in from this unguarded section of the floor will make a zone defense team look helpless.

North Attleboro was handicapped b~ arriving half an hour late and therebv missing the regular pregame shooting practice. As a result of this game and the victory against the alumni in December, Coach Bartlett's crew are heading into the regular league schedule with considerable confidence.

North Attleboro seconds won from the Winchester seconds 19—15 in a see-saw affair. The officials were Joe Tansey, Norwich; and Charlie Dolan, Boston College.

ESCAPE

You ask: "Why do I ride on the train?"
That's easy.
First off, I think it's the freedom I have.
NObody to bother me—
NObody to tell me to stop or go.
NO tail-light ahead.
NO worry about ice, snow or rain.
NO decisions to make.
That's it—NO decisions to make.
I can be absolutely and completely selfish.
I enjoy myself immensely on the train.
I like to sit back and take it easy.
If I want to take a nap,
I can do it and nobody cares.
If I want to read the paper or a book, I can.
I can be as free as I choose.

Sure; some of the cars on the B and M
Aren't 1942 models.
But just the same,
They are always WARM and comfortable.
I get a sort of snug feeling aboard my morning train.
I like to look up the aisle,
And see my four neighbors playing bridge, or Pitch.
Like to hear my friends comparing notes on the low temperatures at their houses.
I like to watch the proverbial grouch slam the car door,
Or watch the conductor swing down the aisle.
Sure, maybe I'm a nut.

But, there are a lot of nuts just like me—
Men (women, too,) who could well afford
To drive,
BUT who feel as I do about taking the train.
A lot of people I know look forward to the ride—
Free from all worries.
I've watched 'em sink down into a seat
As if to say "Yes, Sir,
This is comfort, solid comfort!"
You ask "Why do I travel by train?"
I think you can find the answer
Pretty easy if you'll try it for a spell.
You'll be surprised—
As the doctor says—
At how much better you'll feel.
(Walking to the station does no harm either.)
And, of course,
In case you're not rich,
How much MONEY you'll have
For OTHER things.

MISS MESERVE AGAIN AVOIDS CRACK-UP

Miss Gertrude S. Meserve of Cutting street, this town, who is the youngest commercial pilot in the United States, again saved herself and a young man companion from a crack-up at the East Boston Airport Tuesday when she landed her plane on one wheel after its under-carriage had been damaged. Twice before she has saved her life by skillful forced landings.

Miss Meserve, who is but 19 years old, is an instructor for Wiggins Airways. She was flying with W. E. Brown, 23 years old, of Ambridge, Penna., a student at Harvard, who was receiving instruction from her. While practicing forced landings at Hanover, she brushed a tree, damaging one wheel of the landing gear. She signalled her distress by circling about the field, whereupon the field was cleared for a forced landing and emergency equipment prepared.

OPENING CAMPAIGN MEETING

The opening meeting of the Winchester Campaign in the Greater Boston 1941 Community Fund was held Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium. About 200 workers were present. Mr. James Nowell, president of Winchester Community Chest, presided and introduced the Winchester Campaign Chairman, Mr. Herbert E. Stone.

Speakers were Mr. Herbert E. Stone, Mr. Harold Fuller, chairman of the Metropolitan Committee; Mr. Robert Montgomery, Metropolitan Chairman and executive of the Greater Boston Community Fund, Mr. Raymond Wilkins, 1938 Metropolitan Chairman and Mr. Henry Guild, general chairman of the 1941 Community Fund Campaign.

Mr. Wilkins said he "was present to add the light touch. In the old days (1938) we brought the Metropolitan Chairmen to Winchester to pep us up, but since then Winchester has taken such strides in Community Fund work that we now get them out to pep them up."

Mr. Fuller announced that 586 workers are now enrolled in Winchester and that Campaign Headquarters at 13 Mt. Vernon street are now open. Mrs. Frederick M. Ives, Jr., Administrative Chairman, with her secretaries, are doing the work preparatory to the drive.

Mr. Montgomery paid tribute to Winchester in that we were the first to hold an opening meeting and had the largest enrollment of any town so far. He came to rejoice with us in our efforts and the sure promise of a successful campaign. "Volunteers and givers must and do find Community Fund worth while; that's why 200,000 people in Greater Boston go out and raise this money. The fact that we have pride in our community, and in Greater Boston, is another reason why we should help the 212 agencies which are indispensable to all of us."

Mr. Guild emphasized the importance of raising the full quota this year to Defend Your Community. Twenty-five years ago there were only two Community Chests in the country. Now there are 550. Our Greater Boston Community Fund has more workers and raises more money than any other Chest or Fund in the country. The 250 Chest and Fund Drives held so far this year show 2½ per cent increase over last year. Mr. Guild concluded by saying "The success of this year's Campaign is far reaching and significant. Community Fund Guardian Angel represents the most powerful single force through which you and I can perform our part to secure our Democracy and continue our Democratic way of life."

An Information Please skit was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Graves, Mr. J. Henry Smith, Mrs. Isabel Rogde and Dr. Eugene M. Pollard. This was both amusing and instructive.

After the showing of the 1941 campaign movie, coffee was served in the gymnasium.

ART ASSOCIATION TEA

The Winchester Art Association opened its January exhibition with a gallery talk and tea in the Winchester Public Library last Sunday, Jan. 5. An unusually fine collection of oils by New England artists is now hung in the library art gallery and will be open to the public throughout the month during library hours. Those exhibiting include Charles Curtis Allen, Henry H. Brooks, Carroll Bill, John F. Enser, Aldro T. Hibbard, William J. Kaula, Marion P. Sloane, Frank Vining Smith, Robert Strong Woodward and Stanley Woodward.

The gallery talk at the meeting was given by Prof. Frederick K. Morris of the faculty at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology who chose as his subject, "Who Are the Artists?" The large gathering of members and guests all agreed that his talk was one of the most delightful and yet instructive that had ever been their privilege to hear.

Professor Morris prefaced his remarks by saying that the pictures were the artists and went on to point out that in his opinion art was only art to the viewer when they enjoyed the creation. He defined the two modes of thinking as "permissive thinking" and "compulsory thinking." In the first realm was art which allowed one to think as one pleased without argument or fact while the second requires that one conform to known facts or be an outcast in his chosen field or society as a whole.

Professor Morris sketched briefly the historical background of art and artists taking the early times when the world was much in turmoil among smaller tribes when an artist had no place. Either a man was a soldier or peasant—the latter, however, may have wished to create. The feudal period then followed when every man was labeled and artists found their places. Artists then were talented in other fields as well. Finally the Victorian period when artists held high regard in society. Today there are so many fields and careers open to a man that many great artists are in professions or science or other work. These same men in earlier times might have been simply great artists and nothing more. He concluded that we should be thankful that there was and always will be men like the artists whose pictures were hung in the gallery who forsook all other fields for their painting.

Then Professor Morris turned to the other school of so-called "artists" who have sprung up in the latter day due to publicity. Those groups who have little or no talent except exhibitionism and who cling to the coat tails of one or two great artists and "improve their work." These groups wipe out all art except the primitives, the Indian and one or two later so-called moderns who were really great. Mr. Morris had brought out two rather typical examples of surrealism and vorticism and with these he delightfully explained their "meaning and depths"—he even read an unintelligable poem written by one of these men in explanation of his own unintelligent pictures.

The tea which followed was in charge of Mrs. H. T. West, assisted by Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff. Professor Morris himself had opened his talk with a glowing tribute to the artistry of the table from which this tea was served. Mrs. Michael Hintlian poured for the tea which was served by the Misses Madeleine Little, Margery Little, Muriel Little and Suzanne Gleason.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

Through the courtesy of our good friend Al Marchant of the Boston Post, whose friends we know will be glad to learn is improving after his long and severe illness, we were entertained last evening by the radio recordings of the recent broadcast by the English children to their home land. Al is a staunch and sturdy Rotarian. Long a member of the Boston club, as well as its president on occasion, he has been equally intimate with our Winchester club. Since his severe illness Winchester Rotary has taken him under its wing, so to speak, and his membership has been carefully kept up. Winchester was the host to the English children at its meeting yesterday, the entertainment including playing the records of their last week's broadcast. Following the meeting the records were sent to Al, that he too, might enjoy them. Learning that we were unable to attend the meeting, Al insisted that we should share his pleasure in listening also. That the broadcast is preserved and may be listened to at any time by those interested is another marvel of our age. Both Al and ourselves listened to it with great pleasure.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The League of Women Voters held a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Theodore Browne, Monday afternoon, Jan. 6.

At this time the Department of Government and Economic Welfare gave a very brief summary of the material studied in the course on Public Health. Mrs. Theodore Monroe explained the diverse and essential health services now sponsored by the Federal Government. This was followed by brief report by Mrs. Malcolm Nichols on the findings and recommendations of the National Health Conference and the proposed extension of the Federal Health program as incorporated in the Wagner Health Bill S 1620. This bill has at present been referred to the committee on Education and Labor for study. It is being increasingly realized that the health of the nation is one of the vital elements in the defense of the nation and therefore the Wagner Health bill may become one of the important pieces of legislation for consideration of the next Congress.

The last unit of the course was concerned with school health programs. Mrs. William Spaulding reported briefly on the class study of physical examinations in the schools. In Winchester, as throughout the country the large number of dental defects found constitute a serious problem. A study was also made of health education. To enlarge upon this subject the committee secured the principal speaker of the afternoon Miss Jean Latimer, of the Child Hygiene Division of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, who gave a very stimulating talk on the subject, "A Community Health Education Plan."

Miss Latimer emphasized the importance of co-operation by all agencies concerned in health education; to learn what work is being done and to plan for filling in the gaps. She also pointed out the necessity for combining education and services. Using the correction of dental defects as an example, she stressed the importance not only of educating parents and children in the care of the teeth, but also of providing clinic treatment for those children whose parents are unable to pay for private care.

After a question period tea was served.

The annual School of Foreign Affairs will be held at Radcliffe College, Jan. 21, 22 and 23. Those wishing tickets must apply at once to Mrs. Wm. Goodhue, Win. 1154.

The Legislative Committee will hold two or three study groups on forthcoming state legislature in which the League is interested.

The first of these meetings will be held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Earl G. Carrier, 68 High street, on Friday, Jan. 17 at 2:15 p. m.

Mrs. H. K. Moore will give a talk on "Which Way Delinquency."

Mrs. Robert Keeney will speak on "Your Neighbor's Child" a study on the care of juvenile delinquency in Massachusetts.

Members and guests invited.

LABOR DAY CHANGE STARTED BY RAMSDELL

Representative William E. Ramsdell of this town is responsible for the filing of a bill in the legislature urging the changing of Labor Day from the first Monday in September to the third. The bill is filed on behalf of Chairman Thomas J. Fay of the Eastern Soda Water Bottlers Association.

Fay points out that customarily Labor Day marks the end of summer business and people would enjoy a longer summer season and employment would be helped if the date were changed.

He also said the change should be made in behalf of labor because the holiday was created by labor, which in 1882 asked for a day to be set aside as a general holiday for the laboring classes. It first became a holiday in this state in 1887.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club was held in Waterfield Hall on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 8. A delicious dessert and coffee were served before the business meeting, with Mrs. Thomas S. Knight, as chairman. The tables were most effectively decorated with red carnations and white candles. Mrs. Vincent Clarke and Mrs. F. B. Chamberlain, acted as hostesses, assisted in serving by Mrs. Theodore Elliott, Mrs. Walter Winship, Mrs. Lester Duffett, Mrs. Fra[illegible] Vo[illegible]w, Mrs. Norman Christia[illegible] and Mrs. A. F. Johnson.

Due to the illness of the president and the first and second vice presidents, Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, a former president of the club, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. George Proctor, 2nd speaker for the greater Boston Community Fund, gave a brief and interesting talk on the needs and objectives of this organization.

Mrs. Kingman Cass made an announcement for the Red Cross, regarding the need for workers at headquarters in the Town Hall, third floor and urged anyone able to give some time report there.

The program for the afternoon consisted of a summary of the "Defense of the Republic" course, given by Mrs. Philin Woodward.

Mrs. Frederick Hatch, chairman of the Education Committee explained how our democracy can exist only by the maintenance of the rights and liberties of the individual. She traced the desire of man for such liberties from the Magna Charta through the American Constitution with its first ten amendments which plus the 14th Amendment constitute really a Bill of Rights, the sole guarantee of individual liberties and effective only so long as we are vigilant.

Miss Ella Emerson gave a splendid exposition of the 300 year old problem of the Negro. She emphatically stressed the legal discrimination against the Negro today in regard to voting, right to marry and segregation.

Mrs. F. B. Chamberlain discussed in a concise and interesting manner the second class of United States citizens unable to enjoy the rights guaranteed them, the share-croppers, whose lot is far worse than the dwellers of the city slums. In 1931 there were in the South eight million share croppers, 5 million white, three million negro, with over one million in six southern states absolutely illiterate. At that time the yearly income was $212 for the labor of an entire family. Finally the share croppers revolted in Arkansas and out of bloodshed, oppression and slavery the co-operative farm came into being. This co-operative farming is proving successful and a salvation for the share-croppers.

Mrs. H. K. Moore gave a very enlightening account of fascist activities and fascist leaders in the United States, pointing out that the Dies Committee will curb them. She also advised that aliens be ready to undertake full obligations of citizenship before becoming United States citizens.

The club is indebted to Mrs. Hatch, Miss Emerson, Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Moore, who put so much time and thought into making this an inspiring program; so that those, who had been unable to join the study group, were, nevertheless, able to grasp the main theories and objectives.

HOW DO WE TREAT OTHERS?

(Written for the Winchester Star)

As men hurry along life's busy way
They often forget that their fellows have sorrows
And problems that are hard to bear day by day
Let us plan that our burdened fellows morrows
May be filled with more kindliness to show that others really care.
In this sore afflicted world few are free from Adversity's grim hand
And few there are whose lives are free of tragic heartache.
So as we travel our daily way let us take a firm stand
To be helpful to others and their burdens bear, and make Us true to God in the midst of man's inhumanity to man.
Amidst the world's thoughtlessness and its cruel strife
Let us make our fellows happier and sharers
Of cheerful, smiling faces as helping others becomes life's duty.

SUNDAY SERVICES

Sunday, Jan. 12. 1941

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER

Sunday Services and Sunday School 10:45 A. M.

Wednesday testimonial meeting 7:45 P. M.

Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson street) Open daily 11 A. M. to 5 P. M., Saturdays, 11 A. M. to 9 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon, Sunday, Jan. 12, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Golden Text is: "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all" (II Corinthians 13:14). Other Bible citations include: "Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For Christ our passover is sacrificed for us: therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (I Corinthians 5: 7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity. Worshipping through the medium of matter is paganism. Judaic and other rituals are but types and shadows of true worship. 'The true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth'" (p. 140).

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Always the Fortnightly welcomes and enjoys the Boston Symphonic Ensemble, composed of outstanding musicians from the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Boaz Piller. So it is a real pleasure to announce that they will be with us again on Monday, Jan. 13, at our regular club meeting in Fortnightly Hall. As this is a public meeting, non-members of the Fortnightly have the privilege of attending and sharing in the enjoyment of this program.

Preceding and following the meeting there will be a second sale of home-cooked food in aid of the scholarship fund, with Mrs. E. Adele Emery, chairman of the scholarship committee, in charge.

On Friday morning, Jan. 17, the Education Committee presents Mr. Henry Mascarello in an informal lecture at the home of Mrs. John Carruthers, 7 Pine street. Mr. Mascarello is executive secretary to the United Prison Associates, which combines the John Howard Association (in existence for 50 years), the Massachusetts Prisoners Association and Friends to Prisoners, Inc. The purpose of this association is (1) to aid discharged prisoners, (2) to support legislation concerning prisoners, (3) to enlighten the community on work done for prisoners. Mr. Mascarello has long experience working with men and women in prisons and will have much of interest to tell. Those who visited Sherburn Prison last year will remember the work being done by the Friends to Prisoners, a group which Mr. Mascarello represents. Morning coffee will be served at 10:15 under the direction of Mrs. Leon D. Hughes, chairman of the committee.

Will you plan your day Thursday, Jan. 23, so that you may attend the sale of articles made by disabled veterans, to be held at Fortnightly Hall from 10 to 5 o'clock, under the sponsorship of the Committee for Co-operation with War Veterans, Mrs. R. K. Miller, Jr., chairman. Further details in next week's Star.

FIRST CHOICE WITH THE LADIES

BECAUSE her husband doesn't get all steamed up fussing with night driving and heavy traffic.

BECAUSE the party gets to Boston on time for the theatre, the movies, or the hockey game.

BECAUSE they don't have to walk they just take the "El" at the North Station.

That's why Winchester ladies prefer to take the NEW FUN TRAIN for evenings in Boston.

IT'S EASIER BY TRAIN — NO PARKING PROBLEMS

Lv. Wedgemere	7:45 p. m.
Lv. West Medford	7:49 p. m.

FIRE NEAR COUNTRY CLUB

Apparatus Held Up as Motorists Jam All Roads

An old barn and hog-shed on the former Pierce property in the new Wilton Development opposite the farmhouse at the Winchester Country Club burned down late Monday afternoon as local fire apparatus sought vainly to work their way through roads jammed with motorists all intent on witnessing what they thought was a big fire.

The building destroyed was of little, if any, value, and Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department told the Star that apparently the fire which destroyed it had an incendiary origin. The Chief was also emphatic in stating that traffic conditions were the worst he had yet encountered in his constantly growing battle with sight-seeing motorists. Hutchinson road was jammed with two lines of traffic from Ridge street and Old Mystic street was also crowded with cars, many motorists being attracted by the fire as they were driving along Mystic and Cambridge streets.

The Fire Department was a bit late in getting started to the fire, due to the fact that none of several informers who phoned Central Station could tell were it was. The first exact information obtained was from an operator at the local telephone exchange who notified the station that a Winchester subscriber had phoned the Arlington Fire Department of a fire in the new Wilton development above the Country Club. Engine 2 started immediately for that location about 5:42 o'clock, and a few minutes later Arlington Box 395 sounded, a box answered by Winchester under the mutual aid system. Winchester's Box 144 sounded at 5:50, calling out the rest of the local apparatus, but the men might just as well have remained at quarters, for all roads to the fire were jammed with private cars and it was practically impossible to get the big fire trucks through. Many, if not all, call firemen were prevented by jammed traffic from reaching the fire until too late to be of any assistance.

Fortunately the old barn and shed was of no particular value, but had one of the new homes or some of the Country Club property been ablaze, the result would have been the same. The firemen could not have gotten their apparatus to the actual scene of the fire, nor could they have worked effectively had they succeeded in plowing through the thrill-seekers' cars.

The firemen had a hard time getting through the crowd at the Irwin fire last summer, but Monday's experience is the worst yet encountered.

"AND CALL THE NEIGHBORS IN"

Epiphany Women Invite All Winchester Women

Tuesday Jan. 21, at 1:15, the women of Epiphany are following out the spirit of the Mother Goose rhyme and calling the neighbors in to hear a speaker who will talk on a theme always interesting to women and especially timely now. The speaker will be Mrs. Ralph Barrow of Boston, and her subject will be, "Problems of Children in Times of Emergency."

Mrs. Barrow speaks from first-hand knowledge that comes from sustained interest and continuous observation of children in our Boston area who suffer from the economic and emotional maladjustments of our times, for she is publicity director for the Church Home Society of the Diocese of Massachusetts. In the last half year she has been an active participant in another effort to protect children form problems created by war. She has met in New York or our own harbor each ship that has brought British children to the United States, has helped these young strangers through their first days in a strange land, and in adjusting them to their new homes here:

Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, chairman of the welfare committee for the Parish of the Epiphany, is presenting Mrs. Barrow as the choice of her department in a series of monthly speakers that the Women's Division of the Church Service League will hear. Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills will preside.

OUTSTANDING ART EXHIBITION AT LIBRARY

The Winchester Art Association is showing another fine exhibition of pictures by New England artists at the Library Art Gallery during January, and already many have seen and enthused over the show. It is one which no lover of fine pictures should miss.

Several of the pictures have been shown here before and return as old friends, but most of the studies are new to the library gallery, adding to the general interest.

There are three fine studies by that exponent of painting detail, Robert Strong Woodward, whose picture, "The Grace of Years," showing a deserted old red house with a tumble down ell and carriage shed framed in tall trees, is one of great appeal. "Spring," by Mr. Woodward, shows a country road bordered by fruit trees in full bloom, and "More Snow Tomorrow," a single wind-blown tree on snowy uplands with a small, cold disk of a sun showing through leaden clouds.

There are two large colorful landscapes by Charles Curtis Allen, neither of which is named, and two fine marines by that master of his craft, Stanley Woodward. "Easterly" shows rough green water with white spume breaking on brown rocks, while "Cape Ann Surf" is especially striking with heavy surf dashing itself to white foam and froth against rough black rocks under a dark-hued stormy sky, against which the white surf shows in sharp relief.

Frank Vining Smith's "Day in Port" is a characteristic picture of boats, which this artist paints so well, with a background of wharves and the weather beaten buildings found along the waterfront. Also by Mr. Smith are two striking landscapes, "Partridge Country" and "On Cape Cod," done in subdued reds and browns reminiscent of the colors found in pictures by "old masters."

"Dorset Mountain" by Aldro Hibbard is a colorful picture of the panoramic type, having fine perspective, and the same artist's "Mantle of Snow," a finely done snow study, showing heavy snow bending the branches of birches and evergreens.

"Sharon Hills" and "Autumn in Lyndeboro, N. H.," are two studies by William J. Kaula showing that artist's mastery of cloud painting and his flare for landscapes that are at the same time colorful and realistic. There are softly rounded lines in "The Murray River Valley, Quebec," a nice little landscape by Henry H. Brooks, who also contributes a delicate bit of painting in "Indian Summer, Concord," done in shimmering soft colors. An unusual study is Mr. Brooks' third picture, "Water Pocket Fold, Utah," with its whites, grays and orange and precise tree treatment.

There is a homely touch in the washing hung out in "Village on the Hill" by Marion P. Sloane, whose second picture, "Barnstable, Cape Cod," gets human interest from a man in a red shirt, working over a dory near a culvert and hit of marshy water with a house and rambling red barn in the background.

There are two Spanish scenes by Carroll Bill that capture the imagination and a third by the same artist, the "Old Cushing House in Norwell" which is painted to reflect the mellowing of age.

It is good to see again John Enser's "October Moonlight" an appealingly restful study of a tall square house standing at night in a setting of trees and shrubs with the light from a single down-stairs window shining through the soft gloom. "Vermont" by the same artist is in complete contrast, being sharply painted to reflect warm light.

The exhibition will remain at the library through January and is open to the public. Once again Mr. Eason has arranged the pictures to excellent advantage.

RAMSDELL FILES AUTO INSURANCE BILL

Rep. William E. Ramsdell of this town has introduced a bill "relative to risks and fixing of premium charges under the compulsory motor vehicle liability insurance law, so-called.' The legislation, perhaps better called a "merit system,' is sponsored by the Massachusetts AAA (American Automobile Association) Clubs of Boston, Springfield, Worcester, Lawrence, Holyoke, Haverhill and Pittsfield, comprising nearly 40,000 individual motorists.

The "merit system" would:

1. Lower rates for careful-non-accident drivers, and after a hearing, raise the rates for the reckless minority.

2. Act as a safety measure to curb reckless driving and reduce accidents.

3. Modernize the compulsory structure.

Over 90 per cent of the motorists of Massachusetts favor a change in the compulsory structure to penalize the reckless minority and reduce the rates for the careful driver; based on a questionnaire survey made among motorists by the Boston Automobile Club, division of the AAA. For six months the AAA questionnaires were distributed at random to motorists and covered many questions on motoring issues. The insurance question was "Do you favor the merit system to raise the insurance rates of reckless drivers and lower the rates for the careful non-accident driver?"

The first 50,000 ballots counted showed over 45,000 favor a merit system.

Under the present rate setup, all drivers, good or bad., pay the same rates according to residence zones.

Insurance records show about four per cent of the drivers are the reckless minority in Massachusetts but 96 per cent of the drivers have no accidents or claims. In other words, in the Commonwealth, about four per cent of the motorists cost the other 96% about $25,000,000, a year. The AAA clubs believe the threat of higher rates would immediately curb the reckless minority and make the highways safer.

The "merit system" would continue the present zone system. The 19 Massachusetts insurance companies would be allowed to make their own rates in competition, automatically giving good drivers lower rates, and raising rates of the reckless minority.

A Board of Appeal, appointed by the Governor, would include a representative of the motorists, the insurance companies and the general public.

Every motorist would have the right of appeal to the board on zone rates. The Board would have the power to order any company to write insurance at zone rate and, most important, may fix a surcharge or additional premium on the reckless driver with a bad accident record.

Emphasis is placed by the AAA clubs on the fact that in no community or zone would the present rates be raised; the ame rate structure would apply, with the provision that the reckless minority would be called to pay for their accidents, in effect, by higher rates.

PARISH PLAYERS OBLIGED TO CHANGE PLAYS

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church evidently have an eye for good plays since "Pygmalion" and "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the second and third of their season's plays, are both enjoying a revival ,and have therefore been withdrawn from the Little Theatres throughout the United States. Miss Ruth Chatterton, who is starring in "Pygmalion," is expected to bring it to Boston later in the season. "The Man Who Came to Dinner" is again showing on Broadway.

The Parish Players have, however, shown their versatility in meeting such situations in the past without disappointment to their subscribers and will meet this situation to the satisfaction of their patrons.

They have long considered giving Barrie's "Admirable Crichton," and welcome this opportunity of putting on an old favorite with the public, a play which is admirably suited to these times of social upheaval when class lines are being obliterated and the colors are sadly run. "The Admirable Crichton" shows what might happen if the social props were taken away from certain top-lofty people and they were "on their own" as they may possibly be, sooner than many of us think! The situations portrayed by Barrie's play are sobering and amusing which makes it a thoroughly entertaining vehicle.

The Parish Players have not yet decided on their spring play, but it will be up to the high standards of the plays produced during their highly successful 15 consecutive seasons.

JOSEPH T. CLARK

Joseph T. Clark of 12 Wildwood street, passed away at his home Monday evening following a prolonged period of failing health. He was born in Salem, New York, 75 years ago and had made his home in Winchester for the past 50 years.

In 1900 he was married to Charlotte James Wills of this town, who survives him together with a son, Dr. Richard J. Clark of this town, a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall of Torrington, Conn., and two grandchildren.

For the past 45 years Mr. Clark was associated with the Paine Furniture Company of Boston, being one of the oldest employees of the concern at the time of his retirement this last spring.

For some years in the past he served as the treasurer of the Winchester Unitarian Society. He was later interested in Boy Scout work and served as treasurer of the local Scout council. He was formerly a member of the old Calumet Club. He always had a special interest in cooperative banking and probably few people were responsible for starting out more young couples on the co-operative method of saving. In recent years he had served as a director of the Winchester Co-operative Bank.

Funeral services were held at the Bigelow Chapel, Mt. Auburn, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Hamilton Gifford of Cambridge, formerly a resident of this town, officiated. Following cremation interment was at Wildwood Cemetery.

WAS FATHER OF MRS. JOHN ORDWAY

Carleton Ellis, inventor, who died Tuesday, Jan. 14, in Miami, Fla., was the father of Mrs. John R. Ordway of Main street. Mrs. Ordway is the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Clarence E., and the late Doctor Ordway of this town.

Mr. Ellis was the holder of 800 patents, the third largest number in the history of the United States Patent Office. Only the late Thomas A. Edison, with more than 1000, and John O'Connor, a scientist with a few less than Edison, owned more.

Mr. Ellis maintained laboratories at Montclair, N. J., and at Key West, Fla. His chemical experiment resulted in the production of more than 100,000 new compounds. One of his inventions was a substance to fireproof warplanes against incendiary bullets and another was a soap which left no ring around the bathtub. He was a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and as a young man served as an instructor there.

DISTRICT NURSE DEMONSTRATING BABY'S BATH

Visiting Nursing Service in the home is available to anyone living in Winchester. This service is available between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. and offers a ideal solution to patients who need part time skilled nursing care in their own homes. It is rendered by graduate, registered nurses. All calls are answered but care is given only under the direction of a physician.

Question: Who calls the nurse?

Answer: Anyone may call the nurse the physician, the family, neighbor, friend or agency.

Q. How long does she stay?

A: Long enough to carry out the physician orders and give the necessary nursing care and instruct someone in the home how to give care between the nurse's visits. The average visit lasts about an hour.

Q: How often does she visit a hone?

A: That depends upon the type of illness and whether there is anyone in the home who may assume responsibility for part of the nursing care. An acutely ill patient will be seen daily or even twice a day if necessary. A chronic patient gets along nicely with nursing care two or three times a week.

Q: What does she do?

A: That would depend upon the physicians orders and the illness. Perhaps a bath is needed and the bed freshly made. There may be a surgical dressing to be changed on a postoperative case, It may be a message for an arthritic patient. It may be a mother and a new baby, in which case bedside care is given to both. Perhaps a young mother needs instruction in how to bath and care for her baby.

Q: Does the Nurse take care of persons having a communicable disease?

A: Yes, she does, and instructs the family how to prevent the spread of infection and to guard against complications.

Q: Does the District Nurse help the expectant parents?

A: Indeed she does! During the last three years the District Nurses have averaged 4000 calls annually.

Q: For whom in the Town of Winchester will the District Nurse care?

A: The service is available to anyone in Winchester—rich or poor, old or young, chronic or acute.

Charges for nursing services are: first hour, $1; each succeeding 30 minutes, 50 cents. Part pay or free service is given to persons unable to pay the full charge.

This necessary service must be carried on and is only possible through the generous contributions of the citizens of Winchester to the Greater Boston Community Fund.

Member of the Greater Boston Community Fund.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The many friends of the Guild of the Infant Saviour will be pleased to know we are conducting another of our popular penny sales on next Monday night, Jan. 20 at 8 o'clock in Lyceum Hall.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. John J. Gorman, who as we all know makes a grand success of these annual penny sales. She will be assisted by three co-chairmen: Mrs. John Costello, Mrs. Katherine Doyle and Mrs. John Doherty, all of Winchester.

A capable committee of our best workers is listed as follows: Mrs. Frank Lally, Mrs. Edward Sherlock, Mrs. Robert A. Sullivan and Mrs. Walter S. Levins representing Belmont. Woburn will be represented by Mrs. John T. Lennon and Mrs. Geo. Morrissey. Representing Winchester are Mrs. Frederick L. Patten, Mrs. F. L. Hicks, Mrs. James M. Daschbuck, Mrs. Antonie Lillenfeld, and Miss Blatiche North.

There are many beautiful prizes to be awarded, chiefly among them being $25 in cash, six beautiful electric lamps, a set of dishes, three bridge tables, 10 chicken dinners, 10 boiled dinners, besides boxes of fruit, groceries and surprise packages which will form a feature of the evening.

Our auctioneers will be exceptionally fine and have been carefully chosen from our list of model husbands of the Guild members. Their wit and sales ability promise to be an evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini cordially invites all the public to attend. There is no admission charge and everyone is assured an enjoyable evening. Those who have not made returns on the chance books may do so at the penny sale to Mrs. Frank S. Evans, treasurer or to chairman, Mrs. John J. Gorman.

The meeting on last Tuesday, Jan. 14 was largely attended, in spite of the fact that so many of our members were confined to their homes with illness.

Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, president, opened the meeting with the singing of "God Bless America" and our regular prayer. It was the first time in the history of the Chapter that the annual meeting was held in January.

Mrs. Ghirardini called upon the different officers for their reports. Secretary Mrs. John Costello gave her report for the year, followed by treasurer Mrs. Frank Evans. Both of these reports were splendid and showed the loyalty and labor that these positions demand. The treasurer's books were audited by Mrs. H. E. Graves.

Mrs. Ghirardini also called on the past presidents of the Guild, Mrs. Michael Bintliff, Mrs. James Gaffney and Mrs. James Carr thanking them for their co-operation during the year she has been in office.

Mrs. James Carr gave an interesting talk on the annual meeting of the Boston Guild held at Hotel Somerset on Jan. 7 for the benefit of those unable to attend. The guest of honor was Msgr. Robert P. Barry, who congratulated the Guild of the Infant Saviour for the splendid support given him in his charitable work, which is the largest of its kind in this country.

Letters of thanks were read by Mrs. Ghirardini from President Mrs. Morgan T. Ryan and treasurer Miss Mary Corcoran of the Boston Chapter for the aid we have given them during the year, both financially and in the number of garments sent in to headquarters.

A vote of thanks was paid to our sewing chairman Mrs. Alfred E. Viano for the tremendous work she has accomplished since she has taken charge of this really difficult task. In her report Mrs. Viano announced that the winter sewing has been finished and we are now at work on the Easter layettes.

On behalf of Mrs. John Gorman, who is ill, the report of the coming penny sale was made by Mrs. Katherine Doyle, co-chairman. Mrs. Doyle is soliciting gifts for the sale on next Monday night and announced that Lyceum Hall will be opened during the day from 12 noon until 8 p. m. for those wishing to donate goods. Mrs. John Costello volunteered to call for and deliver goods for those unable to do so.

A delicious tea was served by Chairman Mrs. John O'Leary, assisted by the following hostesses: Mrs. F. L. Poirier, Mrs. Jonathan Felt, Mrs. Harry Collins, Mrs. Richard Sheehy, Mrs. George McGoldrick and Mrs. Dana Kelly.

CURLING AT ST. ANDREWS

Several Winchester curlers participated in the Douglas and Griffith championship matches last Friday and Saturday at the St. Andrews Golf Club in Mt. Hope, N. Y.

The Winchester Country Club sent on a rink composed of Harold Farnsworth, 1; Stephen Neiley, 2; Daniel P. Morse, Jr., 3; and Geoffrey Neiley, skip. These curlers gave a good account of themselves, though they were unable to land in the money, St. Andrews beating them in the Douglas matches on Friday and Hartford, in the Griffith matches on Saturday.

Besides the Country Club group the Boston Curling Club sent down a rink and plenty of local interest attaches to its showing since the Boston club is managed by "Bob" Guild of this town, former Harvard football star, and has a former Winchester man, Kenneth Young, in its lineup. With Guild and Young was James W. Spring, a member and curler of the Brookline Country Club, who has been skipping for Boston since the death of the veteran skip, Dr. Joseph T. Paul.

Boston arrived at St. Andrews with but three curlers, and it was necessary to "dig up" a fourth for their rink. Richard V. Neiley, a former well known Winchester man who is now curling chairman at St. Andrews, was appealed to and got no less a celebrity than Ford Frick, president of the National Professional Baseball League, to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Frick curled well for Boston on both Friday and Saturday and the showing of the Hub rink on Friday in the Douglas matches was mighty good. After leading 14-13 at the next to last end, the Boston rink was finally defeated by Schenectady, 15-14. Incidentally the Schenectady team won the St. Andrews Douglas Medal Championship in 1940. On Saturday Boton lost to Caledonian, 17-7.

Both Winchester C. C. and Boston participated in the current Worcester Cup competition at the Brookline Country Club, Winchester eliminating Boston in a preliminary match, 19-7. Monday evening Winchester in turn was beaten by The Country Club, after a close match, 17-14.

A year ago Winchester won the Worcester Cup for the first time in the history of this competition, and with one exception the local team was the same again this year. A year ago Fritz Craven curled on the winning club, but this year was unable to compete because of illness, his place being filled by John Joy. Harold Fuller, 1; Daniel P. Morse, Jr., 3; and Geoffrey Neilcy, skip, completed this year's rink.

An 18-inch bronze figure of Maribel Vinson Owen, internationally known skater, by Leonard Kraske, is being featured in the winter sports window which has been placed in the North Station by the E. L. Patch Company of Stoneham, well known manufacturers of pharmaceutical and toilet preparations.

The window which is at the Hotel Manger end of the North Station, besides the figure of Mrs. Owen, has a toboggan transparency and a figure of a skiier. Mrs. Owen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Vinson of High street, is a former United States Women's champion and Olympic star. She is now living in California.

Several Winchester boys are active on college basketball courts this winter. Dick Grosvenor is playing a forward on the University of Vermont varsity, and Dick Hakanson, a similar position on the varsity squad at Northeastern. Ted Hultgren is a member of the Northeastern freshman squad.

MELLY SPINS A BASEBALL YARN

Realizing that baseball fans recognize no off season for diamond news, the Star passes along to its readers the following baseball yarn told us recently by Frank Melly, whom local sports followers will recall as a fine catcher for Winchester High back in 1923-24-25 and as great a football center as the high school ever produced.

Melly came to Winchester from Arlington and while living in the latter town was a paper boy, as many an athlete has been before and since his time.

It was the custom of the Arlington merchants at the time when big Frank toted papers to take the newsies once a year to a big league baseball game, and along in 1919 or '20 the boys went to see the Yanks and Red Sox at Fenway Park.

"Babe" Ruth rode several balls out of the park that day and Melly was consequently delighted when a foul ball, which he retrieved after a mad scramble in the stands, was autographed for him by the "Big Bam." Needless to state the ball was Frank's joy and pride, to be shown to each and every visitor at the Melly domicile.

Coming to Winchester, Melly made a name for himself in high school athletics and with Francis Tansey formed one of the high school's great all-time batteries. Tansey a slick left-hander struck out many "last batters" and he and his backstop divided the baseballs that were left in Melly's big mitt when the games were over. Neither, however, kept the horsehides long as it was the custom for both to throw out the balls for a "scramble" by the kids who had attended the games.

In 1925 the baseball team decided to autograph a baseball with the names of all the players and present it to Principal Wade L. Grindle in recognition of his interest in the team and the players generally; Melly being delegated to get the ball and attend to the signing.

Came class night and big Frank to his dismay was able to find nary a baseball for the boys to autograph. Sending a message to Tansey to bring along one of his "last out" baseballs, Melly hied himself to the Winchester Boat Club where class night was to be held, only to find that Tansey also had no baseballs, having given them all away.

In the emergency there was just one thing to do. Regretfully Melly went home and got his "Babe" Ruth ball. Dunking it in Mystic Lake, he got off the "Babe's" signature, or most of it, and the members of the high school nine signed the wet horsehide.

At an appropriate moment it was presented to Mr. Grindle, who was delighted to get it just as an expression of esteem from the team, without knowing it had been autographed by "Babe" Ruth, a fact that would have made the ball doubly prized by such an ardent baseball fan as the high school principal.

As Melly told us the yarn and of his own regret at parting with his prized possession, we both wondered if Mr. Grindle still has the ball in question. If so, even that at long last as the scenarists like to say, he will doubtless be interested to learn that the ball bearing the names of the Winchester High School baseball team of 1925, had previously borne the autograph of George Herman "Babo" Ruth.

SKATER INJURED AT WINTER POND

Aldora Crawford, 22 of 27 Bryant street, Woburn, sustained a possible fracture of the right ankle Monday evening as the result of an accident which occurred while she was skating at Winter Pond.

Skaters at the pond went to the Toolin home on Chesterford road east where a call was sent in to Police Headquarters, bringing Officers John F. Hogan and John J. Reardon to the pond with the police ambulance.

Miss Crawford was removed to the Winchester Hospital where she was attended by Dr. Harry Benson. He ordered her held at the hospital for X-rays to determine whether her ankle was fractured.

QUEEN OF SMITH CARNIVAL

Miss Priscilla Tapley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Tapley of Glen road, will be queen of the annual Smith College sophomore carnival to be held at the field house this Saturday. Miss Tapley is president of the freshman class, an office which her mother held when she was attending Smith.

At the most recent meeting of the science club the milk that is used in the cafeteria was analized by Dick Merrow, Jim Grimes, Bill Phippen and Leonard Sherman. Each of the boys took a separate phase of the analysis and gave some demonstrations that proved very interesting to the members.

The class play that is to be presented Saturday evening has much natural talent in the cast. We can think of no way to spend an evening more enjoyable than at this play. This year the tickets are being sold directly instead of having the patrons exchange tickets for reserved seats during the week preceding the production. Everyone that sold ten tickets received one free one for himself.

The Red Cross has started its annual drive for playing cards. This year the club wants over 800 packs to send to the Veteran's Hospital. During the last drive the Wadleigh far outdistanced the high school in he number of contributions. Miss white is the faculty head of the Red Cross.

One of the junior English divisions recently visited the Boston Herald where they followed the paper from the news sources to the press room. Progressive education to the fore!

Last Friday at Belmont, there was a dance in the gym after the basketball game. (Winchester vs Belmont). This Friday there is a game in the Winchester gym, Wakefield vs Winchester and there will be another dance after this game. The dances are becoming more popular all the time. Also cheerleaders will represent the school for the first time at a basketball game.

Five week slips are no sooner received than the mid-years are requiring extra study for most pupils.

Wednesday was a short day because of the teacher's departmental meetings.

Many teachers are absent as well as pupils because of the flu epidemic. On almost any given day more than 110 students are away from school. The total school enrollment is only around 800 pupils. Several of the activities in school have been slowed up because of illness.

WINCHESTER LOST AT BELMONT

Winchester High School's embattled basketball team, minus its captain and otherwise riddled by illness, lost its second Middlesex League basketball game in a row last Friday evening, being defeated by the strong Belmont five at Belmont, 23—16. The Winchester seconds won the preliminary game, 24—12.

Winchester had trouble in keeping possession of the ball in Belmont territory; but in spite of this difficulty, Don Drew managed to toss in four field goals which accounted for half of the locals' 16 points, and Dean Derby did an excellent job defensively. Jackson of Belmont, leaving a sick bed to play, compiled 13 of his team's 23 points. Coon and McGovern missed several close ones, the ball circling the hoop before finally rolling out.

The local boys put up a good fight against Belmont's superior power, and with Capt. Pete Provinzano in the lineup, might well have been very much in the game. The Belmont and Reading losses were hard for Winchester to swallow, for Coach Bartlett's charges showed enough against the alumni and North Attleboro to warrant the belief they would do well in league competition.

WINCHESTER WON FROM STONEHAM

Winchester High broke into the Middlesex Basketball League win column Tuesday afternoon, setting back Stoneham High at Stoneham, 25—21.

Capt. Pete Provinzano was back in the local lineup after missing two games with an attack of the grippe. Below his top form as he was after his layoff, he was still the game's high scorer and his presence in the Winchester lineup made a world of difference to the local's offensive punch.

Stoneham started like a sure winner when Houghton sank two long baskets from the side court and McCrea made a corner shot, all good for six points before Winchester could break the scoring ice.

Provinzano sank two foul baskets and a shot from scrimmage put Winchester in the game, but Stoneham led at half time, 14—13.

With the resumption of play Coach Bartlett changed his defensive strategy with the result that Stoneham scored only a single point during the whole third quarter, Winchester taking the lead, 20—15.

The locals kept going and ran their score to 25 in the final period, but shortly before the gun Stoneham came to life, Vacca sinking a push up shot from under the hoop, and W. Bridgman tossing two spectacular long shots from back court to close in the gap.

Winchester braced and held its four point lead, Provinzano sinking a floor goal just as the final gun barked, the goal being disallowed.

Stoneham seconds won the preliminary game 30—26. Following is the varsity summary:

FELLSLAND COUNCIL EXPOSITION

Plans are already under way for te ninth annual Boy Scout Exposition conducted by Fellsland Council which is to be held in Stoneham Town Hall on Saturday, Feb. 8. The exposition is fortunate to obtain the use of the beautiful new building which was opened last year. By using two floors it will be possible to arrange the booths of exhibits separate and apart from the demonstration and entertainment program.

The State Planning Board has completed land use maps for 325 towns in Massachusetts which are being found useful in locating businesses, new airport sites and building sites, as well as other phases of municipal activity.

NEW "DUG-OUT" AT LEGION HOUSE

The newest feature at the headquarters of Post 97, American Legion, on Washington street, is the "Dug-Out," a most attractive card and game room which has been fashioned from an old dark unused room at the rear of the second floor of the house.

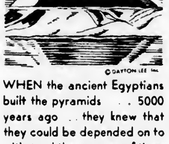

Legionnaire Harry Goodwin had the imagination to see what could be done with the gloomy old room and the determination to put through the necessary alterations and renovations. The Post has given him a well deserved vote of thanks for his success.

Three clusters of overhead lights provide a cheery atmosphere and the walls have been finished to resemble knotty pine sheathing with heavy timbered beams. George Hayden, whose artistic sets have been so long admired on the local stage, is responsible for this feature of the decorations. Heavy linoleum is to cover the floor as the final step in the transformation and Legionnaires are asked to scout around for suitable heavy furniture to complete the picture.

The Post is proud of its new "Dug-Out" which members agree is second to none of its kind in any Legion House hereabouts.

In 1641 Massachusetts was exporting fish, lumber and furs.

Conditions at Monday night's inconsequential fire at the Wilton development above the Country Club makes one ponder the indignation which would have been aroused had one of the fine new homes there or some of the nearby club property burned because of the fact that fire apparatus was unable to work its way through narrow streets jammed with sightseers' automobiles. The firemen would have been equally powerless to aid effectively had someone's home been going up in smoke instead of an old barn and shed. The private automobile has for some time been a serious problem for local fire fighters to contend with, and at the big Irwin farm fire last summer conditions were very bad indeed. Chief DeCourcy of the Fire Department is our authority for the statement that conditions at Monday's fire were the worst yet encountered. One piece of apparatus that did get somewhere near its objective was 15 minutes going a short distance that should have been covered in less than five. This isn't nice for property owners to know about or reflect upon, for fire is no respecter of persons and it isn't especially comforting for people living at some little distance from the fire station to realize that in the event of a fire which can be seen at any distance, about everyone with his sisters, cousins and aunts is going to get there before the fire apparatus and in so doing perhaps prevent the firemen from bringing the aid for which the community pays. Such a possibility is becoming more and more a probability, and those property owners who face such conditions would do well to insist that local authorities take steps to ensure the fire apparatus at least an even chance of getting to the actual scene of fires. Some time we are going to have a really bad fire and the Fire Department just isn't going to be able to do a thing about it. Not because they wouldn't, but because they can't. Private automobiles, driven by thrill-seekers, are going to prevent the firemen from saving someone's home some day, and then perhaps we shall do something about the whole sorry business. And there is just one thing to be done. Take as many of those whose cars are barring the way to the fire into court and secure as stiff penalties as the law will hand out, not neglecting a note to the registrar of motor vehicles. We believe that it is possible to stop this promiscuous chasing to fires and interfering with the fire department in its efforts to preserve the lives and property of the community. It would be nice to do so before someone loses his home or life and not after such a tragedy has actually occurred!

THE RESULTS OF A PLAN

To the Editor of the Star:

In 1911, when Mr. Herbert Kellaway made a careful examination of the conditions existing in Winchester, from one end of the town to the other, and reported to the Waterways Improvement Committee at that time, he said at the conclusion of his report:

"If the plan and recommendations are consistently and thoroughly carried to completion, future generations will look back with pride upon the public spirit and farsightedness of the men now responsible for the development of the town. Thus Winchester is destined to become one of the most beautiful and healthful communities in Massachusetts."

It must be a satisfaction to him to know that 30 years after, nearly every one of his recommendations has been carried out along the shores of the Aberjona River, as well as additional ones by the town, and that the Massachusetts Horticultural Society presented to the officials of the town an illuminated scroll, in which this statement is contained:

"In recognition of excellent judgment and rare good taste made manifest by town officials in the plan of the public parks, and in the beautification of its highways, Winchester has become outstanding among the Commonwealth's many beautiful communities."

This is the first time that this Society has officially given any town such a scroll.

SIGN WITH A SMILE

To the Editor of the Star:

If, at this time of year people feel that they are being "pestered" to sign a lot of nomination papers, they should remember that this is a small price to pay for the decent and able government which we have in Winchester.

The present law makes it necessary for a candidate to secure 227 signatures on his nomination papers in order for his name to appear on the ballot, and this is no easy task for his friends.

With few exceptions the members of our various boards receive no pay, and are, in fact, out of pocket at the end of a term for their time and gasoline spent in the community's behalf. The least the ordinary citizen can do is to give the time necessary to sign a nomination paper freely and gladly.

REPRESENTING WINCHESTER AT A BOSTON MEETING

On Wednesday, Jan. 15, the following women voted the wishes of the Epiphany parish at the diocesan meeting of the Women's Division of the Church Service League at Ford Hall, Boston: Mrs. Donald Heath, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, and Mrs. Ellsworth Snow. A responsible function of the voting delegation this year was the choice of a successor to Miss Eva D. Corey, who resigned from being the women's leader after almost a quarter of a century of distinguished leadership.

Other Winchester representatives, not voting, were Miss Ethel B. Davis, Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter, Mrs. Walter Hawkes, Mrs. H. C. Goodwin and Mrs. Elmer Robinson.

At the first session of the annual meeting in the Crypt of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Tuesday evening, Jan. 14, Winchester was also represented. Present at the supper were Mrs. John Sharon, chairman of the Evening Branch; Miss F. Louise Nardin, Mrs. Burrill Ayres, Mrs. Walter Parkin and Miss Florence Smith.

These returned enthusiastic about the speakers at the session. They saw moving pictures of the vacation school which a team of young people of the Diocese of Massachusetts conducted for a fortnight last summer for the children of a district in Maine, with the warm approval and co-operation of the Bishop of Maine and of the rural church worker of the Diocese of Maine, Mrs. Genie Daly. One of the team, Miss Marjorie Mitchell of Beverly, supplemented the pictures with an interesting account of the school.

The pictures showed none of the hard things that the young pioneers had to meet and overcome without waste of spiritual resources. The film did show the well across the road, from which every gallon of water the 11 used had to be drawn with a pail and carried. But the faces of the water-carriers wiped out any sense of hardship or heroism and made that fact of small importance that the big unused rectory had no screens except the mosquito netting that the pioneers had thoughtfully provided. Of great importance that the first arrivals found neighbor women just finishing the cleaning of the long-unopened house and putting curtains at the windows. Of no importance, that young people of the team slept on beds improvised by putting piles of bricks under the corners of springs. Of great importance that in the two weeks the feet of a 100 children wore a broad plain path to the door of the church where waist-high weeds and grasses had been growing when the adventure began. Of great importance that there was a Confirmation service before the fortnight ended. Of great importance that these rural families living without a church, where as an institution religion had closed its doors and ceased its ministry, brought 10 of their babies for baptism and thereby committed the parents to providing Christian homes and nurture in a life dominated by "the two great commandments."

Miss Elise Dexter from her knowledge of China, made one little $50 which Massachusetts women will give, just one item on a list, a loophole through which her hearers could see a cataclysm of war-caused misery, but an invincible spirit. We saw facts in China with our imagination. Students have gone on foot the 2000 miles from where there colleges used to be to where they now can be. We saw students of Harvard and Wellesley and Dartmouth and Bryn Mawr and Rolling and Chicago and Oberlin going on foot to fastnesses in Colorado or Arizona where the invading airplanes had not yet come. We thought what it would be like if fifty millions of us had been dislodged from our homes and sent on the long trek to the Rockies to find homes and work. But among these unvincible Chinese the little item of $50 in the Massachusetts budget will enable 10 Chinese to get their little crafts started again and become self-supporting and busy. So potent is a $5 loan from the Chinese Christian Co-operatives.

Bishop Henry K. Sherrill greeted the evening assembly and told of the sharp emergency with which our defense preparations are confronting the church. Where there is no church soon there will be a camp and 80,000 men. In California alone 10 camps will be built where the church has not yet come. For the Episcopal Church, Bishop Sherrill has been put in charge of the nation-wide effort to meet this sudden need promptly and faithfully.

WAS MOTHER OF MRS. J. HENRY MILEY

Mrs. Helen A. Seaver, widow of William H. Seaver, who died Tuesday afternoon at her home on Highland avenue in Somerville after a long illness, was known to many in Winchester through frequent visits at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Henry Miley, 63 Mystic Valley Parkway.

Mrs. Seaver was born in Cambridge in 1865 and made her home in Somerville for half a century. Besides Mrs. Miley, she leaves a son, William H. Seaver of Hingham, formerly of this town, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at the Hartwell Chapel in Arlington. Interment will be in the Arlington Cemetery.

ACCIDENT AT TOWN HALL

Shortly before 8 o'clock last evening Mrs. M. Walker Jones of 27 Ridgefield road, was struck and slightly injured by an automobile as she was crossing Mt. Vernon street from her machine which was parked opposite the town hall.

The car that struck Mrs. Jones was a Plymouth sedan, owned by the Princeton Motor Sales Co., of Broadway Somerville, and driven by Walter M. Ennis, Jr., of 9 Englewood road, who was headed east. Mrs. Jones complained of injuries to her right knee but was not thought to have been seriously injured.

BELMONT AND READING TOP MIDDLESEX HOOP LEAGUE

Belmont and Reading High School are tied for top honors in the Middlesex Basketball League, each being undefeated in three games. Winchester, with its team riddled by illness, lost two of its first three starts and is tied for second place with Wakefield and Lexington.

Following is the summary:

	w	l	pts
Belmont	3	0	[illegible]
Reading	3	0	6
Winchester	1	2	2
Lexington	1	2	2
Wakefield	1	2	2
Stoneham	0	3	0

Winchester plays its first home league game of the season tonight with Wakefield and Coach Bartlett hopes to climb in the league standing at the expense of the visiting outfit.

The locals have looked good thus far, even in defeat, and had they had their full strength against Reading and Belmont might well have won both these important early season tilts. In neither were they outclassed, even with their captain and star forward, Pete Provinzano, sidelined by illness.

After the Belmont battle Coach Mel Wenner remarked the increased aggressiveness if the Winchester boys this year, stating that his players experienced plenty of trouble in getting possession of the ball during scrimmage.

Winchester continued its aggressive play against Stoneham, but will have to step up its shooting before it can hope to win from tough opposition. In the Stoneham game Coach Bartlett's boys took 54 shots at the enemy's basket, sinking only 10 goals from the floor. Apparently Coach Bartlett has given his club an effective offense when his players can get better than 50 shots at the hoop in a game. Once the boys start to "get" their baskets instead of miss them Winchester will be tough for any of its opponents, but the boys can't throw away 44 out of 54 shots and hope for championship heights.

Tonight's game with Wakefield will start at 7:30, first and second teams. Seats will probably be at a premium so get down early. Captain Provinzano and Drew will start at forwards for Winchester with McGovern at center and Coon and Derby in the back court.

STIFF SENTENCE FOR MOTORIST

Mathew Nolan of 104 Walnut street, Brookline, was fined $105 and given three months in the House of Correction by Justice William Heachy in the District Court at Woburn yesterday morning when he was arraigned on charges preferred by the Winchester Police of drunkenness, driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known after doing damage to property and operating a motor vehicle after his right to do so had been revoked.

Nolan was arrested early New Year's morning by Patrolman James F. Noonan and James J. Flaherty of the Police Department, after a chase through Winchester and Somerville, during which his car collided with cars owned by Edwin Cushman of 97 Highland avenue and Robert M. Mercer of Springfield. He was arraigned in court first on the morning following the holiday when the case was continued until yesterday. Nolan appealed the sentence.

THINGS THAT ABIDE

"Things That Abide" was the subject of Dr. Calkins' sermon at the First Congregational Church last Sunday morning.

Dr. Calkins said in part, "Much in this world does not abide. Human life is transient and temporary. But in the midst of all that passes and is done away, we are reminded that there are three great realities that time does not touch, nor age decay. 'Now abideth faith, hope and love.' The faith that abides is not any article of belief, or statement of faith. 'Our little systems have their day; they have their day and cease to be.' The faith that abides is the living bond between the human soul and God. That is man's most glorious possession. It is a rock that rises above every storm, on which every human life can safely rest.

"The hope that abides is a hope that is rooted in faith. The Bible is an unbroken call to hope because Bible hope springs out of its faith in the invincible will and love of God. Such a hope will triumph over every vicissitude of experience.

"The love that abides is rooted in faith and nourished by hope. Nothing that we are or do abides unless love is in it. We must put more love in everything we do: in our homes, our friendships, our work whatever it may be. Because Jesus was Love, He abides.

"Let us all possess such a faith, such a hope, and such a love, and we have hold of realities that time can never touch or take away."

Dr. Calkins will be ad interim preacher and pastor at the First Congregational Church during Dr. Chidley's leave of absence. Next Sunday morning he will preach on "Singing Men and Women."

VALONA, WHERE HIGHWAYS AND SEA LANES CONVERGE

The importance of the port of Valona, bombed by British airmen, is due to its strategic location at the neck of the Adriatic behind Italy's Gibraltar, on the Strait of Otranto, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. It is the best of Albanian harbors.

The strategic value of Valona (Vlone) was enhanced by the roads built by the Italians, with whom the Albanians made a defensive alliance for 20 years, in 1927, the bulletin adds.

Machine War Renews Roads

Earlier, during the World War, the old and neglected Turkish highway, crossing the Balkan Peninsula 363 miles from Valona to Salonika, was repaired by the Italians. During the same period they built a turnpike 55 miles east-southeast from Valona to the inland town of Tepeleni. Their engineering masterpiece of World War days is the 81 miles of highway extending south to Santi Quaranta on the coast, just above Corfu This road parallels the Adriatic for the most part, high above the sea.

The port is on a spacious bay about five miles wide at the mouth, extending south for about 9 miles, and is formed by a high peninsula which is 2750 feet high in Mount San Vasilio, and terminates in Point Garlovez and Cape Linguetta.

The town of Valona, back from the bay a mile or more, has a population of less than 10,000, of whom two-thirds are Mohammedans. The climate is mild, but the surrounding mountains are snow-capped for much of the year. The principal boulevard has been named by the Italians after their king. Valona's several minarets rise against a background of olive groves. There is little industry aside from petroleum refining and motor repairing.

The Kerr "Changepoint" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building.

"I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my own son." These words from Revelation 21:6, 7, comprise the Golden Text to be used in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, on Sunday, Jan. 19.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be: "Life." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. . . . For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light" (Psalms 36: 7, 9).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Eternity, not time, expresses the thought of Life, and time is no part of eternity. "PLIGHT OF CHILDREN IN STRICKEN COUNTRIES"

"Of all the victims of the incredible disaster which has befallen man's boasted civilization, the plight of none is so shocking and heartrendering as that of children.

Terror has stalked them on every side. They have been pitilessly orphaned. Their homes have been ruthlessly blown to dust. Their schools have been reduced to debris. They have been separated from family and friends and scattered in far away lands among strangers. The red fury has even overtaken the mercy ships that were bearing them to remote places of refuge. Blockades have subjected them to the pangs of hunger. The very places in which they were wont to gather to hear the teachings of Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God." have been blasted into ruins.

How can we reconcile ourselves to the conditions which shake the foundations of our belief in a just and merciful God? Hard as it may be, in faith alone must we find the answer, in a faith based on the postulate that the mind that conceived and the Conscience that controls the universe has a purpose that it would be colossal sacrifice for the human intellect to censure and condemn. To that faith we must cling, and hope that the world that will ultimately be evolved will be worth the price, even of so much suffering of he guiltless."

(Quoted from an article in Herald Traveller, by George E. Farnum, former Assistant Attorney General of the United States).

What we can do here and now may touch only the fringes of this great tragedy of war, but we have an opportunity to make a definite, however small, contribution through the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc., which has taken over a share of the responsibility of saving the many English refugee children now in Canada, from the horrors of this civilization-blasting war.

Come and sew with this Winchester Committee in the First Congregational Church on Wednesdays, 22, 29 in January, 10 a. m.-4 p. m. For knitting apply to Mrs. Grey, Win. 1047; for home sewing, to Mrs. Apsey, Win. 2162; for other activities, to Mrs. Gage, Win. 2312.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

16th Annual Meeting

The 16th annual meeting of the Fellsland Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America was held last evening, Thursday, Jan. 16, at the Winchester Country Club with some 125 members and their ladies present.

Mr. William O. Jones of Medford, former Council Commissioner, was elected as the new president. Mr. Jones served as a volunteer Scouter since early in 1925, when he came into Scouting as a member of Troop 5 Medford Committee. He has since then served in various capacities, including district commissioner, council commissioner, chairman of senior Scouting and vice president of the council. A very strong slate of officers were elected, and Scouting will undoubtedly have one of its best years in the history of the Council.

One of the highlights brought out at this meeting was the tremendous increase in boy membership during this past year, when the membership grew from 1035 boys and 274 men, to the present membership of 1266 boys and 355 men. The greatest boy membership increase came in the younger boy program, known as the Cubs. Plans have already been formulated for even a greater increase of boy membership during 1941, when it was stated that objectives now call for five new Troops, and 10 new Cub packs during the year.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Paul Pigors, noted child psychologist of the Tufts College faculty who presented a very interesting discussion on "Group Leadership," dealing particularly with volunteer workers with younger children. His method of lecturing was unique in the fact that he encouraged and received questions from the entire audience.

Emphasis was made to the assembled group that the Ninth Annual Exposition of the Council is to be held at the new Stoneham Town Hall on Saturday, Feb. 8. The program has already exceeded the space and time allotments available and the general public will be treated to the best show in the history of the Council.

The surprise of the evening was the presentation of two Silver Beaver Awards for outstanding service to boys, that are issued by the National Council through the local Council. These two Beaver Awards were presented to Charles L. Oxnard, 151 Mystic street, West Medford, and J. Carroll Tucker, 17 Butler road, Stoneham. Both these men have given constantly of their time and efforts over a great many years to help stimulate boys to become better citizens through the Scout program. It was a very impressive sight and should certainly serve as a definite reminder that there are still men who are dedicating their lives so that boys may still be [illegible] of guidance from men of this character.

COLLISION AT MAIN STREET AND PARKWAY

A Pontiac sedan, owned by John H. Baggs of 4 Lindbergh road, Wakefield and a Ford roadster, owned by Ross A. Runyin of 50 Beacon street, Woburn, were badly damaged when they collided shortly after 8:30 Tuesday morning at the intersection of Main street and the Parkway. Three motorists were injured.

According to the Police the Pontiac, driven by Irma F. Baggs of 4 Lindbergh road, Wakefield, was headed east on the Parkway and crossing Main street, while the Ford, driven by Edward A. McCauley of 10 Burk street, Woburn, was headed north on Main street.

Both cars were badly damaged, the Ford being towed to the Super Service Garage on Converse place. Irma Baggs complained of injuries to her right knee and a severe headache. George Baggs, 64, of 75 Trowbridge street, Arlington, riding with her, complained of chest injuries, the result of being thrown against the steering wheel of the car. McCauley came to headquarters later in the day and reported injuries to his left side, hip and his head.

BARTA CAMP REUNION

Elinor C. Barta has just returned from New Jersey where she held a [illegible] extended bright and jolly [illegible] reunion of the Barta [illegible] Jersey reunion gathering. Mi[illegible] inchester group, was especially fortunate in hearing one of the camp's former music councilors, Betty Travis, (now of South American and Washington, D. C. fame) play part of her New York Town Hall program.

Mothers and grandmothers alike were as delighted as the campers and councilors were when they saw the children's reaction to Betty's playing. As one camper expressed it "I needed that inspiration to spur me on with my practicing."

Friday of last week some 200 members of the Kiwanis Club of Worcester met for luncheon in the ballroom of the Hotel Bancroft to hear Mr. Cedric Seager of Yale street lecture on the progress of the war to date and probable future developments.

Mr. Seager reports that one of the most cheerful members of the large audience was a 98 year old gentleman who wanted to know what kind of a post-war settlement he and the rest of us would see after the defeat of Germany, of which he was supremely confident.

Keyes and her committee will serve coffee to the Group members.

MOTION PICTURES AT C. M. M. C.

Mr. Alonzo D. Nicholas will present his hour and a half program of motion pictures in natural color called "The Southwest Passage" to a Winchester audience on the evening of Jan. 24 in the auditorium of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

This program pictures the Indian country of New Mexico with its ancient cliffs and dwellings and pueblos of modern times; the Grand Canyon of Colorado, the most sublime of earthly spectacles; Boulder Dam, the largest structure of its kind in the world, its height being more than three times that of Bunker Hill Monument; California with its orange empire, Spanish Missions, sweltering desert and snow-capped mountains, awe-inspiring gorges and spectacular waterfalls; the peace and splendor of Yosemite Valley, land of enchantment; the serene majesty of the big trees, the sequoia; Utah, carved by winds and waters; with Zion Canyon, solemnly mysterious and Bryce Canyon, glamorous in its fantasy and beauty.

The selection of subjects comes from a wealth of material from which Mr. Nicholas has chosen the most interesting and artistic. The composition of the individual scenes shows expert knowledge of a fine technique and finish which has won for him high commendation from experts in motion picture studios.

Total relief expenditures of both State and Federal governments were 13 per cent less in the first ten months of 1940 than in the same part of 1939, but even so they amounted to about $114,000,000.

As committee members to serve for this event are Thomas P. Sullivan, Jr., Charles F. Haggerty, Jr., Richard V. Desmond, William Connors, Edward Dineen James Moran, Jr., Thomas Parsons and Philip Lynch.

Theodore Livinston, ch., Edward Dineen and Thomas M. Higgins were chosen directors of all C. Y. O. activities. Plans were formulated to organize basketball, hockey and bowling teams in the near future.

SALE FOR DISABLED VETERANS

To help those less fortunate is worthy. To help such people to help themselves is far worthier. With this in mind the Fortnightly Committee for Co-operation with War Veterans, which, quietly but effectively throughout the year, has been carrying cheer to many of our disabled veterans is sponsoring, under the direction of Mrs. R. K. Miller, Jr., chairman of the committee, a sale of handiwork of these disabled veterans. This will take place in Fortnightly Hall on Thursday, Jan. 23 from 10 to 5 o'clock. It is open to all the townspeople, who are not only invited but urged to come and assist in this worthwhile project.

There will be a variety of interesting and appealing articles for sale. Those many people who keep a gift box or drawer, where they may tuck away "gifty" things against a future need will find much material here.

There will be an opportunity to play bridge if any desire, and during the day the Park Radio Company is furnishing music playing victrola records of selected chamber music and operas. So do come enjoy, and help.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

"We want to give what Britain needs." That may not come so often to our lips and to our ears in Winchester, but it is continually in the back of many minds and often in the focused centre of our thoughts.

It gets women out to the central work-room on a sub-zero day. It makes a woman put aside a bit of dainty knick-knackery that in time of peace and order she would set to making for herself and take up the sturdy white wool that is to keep some sailor warm on the gray North Sea, or when the bitter mistral belies the usual warmth and sunniness of the blue Mediterranean. What she believes in compels her. With the great values of life at stake she is shaken out of the comfortable, small orbit of her peacetime doings, and compelled to find a part she can take with hand as well as head in the grim struggle.

Winchester hasn't yet made good on the New York sogan, "No one to be seen without a sock," but Winchester is on the way. A new wave of recruits is gathering. The first were largely those who knew how; now will come those who want to learn how. And they will find welcome and the way made smooth for them if they will come on Wednesday to the Epiphany parish hall or will telephone to Mrs. Charles Wansker, Win. 2546, or to Mrs. Fred Cameron, Win. 1984.

WAKEFIELD LAUNDRY

FOR EVERY HOME

Take Charge, Mister—
and LET'S FIREBALL!

THERE'S a new word spreading through the vocabularies of car owners who have made firsthand acquaintances with this slick new 1941 Buick.

It's a word we first picked out as an apt description of a new and better engine—but it is rapidly coming to mean a completely new and excitingly pleasurable manner of motorcar travel.

All over the country, "to fireball" now means to enjoy both ease and dispatch in your travel by car—with a special new measure of thrift.

Not the ordinary, scrimpsy, self-denying sort of thrift, but thrift with all the thrills left in!

Now, just why that happens is easy to understand.

Reenforced by Compound Carburetion* this FIREBALL eight develops nearly 17% more horsepower on exactly the same fuel rationing.

With all that power on call, we can in the first place use a more economical gear ratio as our standard high gear—a ratio that ups miles per gallon by giving more revolutions of the wheels for every revolution of the engine.

Then, in the second place, we have in Compound Carburetion a fuel supply system that adjusts itself according to the driving conditions you meet.

BUICK ECONOMY with Compound Carburetion

Here's how Compound Carburetion steps up miles-per-gallon throughout the whole speed range. At 50 miles an hour—a reliable figure to use in estimating over-all mileage for all speeds—you note an increase of a full two miles per gallon, or between 10% and 15%.

In casual, easy, everyday going, a single thrift-size carburetor takes full care of your engine's requirements.

For moments of exceptional need, a reserve carburetor virtually "adds another engine" to meet any other momentary call for power.

Thus your engine is always getting the utmost benefit out of the least amount of gasoline that will give the performance you want.

And that spells economy.

So much economy that a man who drives 15,000 miles a year gets as much as 2,000 miles' extra driving on the same amount of fuel, and without loss of zip, lift, or surging power-flow—economy with some fun to it!

That, Buick buyers are finding, is something entirely new.

So new we think you'd better find out about it, better learn what it means "to fireball" as Buick owners now use that term.

Your Buick dealer, as we've said before, is eager to initiate you. Just give him a ring and he'll fireball around to your house in a jiffy.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $935 for the Business Coupe
delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

*Optional on the Buick Special; standard on all other series.

Breaks Bun Over Bride's Head

According to an old custom, the Scottish bride is carried over threshold of her new home, and is met on the other side by the groom's mother, who breaks a currant bun over the bride's head. A bad omen is considered unlucky.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Parker Holbrook is greatly pleased to report that, owing to good behavior, he has ben paroled from the Winchester Hospital and is now quartered at his home. And, be it known, the Rotary Club latchstring is awaiting a signal from Parker.

Charlie Murphy got two hours off today, for strictly business purposes but he is still constrained to favor the home grounds.

In the February "Rotarian" the Scratchpad Man waxes eloquent over the famous duck dinners served in Burlington, Iowa. Well, Winchester, Massachusetts Rotarians could speak a word on this subject, also, provided they are not full for utterance, full of duck, to be sure.

Speaking of the Rotarian, the Rotary week Jan. 27-31 will be generally observed as "Rotarian Week," this being the 30th anniversary of the Ritarian, first issued in January, 1911. And then, on Feb. 23 we celebrate the 36th birthday of Rotary itself, an organization destined, we believe to go into history as one of the major accomplishments of the first quarter of the 20th century.

We note that arrangements are being made so that English war refugee children now living in Dover, Mass., can communicate via short wave radio with their relatives and friends in Dover, England. We see no reason why this service should not be extended so that most of the English children now in America can enjoy similar advantages. Appreciation beyond the power of words to express will be felt by the children and by their friends across the sea and, we might add, by all who have had a share in bringing about the conversations. Rotarians are indeed proud of this development of their international service program; they will be still prouder when the world at large comes to a fuller realization that international good will is best aided when every person with good will in his heart does his best to promote it in others.

In view of the above it was very appropriate that Winchester Rotary should put the current meeting in charge of its international service committee, James J. Quinn, chairman. Roy E. Coombs, Belmont Rotarian and executive secretary of the Massachusetts State Young Men's Christian Association, was selected as speaker of the day. Roy is also in charge of Rotary District 196 international service. His remarks gave us new ideas as to the value of this work and its good influence in bringing a lasting peace for future generations the world over. He called attention to the particularly favorable conditions existing in this area for carrying on this work, due to the great number of students from foreign countries who are being educated in our schools, colleges and universities, where young people from practically every civilized country are present. All impressions made on these students at an age when they are most impressionable, will surely be transmitted to their fellow countrymen when they return home. Let us see to it that these impressions are favorable and conducive to world peace and prosperity.

Winchester will send a delegation of at least five men to visit the Rotary Club of Medford on Thrusday, Jan. 23. All club members who can arrange to go to Medford (Masonic Hall, 30 High street, near Medford Square) on that date will please notify Church Hindes at once. This visit will repay that of the Medford delegation which came to Winchester on Jan. 9. Get acquainted with your neighbors. We cannot afford to be discourteous.

"MARCH OF DIMES"

Postmaster Vincent C. Ambrose has been appointed treasurer for this district in the "March of Dimes" campaign for combatting the ravages of infantile paralysis.

Those wishing to assist may send their dimes to him at the Postoffice. Fifty per cent of the money so raised is used locally and the remainder goes to the national committee for use where most needed.

To Customers of the late

Alice Hoyt Waterhouse

Mrs. Helen H. Cox, sister of the late Mrs. Waterhouse, will be at Mrs. Waterhouse's shop, 1 Mt. Vernon Street, between 2 and 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Jan. 18, and will be glad to have any customers having dresses in her shop call for them. After that time write Mrs. Cox at 26 Buckingham Road, Wollaston or Phone Granite 4071.

GREATER BOSTON COMMUNITY FUND

Rallying to the defense of the Greater Boston community, several thousand volunteer workers from Winchester and 45 other cities and towns of the metropolitan area will assemble in Mechanics Building, Boston, Saturday evening, Jan. 18, for the official opening of the 1941 Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign.

This call to defense is issued by Henry R. Guild, general campaign chairman in cooperation with Herbert E. Stone, Community Fund chairman for Winchester.

John B. Kennedy, ace commentator of the National Broadcasting Company, main speaker, will discuss the news behind the news of the war in Europe and its relation to the Fund's 1941 defense program.

Governor Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin and Charles Francis Adams, Fund president, will also be presented by Mr. Guild, presiding. Other features will include local bands and pageantry depicting the Community Fund spirit of goodwill.

"I urge every worker in Winchester to be present. Only by answering this call can you know fully what your job is," Mr. Guild emphasized.

"Only by maximum attendance can inspiration and enthusiasm be generated to go over the goal of $4,883,000, he said.

Reserved sections for campaign workers will be held until 7:15 o'clock. Doors will be open to the general public at 8 o'clock.

Chairman Stone expects that Winchester will send a full representation of local workers to this meeting. His organization is ready to go forward to the successful completion of one of the most important community tasks ever undertaken by Greater Boston. Local delegations will attend next week's report luncheons on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

BOSTON EDITOR SPEAKS TONIGHT

R. F. Elie, Jr., assistant dramatic editor of the Boston Herald, will be the speaker tonight at the meeting of the Winchester Group Theatre at 8 o'clock in the art gallery of the Public Library. His subject, "The Critic on the Hearth," will be a review of current events on the Boston stage with reference to relationships between amateur and professional drama.

MUSIC GARDEN

The January meeting of the Music Garden convened at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Clarke on Monday evening the 13th. The prevailing epidemic of colds kept many from attending this meeting but with this exception the occasion was entirely successful and thoroughly enjoyable. An especially pleasing feature was Mr. Clarke's reading of several highly laudatory press notices which followed recitals given by our senior member, Mr. Joshua Phippen, in the early days of his distinguished career as a piano virtuoso.

The program, by French composers, follows:

Ballet Music from Faust, Suite I ... Gounod
Orchestra
Piano Duet Rigaudon ..... Chaminade
Miss Dow and Mr. Knight
Soprano Solo Lullaby from "Jocelyn" Godard
Miss Dyson with Mrs. Withington at the piano

WINTON CLUB CABARET

Final Week of Rehearsals

The Winton Club Cabaret, always awaited with keen anticipation at this time of year, is now in the final stage of rehearsal and will move from the hall of the Winchester Country Club to the Town Hall next week. Mrs. Edwin R. Rooney of Sheffield road is the chairman of the 1941 production and she and her committee have been hard at work these past two weeks with the director and a large and talented cast (rehearsing) planning, and the songs, dance routines and solo numbers which will make up a grand new show.

One of the most outstanding and biggest acts will be the Victor Herbert number, with songs, dances and a toy soldier drill all set to the familiar and beautiful music of this well-loved American composer. Settings and costumes fit the period and are typically brilliant and gay.

The clever tap-dancing of Brock Lynch, star of high school vaudeville shows, will beat out the rhythm of several fast-stepping numbers, and the skill and grace of this Winchester young man will amaze and thrill everyone.

Miss Helen Barr, whose lovely voice and personality have enhanced Winton Club audiences many times, will again have a solo spot and the Mystic Glee Club, whose organization was a direct result of their splendid performance in last year's show, will sing several songs.

There will be an amusing meeting "In the Park" where couples will sing and dance and—well! you know. And saucy French soubrettes in ruffled skirts, flirting with a French gendarme.

It's not fair to reveal any more secrets of the program, but it all promises to be the best ever. Mr. William Raterman, who directed last year's successful show, is again in charge of staging the production. Marshard's music, under the genial direction of Lou Bonick, will furnish the accompaniment for the show and for the dancing before and afterwards.

A grand time is assured and many hostesses are planning dinner parties for this important social event. As usual, the prevue will take place on Thursday and will be a complete performance, with music, lights, make-up and costumes.

As in years past, the Cabaret is put on to raise money for the Winton Club's sole purpose: to keep the Winchester Hospital amply supplied with linen. Other gifts are made as the needs arise, and the Winton Club always stands ready to meet such emergencies. Money from the sale of programs at the Cabaret will this year be donated to the British War Relief, for which organization the Winton Club has furnished many volunteer workers through the past season.

PARKHURST ADVOCATES BOSTON PIER PURCHASE

Mr. Richard Parkhurst of Grove street, vice chairman of the Boston Port Authority is one of those advocating improved facilities in Boston Harbor for seaplanes, naval vessels and merchant ships in connection with national defense. Recommended are the purchase by the State of New Haven Railroad Piers 2 and 4 in South Boston at a cost of $1,250,000, construction of a $500,000 bulkhead at the East Boston Airport by the Department of Public Works as a necessary first step in the expenditure by the Army of $2,300,000 for dredging for a seaplane base and legislative permission for the federal government to extend three of its present piers in Boston Harbor.

Mr. Parkhurst has recently returned from a trip to Canada where he was informed that a substantial increase in shipping between Boston and Canada is contemplated. Increased Army and Navy demands for present harbor facilities will, Mr. Parkhurst explained, eliminate 14 berths now used for deep water vessels. It is necessary as a consequence to provide additional pier facilities if Boston is to be ready to care for increased shipping.

COMMUNTIY DANCE

The fourth community dance sponsored by the En Ka will take place at the Recreation Center, Thursday night, Jan. 30, at 8 o'clock. As this falls on the night of the President's ball a small scale "March of Dimes" would be appropriate and acceptable to a committee selected from among the members. All donations will be voluntary.

WALTER EDMUND CHAMBERLIN

Walter Edmund Chamberlin, proprietor of the John M. Woods Co., lumber dealers, of East Cambridge, and widely known throughout the lumber trade, died suddenly Friday afternoon, Jan. 17, at his home, 34 Wildwood street, after a brief illness. He had previously been for some time in poor health but had recovered sufficiently to be out about town, his sudden passing coming as a severe shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Chamberlin was the son of Horace and Ellen (Cheney) Chamberlin. He was born Sept. 18, 1872, in Worcester but spent his boyhood in Cambridge, being educated in the Cambridge schools and graduating from Cambridge High School.

Being interested in the lumber business, in which his father and grandfather had engaged, he entered the employ of the John M. Woods Co., lumber dealers, at East Cambridge, becoming a member of the firm in 1900 and sole owner in 1935.

He was past president of the lumber Trade Club of Boston, for 15 years a member of the National Hard Wood Lumber Association of Chicago and during the World War was a member of the War Industries Board serving in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Chamberlin was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of William Parkman Lodge of this town, Woburn Royal Arch Chapter, Medford Council, R. & S. M., Hugh de Payens Commandery, Knights Templar; and Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was a member of the old Calumet Club and of the Winchester Country Club; also of the Art Club and Algonquin Club of Boston, Boston Athletic Association and Boston Chamber of Commerce.

CAPTAIN MAGNUSSON'S SHIP RESCUED BY COAST GUARD

The Boston trawler, Hekla, owned and commanded by Capt. Magnus Magnusson of this town, was reported Tuesday night to be in distress at sea with a broken rudder 180 miles southeast of Boston.

Captain Magnusson called the Coast Guard on the radio telephone, with which his boat is equipped, stating that the Hekla had her rudder post snapped by the heavy seas off Georges Bank and was drifting almost helplessly under jury rig, in some danger of being smashed by the pounding seas.

The Coast Guard Cutter Tahoe was dispatched to the trawlers aid and at Captain Magnusson's home Wednesday afternoon the Star was informed that the Hekla had been picked up by the cutter and was safe.

Only the immediate families attended the ceremony which was followed by a reception, the house being decorated with white Easter lilies and white snap dragon, with pink snapdragon and carnations in the dining room.

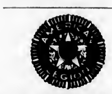

Miss Orpin, the daughter of Mrs. Robert C. Orpin of Winchester and Woburn, and the late Mr. Orpin, was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Frederick Brasch, chief of the Smithsonian Division of the Congressional Library. She was gowned in blue with matching hat and wore a corsage of white orchids. Miss Ranghild Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Local and visiting Legionnaires as well as the junior installing groups of County officials will appear in uniform. New colors of Squadron 97 are expected to be shown for the first time.

MISS MINNA B. NOYES

Former Winchester Teacher Burned to Death With Sister

Many in Winchester were shocked to learn of the tragic death of a former Winchester High School teacher, Miss Minna B. Noyes, 83, who was suffocated Saturday night as fire swept the cottage in which she lived with her sister at 416 Lowell street, Methuen. Her sister, Miss Mabel F. Noyes, 73, a retired Lawrence school teacher, was badly burned about the head and died early Monday morning in the Lawrence General Hospital. How the fire originated isn't known.

A double funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the C. Walter Douglas funeral home in Methuen with Rev. Oliver B. Loud, pastor of the Forest Street Union Church there, officiating. Representatives of the En Ka Society with other old friends and former school associates of Miss Minna Noyes in Winchester attended the service. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery, Methuen:

Miss Minna Noyes came to Winchester in 1889 and for over 20 years was a member of the high school faculty, teaching German and French. She was a skilled photographer and many high school graduating class groups and team pictures came from her camera. A few years ago when the Star was printing a series of pictures of old high school teams she sent on to the paper two photos of old basketball teams which she had taken and which the Star reproduced.

Miss Noyes left Winchester in June 1910, being tendered a farewell reception, at which school and town dignitaries as well as the high school graduating class were present. For some years after leaving this town she lived in Boston, tutoring and doing special teaching in the Boston schools as well as teaching at the Berlitz School of Languages. She was a member of the Berlitz faculty until her retirement several years ago.

Miss Noyes' girlhood home was in Methuen where her father owned a large farm. She received her professional training at Salem Normal School, her education received there being supplemented by studies abroad. She and her sister travelled extensively, both in this country and abroad, many of their impressions and experiences being written by Miss Noyes for newspapers and magazines while the pictures she took on her travels were universally admired. For many years she held membership in a Boston literary society.

Miss Noyes was an honorary member of the En Ka Society and retained to the last her interest in its activities. She maintained her interest in Winchester through the Star, of which she was long a subscriber and to which she often wrote interesting letters. She was guest of honor and principal speaker at the reunion dinner of En Ka at the old Calumet Club on May 18, 1932.

After she retired from active teaching Miss Noyes returned to Methuen where she and her sister lived in the old homested. When this burned down 10 years ago she and her sister had built for them near the Merrimac River the small camp-style cottage in which they lost their lives.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Twelve members of the society attended the January meeting of the Bay State Historical League held at the historic Old North Church in Boston last Saturday afternoon.

By special arrangement with the North Bennet Street Union near the church a very tasty Italian luncheon was served to the league members, places being set for 110. Before the business meeting an opportunity was given to visit Paul Revere's house in North Square which has been completely restored and certainly proved of great interest.

Pof. Howard E. Wilson of Harvard University and Mr. Allen French of Concord were the speakers and the topic of discussion was "How Best Can the Historic Societies of Massachusetts co-operate with their communities to preserve the American Heritage?"

Brief reports of the work of their societies were given by the presidents of the Quincy, Reading and Taunton Historical Societies and the need to educate the public to uphold the American tradition was stressed.

It was a great privilege to be permitted to hold a meeting in this historic church and it was gratifying that so many took advantage of this opportunity.

Those attending from Winchester were: Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Nichols, Miss Jean MacLellan, Miss Clara Russell, Miss Mabel Vinton, Miss Laura Tolman, Miss Flora Richardson, Mrs. P. J. Glendon, Mrs. A. A. Belville, Miss Eleanor and Miss Louise Bancroft and Mr. William D. Goddard

PRAISE FOR WINCHESTER S. S. BOARD

NEW CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD

Several candidates entered the political field since the publication of last week's Star, three new candidates taking out papers for Selectman and two for School Committee.

Malcolm D. Bennett, James A. Cullen and William J. Speers, Jr., are the new men in the Selectmen's race, Philip H. Gallagher having already been reported. Leo F. Garvey and Gilbert H. Tapley, new candidates for School Committee, join Robert F. Lybeck to make this a three-cornered contest.

Of course new candidates may enter both fields, but the time is getting short with Jan. 30 the last date for filing nomination papers. Many shrewd politicians believe both the Selectmens and School Committee fields will be augmented before the deadline, and there is a report that one and perhaps two more candidates will enter the Assessor's race.

As the Star went to press the line-up of the candidates was as follows:

Assessor
J. Waldo Bond, Vernon W. Jones, Patrick T. Foley

Board of Public Welfare
Nellie M. Sullivan (3 years), Frederick M. Ives, Jr. (2 years), William M Vayo, Madeleine S. Rooney (1 year).

Miss Little was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Miss Helen E. Reeves of Winchester as maid of honor, and by her three sisters, Miss Madeleine, Miss Margery and Miss Martha Little, who were bridesmaids with Miss Sybil J. Bumford of Concord.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, having a v-shaped neckline, long sleeves and a full train. Her long tulle veil was arranged with a cap of antique rose point lace and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, bride's roses and sweet peas.

All the bridal attendants wore velveteen dresses, the honor maid wearing coral berry, and the bridesmaids, Arcady blue. All wore matching feather head-dresses and carried bouquets of token roses and blue delphinium.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Winchester Country Club, Mrs. Little, the bride's mother, wore a gown of royal blue crepe with a corsage of light lavender orchids. Mrs. Davis, mother of the bridegroom, wore a corsage of deep lavender orchids with her gown of Alice blue.

Upon their return from a honeymoon at Sea Island, Ga., Mr. Davis and his bride will live in Cambridge.

He was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance by Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman John F. Hogan, Dr. Angelo Maietta attending him upon arrival.

His condition Wednesday remained unchanged and last night was reported as serious. Physically he had improved since entering the hospital however, and it is believed he has a good chance for recovery.

JAMES O. MURRAY

James O. Murray, prominent in Winchester's civic and social life, died Saturday morning, Jan. 18, at his home, 10 Crescent road, after a brief illness with pneumonia. He was 49 years old.

Mr. Murray was born in Plainfield, N. J., son of Dr. William Houghton, and Marie (Tiffany) Murray. His father was for many years prominently identified with institutional work in a medical capacity and was the founder of Bonnie Burn Sanitarium at Watchung, N. J.

Mr. Murray's grandfather, James Ormsby Murray, was dean of Princeton University and from Princeton Mr. Murray was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1914, receiving a degree in electrical engineering two years later.

Since 1918 he had been associated with the Weston Electrical Instrument Company of Newark, N. J., at the time of his death serving as manufacturer's agent in New England. He had been a resident of Winchester for 20 years maintaining a keen interest in town affairs. He was a member of the current finance committee of the town and was actively identified with the First Congregational Church, having been a member of the present board of ushers and a former member of the church committee. He had served for some years on the membership committee of the University Club of Boston, and was a member of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion.

Particularly interested in the objectives of the Community Fund campaign, he was a director and one of the founders of the Winchester Community Chest. He was currently serving as educational director of the Winchester organization in the Greater Boston Community Fund campaign, of which a year ago he was associate chairman in charge of districts.

Mr. Murray was a man highly esteemed by all with whom he came in contact and genuinely beloved by those who knew him intimately.

He was a World War veteran, serving as a lieutenant in the Army Signal Corps. Flags on the common and public buildings were displayed at half staff in his honor.

Guthrie Speers of the Brown Memorial Church, Baltimore, Md., and Dr. Theodore C. Honorary bearers who also served as ushers, were Joseph W. Butler, Rodger M. Tolman, Leo W. Blaisdell, Jameson S. Slocum, Charles N. Ladd, J. Waldo Bond and Raymond J. Dickman, all members of the ushers' board of the church. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery at Plainfield, N. J.

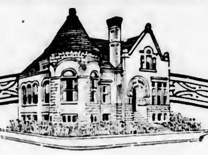

LOST FISHERMAN RELATIVE OF WINCHESTER MAN

John Sheen, 42, one of the crew who lost their lives when the trawler, Mary O'Hara, sank early Tuesday morning in Boston Harbor after a collision with a barge, was the brother-in-law of Robert Eason, custodian of the Public Library and widely known in Winchester. Mr. Sheen, who made his home at 9 Eastern avenue, Gloucester, was chief boatswain of the doomed craft and one of the last to slip from the rigging before the rescue. He leaves his wife and one child. His body was recovered Tuesday afternoon near Graves Light.

Many in Winchester believed the Mary O'Hara's owners, O'Hara Brothers, were sons of the late Francis J. O'Hara of this town. They are instead cousins of Mr. O'Hara's sons, who did until recently operate a fleet of fishing vessels under the name of F. J. O'Hara's Sons. The head of the firm, Mr. Frank J. O'Hara, not long ago sold his ships to the United States Government, for a sum said to be in excess of $1,000,000. His firm is now engaged in building a new fleet.

PARISH PLAYERS ANNOUNCE CHANGE OF DATE

The Parish Players regret to announce a change of date of the midwinter play from Feb. 7 and 8 to Feb. 14 and 15.

Many members of the cast and technical crew of "The Admirable Crichton" have been victims of the grippe, which is so prevalent in Winchester. As this has cut too weeks from the rehearsal period, it has been considered necessary to postpone the performance to insure a production to meet the standards of the Players and the audience.

It is sincerely hoped that this postponement will not inconvenience the subscribers and that they will understand it is made necessary by circumstances beyond the control of the Parish Players.

MAKING DEMOCRACY WORK

Practice in a Parish Meeting, Jan. 28

The evening of Jan. 28, the parish of the Epiphany will make itself a small laboratory to refute the totalitarian theory. The annual parish meeting will be held in the parish house, beginning at 6 o'clock in the library. A few weeks ago a voice heard throughout the nation on a Sunday evening hour talked on the community, people who know each other. When everybody walked to work, to school, to the office, such a friendly community wove itself easily out of everyday contacts. In the second stage of American life, when units of living grew larger and men couldn't walk to the factory or the children to high school, the street car that everybody rode in kept people in a certain knowledge of their neighbors young and old, wove them into a kind of community. Then came a third stage, the private transportation and it has seemed to some observers that America was dissolving into individuals, without community, linked in play groups around the golf club or in occupational fashions. To save us from individualism and class-conscious cliques, the speaker put his faith in two institutions. Of these the church was one.

The Epiphany Parish meeting emphasizes the community of friendly acquaintances by the beginning events of the evening. The first is in charge of the chairman of the hospitality committee, Mrs. Harold Blanchard, and will be in the library at 6 o'clock. There her committee will serve tomato juice and fruit juice cocktails, and will keep a keen eye out to see that newcomers to the parish and older residents meet each other and that the dinner party which will move upstairs to the parish hall at 6:30 feels acquainted and set for a pleasant dinner.

Mrs. Harrison Garner and the ways and means committee are in charge of the dinner. They urge that parishioners make their reservations with Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter, Win. 2080, immediately upon reading this Star notice.

Immediately after the dinner at 7:30 the parish will proceed to the practice of democracy in the narrower sense, the election of their representative leaders. The preliminary thinking has been done by the following Nominating Committee: Mr. Charles Werly, Mrs. Margaret Sharon and Mr. Donald Heath.

They are presenting these names: Warden for two years, Mr. Clarence A. Perkins; Treasurer, Mr. Gerald Y. Hills; Clerk, Mr. Percy E. Gleason; Vestrymen for three years, Dr. Harry L. Benson, Mr. Gerald D. Curtis, Mr. Frederick B. Taylor; for two years, Mr. Maxwell McCreery; Delegates to the Diocesan Convention: Mr. Bradford U. Eddy, Mr. Henry E. Moffette, Mr. Francis Bowes; to the Archdeaconry Convention: Miss F. Louise Nardin, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker.

EIGHTH DISTRICT PRESIDENTS' CLUB

Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, General Federation Director, and Mrs. G. Stuart Woodman, Eighth District Director, will be the guests of honor at the meeting of the Eighth District Presidents Club, to be held Jan. 29, at 2:30 p. m. in the Reading Congregational Church, with the Reading Woman's Club as hostess.

The program includes Margaret Brady, soloist and Katharine O. Dow, readings.

Each member is requested to bring or send a pair of mittens, any color or size, for war relief work.

BOOK REVIEW CLASS

Winton Club Cabaret. Dress rehearsal Jan. 30th at 7:30 p. m. Tickets 50c may be had at the door.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

"Not Identifiable At This Distance"

One Winchester knitter, jestingly insists it may have been a pair of sea boot stockings from her knitting-needles that Mr. Winston Churchill was wearing in a recent sturdy outdoor picture, but at this distance she doesn't claim sure identification! Nor does she care to. Whoever is wearing what she has knit is, she is sure, wearing them somewhere in a place of cold and danger and there pluckily doing his full duty. And doing it the better for the physical comfort and the spiritual re-enforcement that American yarn and American knitters give him.

The knitters' table, in charge of Mrs. Waugh and Mrs. Wansker last Wednesday started with a heartening spread of finished things. Brightening the corner were two colorful afghans, made of the six-inch squares into which people are converting scraps of left-over yarn that have been lurking in their cedar chests. Any color and any amount will be useful. So rummage!

Perhaps this week the knitted articles that had the most prayerful and poignant memories and wishes woven in with the stitches were socks made by one of the oldest of the Winchester friends of Britain, an invalid who will never be able to climb the stairs to the central workroom and see her fellow-workers and their product. But she knits on, for she came from Kent.

This week saw new recruits added to Mrs. Wansker's corps of knitters. But she still has wool to supply all who will knit, and she invites those who cannot conveniently see her on Wednesday at the central workroom, Epiphany parish hall, to telephone her at Winchester 2546.

So Winchester continues to send Britain the warm garments, used or new, for civilians or for the armed forces, that Britain tells us she needs.

Each week America asks the question, "What do you most need that we can give?" Our efforts are fitted to the fresh answer. As fast as we can, we supply the most pressing needs. Every week the answer comes westward over the Atlantic, "We need still more of the Rolling Kitchens."

This need too Winchester is bearing in mind and the first dollars toward our second Rolling Kitchen (the first fund was complete in time to help us have a good Christmas feeling) are already in the hands of the treasurer, Mr. Dwight Cabot, of the Winchester Trust. He will receive gifts to the fund at any time during banking hours. And Mrs. Fred Cameron of 47 Church street will be glad to talk with anyone who wishes to give, or who has a good idea about how some group or organization that might swell the fund for Winchester's Second Rolling Kitchen.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

"A Perfect Ending," a one-act play, will be presented by the Dramatics Committee at the next meeting on Monday, Jan. 27, in Fortnightly Hall. Dramatic committee productions have always delighted Fortnightly audiences, and this one, which is characterized as "bright and snappy," will be up to the usual high standard. More we are not permitted to tell. The cast includes Dorothy Day who read at the Morning Musicale in November, and Mrs. Earl Wood and Mrs. Dana J. Kelly of the Fortnightly. Mrs. Joseph W. McGaragle is directing the production which is in charge of Mrs. Wood and the following committee: Mrs. Dana J. Kelly, Mrs. J. Stewart Chaffe, Mrs. William A. Dolan, Mrs. Alfred W. Drew, Mrs. Duncan M. Ferguson, Mrs. John A. Maddocks, Mrs. H. G. Osterberg, Mrs. Reginald H. Robinson and Mrs. John B. Wills.

Last year Bela Urbanowsky, violinist appeared on a Fortnightly program. His brilliant perfomance brought so much pleasure to his hearers that the committee is glad to include him on this afternoon's program and he will play for us again.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 29, at 8:15 in Fortnightly Hall, will be held the annual concert of the Glee Club, always a delightful affair. Assisting the Club, which is directed by Mrs. George L. Witham, are Helen Bedford, harpist; Ralph Tailby, baritone; and Lucy L. Wilcox, accompanist. The program presents English, Czechoslovakian, Finnish and South American music, many of the numbers being new to Winchester audiences. Mrs. Witham has the happy faculty of discovering and presenting unusual but beautiful music.

Members of the Glee Club participating in the concert are Mrs. Blanche Barnard, Mrs. Leonard B. Erikson, Mrs. Duncan M. Ferguson, Mrs. John Frizzell, Mrs. Herbert S. Gardner, Mrs. Charles R. Greco, Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor, Miss Mary L. Hodge, Mrs. Leon D. Hughes, Mrs. Dana J. Kelly, Mrs. Alfred W. Drew, Mrs. Walter W. Winship, Mrs. Whitelaw Wright and Mrs. Samuel G. Spear.

Assisting Mrs. Charles R. Greco, chairman of the Music Committee are the following committee members: Mrs. George L. Witham, Mrs. Clement Bairstow, Mrs. Harold E. Bergquist, Mrs. Leonard B. Erikson, Mrs. Herbert S. Gardner, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, Mrs. Kenneth B. Hiscoe, Mrs. Daniel J. Kelly, Mrs. Samuel G. Spear, Mrs. Walter W. Winship and Mrs. Whitelaw Wright.

Coffee will be served during the intermission and the Misses Marian Snow, Collette Gaffney, Marie Poirier, Aline Bursley, Betty Ann Budd and Priscilla Parsons of the Junior Fortnightly will usher.

AYER—GRACE

Mrs. Gertrude Louise Grace of Providence, R. I., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Mathews, and William Albion Ayer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ayer of Sylvester avenue, were married Sunday evening, Jan. 19, at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Grace, wearing a street length ensemble of dusty rose crepe with a matching flower-trimmed hat and gardenia corsage, was attended by her sister, Mrs. E. William Hanna of Providence. Mrs. Hanna wore a dress of aquarmarine crepe with a flower-trimmed hat to match and a corsage of pink camellias. Henry Josephson of this town was Mr. Ayer's best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, who assisted in receiving the guests with the matron of honor. Upon their return from a wedding trip to New York and Washington, Mr. Ayer and his bride will make their home at 41 Church street.

SHOWER AND TEA

Among the pre-nuptials parties held in honor of Miss Muriel Little, whose marriage to Mr. Ronald Fremont Davis, Jr., of Arlington took place at the Church of the Epiphany last Friday evening, was a tea and shower given shortly before the marriage at the home of Miss Philippa Kelley on Dix street.

Miss Helen Reeves and Miss Rosemary Smith poured. Guests included Miss Ellen Rivinius, Miss Ruth Dolben, Mrs. Frederick W. Watts (Ruth Aseltine) of Cambridge, Miss Jean Flanders, Miss Gene MacDonald, Miss Janet Spencer and Mrs. G. Moulton Herrick (Katherine Davenport) of Cambridge.

WAKEFIELD SET BACK WINCHESTER

Wakefield High pushed Winchester further down the Middlesex League ladder last Friday evening when the visitors won from the locals in the high school gymnasium, 30—25.

Wakefield deserved to win. The visitors were "hot" last Friday, shooting from any and all angles and having a great majority of their fancy shots find the hoop for baskets. A team shooting in luck like this is hard to stop and Winchester did well to stay in the game, as it did to the very end.

The locals weren't at their best. They lacked the fire they showed against Stoneham and Belmont, even "Pete" Provinzano, ace forward, being below form.

Wakefield started very fast. The visitor's broke like lightning, especially Captain Bartnick of football fame, who signalized his return to competition after a siege of illness by scoring 12 points, 10 coming before half time.

The visitors went ahead 7—1 in the first few minutes of play and this six point lead proved enough to win as things turned out.

Winchester got going too and the score at the quarter was 16—10 for Wakefield, very free scoring for an opening period.

Both offenses dwindled to a mere two points in the second quarter, giving Wakefield an 18—12 advantage at half time.

At the resumption of play Winchester went to work and outscored the visitors in the third quarter, 6—4, leaving Wakefield in front as the final quarter got under way, 22—18.

Both teams were guarding closely and Winchester continued to force the pace, being within three points of Wakefield's score with but five minutes to go. Baskets by Carisella and Hollett in the closing minutes of play decided the issue with the visitors winning 30—25.

Wincheser excelled Wakefield at the foul line making seven of 10 free tries good while the visitors foozled all their seven chances.

Between the halves of the varsity game the Wakefield seconds beat the Winchester seconds 23—18. Following is the varsity summary:

IT LOOKS GOOD TO US

To our good friend A. Miles Holbrook goes our thanks for one of his handy "Red Cap Auto Sanders." It looks good to us Miles! We will put it in the car. This handy device consists of a substantial yet compact cardboard tube filled with a special mixture of sifted sand. It is devised for use when your car gets stuck on icy roads or to use on your icy walks. All that is necessary is to remove the end cap and sprinkle the sand where it will do the most good. GIRL SAVED FROM DROWNING BY HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL PLAYER

Prompt action by Dan Roop, veteran guard on the Winchester High School football team last fall, saved Martha Righter, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr., of 5 Fernway, from possible death by drowning in the icy waters of Mystic Lake last Sunday afternoon.

Martha and Clark Staples, 9, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clark Staples of 12 Myopia road, went onto the ice at the old aquaduct near Niles lane and had crossed the narrow gut going toward the Parkway side when the ice, weakened by the warm damp weather, broke, throwing them into the water about 15 feet from the remains of the aquaduct masonry near the picnic ground.

The water is quite deep at that point and the children were in real danger. Clark managed to get onto firm ice and made his way to the home of Mr. William J. L. Roop at 16 Niles lane, arriving with chattering teeth to tell Mrs. Roop and her son, Dan, of his companion's plight.

Dan hastened to the aquaduct and getting a ladder and life-preserver kept there by the Metropolitan District Commission, he worked his way out onto the treacherous ice until he was near enough to throw the life-preserver to Martha, who was clinging to the ice.

The little girl seized the preserver and clung to it while Roop carefully pulled her from the lake and across the gut to safety.

Meanwhile word of the accident had been sent to Police Headquarters and Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman Irving Reardon made all haste to the lake with life-saving equipment. A call from Police Headquarters also dispatched Ladder 1 of the Fire Department under Lt. Hanscom to the scene.

Neither the police nor firemen arrived in time to be of service, Roop having gotten Martha from the pond and on her way to his home just as the cruiser pulled up. Police believe that the little girl could not have held on to the ice until they could have gotten to her aid and were loud in their praise of Roop's rescue.

Both Martha and Clark were given hot baths at the Roop home and kept there until the arrival of their parents.

WINCHESTER GIRLS SWAMPED BELMONT

Winchester High girls' basketball team opened its interscholastic season Tuesday afternoon in impressive fashion, outclassing Belmont, 42—13.

Janet Hayward, Winchester's left forward, was the individual star of the game, scoring 23 points to more than double the total of any other player. Her speed and ball handling were impressive.

In the back court the Winchester guards covered so effectively that the Belmont forwards had plenty of trouble gaining possession of the ball to shoot. Following is the summary:

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By James Coon

The Junior-Senior class play was a success from both points of view, financial and artistic. The money that is taken in helps to pay for the prom later on in the year, helps pay for the class night expenses, and for the class gift. Therefore its success is to be greatly sought after. This was the first time Mr. Small has directed a play with the students in our school. Consequently his task was doubly difficult. Both he and the class did a fine job so there ought to be a good audience next year. The girls are to be especially commended for their choice of dresses. Many of the audience were heard to comment on them.

There have been two assemblies recently. Thursday morning the president of Beaver College for Girls, Mr. Kistler, spoke to the school. He compared life to a football game. Monday, the film showing the uses of the Community Fund was shown.

A representative of the Boston Y. M. C. A. came to talk to students who do not expect to go to college about jobs that they might get and ways to get these jobs.

Plans are under way for the annual winter dance put on by the A. A. The various committees have been selected and they in turn have gone to work.

Next week midyears will take up the last three days of the school week. This means extra studying for many.

There was a dance after the basketball game with Wakefield Friday night. The dance was fairly well attended.

The cheer leaders at the game were not a grandiloquent success but this is a new project and needs further trial before judgement is pronounced.

The library reports that the books that Mrs. Stacey assigned her history classes are out and have been reserved for at least four weeks.

Last week was National Thrift Week. The bank sent posters to the school that have been on display in most of the rooms during the week.

There are still a few teachers out with sickness. Most of the pupils are recovering quickly.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

The Winchester High girls won their interclass interschool basketball tourney from Swampscott High in the local gymnasium last Friday afternoon, two matches to one.

The visitors won the senior team match, 18 to 3, but Winchester took the remaining two, the local juniors winning 22 to 11 and the sophomores 17 to 6.

MEMBER OF THE SKATING COMMITTEE

Katherine P. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Hall of 12 Winslow road, is a member of the committee sponsoring the first all-college skating party at Simmons College.

Miss Hall, a junior in the school of English, spent her freshman year at the Women's College, University of North Carolina. Miss Hall is a member of Student Government Council and has been active in the dramatic club. Last year she was chairman of sophomore luncheon.

SECOND ANNUAL SPORTS NIGHT AND DINNER

Fathers and sons of the Methodist parish in Winchester will gather in the social hall of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, on Friday evening, Jan. 31, at 6:30 p. m. for heir second annual Sports Night and Dinner.

This event inaugurated by the pastor, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace, is expected to draw an even larger attendance than last year's event. The committee in charge of the program announces that the guest speaker will be Mr. Victor O. Jones, sports editor of the Boston Globe and Mr. Jones has promised that in the event an unexpected assignment should keep him from being present that he will send a substitute speaker with a sports background.

Another attraction is the scheduled showing of "Winning Baseball," which will be given its first local appearance as this film has but recently been released by the National League for display in and around Boston. This film has won high praise from President Bob Quinn, of the Boston "Bees" and the scribes who witnessed the private showing of the picture, agreed that Ethan Allen, who authored all three of the League's films fairly outdid himself in this production, which takes in every phase of the national pastime from getting the theory of it right down to the umpiring. Of interest to local fans will be the shots of Eddie Miller, the Swarm's classy shortstop; Chet Ross, the sensational rookie of the past season; and of Manager Casey Stengel, giving the boys a little pep talk before the start of the game. The football minded members of the audience will be thrilled with the special film "Football Highlights of 1940."

As guests of the dads and lads there will be Horace Ford, famous National League shortstop of yesteryear, friend and roommate of Ethan Allen, the director of the National League film; Art Johnson, Winchester's rookie pitcher with the Boston "Bees;" and Henry Knowlton, the popular coach of the high school. The commitee in charge of the evening's program consists of William Seaton, Ralph Hatch, Harold Bergquist, Frank Marshall, Thomas Reese, Dexter Blenkhorn, Norman Hitchcock, and the pastor. The dinner will be served by a group of the women of the church under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Ethel Marshall.

CHELMSFORD WON FROM WINCHESTER

Chemsford High won on its own floor from Winchester Wednesday afternoon, 28—25, in a basketball game that wasn't decided until the final minutes of play. The Winchester seconds won the preliminary game, 17—11.

Chelmsford, a small school, is nevertheless no one's setup in basketball. Its team was undefeated last year and went to the Tech tournament in Class B, getting through the preliminary rounds before being eliminated. This season Chelmsford is undefeated to date and has a strong club. Its floor is new this season and minus the old uprights, but still quite small.

The locals trailed at the half, 13—16. Each team tallied 12 points after half time and it looked like Winchester might pull the game out of the fire five minutes before the gun. Chelmsford's Angus, however, found the hoop twice from scrimmage and Leonard made two shots good from free tries to run up a commanding lead. Tetreault sank two pretty goals from scrimmage in the last three minutes of play to close the gap, but the surging locals were still three points shy of a stalemate when the gun barked.

Winchester lost the game at the foul line, making only five shots good out of 14 free tries. Following is the summary:

JOB SEEKERS PLAY HIDE AND GO SEEK

Topeka, Kan. (AP)—Looking for a job? Then take a tip from Ira McConnell, director of the Kansas merit system agency.

Among errors made most frequently by the applicants for jobs this one stands at the head of the list: The applicant neglects to sign his name.—[Globe.

We thought he forgot to buy it first from the union.

THE DOLLAR SIGN

President Roosevelt is quoted as saying: that he was trying to eliminate the "dollar sign" from our Aid-to-Britain Program.

We thought that the elimination of the "dollar sign" had been accomplished with the help of "Quoddy Dam," Florida Ship Canal, etc., etc., long before the New Deal had heard of Hitler and national defense.

Well, we want Unity but we will pay for "Boondoggling" and national defense with the dollar sign, so let us not forget how to make it.

JOHN W. McCORMACK

John McCormack, of Massachusetts, a New Deal Congressman, was made Majority Leader in the National House of Representatives.

His first job was to bring about the immediate adjournment of Congress. It was the urgent wish of President Roosevelt and he had the full backing of the entire national administration, with an overwhelming New Deal majority in the House. That Congressman McCormack was easily defeated, even with all his backing, can only signify one of two things, either what he stood for was so wrong even his own party would not back him up, or it failed because of the way in which it was managed.

A short time before this defeat, Congressman McCormack was quoted in the press as stating that "it is about time business men of the country were awakened to the fact that a lot of statements made by the Republican leaders were made solely for the purpose of playing on their emotions.

There are not 22,000,000 business men in Aemrica and 22,000000 voters can't be all wrong!

Mr. McCormack also stated that there was no further important legislation pending in the House.

Well, maybe not, but Congress is to stay in session just in case, for there might be something "on order" and the country is worried about the New Deal "emotions."

THE REAL "SECRET" WEAPON

This world is in a mess and there is only one reason for it and one thing that will really save this civilization.

The world is in a mess because of the depression naturally following the last World War and the people of the world accepted leadership of three or four men who promised easy, "Abundant Life."

Emphasis has been put wholly on material welfare "Abundant Life." Not one of the so-called leaders pay much, if any attention, to the spiritual side, the only side that can offer and real semblance of "Abundant Life."

The "secret weapon" for the return of success and prosperity is the Golden Rule and downright hard work and thrift. Six or eight hours work four or five days a week and some mythical government assistance will enslave every man, woman and child in the world.

Citizens of America, do not be fooled by magic and secret weapons that replace the spiritual side of life. Work, thrift, and the Golden Rule, there are no substitutes and any so-called leader, who promises some other unknown method, is simply looking for support or votes.

The real "secret weapon" in America and the rest of the world is hard work. America does not yet understand this. They are still relying on magic.

Work as long and as hard as you can if you want individual success. Those who do not will always be waiting, as in the past.

WINCHESTER LACKED BEAUTY 30 YEARS AGO

To the Editor of the Star:

It was with pleasure I read the letter of Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, in your recent issue of Jan. 17 about the presentation to the town of an illuminated scroll for the outstanding work in making Winchester a beautiful community.

Thirty years ago it was anything but beautiful as the report of the Waterways Improvement Commission will show. Mr. Parkhurst was the chairman of a very helpful and unusual public spirited committee.

Possibly many people, today, do not know how Winchester secured the circular stepped dam.

While we were working upon the plans Mr. Parkhurst came into my office and said the decree of the courts sail the weir, (or length of the top) must be of at least a certain dimension. As we measured the plan it was well under the required length. Then in an inspiration the compasses were set upon the plan a circular line was drawn and measured. It was found to be more than the legal length. Then the steps were added. Thus in a simple way the legal requirement was fulfilled and a beautiful stepped dam realized.

In the Boston Sunday Herald of Jan. 12, Mr. Leslie R. Jones had a beautiful photograph of the ice formation on the steps that was unusual.

Beauty today is so seldom used in development that Winchester should cherish pleasure the work that was done by the Waterways Committee of another day.

A TRIBUTE

By the death of James O. Murray, the Finance Committee of Winchester suffers the loss of one of its most valuable members. Efficiency, integrity and fairness were qualities which he possessed to an unusual degree and which commanded the respect of all of the members of this Committee.

Mr. Murray had completed almost two years of service and each member will miss from their number, not only a congenial fellow worker, but a sincere friend.

NEW BELL ON POLICE TOWER

A new warning bell was placed on the outside of the police and railroad gate tower in the center this week. This bell will give warning throughout the center of the approach of all trains. Hitherto the warning has been given the gate tender by a small bell inside the tower. Some of the auto drivers who do not believe in traffic signs have complained that they have not known when the gates were being lowered. Their source of complaint will now be eliminated. They will not only have the traffic signals set against them, but will have the warning bell as well.

FUNERAL RITES FOR WILLIAM P. JONES

Funeral services for William P. Jones, former well known Winchester resident who died Jan. 16 at the Boston City Hospital, were held Sunday at the New Hope Baptist Church with Rev. William H. Smith officiating. Favorite hymns were sung by Mrs. Helen Holiday. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Jones, affectionately known to most of Winchester's older residents as "Professor" Jones, was born in Boyce, Va., in 1866. He was for years a resident of Winchester and until failing health forced his retirement conducted a shoe shine stand in the center. His cheerful acceptance of the bodily discomfort induced by crippling attacks of rheumatism won the admiration of all who knew him and he was held in esteem by a wide circle of friends.

Following the death of his wife, Mr. Jones left Winchester and had living at Rest Haven, Roxbury. He leaves four brothers, Thomas H., formerly of Winchester; David and Howard of Pittsburg, Pa.; and James Jones of St. Paul, Minn.; a niece, Mrs. Marion Jones Townes and two nephews, Spencer and Clyde Jones, all of Winchester.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

The College Club Art Group met at the Public Library Friday, Jan. 17. The subject of the morning was "Art Under Louis XIV." Mrs. Frederic C. Abbe spoke on the "Personality of Louis XIV;" Mrs. James B. Willing discussed the architecture of this time according to the three periods: preparatory, culminating and the period of decline. Mrs. J. Gerard Chandler spoke very interestingly about Versailles the outstanding example of the greatest architectural era France has ever known.

The next meeting will take place at the Art Museum at 11 a. m. Saturday, Feb. 1 when Mrs. Sayward will give an illustrated lecture on the "Miniature Rooms."

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Tuesday evening, Jan. 28, there will be a bridge and whist party at the Legion home in aid of the Child Welfare fund. Mrs. Kathryn Doyle is chairman and hopes all the members and their friends will attend this party. Mrs. Doyle is working hard to make her party a success as the money is needed to further her welfare work. She has helped a great many needy children and has many more who are sadly in need of help.

A good time is promised all who attend and there are excellent prizes.

Refreshments will be served.

Can You Resist the Appeal in these baby eyes for plenty of milk, nourishing food, kindly care and guidance, and a normal chance to grow up into a healthy, strong, self-reliant, loyal citizen of Greater Boston, and of America?

America's first line of defense is built by aiding such as these here at home in Winchester and neighboring communities through the Greater Boston Community Fund.

Last year the Community Fund social service agencies aided Winchester by giving family service and relief to 310 persons; protection and encouragement to 37 aged and handicapped; inspiration and guidance to 713 in youth centers and settlement house clubs.

WINCHESTER AT WOBURN TONIGHT

Winchester and Woburn High Schools will play the first of their two-game basketball series tonight at the Woburn High School gymnasium, first and second teams, commencing at 7:30.

Even though the Orange and Black isn't as potent as usual this winter the boys from the erstwhile tanning city ought to be too strong for Winchester, a team with but a single letter player in its starting lineup.

The locals haven't an impressive record to date, having won from the alumni, North Attleboro and Stoneham, while losing to Reading, Belmont, Wakefield and Chelmsford. None of their defeats has been by a one-sided score and had Provinzano been in the lineup gainst Reading and Belmont, Winchester might have won both these games. The locals will be in there trying and are conceding Woburn nothing.

Woburn started slowly, dropping games to Fitchburg, Peabody, and Winthrop, but the tanners were also weakened for those contests through the ineligibility of Paul Doherty, veteran center, who is now back in good standing. Recently Woburn has won from Winthrop and Watertown and with Doherty, last year's high scorer, back in the lineup, will be favored over Winchester tonight.

Woburn will start Cristaldi and Martin at the forwards, Doherty at center and "Moon" Mullen, big football center, and Tedesco in the back court. Winchester's starting lineup will probably be Capt. Provinzano and Drew, forwards; McGovern, center; and Coon and Derby, guards.

WINCHESTER GIRLS BEAT ARLINGTON

Winchester High School girls' basket ball team won a close and exciting game from Arlington High School Thursday afternoon at Winchester by the score of 15—12. This victory helped to wipe out the sting of last fall's hockey defeat by Arlington, which broke the local girls' long unscored-on record.

Arlington seconds won by the score of 20 to 8. Following is the varsity summary:

DR. CALKINS AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The First Congregational Church is fortunate in having as ad interim preacher and pastor, the Rev. Raymond Calkins, D.D., formerly of First Church, Cambridge. His sermons are always vital and vibrant with strength and courage. Last Sunday he spoke on "Singing Men and Women," taking his text from the Book of Ezra, "And there were among them 200 singing men and women." These men and women were numbered among the exiles returning from Babylon to Jerusalem, and they rendered an indispensable service. Their songs of faith and hope and courage inspired the workers and saved the people from depression and despair. Singing men and women have always performed this great and important mission. It is a service open to us all. We may not be leaders or outstanding workers, but we can all belong to the company of God's singing men and women. And how we need them in our day! We need them in our homes to keep its atmosphere bright and hopeful. We need them in the Church to give its message carrying power. We need them in industry and business to create the spirit of friendliness and goodwill. Above all, we need them in the dark and troubled days in which we live, to cause the note of faith and hope to be heard and to rescue us from the mood of despair. Thus, if any one of us is of the number of God's singing men and women, he may know that he is doing a great work in the world in which he lives.

Next Sunday morning the Senior Forum will attend morning worship, and Dr. Calkins will preach on "Spiritual Athletics."

SELECTIVE SERVICE BULLETIN

Word has been received at the headquarters of local board 161 covering the Winchester and Stoneham district, that program is really getting into high gear. From word received by phone from headquarters in Boston, it appears that the local board are going to be called upon to furnish from 15 to 20 men early in February and from 35 to 40 the latter part of February.

The excellent co-operation of the Doctors and Dentists caused Major Donald E. Currier, Chief of the Medical Division of the State to refer to local Board as follows: "they have done an outstanding job. I have never seen a finer example of community spirit and co-operation."

This co-operation has made it possible for 30 men to be in readiness for the next call.

The next mass medical examinations are to be held at the headquarters in the town hall, on Thursday evening, Feb. 6, at which time some 40 to 45 men are to take their first step towards service in the United States Army.

PINNED AGAINST HOUSE BY TRUCK

Frank Cirone, 17, of 20 Arlington street, Woburn, was painfully injured shortly after 11:30 yesterday forenoon when he was pinned by a truck against the home of Mr. John Russell of 32 Harvard street.

Cirone, a helper on a truck, owned and driven by Robin H. Shaw of 10 Blake street, Woburn, was opening a cellar window to admit a load of coke. Shaw who was backing the truck did not see him and his machine pinned the youth against the house.

As Cirone cried out, Shaw released the truck and a call was sent in for the police ambulance in which Cirone was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Patrolmen John Dolan and Archie O'Connell. He was attended by Dr. William Barone and held for observation.

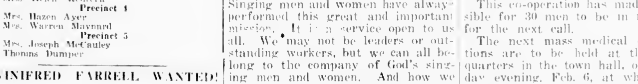

The examination disclosed no broken bones and it is not thought that the youth was seriously injured.

Winton Club Cabaret. Dress rehearsal Jan. 30th at 7:30 p. m. Tickets 50c may be had at the door.

If the play was a splendid vehicle for adolescents, it was no less a triumph for adults. There were occasions galore for both young and older to see themselves as others might. The tone of the play was good, and it must be remarked again that many a true word is said in jest.

For Mr. Ralph Small of the high school faculty we have nothing but praise. His was a nerve racking job to piece together his flu ridden cast and to produce such an effective play so capably.

"YOUNG APRIL"

Combining snappy lines with generally good acting a large cast of high school young people produced most effectively the pleasantly youthful, though wisely satirical, farce, "Young April," in the high school auditorium last Saturday evening. Because of the balanced performance of the entire cast, it is perhaps unwise to select anyone's job as stellar, but a few incidents cannot be overlooked.

Selecting small bits at random, one remarks on the finished performance of the three "parents:" Arnold Smith as Professor McIntyre, Jane Armstrong as Mrs. McIntyre, and Doris Thornton as Mrs. Miller. Arnold played his part as the preoccupied professor without overdoing it. In fact it was questionable at times whether he was sure that he was the children's father, having tried on one occasion to pass as their mother. Jane Armstrong playing opposite Mr. Smith turned in another of her well done older type parts. At one time she would be steering the professor, at another time she might be hovering over one of her own children, and finally she might be playing the pawn for Mrs. Miller. As Mrs. Miller, Doris Thornton carried the audience with her wherever she chose to flit. The part was a veritable gusher, not an easy performance for anyone.

The two juvenile leads were capably handled by Brock Lynch and Barbara Regan as the two McIntyre children of the proper teen age to be truly busy. Here Brock distinguished himself by his easy movements about the stage, a structure on which he is hardly a stranger to Winchester and Boston audiences. Both leading characters spoke their lines well at all times making their characterizations all the more satisfactory.

The supporting cast, sentimental, sophomoric, and seventeen, also came though with good performances. Betty Pride as Lulu eased on and off the stage the required number of times, effecting a sufficiently unintelligible dialect to mystify that part of the audience that hadn't been looking for her. Indian servants are rather the exception. Perhaps Claudia Robinson didn't give Elsie her chance to shine, but she allowed her to serve as a fitting contrast to the glamor girls of George's and Terry's acquaintance. Her discovery of syzygy was a solace to her.

Brian Stanley (Peter Hickey) and Stewart Miller (Thomas McCarthy) and Bert Parsons (Robert Nichols) all give such good performances of their varied roles that it is hard to choose one. So far as the story goes, Brian was the last to win after staging an uphill battle against the momentum of Stewart and the vixen Vivien (Dorothy Welsh). Terry was at first charmed by the attention of the youthful, pedantic Mr. Parsons, but, true to life, she fell for the car and Stewart. She might have forgotten Brian, but Stewart's mother started her engineering too soon, so that it was only an anticlimax for Brian to escort Mr. Miller to the door a la bum's rush, much to everyone's merriment. Perhaps it was the popularity of his role, but we suspect Peter was a bit more convincing in the foregoing.

While Terry was having boy trouble, George was having a peck of trouble. He came home from college broke and in love. For a long time we waited the object of his adoration to appear, one Diane played effectively by Ann Jo Woodward. She pooh-poohed George into giving up girls and setting out to have a career with a lawnmower and an orchestra, which he ably directed in absentia. When, after the expose of the larcenous Vivien, Diane returned to get her man again, she had undergone a complete metamorphosis, being only a little girl again.

On a couple of occasions other young ladies and gentlemen put in appearances in their well taken roles of pals for the others. One of these was the vivacious bride of a short time, Jane impersonated by Shirley Brackett, a newcomer who seemed to enjoy herself immensely. Leila Jane Smith was attractive in her very transitory way. Boys like Bill Flewelling, Bill Phippen, John Penniman, David Rush, Robert Conlon, Kendall Batten, and Courtney Crandall also gathered around and showed a

ORDINARILY we don't go in for owner-testimonials, figuring you hear enough praise of Buick from owners you know.

But every now and then, along comes a letter that so perfectly portrays the way Buick owners feel about their cars that we haven't the heart to keep it from you.

So, with properly modest blushes for the orchidaceous quality of his comments, we quote from Mr. Ambrose Brownell, English holly grower of Milwaukie, Ore., who wrote to his dealer:

". . . When I drove that '41 SUPER out of Flint . . . and started a circle trip home . . . I jotted down each gas purchase and mileage to sort of figure my expenses . . .

"It wasn't long before I got suspicious of something wrong . . . The gas gauge needle just didn't go down fast enough . . . I finally confided my fears to a Service Station attendant and he agreed that there were no 20 miles per gallon in that bus and that my figures must be screwy.

"But, Roy, all the way home it was the same story. The Buick wormed through miles of city traffic . . . made numberless stops to inquire directions, purred along in sizzling heat that made my feet feel like two fried eggs, breezed over the Rockies at 9,000 elevation . . . and finally fairly stole home through the sinuous Columbia Gorge. Loaded with baggage . . . Buick never wasted a breath or raised a bead of perspiration.

"Statistics? Of course: 3,220 miles; 165 gallons . . . Ethyl gas; 19.51 miles per gallon; gas expense—$1\frac{9}{100}$¢ per mile; total out-of-pocket expense—$1\frac{28}{100}$¢ per mile.

". . . Roy, I'm glad I bought a Buick."

Mr. Brownell has other nice things to say about his Compound Carburetion-equipped 1941 SUPER.

But the point is that everywhere Buick is running up such astonishing records for thrift that letters like this are commonplace.

Chances are your own dealer has facts and figures on local Buicks operating under your own driving conditions—why not drop in, inquire about them, and try out the thrifty traveler that brings us orchids from a holly grower?

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND VOLUNTEERS

Twenty-five thousand volunteer citizens are marching through Winchester and the 45 other communities of Greater Boston this week in one of the greatest peace-time manoeuvres of its kind ever held.

"Defend Your Community Now" is their pass word; $4,883,000, their goal. Under the high command of Henry R. Guild, general chairman of the 1941 Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign, the Winchester detachment is responsible to Herbert E. Stone, local C. O.

"The job depends upon the individual work of every single solicitor," Guild declared today in a message to all solicitors. "You are the most important persons in the whole campaign. We have spent months of preparation building the campaign set-up and, thanks to the hundreds of men and women who have already given liberally of their time, everything is in readiness for you.

"All that the rest of us have done will succeed only if you are faithful and thorough in your work," he said. "If every solicitor does his or her job, nothing on earth can block us from complete and overwhelming success.'

Here in Winchester, campaign headquarters have been established at 13 Mt. Vernon street. A volunteer staff will be on duty throughout the campaign, ready to give information and to answer telephone calls.

The business section has taken on a festive air with the striking tricolor banner of the 1941 campaign displayed on street poles and posters on billboards and in shop and office windows.

In residential sections, as well as in the downtown area, window stickers bearing the legend, "We Give," and the emblematic red feather, badge of honor of the Community Fund subscriber, are beginning to appear in increasing numbers. The red feathers, themselves, add color to the winter street costumes of subscribers. Everyone is urged to wear his red feather!

In common with all the other cities and towns of Greater Boston Winchester is concentrating upon 100 per cent fulfillment of its share in this great metropolitan responsibility. The care and protection of the 400,000 Greater Boston men, women and children needing the services of the 200 Community Fund hospitals, health and social service agencies has become a vital issue for 1941.

National defense begins at home, Mr. Guild has emphasized repeatedly. "The strength of Greater Boston lies in the health, strength, courage, self-reliance and loyalty of its citizens," he has declared; "in the happiness and security of its homes; and in the unity of all its people."

Several of the local committee have watched the campaign's progress at the "dutch treat" report luncheons held at the Boston Chamber of Commerce this week. Others will represent the community at the luncheons of Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week. The campaign continues through Wednesday, Feb. 5.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

Seventy members of the Evening Study Group of the Winchester College Club met on Monday evening, Jan. 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Browne on Calumet road. Two guest speakers, Dr. Frank Meyers and Dr. Franklin Fallwell, discussed the interesting subject Smashing Atoms and Building up Molecules—Plastics.

Mr. Langley C. Keyes was chairman for the meeting, and Mrs. Keyes and her committee were in charge of the social hour.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Holbrook Lowell of Lakeview road will entertain the Evening Study Group on Monday, Feb. 3. The subject for consideration that evening will be "New Trends in Adult Education." The speakers will be Miss Corinne Mead, librarian of the Winchester Library and Mr. Austin T. Bunker and Mr. Langley C. Keyes, members of the group.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Today we were glad to greet Phil Gallagher and Charlie Murphy, practically recovered from the colds which have kept them indoors of late. Not so fortunate is Nick Fitzgerald who is accumulating first hand data about this cold epidemic in close proximity to the home heating plant.

Mal Bennett's brother Edward, up from Camp Edwards for a few days, was a welcome visitor at the current meeting.

Reports to the District Governor on club activities are now due. Committee chairmen are requested to confer with the secretary within five days.

We have had occasion to note that the Great War has caused suspension of Rotary activities in the dictator-governed nations. There is a brighter side to the picture, for the world wide conflict has stimulated as never before international service projects among the 5062 existing Rotary clubs. In support of this statement witness the following typical announcements from the secretariat of Rotary International, viz: The Rotary clubs of Cambridge in England and of the Cambridges in Maryland, Mass., Nebraska, Ohio in the U. S. A. have formed an intercity fellowship for the purpose of exchanging correspondence, phonograph records of members' voices, motion pictures of club meetings, etc. On special Cambridge days, observed by all the clubs telegrams are exchanged at the luncheon hour. And again: the President and the Secretary of the Rotary Club of Rangoon, Burma recently made a good will visit to the following Rotary Clubs in Java, Soerabaja, Solo, Batavia, Bandoeng and Seekaboemi, returning to their homes via Thailand. Announcements of this sort are constantly being made and they signify that international understanding is proceeding apace. International understanding will automatically increase international good-will and respect. It is from such qualities that lasting peace results. If ever war is outlawed it will be because of such procedure. Rotary will continue along this line with every resource at its command.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Miss Corinne Mead, librarian at the Winchester Public Library, who spoke on the topic, "Know Your Library." Winchesterites are familiar with the fact that their recently constructed library building compares very favorably with any such structure in communities similar to this town. Probably they are not too well informed as to the library itself, its various departments, the work it is doing and the efforts of its staff to make the library increasingly valuable to the community, a powerful force in promoting cultural activities within the sphere of its influence.

Miss Mead brought to us very comprehensive information concerning these and various other matters. During her brief period in charge of our library she has achieved a very thorough knowledge of its history, its resources and its capabilities for producing the results required of a modern and efficient institution. In short she is exceptionally equipped to carry on the work initiated over 80 years ago when this library had its modest inception. We have every confidence that, with proper support, her plans for enlarging the usefulness of our library will be carried out to the best advantage. Let us see to it that such support is granted.

Next week we shall listen to an address by Arthur Fiedler of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, conductor of the famous Pop Concerts in the spring season and of the summer's Esplanade Concerts. This will be an outstanding feature among the entertainments of our current season. Come and bring your music-loving friends.

WINCHESTER MAYOR NEARLY MISSED BRITISH CHILDREN'S BROADCAST

Mrs. Cameron Chosen to Present Ambulance

Many of the people of this town enjoyed hearing the broadcast, on Jan. 2, from short-wave staion WRUL in Boston to England, by which the citizens of Winchester, Mass., announced their presentation of a vitally-needed "rolling kitchen" to Winchester, England. The evacuated English children in Winchester, Mass., who broadcast to their homeland, quickly received cables from parents and friends in all parts of Britain, overjoyed at hearing the young voices again. But not until recently has detailed news of England's part in our program reached us.

Eagerly awaited letters to Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham, of 33 Everett avenue, and their English grandchildren, Ewen and Fergus Cameron, from the lads' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cameron of Kirby Muxloe, Leicestershire, and from the Mayor of Winchester, England, tell the exciting story of Britain' reception. requent wires to the Burnham's daughter, Mrs. Cameron, warned her many anxious days before the broadcast. Constantly testing the reception, and finding it annoyingly poor, Mr. Cameron telephoned for permission [illegible] with the Mayor of Winchest r, and discovered that the Mayor, a few short days before the zero hour on Jan. 2, knew nothing whatever of the proposed broadcast! Mr. Cameron immediately sent a messenger flying down to Winchester, armed with clippings from the "Winchester Star" as proof for his excitement, who managed to install a short-wave set in Winchester, England's famous Guildhall.

During the cold, snowy night, which kept the Camerons from meeting with the Mayor and Aldermen in Winchester, they sat nervously by their "wireless," waiting until 9:45 p. m., when the clear American voice of WRUL's announcer suddenly rang out in the silence, "Hello England, Winchester calling . . . " The children's voices came through fine, and with a bit of an American accent, which American-born Mrs. Cameron hadn't heard for a long, long time.

But besides the personal pleasure of these parents in hearing their children, we must mention the joy of the people of Winchester, England, at receiving news of our gift. Lt.-Gen. F. H. Griffiths, Mayor, after writing to Ewen and Fergus in America, asked Mrs. Cameron, as a former resident and representative of Winchester, Mass., to make a formal presentation of our ambulance to him. Here is an excerpt from his letter to Mr. Cameron:

" . . . The trailer Ambulance which the people of Winchester, Mass., have so kindly given us is at present having a suitable inscription and our two City crests painted on it. I was wondering if, when it is ready you and your wife would come down, and if so, I suggest that Mrs. Cameron might formally present the Ambulance to me as Mayor on behalf of the residents of Winchester, Mass., as I understand that her home was there . . . "

Needless to say, Mrs. Cameron is anxious to make the presentation, not only as our American representative, however, but as a vitally interested subject of Britain, the adopted country which she, too, is working to save.

ERSKINE N. WHITE GOES TO WASHINGTON

He has been in Washington during the past week and will be joined by Mrs. White over the coming week-end. SELECTIVE SERVICE SPEEDED UP

Local Board to Furnish Two Quotas in February

The entire program of induction of men to be trained under the Selective Service and Training Act has been greatly speeded up in an endeavor to make up for the small quotas which were called in January because of the lack of adequate hospital facilities at Fort Devens.

The recent call for men issued by General Woodruff, Commander of the first Corp Army area to the various states of New England for 5020 men resulted in orders being received by the local board to furnish 16 men who will leave Winchester on Saturday morning, Feb. 15. The personal which will make up this quota has not as yet been determined by the local board. It is expected however that the list of men who will make up this quota will be announced by the local board within the next few days.

The additional call for men to be inducted in February, issued by General Woodruff, resulted in orders being received by the local board to furnish 13 men to be inducted into Selective Service training on Friday, Feb. 28. The local board has an ample number of men including a number of volunteers who have been physically examined and certified as being available for training to fill both of these quotas.

The rumor that the majority of men to be inducted from this district in the two February quotas, are to go to Fort Bragg, N. C., for training, has resulted in an increase in the number of volunteers which would seem to indicate that the idea of serving a year's training in North Carolina is pleasing to the younger residents in this district. The local board has received volunteer applications from:

Floyd W. Tremberth, 74 Woodside road.

Charles A. Farrar, 12 Myrtle street

David Sheldon, 11 Edgehill road

Paul T. Wentworth, 1 Calumet road.

These men are to receive an immediate physical examination with th idea that they will go at the top of the list of the next quota, if they are physically qualified.

Following the much talked of policy which was adopted by the local board of having group examinations at which the medical examiner has the assistance of the majority of the local physicians, the following men have been directed to appear at the local board office on Thursday evening, Feb. 6 for physical examination.

Henry J. McInnis, Jr., Robert E. Gardner, Frederick F. Slack, William H. Stevenson, Jr., Albert E. Thorne, John R. Wyman, Thomas F. Hannon, Henry W. Power, Amos W. Shepard, Jr., Francis E. Smith, Jr., Philip Miller, James A. Farley, Kenneth D. Simes, Robert M. Jackson, James J. Mackin, Frank J. Provinzano, Fred A. Noble, William H. Weldon, Arthur F. Snodgrass, Ralph A. DelGrasso, Charles P. McKenna, Duncan M. Ferguson.

Another examination of a group of Selective Service Registrants is plannd for Thursday, Feb. 13, at which another group of local men will be directed to appear.

FATHERS' AND SONS' NIGHT

Tonight in the Social Hall of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church men of the parish and their sons will gather around the dining table to observe their second annual Fathers' and Sons' Program. Invited guests present will include Mr. Victor Jones, sports editor of the Boston Globe, Henry Knowlton, coach of the Winchester High School, Arthur Johnson local representative in the spring roster of the Boston "Bees" baseball club, and Horace Ford, local businessman and former big leaguer. Following the dinner and the song period led by Bob Griffiths, the master of ceremonies, Thomas Reese, will present the guests and the speaker of the evening. Later the assembled fathers and sons will view the first Winchester showing of "Winning Baseball" the recently released National League baseball film and a football short entitled "Highlights of 1940."

The dinner will be prepared and served by a committee of the mothers of the parish, under the able leadership of Mrs. Ethel Marshall. The Dads' Committee in charge of making arrangements for the evening consists of William Seaton, Ralph Hatch, Harold Bergquist, Frank Marshall, Norman Hitchcock, Thomas Reese, Dexter Blenkhorn and the pastor of the church, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace.

FIRE IN RANGELY RIDGE HOME

The alarm from Box 212 at 2:13 o'clock Thursday morning was for a fire in the house at 20 Rangely ridge, owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. B. Edward Zinn.

The fire started in a davenport in the living room, and though confined to that room by the firemen did considerable smoke damage throughout the house. In the living room the furniture and rugs were burned as well as the floor.

The heavy smoke in the house drove the family to the basement, but with the arrival of the fire apparatus they left the house and took refuge at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGrath. Lieut. James Callahan of the Fire Department and Officer Robert Elliott of the Police Department carrying the younger children who were plowing through the snow lightly clothed and wearing slippers.

ORDAINED TO EPISCOPAL PRIESTHOOD

Rev. Carlton Jones Was Former Pastor Here

Rev. Carlton N. Jones, well known in Winchester as a former pastor of the Second Congregational Church, was ordained to the Episcopal priesthood Wednesday morning by Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill at the Church of St. John the Evangelist in Haverhill.

Rev. Mr. Jones was a candidate from the Church of the Epiphany, the rector of which, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, presented him for ordination. Rev. Mr. Hadley had previously presented him for confirmation and again last June, for his ordination to the Episcopal diaconate at St. John's Memorial Chapel in Cambridge.

Rev. Arthur O. Phinney of this town, archdeacon of Lowell, read the epistle and gospel, and the litany was read by Rev. Charles O. Brown of Trinity Church, Haverhill. The Rev. Charles C. Wilson of Cohasset preached the ordination sermon.

A large congregation attended the service, several members of Mr. Jones former congregation in Winchester being present. A luncheon was served in the parish hall after the ordination.

PARISH PLAYERS TO PRESENT "THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"

On Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 14 and 15, the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church of Winchester will present their second production of the 1940-41 season at "The Little Theatre Beneath the Spire." At no time during the Players' long and successful history have they presented a more delightful comedy than Sir James Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton."

Although Barrie's list of successes is long and replete with established favorites, it is interesting to note that none of his other dramatic works achieved the great success of "The Admirable Crichton" both in this country and in England. Indeed, the names of the stars who have appeared in the play include many of the outstanding members of the theatre, both past and present. Only recently, revivals of "The Admirable Crichton" in New York and in London were received with rare critical and public approval. Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier are at present working on the moving picture version in England.

The story of "The Admirable Crichton' revolves about the efforts of Lord Loam, a distinguished member of England's peerage, to impress upon his three daughters, his nephew, his friends, and above all, his servants, including the impeccable butler Crichton, that all men were created equal and that differences in social position, wealth and birth should not occupy too great a part in the private or public mind. But fate, in the form of a hurricane which wrecks Lord Loam's yacht on a desert island, decides to step in and confuse the situation for His Lordship.

The subsequent adventures of the group on the island form a plot which at times reaches hilarious proportions. Sir James Barrie's delightful philosophy, his sharply drawn characters combined with his brilliant and always sparkling dialogue make "The Admirable Crichton" an evening in the theatre never to be forgotten.

AT THE HUB AND AT THE RIM

Epiphany Men's Club to Hear Two Press Speakers

Thursday evening, Feb. 6, the Epiphany Men's Club will see the world of news as it looks from the policy-making center and from the far-flung line of news-gathering.

The first speaker, Mrs. Hugh Dean, Jr., of Wellesley, knows of the press in its fact-finding, fact-sifting, fact-proportioning work out on the chaotic flaming edge of our world. Though not herself a journalist, she is the wife of a war-correspondent with the Chinese armies, and she has just come from that incredibly courageous and tenacious land, China. She will talk of some of the things her own eyes have seen and her own ears heard, calling the address "Along the Road to Free China."

The second speaker represents the headquarters of the general staff if we think of the correspondent in China as on the actual battle front in this struggle of the newspaper to get what is the real news of the world and to give it faithfully to its readers. The second speaker is a publisher, of a newspaper that has stood for news that is news not because it is sensational, but because it is significant. Mr. Richard N. Johnson of the Boston Transcript will speak on "Inside the Press Lines."

The committee in charge urges that the club assembles with the utmost punctuality. Should there be latecomers their punishment would fit the crime, for one speaker or the other might give less of an interesting speech. But that the guilty may not cheat the innocent, the committee urges arrival on the dot.

The hour is as usual 7:45 and the place the parish hall.

The Epiphany Club goes on with increasing spirit and momentum on its ultra-democratic plan, no officers, and a new committee in charge each month. For February the committee is Mr. Francis Bowes, Mr. William Martens and Mr. Charles Wansker.

Mr. Wilde's candidacy makes the assessor's contest a four-way fight for one vacancy while Mr. Matherson's entry into the contest for school committee provides a fourth candidate for the two positions to be filled in that bracket.

There was much talk during the week of dark horses in the Selectmen's field, but they failed to materialize before the final whistle, leaving Philip H. Gallagher, Malcolm D. Bennett, James A. Cullen and William J. Speers, Jr., as candidates for the two vacancies.

OBSERVED GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Hartley, well known residents of Winchester, observed the golden anniversary of their marriage last Saturday Jan. 25, at their home, 15 Governors avenue.

Theodore Waltzer Hartley and Annetta May Goodwin were married in Port Elgin, New Brunswick, by Rev. Mr. Johnson and have lived in Winchester for nearly 35 years. Mr. Hartley was employed by the Hersey Hardware Company for many years and is well known to Winchester people. At present he is night superintendent at the J. H. Winn's Sons Watch Hand factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley are the parents of three children, Mrs. Mina Ralston, Mrs. Alta Flaherty and Ralph F. Hartley, all of whom were able to be present. They have five grandchildren who contributed to a fine musical program arranged by Mrs. Ralston.

Lohengrin's "Wedding March" was played early in the evening and Mrs. Howard North opened the program by reading a poem in the form of a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, written by Mr. Herbert Miller who was unable to be present. Harry Flynn, a war buddy of Ralph Hartley, was the violinist of the evening, the musical saw was played by George Ralston, a violin solo was contributed by Annetta Ralston, accompanied by her mother; and "God less America" was sung by Harvey Ralston. Mr. Hartley who is a master at playing the bones gave a fine performance in his best style. A guest book was kept by Harvey Ralston. Hartley Ralston had charge of the refreshments which were served in abundance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley attend the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church and a beautiful centerpiece of golden roses sent from the church people gave them much pleasure, also a lovely gift of goblets sent by the Old Fashioned Club, of which the 50 year bride is a member. Prominent among the many cards, flowers and gifts was a beautiful basket, filled with flower and among the various blossoms were 50 one dollar bills attached with ribbons, the gift of Mrs. Alta Flaherty.

An honored guest was Mr. John Edwin Goodwin of Arlington, the only living brother of Mrs. Hartley. Other guests were present from Hartford, Conn., Brighton, Everett, Milton, Boston, West Medford, Arlington and Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley's friends wish them many more years of happiness together and a continuance of excellent health which they now enjoy.

IMPORTANT EXHIBIT

One of the most important exhibits of the current season is being sponsored by the Winchester Art Association and will be hung in the Winchester Public Library during the month of February.

This show—national rather than local in character—is to be a Black and White exhibit containing mostly lithographs and echings. There will also be shown a few proofs, some aquatints and mezzotints, a few working drawings, and wood and copper engravings.

The artists showing their work come from widely scattered parts of this country and are internationally known. They are the following:

Benton, famous for his murals in Jefferson City, Mo, is sending two large lithographs, "Frankie and Johnnie" and "Jesse James." So-called landscapes with figures.

Geerlings of Connecticut who recently won the Gold Medal at the Philadelphia Museum for his aquatint of "Jeweled City," is sending his now famous lithographs of well-known New England campuses. These include Mt. Holyoke, Radcliffe, Wellesley, Smith and Barnard.

Lucioni of New York is sending some very careful etchings of landscapes while Wengenroth, also of New York, is sending some careful lithographs of landscapes.

Mastro-Valerio of Ann Arbor, Mich., is contributing some exquisite mezzotints. Last spring he had two proofs in the National Academy in an exhibit of the mezzotint.

Nason of Connecticut is forwarding some wood and copper engravings and Fiene, one of whose works appeared in last weeks issue of "Life" magazine is also contributing to this fine show.

The exhibit will be opened Sunday afternoon with a tea and gallery talk to the members of the Art Association. The gallery talk will be given by the well known Sam Chamberlain of Boston who will speak on "Black and White Technique."

Pourers will be Mrs. Fiske Bradford and Mrs. T. Patterson Smith, assisted by the Misses Ann Crowell, Janet Eaton and Priscilla Richmond. Mrs. G. Thayer Richards is in charge of the tea.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB HAD INCEPTION AT WINTON CLUB SHOW

It will be interesting to those attending the Winton Club Show this week-end to know that the Mystic Glee Club that is singing several numbers in this year's show was organized as a direct result of some group singing by a number of Winchester men in the show last year.

William Cruger of Waltham, whose interest and knowledge of music has been of unusual aid to the Club; is the director and his untiring efforts have produced some real results. The Club is also fortunate in having the services of Bill Elmer, as accompanist as his musical ability, well known in Winchester, has been of great value to the whole group.

Carl Woods of High street is president of the club; Alfred Pennell, vice president; John L. Turner, secretary; Jacob Bond, treasurer and Edmund Merriam, club librarian. Directors include Richard Wilder, Daniel Barnard and Ben Marshall.

The Glee Club will repeat the famous "Yale Whiffenpoof" song at the Winton Club Show.

This selection has been enthusiastically received as sung by the club at several local functions this fall and many will be glad of the opportunity to hear it again.

NO NEWS

That depends on what one means by news. There was no unexpected upsurge of nominations from the floor at the Epiphany parish meeting. No dark horses entered at the last minute to nose out the candidates submitted by the nominating committee, and the whole slate as presented and as printed in last week's Star was elected.

But a guest at the non-alcoholic cocktail party in the library that preceded the dinner announced what might be news to some people, "It's evidentally the glasses and not what is in them." The initial acquaintance and camaraderie established set the whole party up to the dining-room in perfect tune for the successful dinner party. Among those assisting Mrs. Harold Blanchard in the cocktail hour were: Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Mrs. E. Phillips Walker and Mrs. Charles Hart.

On the staff of Mrs. Ralph S. Gardner, who as chairman of ways and means was in charge of the dinner, were Mrs. Francis Booth, Mrs. Francis Chase, Mrs. Paul Roberts, Mrs. Clarence Perkins, Mrs. Arthur Farrell, Mrs. Charles Wansker, Mrs. Torr W. Harmer, Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, Mrs. Samuel Best, Mrs. Edward Smith and Mrs. Frank d'Elseaux.

Probably it is news too that the reports were lively. Hardened attendents upon official dinners who go mentally a. w. o. l. when the nominating committee chairman rises to report came back to attention when laughter began, at Mr. Donald Heath's account of their search and their basis of selection, Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, though covering a wide range of things women in the parish do, kept faith with the promise that reports would be brisk and interesting. Her style shows in her pithy description of how Epiphany Exchange made its $100, "They will sell to you or for you, and anything from a button to a fur coat." The reports were topped off by the report on the Men's Club, new in 1940, by Mr. Maxwell McCreery. A written report from his aggregation of "tired business men" would have been out of character with both the adjectives, but the mirthful spontaneity of his unwritten report remembered its manners at the end and signed off with the formality of "Respectfully submitted."

Rev. Dwight W. Hadley presided at the business meeting. A gratifying long line of new people became parish voters. The votes cast showed a 25 per cent increase over the voting members present at last year's meeting and besides half a dozen voters who were at work in the kitchen were forgotten and so disfranchised.

The fellowship and the fun of the evening indicated that the devil doesn't have all the good tunes. To anyone who hasn't recently been in touch with a parish meeting perhaps that is news.

WINCHESTER BEAT BELMONT

First Loss for Visitors This Season

Winchester High School gave Belmont its first loss of the current basketball season, setting back Mel Wenner's Middlesex League pace makers Tuesday afternoon in the local gymnasium, 27—21. The result was a distinct upset since Belmont came to Winchester with six straight victories in league competition and another win in a non-league contest. Winchester's three wins and four losses, with two of the victories outside the league, wasn't too hot by way of comparison, but the local's league reverses were close enough to indicate they would bother Belmont and as things turned out they did just that and more.

Coach Bartlett's charges showed a complete reversal of their Woburn form returning to the aggressive play that won them the admiration of their previous league opponents even in defeat.

Against Belmont Winchester shot nine of 36 basket attempts for its best record to date. The shots were legitimate, most being well set up by an offensive that was functioning, while Belmont's wild heaves from impossible angles and one-hand shots made it possible for Winchester continually to get the ball off the backboard and generally control it during much of the game.

The game was close all the way and the stands were pop-eyed with excitement. It was all but impossible to hear the whistle for the continual din of cheering.

Lane McGovern, who played a slick game both offensively and defensively, got the locals away to a lead for a change when he made a double foul shot in the opening minutes of the first quarter. The locals led at the half 12—11, and though they pulled away a bit at the resumption of play, Belmont closed up the gap until with the end in sight Winchester led only 23—21.

At this point Derby sank a floor goal, to be followed by McGovern with another, the resulting four points making the game safe for Winchester as Belmont was unable to tally before the timer's gun barked.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds continued their winning way by winning from the Belmont seconds, 14—8. Billy Weir was the individual star of the preliminary game. Woburn Tony Gentile worked a nice game as referee.

READING HERE TONIGHT

Reading High's basketball team, holding down second place in the Middlesex League standing, visits Winchester tonight for a circuit engagement with Winchester High in the local gym.

Reading won a previous game from Winchester at Reading, 33—27, but the locals were without their captain, Pete Provinzano, one of the league's high scorers and the only experienced performer on their club. With Peter in the lineup tonight the score may well be different. Winchester won from Belmont, Tuesday afternoon, giving Mel Wenner's club its first defeat of the year, in or out of league competition. There was nothing flukey about the win either and if the local boys can play against Reading the same brand of ball they showed against Belmont, there is no reason why they can not win this evening.

Winchester's showing against Woburn was dismal, at least in an offensive sense, but critics should remember that Coach Bartlett was able to get in but a single day's practice during the week the teams were met.

Monday afternoon the boys worked out in the gymnasium, but Tuesday and Thursday the girls' team played at home and Wednesday the Chelmsford game was played at Chelmsford. A day's practice on Monday for a game against a team like Woburn isn't anything like enough. The locals were palpably short of work when they met the Orange Especially was their shooting away off as was to be expected, since the only way to develop players' eyes for the hoop is by constant practice.

Winchester boys play relatively little basketball, very little indeed by comparison with most of the schools they compete against. Particularly at Woburn where the boys play constantly at the Y. M. C. A. and start organized ball in junior high the game is on a much higher level than it is here.

Coach Bartlett has done wonders with the material he has at his disposal. Only against Woburn has his team appeared to be outclassed, and then in an offensive sense only. The tanners admit that the tricky defense devised by the local coach bothered them plenty and had Winchester been able to get even half their shots, the locals would have been right up there.

Some system should be worked out to permit the boys sufficient practice time to compete on as even terms as possible with teams like Woburn which because of favorable local conditions is always going to have many more experienced players than Winchester can muster.

Following is the Middlesex League standing as of Jan. 31. Belmont with one reverse is leading with only three more games to play:

Belmont	6	1	12
Reading	4	2	8
Wakefield	3	3	6
Winchester	2	3	4

WINCHESTER CURLERS PARTICIPATED

The Winchester Country Club curling rink visited the St. Andrews Golf Club at Mt. Hope, N. Y., last week, participating in the bonspiel for the Dykes and Brookline trophies. The Winchester group left last week Thursday, returning Sunday afternoon, making the trip in Ralph Bonnell's new Lincoln Continental. The local rink included Ralph Bonnell, Stanley Wyatt, William L. Davis and John Joy. John P. Carr was also in the party, going as observer, a sprained back preventing his participation. Winchester lost to Schenectady and to The Country Club. The rink won the Lucius Hill consolation trophy and lost its second to Mayonac.

Sundays interclub series was won by team 1, S. Neiley, skip; G. Neiley, Jones and Sage. They defeated team 4, Guild, skip; Neill, Young and LeRoyer, 15 to 5.

OFFICIATED AT PRO TENNIS MATCHES

Mr. W. Irving Plitt of Rangely, one of Winchester's tennis enthusiasts, had the distinction of umpiring the professional mixed doubles matches at the Boston Garden last week Thursday evening when tennis history was made as Mary Hardwick of England gave Queen Alice Marble of America her first defeat in Boston since 1937. The mixed doubles together Miss Hardwick and Donald Budge, generally conceded to be the world's best tennis players, and Miss Marble and John Nogrady, subbing for former champion, Bill Tilden.

Dick Bugbee came home from Dartmouth the first of the week, making the trip a little ahead of the vacation period owing to a slight cut in one eye through flying glass. His eye was cut when two of the boys attempted to play ball with an electric light bulb. A missed catch resulted in an exploded bulb, and although Dick was some distance away, a splinter struck him in the eye.

WINCHESTER GRID DATES ANNOUNCED

Danvers and Reading are new teams appearing on Winchester High School's 1941 football schedule, released this week by Faculty Manager Ray V. Hayward. Danvers replaces Dedham and Reading appears as an extra game, their being ten on this year's list.

If memory serves, Winchester last played Danvers back in 1909 or '10. From the standpoint of competition Danvers should afford a good game for Winchester as the two schools are in about the same class. Interest in the meeting will have to be built up as there is no natural rivalry upon which to call.

Reading used to play Winchester more or less regularly, but dropped the locals along toward the end of the Mansfield regime because they considered Winchester too strong. Next season's meeting is the result of several scrimmage sessions last fall, in which Reading gave a good account of itself.

The remaining schools on the list are familiar to local sports followers, and the only change is that which drops Belmont to the game before the annual turkey day classic with Woburn.

It had originally been planned to play Belmont annually home and home on Armistice Day, but this fell through when Belmont scheduled Brookline on the Saturday before the mid-week holiday.

Dropping Belmont to the next-to-last game gives the locals two good, if tough, closing games, both at home, but four of the first five games are away, including the trip to Danvers.

Wakefield is on Winchester's schedule this fall because of a home and home agreement entered into last year. In 1942 and '43 Swampscott will replace Wakefield, being more nearly in Winchester's class.

The dissolution of the Middlesex Football League hasn't as yet affected Winchester's schedule since Lexington, Maynard, Stoneham and Belmont will be played as usual next fall. With football schedules being written several years in advance it is becoming increasingly difficult to arrange wanted games with suitable teams, since most of Winchester's near neighbors are too strong for the locals year in and year out.

The schedule which appears below represents months of hard work on the part of Manager Hayward and is a good representative list of games. Barring ineligibility and unforseen developments, Winchester should do well with the schools scheduled.

WOBURN OUTCLASSED WINCHESTER

Woburn High gave Winchester its worst defeat of the season last Friday evening when its basketball team set back the locals in the Woburn High gym, 27—8. The Winchester seconds won the preliminary game, 25—14.

Winchester High have given Woburn a game if the boys had been able to match their defense with any sort of offensive gesture. Coach Bartlett threw a novel defense against the tanners which bothered them not a little and held them to a scant eight points during the whole first half. Holding a free scoring club like Woburn to eight points for a half is good going in a defensive sense, and it was not until Coach Bartlett commenced to send reserves into the game in a desperate effort to score that Woburn commenced to draw away.

Winchester didn't score a single point the first half. Not that it didn't have chances, but the boys were just too tight and anxious to cash in on them. Even Capt. Pete Provinzano missed a couple of foul baskets which would have gotten the locals away to a lead, and during the first half the local boys missed three "sucker" shots that would have kept them very much in the going.

It wasn't until the third minute in the third quarter that Provinzano sank a goal from scrimmage to give Winchester its first points of the game. In all the local boys had 32 shots at the net, caging only three, while at the four full time they made only four out of 14 free tries good.

Woburn, on the other hand, was getting the shots it should get, though the tanners were being held to a lower score than usual. Winchester's one-three-one defense bothered them plenty and while Winchester's first string was in there they had trouble scoring.

Holding the opposition down is no good however if you can't score yourself, and the locals will at least have to get the easy ones when playing teams like Woburn if they want to have a chance.

The second team game was an exciting contest, the locals coming from behind to win, after leading at the half, 12—11. The third quarter was a slam-bang affair with Woburn scoring eight points while holding Winchester scoreless.

The final quarter found Referee McGuire curbing the boisterous play with Winchester outscoring the Orange 14—2 to win with plenty to spare.

Following is the varsity score:

AND THEY FORGOT THE FISH

Two well known Winchester fishermen, Jim Chisholm and Leonard MacNeill of Winton Hardware Co., tried their luck over the week-end at Great Bay, N. H., smelt fishing. According to rumor, they found it more than a little cold and the fish very shy. The day's catch counted up to one fish, and when the evening shadows fell, they were so cold and so eager to reach their warm firesides, they even forgot to bring this lone trophy back with them.

BAPTIST YOUTH SERVICE

Last Sunday evening the Baptist young people were fortunate to have as their speaker Paul R. Butterworth who has graduated from the Winchester High School and is now attending the Massachusetts School of Art, where he is making fine progress in his studies. Mr. Butterworth gave an illustrated lecture based on "The Greatest Thing in the World" by Henry Drummond.

GOOD JOB!

The Highway Department crews with men from other town departments and extra workers were at it all last Friday night keeping the town's streets open through the storm. Travelling conditions were good Saturday morning and the general concensus of opinion was that another fine job had been done. The men were busy all day Saturday and Sunday with the snow loader and trucks clearing away and trucking the snow from congested areas.

Balcony tickets for Friday or Saturday night may be obtained by calling Mrs. P. Stewart Newton, Win. 1626 or they may be purchased at the door.

Things "on order" can be delivered on time, if "we ordered it that way."

We own 70 per cent of all the gold in the world. When a medium of exchange is 100 per cent owned by any one nation, it ceases to be a medium.

The Star is the only newspaper printed in Winchester. The Editor's name is Wilson. Its office is at the Star Building on Church street in Winchester center. It does not print phoney advertisements nor month-old news. It has been printed in Winchester since 1880. If you like it, why not subscribe?

Here's a business proposition for you.

We are all in business—every one of us to strengthen and maintain our American way of life.

Today we of Winchester and every other community in America are competing in the market of liberty, backing our free, democratic way of life against the cut-throat competition of countries selling a synthetic product made by force, oppression and pitiless regimentation. All over the world they are increasing their sales, at an alarming rate.

We don't want our American way of life to be outsold in the liberty market by the "slick" salesmen of our competitors. We must make our own free, American products so good it will sell itself forever.

To make our American way of life outsell any other competing product, we must make people in our country and our community the happiest, healthiest, most satisfied people in the world. But every business enterprise requires an investment.

The 200 hospitals, health and social service agencies of the Greater Boston Community Fund are doing a tremendous job to produce that product in Winchester and 45 other communities.

Each year the Community Fund agencies help 100,000 people become happier, healthier, better citizens. They are making American democracy work, making it a product that outsells any synthetic importation.

From each dollar you subscribe to the Greater Boston Community Fund you will receive dividends all your life . . . dividends measured in years of perpetuation of our free democracy for ourselves and the generations that will live in Winchester in the future.

To everybody who has not yet given to the 1941 Campaign of the Greater Boston Community Fund, we make this business proposition:

The $4,883,000 goal that must be raised before Feb. 5 is an investment in American democracy.

Will you take shares in that investment today?

ON ORDER

In Massachusetts it is said that the purchasing power of the present wage worker is the highest ever recorded, 12 per cent, greater even than at the peak of 1929.

Well, the City of Boston spent $4,319,497.00 on relief during August and September. How does this add up?

I thought the dollar bought 81 cents in 1933, in the "horse and buggy days," and only 73 cents in 1940!

But figures do not mean what they once did and probably the other eight cents have been "ordered."

WINCHESTER, ENGLAND, THANKS WINCHESTER, MASS.

Mayor's Parlor,
Guild Hall,
Winchester, England
13th December, 1940

Dear Mr. Cusack,

I hope you received my cablegram thanking our sister city for generously sending us the money for a trailer-ambulance.

Yesterday afternoon, in company with the chairman of the ambulance committee and our medical officer of health, I went to Ringwood (Hants) and selected an ambulance which I hope will be delivered in a week's time.

I am having painted on it—

"Winchester, Your Crest (seal), Massachusetts, U. S. A. to Our Crest, Hants, England."

When completed, I will officially present it on your behalf to the chairman of the ambulance committee, and I hope that the press will give a good account of the proceeding.

Please convey to your citizens the very grateful thanks of those in this city and our best wishes for the future.

We have just had the honor of helping Southampton in its ordeal, when our present ambulances did good work.

Yours very sincerely,
F. Griffiths
Lt. General
Mayor

Ed. Note—Since Mayor Griffiths' letter was written it has been decided to have Mrs. Donald Cameron, the former Jennie P. Burnham of this town, present the ambulance. A more complete announcement to this effect will be found in another column.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

President Carter Made Honorary Member in England

The high light of yesterday's meeting of the Rotary Club of Winchester was the receipt of a letter from Winchester, England, confering upon President George R. Carter an honorary membership in the English club.

The letter was as follows:

Barclays Bank Chambers,
96 High Street,
Winchester, England
9th January, 1941

My Dear President:

It was extremely nice of you to take the opportunity, at the recent radio contact between our two cities to greet the Winchester Rotary Club and to confer upon me the distinction of becoming an Honorary Member of your Club.

All Rotarians of the Winchester, England, Club greatly appreciated this gesture and it is their wish that I offer to you the reciprocity of making you yourself an Honorary Member of our Club.

It would seem unlikely that we shall either of us have an opportunity of coming into personal contact during the present Rotary year, but I sincerely hope that in years to come I may have the pleasure of visiting your great country.

Some of the members of your club may remember the contact which they made in October 1939, with one of our members, Rotarian the Rev. R. Sirhowy Jones, when he visited your community and preached in the First Congregational Church, and I believe in others. He has very happy memories of his visit.

We are going through very hard and terrible times and the wrecking of some of our old historical buildings touches us very deeply, but the bearing of the people is simply marvelous.

We, in this country, do feel that the two great English speaking communities are together in spirit in this great struggle for the survival of all we both hold dear, and while we have little doubt as to the final victory being with us, it is going to call for a gigantic effort and terrible sacrifices.

There are some who feel that in so high a cause the two great English speaking Democracies should be holding side by side, but however this may be, I can assure you that we in this Country do all fully appreciate the tremendous material aid which you are giving to us, and without which victory might be long postponed.

Yours very sincerely in Rotary,
D. W. Knott [illegible],
President

The President,
Rotary Club of Winchester,
681 Main Street,
Winchester, Mass., U. S. A.

The meeting was well attended, although the absence of Secretary Frank H. Knight and past-president George T. Davidson was noted by many. The club had among its guests Mr. J. A. Wilson, director of music at the First Congregational Church, Guy E. Boodry with his amplifier, and Dr. William P. Barone.

The speaker for the luncheon was to have been Arthur Fiedler of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, but owing to illness he was unable to attend, and his place was ably filled by Mr. George Hayden, co-conductor of the (N. Y. A.) Youth Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts. Mr. Hayden gave an interesting summary of the work his organiation is carrying on, touching upon the co-operation with South American countries, and answering several interesting questions put forth by various members.

LIKE OLD MAN RIVER!

They come and they go on the Winchester stage, but Dr J. Churchill Hindes, like Old Man River, "just keeps rollin' along." "Doc" has been gracing casts of local musical shows these many years and this year will be the only member of the Winton Club cast who appeared in the original production.

Years ago in the old Calumet shows "Doc's" fine bass voice and finished acting were perennial highlights and he has been going strong ever since, equally at home as "Flanagan" who'd take them to the "isle of Managan" or as the captain in a Seth Parker "Githerin!" The Winton's ought to make him take a special bow this year!

POWER—MARCHETTI ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Skane of Winter street, Belmont, gave a farewell party at their home last Saturday evening in honor of Corp. John L. Power of 989 Main street, who left the next day for duty at Camp Edwards. During the evening Mrs. Skane announced the engagement of her sister, Miss Sally Marchetti, to Corp. Power.

A buffet luncheon was served and at its conclusion Corp. Power was presented with a purse of money with the best wishes of his friends.

CHRISTMAS SEAL RETURNS URGED

It is urgently requested that all who have not made returns on their Tuberculosis Christmas Seals do so as soon as possible so that the books can be closed. Those who can not send money are asked to return the stamps. Many inadvertantly neglect their returns for Tuberculosis stamps and those in charge of this worth-while activity are taking this means of recalling the matter to them. Their immediate attention will be greatly appreciated.

A LETTER FROM SWEDEN

The following letter has been received by Miss Cynthia Laraway from an old friend in Sweden whom she met several years ago while traveling in that country: It will doubtless prove of interest to many readers of the Star.

Stockholm, Nov. 29, 1940

Dear Cynthia:

More than two years have gone since you were here. What hasn't happened in these two years, in reality very short spaces of time, these two years, I say, have brought revolution into more than one place or country. I am now married and am still working in the same office, which by the way, is no revolution, doing my duty or whatever you may call it. Anyhow it is necessary in order to keep alive even if not kickingly so, in these so very black and sininster days of history producing. This is not a personal letter, but one of war and misery seen from my point of view so I will start talking of Sweden and the messy European Continent.

There is no doubting it that the constant drumming and roaring of the war machines on this side of our planet have made us all unable to catch the tiny sounds from all weak and poor and crushed-to-earth either from bombshells, hunger or earthquakes. The first stunning blow on our heads was delivered by the Russians when they rolled across the Finnish frontiers. Everything that has happened since has more or less passed by as daily routine. And really that is very bad. But I suppose it is the same with everything. You get used to things and don't react [illegible]bly. Yes, and as to life here I must for truth's sake say that it goes on almost as in pre-war days. But we [illegible] of course "cards" on bread, flesh, cheese, coffee, tea, chocolate and soap. The butter is scarce and prices are on their progress. Only the salaries stay below, struggling vainly to catch up with the heaven-bound Swedish currency. And what's more, we are compelled to smoke Swedish tobacco and Swedish cigarettes which are neither none too good.

Nothing comes from abroad, except from Germany of course. Stray letters come from England, dated there in May and June. Mail from the United States goes via Lisbon and American Clipper, while Siberia is the "Via" for Great Britain. You know, we are pretty well surrounded. Russia took our left ear, Germany our right ear, and it is just the nose which is left and that's we. Heaven alone and perhaps the king knows why we have been left unsmitten. We have been scolded because of this. Deserting our neighbors, they said. But I've talked both to Norwegian and Finnish men and they do now declare that our staying outside the fight was the best thing that happened. Now we can help both help to left and right. Instead of three corpses there are two and the third living one may at least fix a nice funeral for the other two.

It is a "Danse Macabre" all right. I can hear the Devil's violin with its staccato stroke urging everybody to go to hell. Oh it is not as bad as all that—I hope. At present we are all wondering whether the Russians are going to start all over again in Finland this winter. We wonder if the Germans that fill and transform poor Norway are going to try to "protect" us against ourselves. And in the middle of this, Mister Franklin D. Roosevelt takes the few bombers we had ordered in the United States—England needs them. Oh yes, they do, I'm sure, but what do a hundred aeroplanes more or less mean in that fight where that many are shot down at dawn every day. A hundred bombers in Sweden on the contrary would mean greater security. "But the small countries are doomed," boomed our Adolf and I guess everybody else high up in the big, big countries nurses the same thoughts. I guess we have to paint some nice aeroplanes on large cartoons in case of war, show the enemy these paintings. If it happens to be the Russians, they might be scared. But, there is another drawback; we have no petrol. The few cars at large, get their fuel from a new aggregate—a kind of oven—in which are burning coal or just plain wood. They cannot, however, use this kind of fuel for the bombers.

Yes, everybody asks what is going to happen here in Europe? Will Germany become top nation or will it collapse? Will Great Britain remain intact or are German troops to invade the islands? Will the war continue for several years causing a total chaos in Europe where both England and Germany are too weak to lift a finger against each other? And if so, will Russia then take the chance of spreading the Marxist theories over the entire European continent?

Or what? Yes, I must admit that I dont know, believe me or no. I am no seer. And Hitler [illegible] believes he knows or blows his nose, it doesn't matter which. I don't know if I ever told you that I am free from military service. Years ago I was very ill and they removed something or other, sometimes I believe it was my heart, from my then post at [illegible], and the surgeon in me is [illegible] for explaining that I am not a "good thing" at all. Quite often, on the contrary. And [illegible] I've been able to do my duty at the bank when all my friends have been [illegible] and exercising far away from their wives since the beginning of the war. This, by the way, has caused a rise in the bodily health of thousands of city men and I think that Sweden—whose government has used heaps of money to fortify their country at present is pretty well able to defend itself against quite a lot of shirts, be they Russian or German.

The Germans could, of course, do us much harm. I am almost sure that they could conquer Sweden, but the Russians? I dare say they will think twice before trying an attack on this porcupine. In spite of all, they did not succeed very well in Finland and they are pretty close neighbors. When it comes to Sweden, they have to cross the Baltic before bombing. The infantry have to march through Finland and attack us in Lapland where only few roads divide the enormous endless forests and where our strongest fort "Boden" lies like a huge octopus hewn out in solid rock waiting to crush any impertinent intruder. Oh no, they had better not venture it. Anyhow, if we reach the end unmolested it will be a pretty narrow escape. And if there is still a long trail before we reach, not God's green pastures exactly, but something near to it, peace that is, there won't be much left of Sweden the Middle Way and its prosperity.

Well, these I guess are the thoughts in most Swedish heads. They are no pleasant Xmas greetings and I am sure you should like to know that it's winter here like in the old tales, with snowstorms, pitch dark mornings, and below in the street the lights are swinging to and fro in the drifting, sweeping snow. It's not so very cold yet, only a few degrees Celsius below zero and it is warm and cozy within when you wake up in the morning. I hope the snow will stay clean and white like it did last winter. It was horribly cold then, but it was a Winter with large capital letters. Even I, boasting one, had to wear mittens and mufflers and what nots!

And so comes Christmas. A human American voice declared sometime ago that the teeth-grinding fighting people ought to relax for 48 hours during Christmas days. Germany wisely has said nothing, but England, the merry old and now lately heroic, has declared that they will not rest even for a second till the victory is theirs And this is humanity. Fight and revenge, blood and hatred. No, am getting bitter again. Let's stop it with a warm wish for a happy Yuletide and a wish that both Sweden and the United States shall be able to keep their youngsters from the fighting mob in the street without.

Signed

Do you know that the first application of the W. P. A. may have occurred in Worcester in 1861 when the causeway across Lake Quinsigamond was built at a cost of $26,000. Due to hard times, many needy citizens were employed on the project at 60 cents a day.

A daily average of 17,150 motor cars used the East Boston Tunnel during 1940, 5 per cent more than in 1939. About 74 per cent of the tunnel traffic originated outside of Boston.

WINCHESTER UNIT OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

The Best Neighbor in the World

In the first world war there was an effective poster called "The Greatest Mother in the World." The Red Cross service to our men in service and to the families at home that they were anxious about made good the claim made by the poster. Now the American Red Cross is weaving together [illegible] mercy and the willing hands of our people into readiness to prove that it is "the best neighbor in the world."

"How near is your nearest neighbor?" a letter from Massachusetts 100 years ago used to ask a young wife gone west in the wave of pioneers. And back from Nebraska or Kansas or Montana might come the cheerful answer, "Ten miles." But they were real neighbors, who cared about each other and came to each other's aid as fast as slow horses and muddy roads allowed.

To the Red Cross the world is the area in which there is awareness of need and response. And the Red Cross is always ready. An earthquake, a flood on the Mississippi, the bombing of civilians in Greece and the Red Cross can go immediately to help. A world map showing day by day where this good neighbor is ministering would be an ever-changing and an always unfailing sight. To remember this is to give our headquarters in the Winchester Town Hall vivid interest.

Women who like to sew with their imaginations, seeing real folks who will be comforted by the garments, should really see the Town Hall Red Cross rooms. If their favorite unit of imagination is a small boy, they can set to work on overalls, very small ones for a 2-year old and sizes up to 10 or 12 with a choice of colors. There are pajamas and shirts. There are dresses for school-going girls of 6 or 8.

The layettes asked for by the national Red Cross have mostly been finished and have gone. That is woman's favorite sewing, for wee babies. One New York center said in amusement mixed with desperation, "10,000 women want to make baby clothes." Winchester women are just like those in New York. Mrs. Dutting thinks there are about 4000 here who have that same taste.

But she is hoping that they will turn to and clothe the larger mites who, without Winchester's help, will somewhere wait shivering.

Where will the dresses and overalls go? To that the American Red Cross is looking out into the world neighborhood, will always reply, "Where the need of the day is greatest."

EXCELLENT CONCERT BY FORTNIGHTLY GLEE CLUB

The Fortnightly Glee Club, under the direction of Mary Ranten Witham and with Lucy L. Wilcox as accompanist, pleased a large audience at their annual concert Wednesday afternoon in Fortnightly Hall. The program was gracefully chosen and sufficiently varied to maintain interest while the club gave a very finished performance.

Guest soloist was Ralph Tailby, baritone; a favorite with Winchester music lovers, who sang two groups of songs with Mrs. Witham at the piano. His first group included The Blind Plowman, My Message and Roadways, and his second, When the King Went Forth to War, Tommie Lad and Homing. An encores after the second group he sang Old Man River from Show Boat and Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes.

Miss Dorothy Day added balance to the program with several artistic readings which were much enjoyed and enthusiastically applauded. Mrs. Charles Greco was program chairman.

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included in the Lesson-Sermon reads as follows: "'Love one another' (I John, iii, 23), is the most simple and profound counsel of the inspired writer. In Science we are children of God; but whatever is of material sense, or mortal, belongs not to His children, for materiality is the inverted image of spirituality." (p. 572).

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

On last Tuesday afternoon at Lyceum Hall the time was given over after the usual business meeting to a timely and interesting discussion of terrariums by Mrs. Herbert West of Winchester. The creation and care of several of her own gardens under glass which the group had the privilege of viewing were described by Mrs. West. The lecture left many with a wish to experiment and discover for themselves the delights of her hobby.

Hostesses for the tea which followed were Mrs. James Blackham, Mrs. J. J. Doherty Mrs. J. Payson MacDonald, Mrs. Hugh MacPartland and Mrs. Frederick Patton.

The committee for the card party to be held on Tuesday, Feb. 18th is already busy with plans for its success. The incentive, a need for new card tables, spurs them on. Thursday, Feb. 6th is the date for the next board meeting, and wouldn't it be thrilling to find 29 able and willing board members in attendance.

Notices have been received from the Guild in Boston of the meeting to be held on Tuesday, Feb. 4th in the Copley Plaza. Miss Emma Tighe will present "Treat Foods for February Festivities" and "Vignettes of Modern Lighting." There will be a door prize and many beautiful gifts as well as all the food used in the demonstration will be given to lucky members in the audience.

Mileage Hints

By J. F. Winchester

Supervisor of Motor Vehicle Equipment, Colonial Esso Marketers

DOES it really pay to take good care of an automobile these days? Isn't it just as cheap in the long run to let the car wear out and only to make repairs which are vitally necessary?

These are questions frequently asked of this department. The answer is obvious. If it did not pay to take meticulous care of a motor car the nation's largest fleet operators would not spend millions of dollars annually in proper motor car maintenance. Those organizations which operate huge fleets of motor vehicles act only in the interests of car economy and operating efficiency. They take good care of their cars because it pays them to do so. They thus get greater mileage, greater motoring efficiency and they enjoy lower operating and maintenance costs.

Apparently there are also millions of individual motorists in this country who feel that this is the thing to do. Recently I was going over some figures on the total number of passenger cars in operation in this country. As of July 1st, according to figures supplied by R. L. Polk and Company to Automotive News, there were in operation more than four million cars which were made prior to 1930. A total of 1,738,431 1930-models were still in operation.

An automobile will not give service for ten years unless it is taken care of properly. Here, I believe, is concrete evidence that millions of motorists have found it pays them to take good care of their automobiles. And it will pay you, too. If you have ever been in any doubt about it, perhaps these statistics will end your doubt and induce you to give your car the care it deserves.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

by James Coon

The Student Council held another meeting last Monday afternoon. These monthly meetings seem to accomplish little or nothing at all. Of course the council is still in its infancy. It was created at the end of last year with the supposition that it would be tried out the last few weeks of the school year. However that fell through, and nothing was done about it until this year. When the council was started it was put up to the students who had a chance for debating upon the issue. The greatest discussion, unforunately, ensued when it was mentioned that politics would enter into the running of the government in the form of cliques. In the discussion the town was divided into precincts and some students thought that there would be unequal representation of these districts. However, the motion was passed with a small but virile opposition. This fall the elections proved conclusively that the assumptions of the minority were false. Every section was amply represented, but the council has stalled. We don't expect the council to take over the government just like that, but if they don't start somewhere, the council will never be a success. This year should be the foundation establishing year. The structure on which the council is to grow should be built. Other towns have very successful student councils. The president of the student council is the leading citizen of the school. The student councils in other towns have been so built up that they control every organization from the athletic association to the Red Cross. Taking attendance in the home rooms and study halls is petty stuff. Come on Winchester use your energy and ability.

This last week the bank sent some amazing figures to Mrs. Stacey. All the banking accounts in the Winchester schools total about $69,000. the high school alone has about $25,000 dollars in its accounts. So far this year the high school has banked $4,080 and withdrawn $1,000. The average per cent of the students who bank is 98.4 per cent. This is, of course, an exceptional record for any school system.

Three days of this week were given up to the introducing of midyears to all of the freshmen, and to the reminding of the other classes as to what they are all about. The senior class feels that it has never had to study quite so hard as it does now, for their objective is now in sight and they must either make good or fall down in this their last year in high school.

There won't be a dance after the basketball game with Reading, because of the fact that there is going to be a nautical dance Saturday night in the hieh school gym. This is the annual winter A. A. dance and should be well supported by the pupils. There will be an orchestra to supply the orchestra to supply the music.

College board classes will soon be starting for those seniors who will be going to some college vin that method of entrance. These classes are held by the different subject teachers to enable them to pass the exams. Every student should take advantage of them. The college boards given in recent years are available so that the student will know the type of questions to expect. Some of the teachers give college boards in place of mid-years.

SONS OF THE LEGION TO INSTALL

It is expected that there will be a large attendance this evening when the first installation of officers of the newly organized Winchester Squadron, 97, Sons of the American Legion, is held in Lyceum Hall. Local social and fraternal organizations have been invited to attend.

In addition to the installation ritual there will be an entertainment program and music by Winchester Post's line military brass band. Legionnaires will attend in uniform and a most interesting and picturesque evening is assured all who are present.

John Keefe is chairman of the Squadron Committee, the members of which are arranging tonight's installation, and the remaining members are Charles D. Roache, vice chairman; James McMullen, Post Finance Officer; Robert Sullivan and Ralph Joslin.

This discusses and gives examples of music at home and abroad, giving the music for important motives, melodies and themes, and outlining many orchestrations. It gives biographical material about composers and explains musical terms.

Another attractive set bound in gay colors includes the following operas and operettas:

The Gondoliers, Pianfore, Mikado, Carmen, Haensel and Gretel, four volumes of the Ring of Nibelung, i. e., The Rhinegold, The Valkyrie, Sieg fried, Twilight of the Gods. The text consists of the plots told in simple language, interspersed with the music and words of the best known airs.

The story of the place which music holds in history is told by Howard Decker McKinney and William Robert Anderson in a new book "Music in History" while a most comprehensive volume on instruments is Curt Sach's "A History of Musical Instruments." All of these books may be found in the Adult Department of the Winchester Public Library.

Of 172,425 cars parked at Nantasket Beach in the summer of 1939, 68 per cent came from the Boston Metropolitan District. At Lynn, Nahant and Revere Beaches, Metropolitan Boston cars represent 77 per cent, at the Strandway, 87 per cent.

"That's a H--l of a Way to Run A Railroad!"

with APOLOGIES FOR OUR FRANKNESS

1 Snowstorm blankets the suburbs. Impossible driving weather. Highways unsafe. B and M enjoys 50% more patronage, mostly on morning trains. It's cold, so passengers stay in station, take longer—much longer—to get on trains. This situation repeated station after station. Seconds of delay become minutes! Sure, everybody gets to town safe and dry—but many trains are late.

"That's a h--l of a way to run a Railroad"

2 Ordinary snow storm turns to sleet and rain. Icy rails, poor traction. Fast night freights carrying the City's food supply—beef, potatoes, other perishables—are delayed. Choice between a few minutes' delay for early commuter train or several hours' delay for perishables. Food supply wins. A few commuters delayed a few minutes.

"That's a h--l of a way to run a Railroad"

3 Bad storm in Mid-West coming East. Fast freight from Mid-West comes through hundreds of miles of low visibility. Train-load of vital accessory parts for Boston branch factory hours late; its arrival conflicts with commuter trains. If not received, assembly line can't start in local factory. Then no work and no pay that day for hundreds of families. Families and workers win. Freight train crosses track while suburban train waits two minutes at Prison Point Bridge.

"That's a h--l of a way to run a Railroad"

4 Grippe and colds affect Railroad men same as any other people. Sickness leaves all departments undermanned. Switches freeze; get full of snow—make up in yards is delayed. But management says, "Be safe—do things right." Trains are delayed a few minutes backing into station. Passengers stand on one foot and then on the other—but the handicap of illness and hard weather causes no accidents.

"That's a h--l of a way to run a Railroad"

5 BUT TODAY it's a nice, clear winter day. Normal trains are running out of town—there to wait until morning to bring you back to town again. Suddenly, a storm breaks. Will there be an extra rush? Will the roads be plowed in time to allow the motorists to drive to town? Nobody knows. The train that's out there has cars enough to take care of all regular riders. The rush comes—roads are blocked. So—once more at some stations—it's standing room only on the B and M.

"That's a h--l of a way to run a Railroad"

BUT the railroad always runs
BOSTON and MAINE

CAMPAIGN REACHES FINAL LAP

They're on the last lap of the 1941 campaign of the Greater Boston Community Fund. But a few days remain before Winchester adds its final report to the grand total rolling in from the 45 other cities and towns of Greater Boston at the closing "Dutch treat" dinner, next Wednesday evening, Feb. 5, at Hotel Statler, Boston.

People of Winchester, under the leadership of Herbert E. Stone, have given liberally of their time and resources the past two weeks, in order that the 200 Community Fund hospitals, health and social service agencies may continue their needed sevices to the people of Greater Boston during this most critical of years ahead.

Success is in the balance, however, campaign officials indicated today, and only by plenty more hard work on the part of the thousands of volunteers in the field and more generous giving can the goal of $4,883,000 plus be reached.

In an appeal to 12,000 working in the 550 square miles of Greater Boston, Robert H. Montgomery, Metropolitan Division chief, today issued this challenge:

"Solicitors, our front-line soldiers, in most towns are carrying on the attack, but we have got to keep firing, we have got to substitute work for worry during the next few days.

"If we work, rather than worry about the job we have taken on, we'll get our job done and we won't have any regrets next Wednesday."

The division chairman urged all solicitors to clean up their assignments this week-end and save the zero hour for "mopping up" before "we go over the top."

It is expected that the local organization will be represented next Monday at the final "Dutch treat' report luncheon at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, which promises to be one of the most exciting of the whole campaign.

MEDFORD POET WRITES VERSE TO NURSES

Safely "mending" after nearly losing his life from a ruptured appendix, Converse E. Nickerson, now at the Winchester Hospital where an emergency appendectomy was performed last week, still finds time to write a line or two of poetry. Mr. Nickerson, known to his legion of friends as "The Medford Poet," has written a verse to the nurses inspired by his harrowing escape from death.

"TO THE NURSES"
(Dedicated to the Nurses of Winchester Hospital)
By Converse E. Nickerson

Here's to the Maidens of Mercy.
Those faithful messengers of care.
Those smiling and tender helpers of the sick
Who to the sufferer's side repair.

God knew there was need here below
Of your help in this world of woe.
And so he sent your kindly aid
To those who are weak and afraid.

The crumpled pillow, the tired head
The weary sigh, the moan, the restless bed
All find relief when near you stand
You know and you do understand.

When we are well, and all the day's bright,
No though comes of the lonely night
When pain and fear grip at the heart
We tremble and the tear drops start.

And so kind nurse again I pray
In thanks to God for every day
That sees you, cheerful, helping close
The gate of pain of suffering's woes.

Balcony tickets for Friday or Saturday night may be obtained by calling Mrs. P. Stewart Newton, Win. 1626 or they may be purchased at the door.

Troop 7

The annual parents night of Troop 7 was held last Monday night in the recreation room of the First Baptist Church with 28 Scouts present and many of their parents. Bugler Robert Brown sounded the assembly call at 7:15 p. m. After the regular flag ceremony Mr. Ernest Butterworth, chairman of the troop committeemen welcomed the parents. John Casler, scoutmaster, presented Mr. Wadsworth Hight with a 20 year badge, Mr. Martin Swanson with a 10 year badge, Mr. Ernest Butterworth and Proctor Jones with five year badges. James O'Connor has completed all of the requirements for an Eagle and will receive it at the Exposition in Stoneham, Feb. 8.

Addison Augusta, Phillip Ewell, Tom Flaherty, Robert Quine, Frank Russo and Everett Stevens have completed First and Second Class requirements and have started on merit badges. Paul Butterworth, our very able assistant scoutmaster had charge of the events, knots, compass, fire by friction, flint and steel, signaling, both Semaphore and Morse, and the relay race.

Mr. Elliott Dudley, field executive, had charge of the investiture and installation service which was something new and very impressive. Mr. Whittemore, chairman of Camp Fellsland, exnlained the benefits of the camp and showed some very interesting moving pictures. Refreshments were served. The organization reviews conducted by the field commissioners gave Troop 7 in 1938, 91; in 1939, 99; and in 1940, 90.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Herbert T. West was hostess and speaker for the Winchester Garden Club, Jan. 23. Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini poured.

An unusual centerpiece on the table where luncheon dessert was served consisted of grapes, mushrooms, peppers, small red apples, and a lime arranged artistically in a large birch tree fungus of rose-petaled shape.

Mrs. Herbert B. Cox gave a report of the N. E. Wild Flower Preservation Society meeting of Jan. 9, bringing to the club the Society's activities.

Mrs. Herbert T. West in presenting her subject "Attracting Birds to the Garden" gave a most interesting and instructive talk intermingled with spontaneous wit. The origin of birds, their habits, migration, and the material essentials in attracting them to our gardens, are some of the high points in the lecture. Mrs. West suggested sunflower seed, peanut butter, beef suet, wildseed mixture, chickfeed mixture, gravel with the seed, also water to attract the birds.

The next meeting will be at the home of the president, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Feb. 27. Mrs. John Chipman will speak on "Trees."

TOWNSEND CONFERENCE HERE

There was a large attendance last Sunday at the afternoon and evening conferences and the mass meeting of workers for the Townsend Plan from the 5th, 6th and 7th Congressional Districts, held under the auspices of the Winchester Townsend Club in Association Building on Vine street.

John D. Elliott, a Harvard graduate, presided over the conference and was the principal speaker at the evening meeting. Mrs. Marguerite Blank of this town presented a group of readings that were much enjoyed. The conferences of workers and the meeting of members were enthusiastic, all present feeling that the future for the Townsend Plan is brightening perceptibly.

BREAK AT OLD PUFFER PLANT

Parts formerly used in the manufacture of soda fountains by the Puffer Manufacturing Co, were stolen last week from a shop occupied by Albert W. Puffer at the rear of the International Cooperage Co's plant on Swanton street. The parts, most of which were packed in small kegs, were valued by the owners at more than $1,000.

Access was gained by climbing up to an open window on the south side of the building and prying some boards from above a large nailed-up door leading to Puffer's shop. The parts were removed through the opening above the door which was nailed up again after the theft. The Police were notified and are investigating.

Merry as a Cricket . . . yes, provided you and all of us in Winchester and the 45 other cities and towns of Greater Boston do our part to go over the $4,883,000 goal of the Greater Boston Community Fund.

"Curly Top," caught by the camera man in a happy moment at the Children's Hospital, is one of 400,000 of all ages, races and creeds whom your dollars help to build into healthy vigorous and self-reliant citizens through the services of the 200 Community Fund hospitals, health and social service agencies.

Out of every dollar, 24 cents goes for family service and relief; 23 cents to hospitals; 21 cents to youth agencies and settlements; 10 cents to health agencies; eight cents for children's services; eight cents for the handicapped, aged and general service. The remaining six cents covers the cost of the campaign and year-round Community Fund services to the agencies and the people of Greater Boston.

WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

Saturday night at 11 o'clock a Plymouth sedan, owned by William F. Keating of 9 Hancock street, Stoneham, and driven by James L. Keating of the same address, while heading west on the Parkway and crossing Main street, was in collision with a Ford convertible sedan, registered to Frank T. Hichcock of 276 Woburn street, Reading, and driven by Donald Hichcock of the same address. The latter was driving north of Main street. Both cars were damaged and Hichcock claimed injuries to his knee.

A Pontiac coupe, owned by Alice Glidden of 14 Gibson street, Medford, and driven by Harold E. Glidden of the same address was in collision Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at the intersection of Washington street and the Parkway with a Pontiac coach, owned by the Hosmer Motor Sales Co. of 32 Mystic avenue, Medford, and driven by John H. Hosmer, Jr., of 9 Traincroft avenue that city. The coupe was headed south on Washington street and the coach, west on the Parkway. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured. Hosmer told the Police that a car parked on the Parkway near Washington street blocked his vision.

D. A. R. NOTES

The January meeting of The Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R., of Winchester, was held Monday afternoon at the Public Library with Miss Clara Russell, vice regent, presiding in the absence of the Regent, Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes. Miss Corinne Mead, town librarian, was guest speaker, presenting a most interesting and informative address on the subject, "Know Your Library."

The meeting was followed by a delightful social hour at Randall's with Mrs. George M. Bryne, Miss Russell and Miss Annie Stott acting as hostesses.

FIRE AT SCHOLL'S

Monday's alarm from Box 411 at 1:19 p. m. was for a fire at Scholl's Restaurant, 634 Main street. The fire started under a range, and burned a hole in the flooring. The firemen, however, limited the blaze to this area, and aside from the flooring and that done by smoke, there was little damage.

Balcony tickets for Friday or Saturday night may be obtained by calling Mrs. P. Stewart Newton, Win. 1626 or they may be purchased at the door.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

MRS. THAXTER RETURNS FOR PLAY READINGS

Mrs. Thaxter's first play will be one that broke the rules. A play about war succeeds only in peace, that was the old rule. Dramatists knew it; producers knew that when a war is long past, when it has become one of the "old forgotten far-off things," people will go to see a drama of war, but not when the guns are sounding in their ears, not when the headlines tell of battles lost and ships sunk. But in America last spring Robert Sherwood broke the rule. He wrote, right out of our own tense days, the drama "There Shall be no Night." Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine knew the rule; they knew the history of the theatre that the public will not go to see a mimic war when men and nations they care about are bleeding to death in a terribly real war. But in the Sherwood play they saw something greater than the rule from the past.

Alfred Lunt leaped at the chance to play the scientist, Nobel prize winner, who counted on peace, who could not really believe that men still could intend aggression, invasion, conquest and the destruction of liberty, and who had to learn how false was his hope and had to die in arms, in a battle that was gallant but vain. But was it vain? That is what the woman Lynn Fontaine played had to face as she was waiting for her own death, her husband, her son, her land lost. Is this war the twilight of peace and freedom and good will? Is a deep and lasing night falling on what we have believed in and lived by?

Winchester women will work out their answer to the question as they bene "There Shall be no Night" read in Epiphany Parish Hall at 2:15 p. m. Feb. 7.

On Feb. 28th Mrs. Thaxter will read "Ladies in Retirement;" on March 7th "The Corn is Green." It is not possible definitely to announce the other three plays of the series now. Two months hence Broadway may be thronging to see a play that has not yet opened, and Mrs. Thaxter will want to have a date open for such a success. Two plays that she hopes to give are "George Washington Slept Here" and "Flight to the West."

Tickets may be procured from the ticket chairmen: Mrs. Harvard Mann, Mrs. F. G. Chase, Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Mrs. Paul Rocray, Mrs. Ralph Bennett, Mrs. Frank d'Elseaux, Mrs. Leslie Scott and Mrs. Albert S. Crockett or from any member of the Tuesday Luncheon Group.

THOSE WHO GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS

Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 1:15 women of the parsh of the Epiphany and any others to whom the comfort of sailors means even more than usual these days when reserve officers are putting on their uniforms again and young lads are putting on new uniforms of blue, will hear an interesting speaker at the parish hall. Mrs. Wallace M. Leonard, executive secretary of the Women's Aid to Sailors Haven, will talk of her work with sailors who come into our own Boston harbor. They come from sailing all the seas of the world, and nowa-days they sometimes come to the Haven stripped of all their possessions escaped from the mortal storm of war and a torpedoed ship with only their lives. She hears strange tongues, all the languages of the world, it sometimes seems, and she has more than once been thankful that one can play Chinese checkers in any ingo, known or unknown.

In addition to her work at the Haven, Mrs. Leonard now works also among over 500 boys in training in Gallup's Island.

For many years Epiphany has had charge of one special dinner at the Haven. It is hoped that hostesses and entertainers of last year and 20 years ago and all the years between will make the luncheon at 12:30 the occasion for a reunion with reminiscences.

BUICK ADDS FOUR NEW LOWER PRICED MODELS TO 1941 LINE

Returning today from a business session of the Buick zone in Boston Mr. F. W. Blaney, manager of the Medford Buick Co., announced today that this division of General Motors corporation will shortly introduce four new automobiles in a lower price bracket as an addition to the present Series 40 Special Buick line.

Mr. Blaney said he inspected the new cars at the zone meeting and heard factory and zone officials outline aggressive sales plans for the next 60 days covering the announcement of these new models and early spring campaign on these and Buick's six other lines.

"While details of the new car will not be available until next week, I can say that they are the answer to the demand of a mighty big cross section of the country for a Buick built in a more compact size with all the big car engineering and design qualities that characterize the larger Buick cars," he said.

"They have a shorter wheelbase and shorter overall length and new bodies, but are otherwise identical with the Series 40 Buicks. That's why they are being introduced in addition to the Series 40 line rather than as a new model."

Mr. Blaney said that the new cars will be lower in price and will have performance and economy even bettering the present Series 40 cars and pointed out that they leave more room in the average garage "without disturbing the garden tools" and can be "parked on a dime."

The new cars will be formally announced February 1 and will be on display at that time, he said.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

"Done with a Really Professional Touch"

The British War Relief plans have always meant to provide garments that are not just coverings against the cold. The baby clothes are not just put together; the workers add a bit of handwork that says to the mother across the sea "Here is not just a dutiful contribution to meet your need; here is a gift for you and your baby from a woman like yourself who cares as a friend." One can believe that the feather-stitching in pink or blue is worth the minutes, and that the prettiness goes home to the British women's hearts as those who give out garments over there report to us.

Mindful of this, the Winchester central work-room had a happy time over 15 skirts that came on Wednesday, not only finished but beautifully finished, with a really professional quality. The story of their doing is as good to remember as the work is to see.

The workmanship represents another gift from the house of Max, the Washington tailor. When one of the transportation staff of the Winchester unit called to bring them away, with sincere thanks, more of the garments Max and his machines had cut, he said, "Leave that bundle. We want to finish them. The women want to give a half-hour and I'll give a half-hour." So it was done. And the product is not just the exquisitely stitched garments. It is another proof of the natural cooperation of free men and women to help others keep free from regimentation and dictation. A straw in the wind, yes; but it shows the force and the direction of this surge of democratic awareness and unity. The man who gives the pay check and the woman who takes it are, on the great matters like peace and liberty, of one mind in this house of ours, this free America.

The central work-room has very informal book where workers write their names each week. The book has gone on a journey to Max's, and when it comes back it will have the names of those women who added to their working-day time for this gift to Britain.

New workers appear each week, to share the busy neighborly activity of the central workroom on Wednesday or to take yarn or a cut garment home to do. A garment? One woman who must be in another sewing group on Wednesday morning, took home a package of jumper dresses and nine came back finished except for final handwork. Knitting or sewing to clothe the cold and to feed the hungry who fight for freedom is like eating the three pomegranate seeds in the Greek myth; one gets more and more interested and loyal.

Recruits for the knitting or sewing may come on Wednesday or telephone to Mrs. C. H. Wansker, Win. 2546 or Mrs. Fred Cameron, Win. 1984

Gifts for Winchester's second Rolling Kitchen will be received at the Winchester Trust Company by Mr. Dwight Cabot. Projects for raising money will be cordially received by Mrs. Cameron.

INTERESTING COMMUNITY FUND FIGURES

Pounding down the last lap the Winchester Community Drive for the Greater Boston Fund is steadily creeping towards the top. The last few hectic days find statistics extremely transitory but at the time of writing Winchester is not only second in the Middlesex Area but has the encouraging percentage of 53 per cent.

In the race between precincts for the top, Precinct 2 was leading with 66 per cent with 3 next and 1, 5, 4 and 6 following in that order. To Capt. Mrs. Robert Johnson of Precinct 2 goes the honor and distinction of being the first Captain in any district to turn in all her cards completed and all reported on.

Winchester comes in for more than her share of the Fund spotlight by having on her list of solicitors the oldest in the entire Greater Boston Campaign. Mr. Michael Nelson of 258 Cross street will be 79 years old next March and is not only a solicitor but has completed all his cards with reports which he handed in last Sunday night. Mr. Nelson's Captain, Mrs. Catherine McGrath said that Mr. Nelson had been written up for the Boston publications with his picture taken for the papers.

The chairman of the Winchester Fund, Mr. Herbert Stone, is very pleased with results so far but urges that the last of the solicitors hand in their cards completed by at least Sunday night, Feb. 2. It is highly desirable that the Winchester campaign be completed by that time since the Victory Dinner is to be held in Boston on Feb. 5th.

Winchester went over the top last year and the Boston Headquarters paid her the compliment of raising her quota this year so it is up to each solicitor to do his utmost to live up to past reputation.

As of Wednesday night the following percentages were released:

Precinct 1	[illegible]
Precinct 2	[illegible]
Precinct 3	[illegible]
Precinct 4	[illegible]

FOILED KIDNAP ATTEMPT

Mr. Harold F. Ambose, chief of publicity for the Post Office Department in Washington and son of Mrs. M. C. Ambrose of Vine street, was badly cut about the hand and arm when he broke a window at his home on 223 10th street, N. W., in an attempt to sieze a man who it is thought intended to kidnap one of his children.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose have three children, Mary Ann, 6, Harold, Jr., 4, and an infant son, Michael. The older children have been annoyed in recent weeks by a man whom they have encountered in a park near their home. Early Saturday morning Mr. Ambrose saw a man of a similar description apparently about to enter his home through a window. Mr. Ambrose broke the window, badly cutting his hand and arm, and attempted to sieze the man who wriggled from his grasp and escaped after a chase.

Police believe the would-be intruder was the same one who had annoyed the Ambrose children. They put him down as a possible sex-maniac and are searching for him.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

A most successful bridge and whist party was held at the Legion Home on Tuesday evening, Jan. 28. This party was in aid of the Child Welfare Fund and Mrs. Kathryn Doyle, chairman worked hard to make this party a social as well as a financial success. Excellent prizes were awarded and very delicious refreshments served.

Our regular meeting will be held Monday evening, Feb. 3 at the Legion Home. Reports from all the committees will be read at this meeting and it will be interesting to hear the progress the unit has made in the past year.

All members are urged to attend. There will be movies after the business meeting and refreshments will be served by the hostesses, Mrs. Margaret Keeler, Miss Mae O'Leary, Mrs. Josephine McElhinny and Mrs. Ethel Kerrigan.

WINTON CLUB CABARET

"Hello Again" Big Hit With Record Audiences

With all the ferocity of a New England blizzard, does the Winton Club Cabaret sweep onto the Town of Winchester each January, commanding the attention and the conversation of all, interfering with the customary round of work, and even at times tieing up traffic. And then when this storm of activity is over, the sun reveals Winton Club coffers once more replenished, and the Winchester Hospital certain of its linen requirements for another year.

For 30 years the Winton Club has been directing its attention toward Hospital linen, and for 20 years the proceeds have been realized from the annual Cabaret. There have been many wonderful shows given in the past, but certainly, judged from any angle, never a finer one than this year. The preview on Thursday evening was better attended than ever before, and the capacity audience which filled the tables in the Town Hall on both Friday and Saturday evenings, was loud and enthusiastic in its praise of each and every number.

To Mrs. Edwin R. Rooney of Sheffield road, able chairman of the entire production, go the greatest plaudits. She it was who organized each working committee and planned each show number. Working with Mrs. Rooney and present at each rehearsal were her co-chairmen, Mrs. James F. Dwinell, Jr. Mrs. Burton J. Gove, Mrs. Sanford F. Petts, and Mrs. Harris S. Richardson. This group were always at the right hand of the show director, Mr. William F. Raterman of the John B. Rogers Producing Company of Ohio.

On entering the hall one discovered that a truly amazing transformation had taken place under the able hands of Mrs. Fulton Brown of Arlington street, and that our drab, worn meeting place had suddenly acquired the beauty and dignity of a regency drawing room, with blue draperies enlivened by touches of rose and gold festooned over the balconies and great crystal chandaliers suspended from the ceiling. A large and fascinating woman's hand was on each wall just at the side of the stage. The tables on the floor wore blue coverings, and blue again was found in the curtain on the stage.

The stage itself was the special province and responsibility of Mrs. Robert J. Holmes of Lakeview road, whose duty it was to manipulate curtains, set and unset the stage, all in a moment's time. She was fortunate indeed in having as cohorts Mr. George Hayden and Mr. James Woolley of Group Theatre fame.

The show required more than 100 costumes, over 500 pieces in all, and these were most efficiently checked, counted, fitted, refitted, and packed again by Mrs. Charles P. LeRoyer of Yale street, costume chairman.

At the attractive refreshment bar in one corner, soft drinks were dispensed by a corps of workers in blue caps and aprons, working under the direction of Mrs. Chester Porter. Mrs. T. Price Wilson of Rangely undertook to see that everyone present was supplied with flowers and smokes which were sold as usual by high school daughters of Winton Club members.

Winton Club husbands were marshalled into service by Mrs. Clarence G. McDavitt, Jr., floor chairman, who demanded their services as ushers, while in the balconies Winton Club sons did their turn.

One of the most hard working and most important committees on any Cabaret is the Program and Advertising Committee. This department has grown from the one page affair of 20 years ago to a large, well planned paper in magazine style, which contains much interesting information concerning the Winton Club, and which this year had well over 200 advertisers. Mrs. Kenneth W. Moffatt spent her efforts here, and was assisted by Mrs. Earle F. Spencer. A feature of the program this year was that each contained a number and a prize was donated each evening to the winner of the lucky number. Mr. Bradford Bentley of Norwood street won a radio on Friday evening, and Dr. Richard Clark of Salisbury street won a silver cigarette box Saturday.

ENTERTAINED GUEST FROM CHINA

Miss Margery Carruthers of Pine street, who is a freshman at Middlebury College was at home for a few days last week. She had as her house guest, one of her classmates, Miss "Kit" Cadbury of Canton, China. Her visit home afforded her the unusual opportunity of installing her sister, Evelyn Carruthers, as Worthy Advisor of Winchester Assembly of the Order of Rainbow for Girls.

ENTERTAINED AT BRIDGE

Miss Priscilla A. Parsons gave a bridge party at her home on Bacon street Tuesday evening for Miss Carol Slocum of Pelham Manor, N. Y., with whom she roomed at Arlington Hall Junior College in Washington.

Guests included Miss Harriet Pope of Cambridge and Miss "Pete" Joy, Miss Shirley Somerby, Miss "Peg" Thwing, Miss Eugenia Peppard, Miss Sally S. Parsons, Miss Marie Poirier, Miss Miriam Snow, Miss Betty Ann Budd and Miss Arline Bursley all of this town.

WINCHESTER'S QUOTA OVER THE TOP

The citizens of Winchester are to be congratulated. Once again they have met their quota in the Greater Boston Community Fund Drive.

Our chairman, Mr. Herbert E. Stone, is most grateful to every member of the fine organization for their work in helping to make the local drive a success.

SKI WEDDING HELD IN FRANCONIA

Viola Rennert Bride of Mason Goodenough

An informal ski wedding took place in Franconia, N. H. on Dec. 28, 1940, in the Ski Room of the Iron Mine Inn.

The bride was Miss Viola Rennert, daughter of Mr. Frederick I. Rennert and the late Mrs. Rennert of Winchester and Ossipee, N. H. The bridegroom was Mason Tappan Goodenough, son of Mrs. Helen Tappan Goodenough of Beacon Hill, Boston. The wedding couple were attired in ski clothes as were the entire wedding party, including the minister. Paul O'Neill, Jr. of Franconia was best man while his wife served as the bride's attendant.

Mrs. Goodenough is especially well known to Winchester's young people, having been until recently secretary to the principal at Winchester High School.

Mr. Goodenough is the Winter Sports Editor and Ski Columnist of the Boston Evening American. His father, now deceased, was Harold D. Goodenough of Brighton long identified with Faneuil Hall Market in Boston.

On his mother's side he is the grandson of Mason Weare Tappan, Colonel of the First New Hampshire Regiment and Attorney General of New Hampshire.

The couple will be at home at 35 Pinckney street, Boston, after the first of April.

UNION LENTEN SERVICES

As has been the custom for the past, a number of Protestant churches join in sponsoring Union Lenten Services. They are to be held this year in the Unitarian Church on Main street on the Wednesday evenings of Lent, beginning on Feb. 26, at 7:45 p. m. The following women's societies are especially interested in these services and are giving them their support: First Congregational, Women's Guild, President, Mrs. Bertram A. Albro; Second Congregational, the Bethany Society, President, Mrs. Fred Saunders; Methodist, the Women's Society for Christian Service, President, Mrs. Arthur Fay; First Baptist, the Women' League, President, Mrs. Martin Swanson; Unitarian, the Ladies' Friendly Society, President, Mrs. Curtis W. Nash.

Three prominent clergymen of Greater Boston will each preach two Wednesday evenings.

We are very happy to welcome to Winchester Dr. Vivian T. Pomeroy, minister of the First Unitarian Parish of Milton, who will be the preacher on Feb. 26 and March 5. Dr. Pomeroy is a very eloquent and dramatic speaker and is in great demand at colleges and schools in many parts of the country. He always has a vital and interesting message.

Dr. Garfield Morgan will be the guest preacher on March 12 and 19. Dr. Morgan is well known as a leader in the religious world. He is minister of a large Congregational Church in Lynn and is sought as a speaker within his denomination and by other churches and inter-denominational groups.

Dr. Elmer A. Leslie, who is one of the Methodist leaders, is professor at the Theological School of Boston University and a frequent speaker at religious gatherings of all faiths. He will be the guest preacher on March 26 and April 2.

A cordial invitation is extended to all members of the various churches cooperating to attend these services and to their friends to join them in these Union gatherings of the Christian churches of our town; also to the members of other churches and to those who have no church connections.

Carl F. Woods of Everett avenue, president of the Dartmouth Athletic Council, introduced the Big Green's new football coach, DeOrmond "Tuss" McLaughry and among the others prominent at the speakers' table was Lewis Parkhurst of Oak Knoll, senior member of the Board of Trustees.

ART ASSOCIATION SHOWING PRINTS AT LIBRARY

Those who like the crisp precision of black and white or the softer sepias will revel in the current exhibition of etchings, wood and copper engravings, aquatints and lithographs which the Winchester Art Association is showing at the Public Library Art Gallery. The show is national in scope and covers a wide variety of subjects though landscapes and buildings predominate. The prints illustrate especially well the remarkable effects which the master craftsman can obtain with the skilful use of lines in simple black and white.

Beautifully drawn with great clarity and sharpness of detail is a fine group of copper engravings by that acknowledged master, Thomas W. Nason. Winter Sunlight is a fine example of his art, depicting the cold bright light of a wintry sun throwing in sharp relief the twisted shadows of bare trees upon some haystacks piled against an outbuilding with a bit of tumble-down fence. Hebron Barns is a fine example of the artist's ability to portray depth and rounded contours in several planes.

Also by Mr. Nason are several excellent wood engravings, darker but hardly less clean-cut than their copper-plate brothers. Especially picturesque in this group is On the Island, showing a rambling old house with bare wind-gnarled trees, and Summer Storm with its fine sky treatment.

Samuel Chamberlain's dry-points cover many subjerts, from the delicate Sanderstown Fields with its graceful trees to Bauvais with its massive cathedral entrance and quaint building with twin conical towers in the middle background.

Faithfully reproduced with photographic exactness by the same artist are La Chaute Sur Loire, Verneuil, with its fine tall clock tower, and Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg, an unusual view of this historic building. Rare perspective and a truly remarkable panoramic effect are achieved in The Valley of the Var.

Out of the ordinary are the aquatints by Gerald Geerlings whose prize picture, Jewelled City, is shown. This fine study shows a vista of tall city buildings pinked out with electric lights glimpsed through a network of girders supporting an overhead bridge that throws a gloomy shadow over the immediate foreground. Hardly less striking are two other city studies, Black Magic, showing a tall sky-scraper, sharply outlined against a night sky, and Civic Insomnia, a fanciful title for an electrically lighted modern skyline of towers and tall buildings, seen through the haze above shimmering water.

Especially interesting are Mr. Geerling's lithograph studies of familiar colleges, those of Wellesley, seen across a pond, and Mt. Holyoke, peeping through trees with a brook in the foreground, being out of the ordinary.

Two large lithographs, crammed with action are Thomas Hart Benton's Jesse James, showing a train holdup by this dread outlaw, and "Frankie and Johnnie," depicting a shooting affray in a negro saloon.

Striking examples of the lithographer's art are New York Skyline, Empire State Building and Lincoln Monument by Ernest Fieve. Other fine lithographs by Stow Wengenroth include Straitsmouth Light, House at Port Clyde, Road to the Sea, a fine study in perspective; and Moonlight, one of the most appealing studies in the show, with its two boats beached by the tide near a quay under the diffused light of the moon. The same artist's study of sea-gulls perching on a finely drawn rocky ledge has a universal appeal.

Among the other fine studies in the show is a group of etchings by Luigi Lucioni, including The Mill; very sharp in its attention to detail; Peace in the Valley, an excellent landscape; Leaning Silo, a picturesque rural bit; and a fine study of the trunks of many trees.

The exhibition will remain at the library through February and is open to the public.

TO THE VOTERS OF WINCHESTER

On my nomination papers for the office of Assessor there appeared the words, "Candidate for Re-election." This designation was entirely legal in the opinion of the Town Counsel as rendered to the Town Clerk.

Other candidates for election to this position have questioned the use of the words "Candidate for Re-election" in connection with my name on the ballot.

Under the circumstances I do not intend to request that this designation appear on the ballot.

I believe that the voters generally are acquainted with the fact that last October the Board of Selectmen sitting in joint session with the Board of Assessors, in accordance with the State Law, elected me by ballot to fill the unexpired term of the late Frank H. Enman and that I am the present encumbant seeking re-election.

ARTHUR J. HARTY

Arthur J. Harty, son of Arthur J. Harty of 84 Dover street, West Medford, past exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks, died suddenly Friday morning, Jan. 31, at the Malden Hospital. He was admitted to the hospital two weeks previous to his death, having come east for treatment from his home in Muncie, Ind., where he was a government engineer. His death followed that of his mother by less than three months.

The deceased was born in Malden 31 years ago. He lived in Medford for 15 years graduating from Medford High School and from the School of Engineering at Tufts College. He leaves, besides his father, his wife, the former Margaret T. O'Connor of Fall River, a seven months old son, John, and four sisters.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the home of his father with requiem high mass at St. Joseph's Church, Medford.

ARTHUR C. NICHOLS

Arthur C. Nichols, formerly for many years foreman in the saw mill of the George W. Blanchard Company, died suddenly Saturday at his home, 15 Grove street.

Mr. Nichols was born in Winchester 70 years ago, son of the late Stillman and Hannah (Durgin) Nichols. He was educated in the Winchester schools and for 30 years was foreman at the Blanchard Mill, leaving to accept a similar position at the E. G. Barker Company's mill in Woburn. His wife, the former Sarah Goff died more than a year ago and there are no immediate survivors.

BADLY INJURED IN FALL

Patrick Duran, 48, of 125 Main street, Woburn, a leather worker at the local plant of Beggs & Cobb, was badly injured Tuesday morning shortly after 10:30 when he was knocked from a freight car which he was loading with leather.

According to the police Duran was standing upon some boards placed across the top of the open freight car as a staging. He was loading the car with leather from a truck which backed up an incline to the car.

As the machine approached the car it went too close striking the projecting ends of the boards and knocking Duran to the ground a distance of more than 10 feet.

HOUSE THREATENED BY FIREPLACE FIRE

Shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday evening the Fire Department was notified of a chimney fire at the home of Mr. Raymond J. Breed, 78 Westside road. Upon arrival the men found that a defective fireplace had permitted fire to seep through into the partitions of the living room. Aside from that necessitating removing the fire to put it out there was little damage.

At 12:15 Tuesday morning the Fire Department was called to put out a fire at Cullen's dump on upper Main street.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SUNDAY AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

The young people of the Metcalf Union conducted the entire morning service on Sunday, Feb. 2. Miss Ruth Elliott lead the Responsive reading, William Flewelling read the Scripture, and Miss Polly Kimball gave the prayer. The sermon was preached by Mr. Grant F. Haskell, the assistant minister. Special musical numbers were played by Miss Laurie Nickerson on the harp and and by Miss Polly Chapman on the violoncello.

In the afternoon from 4 to 6 the young people and the officials of the church enjoyed a very pleasant tea in the Ladies' Friendly parlor.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The newspapers, since last summer, have contained many references to the Burma Road, but some of us find we have rather hazy ideas about it and its present day strategic importance, and welcome a chance for definite, dependable information on the subject. "Burma Road," an illustrated lecture by Nicol Smith, which is scheduled for the next regular meeting on Monday, Feb. 10, will bring just that information.

Mr. Smith, who has already visited 51 countries, is a "scientific explorer, photographer and lecturer on travel and exploration." Recently returned from the Orient he brings "extraordinary, unforgettable photographic and verbal pictures of this fabled Burma Road—Marco Polo's ancient route from the West to the East."

For added measure the Fortnightly is to hear Mrs. John H. Kimball, former State President and General Federation Director, speak on "Legislation for Medical Freedom." This talk is under the auspices of the Legislation Committee, of which Mrs. William E. Priest, is chairman.

In the evening at 7:45 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall, the Fortnightly is graciously invited to be the guests of the Junior Fortnightly at their "Mothers' and Senior Club Night." Mrs. Kimball will be the speaker of the evening, her subject being "Stories of T Wharf." Those who have heard Mrs. Kimball speak on this topic report a delightful treatment of a fascinating subject.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

"How Do They Do It?"

As the months pass, and the waste and the horror inflicted on Britain continue, and the people hold steady, we, in our safe land say to ourselves, "How do they do it?" It is a question worth holding in mind, worth taking to heart. It can mean something for the United States and for each of us.

The steadiness over there, the cheerfulness, the kindness, and the unity are wonderfully cheering to those of us who want assurance that human nature, without goose-stepping into a regimented loyalty can get the work of a community and a nation well done.

"If you get nervous and downhearted about the war, come and talk with British seamen at our Sailor's Haven," said the Executive Secretary of the Haven in Winchester this week, "they will cheer you up."

But it isn't only the seamen. The spirit shines out in unexpected places. For example, here is a bit from a recent letter. "We have had a lot of attention from Hitler all around but nothing very dreadful has happened so far. Our guns make the most noise and people keen indoors in the evening because shrapnel is rather a nuisance. During the day time no one takes any notice of the raids as we are all so used to them. We used to be scared once upon a time and run into our shelters, but as we found we could not get through our work or do our shopping, etc., and also found we were still alive we all thought we might just as well take no notice of the sirens, so everyone carries on as usual.

"We have a shelter in the garden and sleep there at night. We take our supper down there and make some coffee on an oil stove and with a book and knitting thoroughly enjoy ourselves. We sleep on deck chairs with extensions for our legs and I may say I have never slept better. We have not been in our beds for months nor in any nightdresses. We should not like to be running up and down the road in a nightie if anything happened!"

How many guesses would you need before you could guess that the writer is a spinster past 70? She is, and one house she lived in was destroyed by a bomb.

That spirit is what makes Winchester women work for the British War Relief Society.

Mrs. Wansker will be glad to supply all those who knit with wool and she invites those who cannot conveniently see her on Wednesday at the central workroom, Emjohanie Parish Hall, to telephone her at Win. 2596. And Mrs. Fred Cameron of 17 Church street will be glad to talk to anyone interested in the work of the Winchester Unit of the British War Relief Society.

COLLEGE CLUB ART STUDY GROUP

The next meeting will be held Friday, Feb. 14, at 10 a. m. at the Public Library.

The subject will be the "Period of Louis XIV." The sculpture of that era will be discussed by Mrs. Robert Campbell and Mrs. Robert E. Dalzell.

Mrs. Clifford Cunningham and Mrs. James B. Willing will speak about the painting of that period.

WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

The first of three accidents reported to the Police over the past week-end took place at the intersection of Cross and Washington streets Saturday morning shortly after 9 o'clock. The cars involved were a Ford sedan, driven by Frank C. Doubleday of 61 Nashua street, Woburn, who was headed south on Washington street, and a Buick sedan, owned by Patrick J. Gill of 100 Eastern avenue, Woburn and being driven east from Cross street across Washington street by Charles G. Gill of the same address. Both cars were damaged, the Ford so badly it had to be towed away. No one was injured.

Shortly before 12 o'clock Saturday night a Buick sedan, owned by Bernard D. Donahue of 7 Central street and driven by his son, Bernard J. Donahue, while headed north on Bacon street near Grove street, was in collision with a Chevrolet truck owned by Stewart Oldford of Church lane, Burlington, which was parked on the right hand side of the street facing north. Donahue told the Police that he met a car headed south as he approached the parked truck and when he applied his brakes his machine skidded against it. The damage done was slight and no one was injured.

Early Sunday afternoon, shortly after 12:30, a Mercury sedan, owned by Madeleine T. Jacobs of 3 Meadowcroft road and driven by her husband, Sumner C. Jacobs, while headed north on Wildwood street was in collision with a machine, driven by Osterna Gerrior of 93 Church street, who was crossing Wildwod street from Palmer street. Both machines were damaged, but no one was injured.

WINCHESTER TURNED BACK READING

Winchester High outplayed Reading, 37—14 last Friday evening in the local gymnasium, the victory giving Coach Bartlett's charges the distinction of defeating both the top place teams of the Middlesex League in a single week, Belmont having been beaten the previous Tuesday. The Winchester seconds won the preliminary game, 19—7.

Against Reading the local boys were hot, giving their best all around exhibition of the year. Every man contributed to what was a fine team victory with individual honors going to Jimmy Coon, who played his best game of the season, offensively and defensively.

Capt. Pete Provinzano was high scorer as usual, but he got some help from his supporting cast last Friday, and as a matter of fact didn't go on his own scoring spree until late in the game. Stephanian was Reading's star and is a good basketball player.

Provinzano tossed in a couple of foul baskets and Coon added three points with a floor goal and a foul shot to give the local boys five points before Reading started. Then the visitors got going and the count at the quarter favored Winchester 7—6. The score at half time was 14—10 with Winchester leading, and during the entire third period Reading failed to score, Winchester running its count to 19.

The locals were really clicking at this point and with four minutes left to play had a 24—12 lead. During the last four minutes with Provinzano finding the hoop three times Winchester scored 13 points while Reading was able to sink hut a single basket, the final score being 37—14.

The victory was Winchester's most convincing of the season and adds to the regret that the grippe kept Provinzano from thoe early season Belmont and Reading games. Winchester would be right up there, if not actually astride the league standing right now had it not been for those unfortunate losses.

Coach Bartlett's charges continued their fine work at the foul line, making nine out of 12 free tries good. With nine going through out of 13 free tries vs Belmont the locals have 18 out of 25 at the foul line in the last two games, a far cry from the two out of 14 in the Woburn game and very creditable going.

"BUSINESS AS USUAL"

Long before the days of ASCAP there was a popular song entitled "Mindin' My Business" which in case his usual theme song happens to be off the air "for the duration" of the musical row the man on desk duty at the Central Fire Station might well hum from time to time with entire propriety.

For mindin' his business is just what the man on the desk is going to do nothin' else but, according to new regulations posted this week by Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department.

Under the new orders "newspapers, cross-word puzzles, dime novels and wild west books, etc.," are tabu for the man on desk duty, who is to give his entire attention to keeping the record book, preventing in the course of his escritory labors any loafing or smoking around the desk. Incidentally the desk man is to be in uniform at all times, and the Star reporter is polishing up his badge to pass inspection on his regular morning calls.

FOOTBALL GAMES WILL LAST LONGER NOW

Local football fans will get more for their money at high school games next season when the changes in the rules governing the game go into effect.

Free substitution which replaces the old rule forbidding a player to return to action in the period during which he was removed is going to drag out games until those played during late season will have to start very early to avoid playing in the dark.

At least the new rule can not be said to add to spectator interest which in the past has been given as a reason for modification of the rules. Endless substitutions which are bound to slow up the game are going to prove boring to those in the stands, many of whom have been impatient of the stops necessitated by substitutions under the old rule.

We suppose the new rule was made to enable coaches with small squads to rest key players for a bit when necessary without losing their services for an entire period, but it would seem that any high school boy at least who needs to come out of action should remain out for at least the remainder of the 10 to 12 minute periods usually played in school games.

The old rule against communicating by a new player until after the first play, has been revoked and coaches can now send in players with orders to the signal caller ad lib. This change isn't likely to make much of a hit with those "give-the-game-back-to-the-boys" enthusiasts, and will also tend to drag out play. Little can be said in favor of the change except that the rules-observing coach can now compete on even terms with the mentor who used to beat the code with signals and other smart devices.

The new rule which provides that a ball kicked within a team's 10 yard line and touched first by a member of the kicking team shall go out to the 20 yard line has taken another thrill from the game and penalized the team with fast ends able to cover kicks closely. Perhaps it was intended to offset the boost given the offense by revoking the rule that placed the ball on the 20 yard line after a final pass fell incomplete in the end zone. Under the new rule the ball will remain where it was before the pass was attempted.

All in all there seems little real enthusiasm for the rule changes, at least among football fans, who will await the practical demonstration of the changes with much interest. Meanwhile we suppose that those charged with tinkering the rules each year have to do something to justify their existence.

"KNIGHTS" TO SHOW B. C.—GEORGETOWN PICTURES

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, has a treat in store for members and friends on Monday eve., Feb. 17, when it will sponsor a showing of the official Boston College-Georgetown football game pictures in the council chambers over Randall's store.

This game, won by the Eagles, 19—18, was the dream game of the past season, a breathtaking safety by Charlie O'Rourke in the closing minutes of play, finally making the issue safe for the Maroon and Gold.

Every one who saw the game will want to see the pictures and every one who missed this classic of the gridiron shouldn't miss seeing the reproduction of one of the great games of football's modern era.

Because of limited space and the popularity of this attraction the Council has been obliged to limit admission to members and their guests. George Kerr, great guard who is passing up pro football to study for the priesthood and Joe Zahilski, end, are B. C. players who will be guests of the Council. Thomas Travers, grand knight of the Council, will preside.

WINCHESTER PLAYS STONEHAM TONIGHT

Winchester High's fast stepping basketball team plays a Middlesex League game with Stoneham in the local gymnasium and will be shooting for its fourth straight victory.

The locals won their previous tilt from luckless Stoneham in the hockey town, but the 25—21 count was by no means impressive enough to indicate an easy win tonight. Stoneham has yet to win a game in league competition so the well known law of averages would seem to point to an upset soon. Winchester should by no means hold Stoneham cheaply even though it is playing much better basketball than at the time of the previous game.

The locals' winning streak has stepped up attendance greatly and those who want a seat for tonight's game should get to the gymnasium early. First and second team contests as usual starting at 7:30.

Following is the league standing:

	w	l	pts
Belmont	6	1	12
Reading	5	3	10
Winchester	4	3	8
Wakefield	3	4	6
Lexington	3	4	6

WELLESLEY CLUB ENTERTAINS HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

The Winchester Wellesley Club will entertain 16 preparatory school students and their parents at a Wellesley College acquaintanceship meeting on Tuesday evening, February 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Worthen, 29 Wedgemere avenue.

Mrs. Ralph T. Jope, acting president of the Wellesley Club and the executive board have arranged to show a technicolor motion picture of work and play on the Wellesley College campus. The film will give the girls, who are considering Wellesley as the college of their choice, an interesting pre-view of its five campus' and buildings and its many activities.

Priscilla Richmond, who goes to the Brimmer and May School in Boston, is also one of the invited guests.

Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard as chairman of the Acquaintanceship Committee has made arrangements to entertain this group of students.

On Wednesday evening, Feb 12, the Wellesley Club will hold its midwinter meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Worthen again acting as hosts. The Wellesley film will be presented and Mr. Worthen will show some of his colored slides. For both meetings, Mrs. Dunbar L. Shanklin, social chairman, is in charge of the social hour.

JOHNSON WON 17 FOR HARTFORD

"Art" Johnson, former Winchester High all around athlete and star pitcher of the "Millionaires," had a good season with the Hartford Club in the Eastern League last year, winning 17 games, losing 11 and having an earned run average of 3.1, the best on the Hartford Club.

The big left hander is going to Texas with the Bees this spring, having toiled for the Boston National League Club at Hartford. He is one of the more promising "rookies" to be looked over, and many good judges of pitching ability give him an even chance to stick in the majors this year.

Following the close of last season "Art" was employed as a clerk in a Boston department store, but recently resigned to start light conditioning with the hope of packing some more weight on that six foot, two inch frame he carries.

WINCHESTER WINS AGAIN

Third Straight From Lexington, 39-35

In one of the most exciting contests seen in the local gymnasium in many a day, Winchester High defeated Lexington High in a Middlesex League basketball game Tuesday afternoon, 39—35. The victory was the third straight for the locals with Belmont and Reading, top ranking league clubs, as the other victims.

Seventy-four points rung up in a schoolboy tilt, at least where the competition is close, is mighty free scoring that makes for interest and excitement in basketball. Winchester's total also indicates that the locals are finding their eye for the hoop and are commencing to get the shots their offense has been setting up all season.

Lexington brought over a good club to Winchester with three rangy boys in Captain Vaughan, J. Busa and Bullock. The visitors appeared well coached and during the first half of play seemed destined to win.

Winchester scored first when Don Drew caged a goal from scrimmage, but this two point advantage was quickly wiped out by the visitors who handled the ball nicely and had the advantage of some effective shooting by J. Busa and Vaughan to lead at the half 19—14, after a 9-all deadlock at the quarter.

The locals returned to the fray for the third quarter with plenty of fire but Lexington also stepped up its gam and it wasn't until the closing seconds of the period that Winchester drew up even with the visitors, 26—26.

Even then Lexington broke the tie to lead, first 27, and then 28 to 26. A field goal by Jim Coon made it all even again and Lane McGovern's two-pointer finally put the locals in front 30—28. Provinzano's foul shot and two more goals by Coon boosted the local score to 35 while Lexington was adding but a single tally to its 28.

At this point however the Minuteboys got their flintlocks trained on the hoop and with J. Busa staging a real scoring spree, drew up to a 34—35 count. The stands were pop-eyed with excitement and the cheering was incessant.

Captain Provinzano cut the strings with a floor goal, but Captain Vaughan's free throw from the foul line made the score only 37—35 for Winchester with about five seconds remaining. A Lexington goal would have tied things up.

Shortly before the gun barked, Don Drew found the hoop for a final goal to put the game on ice.

For Winchester McGovern and Coon were outstanding, though Captain Provinzano also played a very good game. Pete was well covered by Costa, Lexington right guard, who played a very effective game in the back court. J. Busa, towering Lexington center, led both teams in scoring with 16 points.

Between the halves of the varsity game the Lexington seconds won from the Winchester seconds, 27—17, giving the local seconds their second and worst licking of the season.

DINNER PARTY

Among those in the Winton Club Cabaret cast who dined at "The Countryside" in Lexington before Saturday night's show were: Mr. Amos Shepard, Miss Priscilla Danforth, Mr. William Burtt, Miss Jean Turtelot, Mr. John Plumer and Miss Helen Butler.

Following the performance, Miss Toutelot entertained a group of her friends at her home on Calumet road.

AMERICAN RED CROSS, WINCHESTER UNIT

"The Red Cross Is Always Ready"

What kind of readiness is this of the Red Cross? Some people think of it as consisting in gigantic warehouses piled with vast accumulations of things that may some day be needed and used somewhere. There are two things wrong with this picture of Red Cross readiness. First it isn't correct and second it gives those who hold it the impression that there is no great hurry about their getting into their share of Red Cross work.

The Red Cross readiness is quite a different thing, as the history of our Winchester Chapter in the last year and a half shows. In September, 1939, war widened its devastating scope. Like a lookout in the crow's nest, national leaders saw need ahead. But it was not on stored warehouses they counted. It was on the prompt and elastic productivity of local units like our own. Before September was far gone, Winchester had its quota of things it was asked to do, bandages, garments, knitted articles. Its readiness to relieve suffering was dependent on our readiness to make what we were told were at once needed.

Instead of the slow leisurely process suggested by the false picture of enormous stores, slowly amassed, slowly used, and which could safely be slowly replaced, the Red Cross operates in a cose round-urgent need seen by the lookout, swift quota to Winchester and other chapters, prompt action in our village and in thousands of others and then by land or by sea our bandages and mittens and hospital garments and layettes are hurried on their way to the place of need.

As more of us are coming to realize the continual race with time which the Red Cross is running, we grow more careful to finish speedily what we have in hand and get it on its way. For it is not on its way to a warehouse, but to real folks.

So as headquarters see Red Cross work, it is dramatic all the time, never just dull and slow routine, and a cold mathematical word like quota has warm and vivid meaning.

And it is not just at the Town Hall that quota has come to life. There is the part that En Ka has from the first been playing. Or parts. For En Ka has played the roles of angel, in theatrical slang and of Martha busy with much serving. The angel role came in the early stage of our war service. The dollars at the disposal of the Winchester Chapter were coming to an end, with the next roll call still some distance away. En Ka brought in a check for $250 and the bolts of material needed for the current quota could be bought.

Still another time En Ka knew when the folks at headquarters were scraping the bottom of the barrel. That time they were about out of wool for the knitters. Again came the angel with an En Ka check and the knitting needles in Winchester clicked on uninterruptedly.

As Martha the busy-handed there is a long tale to tell of En Ka's service to the Red Cross. 25 babies somewhere sleep warm in fleecy little En Ka made kimonos, and will be dressed clean tomorrow morning in 25 En Ka dresses. Twelve little mites can be bundled up tonight for an air raid shelter in blankets and bootees of En Ka's making. From their needles have come 48 pairs of socks and 59 sweaters, and they had a part also in filling a quota of 200 wool shirts. Since September, 1940, En Ka members have given more than 500 hours to Red Cross work, and every Tuesday the count of the hours grows larger, as an En Ka group meets at the residence of Mrs. A. S. Mancib for Red Cross work.

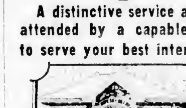

From Yale street to the Town Hall, from Winchester to the land that needs, the works made for mercy go as quickly as possible.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

FACULTY WON FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Apparently the Winchester High School faculty can teach other places than in the class room. At least the faculty team defeated the high school varsity in a basketball game Wednesday afternoon in the school gymnasium 32 to 23.

Jim Coon and Dean Derby were out of the high school lineup with slight colds, but aside from these players the varsity tossed everyone against the pedagogues and found the profs able to stand the gaff nicely. Coach Bartlett practised what he has been preaching all season by leading both teams in scoring with six floor goals and brace of fouls, for 14 points. John "All America" Stevens, the cross country savant, shot the game's most spectacular basket with extreme nonchalance, not to say sangfroid, and "Will" Rodgers contributed a standing-sitting dive into the collective laps of a group of pretty girls along the sidelines for another much appreciated feature.

Repeated chanting "We Want Hayward" by a local newspaper man and a well known executive clerk at the Town Hall, resulted in the faculty manager entering the fray as a substitute for Coach Bartlett. While in action Ray was easily the outstanding man on the floor, both in a perpendicular and horizontal sense, his head-foremost slide under the seats on the sideline (in which he beat the throw by a whisker) being the game's real highlight.

There were of course other lesser features, but we can mention only one of them, the perspiration achieved by Assistant Coach Lentine, the old BeeCee, being something to marvel at. Why anything at all remains of ol' Tentine we wouldn't know, really.

While the game was a great one to watch, and incidentally the biggest crowd of the year watched it with the S. R. O. sign being displayed long before Charlie Dolan got the clubs under way, there were certain disappointments which should be listed. "Art" Butters, the old State of Maine champ, let down his public badly by absenting himself from the arena along with that old Bates, Wade Grindle. Their absence was noted and regretted by the small but select portion of the gallery who had gathered in the hopes of seeing them in action. Following is the summary:

There is Winchester interest in the marriage at Christ's Church in Cambridge tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock when Miss Emily Alan Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. G. Nichols of Cambridge will become the bride of John L. Clark of New York City. Miss Nichols is the sister of Mrs. Walcott Thompson of Cabot street and the cousin of Rev. William S. Mr. and Mrs. Clark are to live in New York where the bridegroom, a former Harvard crew man, is engaged in the practice of law.

Skiing in and around Guilford and Laconia was enjoyed by 20 girls as a let-down after mid-year exams. Misses Speedie and Olmstead are officers of the Outing Club.

WINCHESTER VOTE WAS LARGEST

To the Editor of the Star:

You remember that we all made a drive in Winchester to get out as large a vote as possible at the National Election, with the result that 94% of the registered voters actually voted, which I thought was a very large percentage.

So I wrote to our veteran Secretary of State and asked him if he could tell me how other towns of about the same size compared with Winchester, and he says:

"Replying to yours of the 20th instant, we have just tabulated the number of registered voters and votes cast at the last election and I am very glad to send as you request the figures for towns approximately the same voting size as Winchester. They are as follows:

GROUP THEATRE ANNOUNCES FEBRUARY SCHEDULE

Activities of the Winchester Group Theatre pick up their pace with a special events evening and trials for the Spring production both occurring this month, according to an announcement just received from the directors.

On Monday, Feb. 17, there will be the regular meeting of the Group for February. The program is "An Evening of Magic" under the co-chairmanship of Gerald Y. Hills and Herbert T. Wadsworth and the meeting will be held in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church, with all members of the Unitarian Players as special guests.

Leon Mayers led his orchestra in a setting of red, white and blue streamers and gold eagles.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY

Stories of T Wharf will be told by Mrs. John H. Kimball, past president of the State Federation of Womens Clubs, to the Winchester Junior Fortnightly on Monday evening, Feb. 10, at 7:45 o'clock at Fortnightly Hall.

Once during the club season the Junior Fortnightly sets aside one meeting to be known as Junior Mothers and Senior Club night. We are happy to announce that Feb. 10 is that night and wish to invite all senior members to hear Mrs. Kimball.

Hostess for the evening is Miss Priscilla Parsons.

MISS CARRIE L. MASON

Word was received in Winchester early this week of the death on Sunday, Feb. 2, of Miss Carrie L. Mason, a former teacher in this town.

In 1898 Miss Mason became principal of the Wyman School and remained as a teacher in Winchester until 1922. During the last few years of this service she was a pioneer in organizing the work of the Special Classes.

After retiring from teaching in the Winchester schools, she taught for a few years in the mountain district of Hindman, Ky. Recently she made her home in East Northfield, and it was there she passed away after two years of illness.

Those who knew her will remember her intensely active interest in life. Not only did she give herself wholeheartedly to her own work, but she took a keen interest in all events of the day. She faced problems and difficulties with frankness and courage. She lightened the burdens of others with her sympathy and understanding. She richly possessed a steadfast and abiding Christian faith.

Funeral services were held in the Congregational Church in Northfield on Wednesday afternoon. They were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Cole and the Rev. Dr. Jack of Northfield. During the services favorite hymns of Miss Mason were played by the organist of the church. Burial was in the family lot at Reading.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The Winchester Art Association opened its February exhibit of etchings, wood engravings and mezzotints and aquatints at the Winchester Public Library on Sunday, Feb. 2 with a gallery talk and tea served to the members.

Mr. Samuel Chamberlain, well known dry-point artist of Boston, gave the gallery talk speaking on "Black and White Techniques." Although the talk was in itself a rather technical nature Mr. Chamberlain brought so much humor and understanding into the field that it was not only instructive but highly entertaining. He spoke very briefly, apologizing for its very brevity upon such a large subject of the five types of Blacks and Whites all of which were displayed in the gallery. Namely etchings, copper engravings, dry points, mezzotints and aquatints, and lithographs. There are also several excellent examples of wood engravings hung also.

Mr. Chamberlain described etchings, etc., as lovely works of art that could and can be duplicated. He said that as early as it was discovered that books could be duplicated it was also discovered that works of art migh also be duplicated and thus the etchings and wood carvings. To attempt to describe the various techniques used for the different etchings would be foolhardy but let it suffice to say that everyone who can should see this exhibit now hanging in the gallery of the library.

The tea which followed the talk was in charge of Mrs. G. Thayer Richards with the able assistance of Mrs. Marshal Pihl. The pourers were Mrs. Fiske Bradford and Mrs. Lobingier assisted by Miss Ann Crowell, Miss Janet Eaton and Miss Priscilla Richmond.

Mrs. William C. Cusack of this town is attending the course on Political Information being given at the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts.

ELKS HOLD SUCCESSFUL PAST EXALTED RULERS' NIGHT

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 4, Winchester Lodge of Elks held their annual past exalted rulers' night in Lyceum Hall with a large group of members in attendance.

Charles A. Farrar, P. E. R., was exalted ruler for the evening and had the distinction of initiating his son, Charles A. Farrar, Jr., into the order of Elks. Officers of the evening were all past exalted rulers of Winchester Lodge and were as follows:

Exalted Ruler	Charles A. Farrar
Esteemed Leading Knight	Harry A. McGrath
Esteemed Loyal Knight	John F. Donaghey
Esteemed Lecturing Knight	Joseph T. Callahan
Secretary	P. Everett Hambly
Treasurer	Fred H. Scholl
Chaplain	William E. Ramsdell

After the regular meeting and initiation a showing of authentic war pictures was filmed with sound effects. The film, which was in five reels, covered all phases of the war up to the present time. One feature was the showing of the pursuit, battle and final destruction of the Admiral Graf Spee, German pocket battleship, when it was beached and set afire by its crew. Also shown was the battle between the French and English fleets at Dakar.

Past Exalted Rulers Charles A. Farrar and John F. Donaghey were in charg of arrangements for the evening. Guests were present from Woburn and Newton lodges. A delicious collation was served.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Weeks of anticipation and careful planning will culminate this coming Saturday in one of the largest and most colorful exposition ever held in this vicinity, when Fellsland Council opens its annual event in Stoneham Town Hall.

Doors will open at 2 o'clock and the afternoon program will begin at 2:30 in the main auditorium, while nearly 30 booths of working exhibits will be in constant operation on the floor below. Scout troops, Cub Packs and Sea Scout Ships from every city and town in the Council will participate in the program. More than 1000 boys are expected to take some part and arrangements have been made to accommodate an even greater number of visitors, parents and friends to witness their demonstrations.

CRADLE SHOP ENLARGED

The Cradle Shop, of which Miss Miriam F. Payne is the proprietor, has enlarged and is now occupying the entire space at 4 Mt. Vernon street which it formerly shared with the Camera Shop.

To its regular stock of toys and clothing for children up to six years a complete line of the wanted Old English Brand yarn has been added with knitting needles and accessories.

Already many have been in to see the new shop and to examine the new line of knitting needs, so popular now. Miss Payne invites every one to drop in and examine her stocks, and announces that "Wes" Rutledge, formerly with the Camera Shop, is affording expert developing and printing at her address.

ENTERTAINED FOR MISS SMITH

Mrs. Kirby Snell gave a delightful party last Thursday evening at her home, 2 Wedge Pond road, in honor of Eugenia Smith, whose marriage to Mr. Lindsay Caldwell will take place in the early spring. Miss Smith was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

PARISH PLAYERS ANNOUNCE CAST FOR "THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"

On Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 14 and 15, the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church of Winchester will present their second production of the 1940-41 season at "The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire."

"The Admirable Crichton" marks the 10th engagement of Francis R. Hart, Jr., as director of this highly successful theatre group. Prior productions which Mr. Hart has staged in Winchester have been Petticoat Fever, Ghost Train, Fresh Fields, To the Ladies (in the latter two plays as actor as well as director), You Can't Take It With You, Stage Door and Our Town.

Entering the theatre in 1921 Francis Hart has been well known in Boston, New York and Dennis, not only as an actor but as a producer. Mr Hart is now president of the Cape Playhouse at Dennis where during the last three seasons he has presented some of the most distinguished stars of the theatre and motion picture world.

The board of directors of the Parish Players and director Mr. Hart have assembled a large and highly experienced cast for Barrie's delightful comedy, which calls for genuine acting ability. Among those assuming important roles are Samuel Graves, Dr. Eugene Pollard, Elouise Graves, Dr. F. Milne Blanchard, Marjorie Harmon, Katrina Morse, Richard Johnson, Arnold Nichols, Rosalind Lynch and Eleanor Randall.

Such a cast alone guarantees an outstanding performance. This play as well as all others of the Parish Players 1940-41 season is a benefit for the British War Relief Society, Inc. In a recent letter Mr. Robert W. Mortimer, vice chairman of the British War Relief Society, Inc. sent his thanks and congratulations for the sum of money already raised from the sale of season tickets which has been used towards the purchase of a "Rolling Kitchen" now at work in England.

BALL FOR THE BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Put a circle around Thursday, Feb. 20, because on that evening at the Copley Plaza Hotel there will be given for the benefit of the British War Relief a ball, commencing at 10 o'clock, with Ruby Newman's orchestra, there will also be an entertainment, which promises George M. Cohan as master of ceremonies; Bill Robinson, Vera Zorina starring in the New York musical hit, "Louisana Purchase," Monty Woolly and many others selected from the best of stage, screen and radio, all giving their services for this cause.

Debutantes will be selling useful articles from the British War Relief Society's shops on the night of the 20th amongst them being Miss Helen Farnsworth and Miss Jean Roberts from Winchester.

Leading the list of patronesses are Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, first lady of the Commonwealth and Viscountess Halifax, wife of the British Ambassador to the United States. Eight prizes are to be awarded, a four door gray sedan donated by Alvan T. Fuller. Other prizes donated include a bow-knot pin with a diamond center; a gold wrist watch for man or woman; a sack suit; a pair of silver fox scarfs; a $50 certificate for a beauty salon; a dachshund; and a portrait which John Lavelie will paint of one winner.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Next Sunday morning, at the First Congregational Church, Dr. Raymond Calkins will preach on "The Bible's Final Pledge of Victory."

In these days, when one needs every ounce of spiritual energy he can possess in order to keep an open and well-balanced mind, Dr. Calkins' sermons have proved to be a most helpful source. In his sermon last Sunday, the subject of which was "All Things to Enjoy," he said "I am impressed with the breadth and the sweep of St. Paul's use of words, "All things." Thus, he says: All things work together for good.' 'Giving thanks for all things.' Even more extraordinary is his word: 'God giveth us richly all things to enjoy.' Surely, we say, that cannot be so. God gives us some things to enjoy, other things to endure, but not all things to enjoy. If, however, we look more closely, we discover that we do enjoy things that are hard and contrary to our ease and comfort. The mountaineer enjoys his hard and even perilous climbing; the research worker enjoys grappling with the mysteries of nature; people of normal moral fibre find enjoyment in overcoming difficultie and obstacles and thus achieving their goals. It is the glory of the New Testament that it declares that there is no experience in life, however dark and forbidding, which may not yield this deeper joy. It is not an easy or facile joy. God giveth us these things richly to enjoy; the joy of being drawn nearer to God, of experiencing His power to comfort and to save. Such was the joy of Jesus who, in laying down all that was dear to Him, found the deeper joy that lay beyond the Cross. In this sense may we not all believe that God giveth us all things richly to enjoy?"

TURKEY DINNER

The annual turkey dinner sponsored by the Women's Society of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will be served on Wednesday evening in the social hall to 150 members and friends of the parish. The dinner will be followed by a talk delivered by Dr. Elmer A. Leslie distinguished member of the faculty of Boston University. His message will be based on his experiences "Traveling Around the World in War Time," for he had just sailed for Japan when the war broke out in Europe. The Leslie's were entertained by former students at the School of Theology as they traveled in the Philippines, Japan, China, Korea, India, Palestine and Syria. While visiting historic sites in Turkey Mr. Leslie became a victim of the spy-fever which grips a nation near war and was arrested and placed in jail until his identity could be established to the satisfaction of the Turkish authorities. They finally made their way to Portugal and thence across the Atlantic to the United States.

This interesting evening is under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur C. Fay. She is being assisted by Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas, tickets; Mrs. G. R. Bancroft, Mrs. Anna Dunning and Mrs. Ralph Hatch, soliciting; Mrs. R. E. Makepeace and Miss Bertha Hitchcock, decorating; Mrs. Rua William and Miss Mary Hodge; dining room; Mrs. Sadie Fancie, kitchen; and Mrs. Beth G. LeRoy, publicity.

Miss Mary Louise Carpenter of Rangely is leaving about Feb. 15 with a nursing unit for England.

Although the Cabaret was scheduled for 9, the balconies were filled each evening by 8 o'clock, and many guests chose this hour to arrive at the tables, in order to enjoy the dancing. The music was under the direction of Mr. Lewis Bonick who has played for many Winton Club affairs, and who is as fine a show accompanist as he is a dance band leader.

Unsung heroines of the music committee are those who for hours daily go over with maddening repetition the same bars of music, for the rehearsing groups. Their days begin at 10 in the morning and never end before 11 at night, with an occasional Sunday workout thrown in for good measure. These most patient accompanists this year were Mrs. Irving E. Jennings, Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes and Mrs. M. Walker Jones.

It was a wonderful show with an extremely youthful and attractive cast, and to those who have been following and workin- for many Cabarets it was quite thrilling to find so large a proportion of Winton Club sons and daughters on the stage. To try to single out any one number for approbation is impossible, but none can deny that young Brock Lynch was decidedly the finest performer. In fact his dancing is the best ever to be seen in any Cabaret. No stranger to those in the audience who follow the high school vaudeville show and the class play, all agree that his performance would grace any Broadway production.

"Hello Again" was the first number, featuring Brock Lynch, and with a mixed chorus doing a fast dance routine, the end of the number finding the girls high in the air on the boys' arms, and all calling to the responsive audience "Hello Again." The chorus included:

Ella Armstrong	Robert Armstrong
Rosemary Ash	Lyndon Burnham
Helen Butler	William Burt
Betty Cooper	Willard Grush
Helen Downer	Leonard Lawson
Jean Flanders	Kenneth Leghorn
Suzanne Gleason	Ben Marshall
Mary Alice Mason	Frank Parsons
Jean Moran	John Plumer
Priscilla Parsons	Russell Tompkins
Elizabeth Pennell	Charles White
Virginia Danforth	Thomas Aldrich, Jr.

The Perfume Ballet was introduced by Mr. Fred Rice, who sang in a most pleasing voice as six very beautiful girls clad in very gorgeous costumes came into the spotlight. Then as they posed at the rear, dancers took over the stage and performd a most graceful and pleasing ballet. Harriet Cooper, a most accomplished toe dancer was the central figure, Gardenia, and others in the number were:

Christmas Night

Jean Farnsworth	Mary Worthen
Edith Jones	Jean Rooney
Nuit d'Amour	Nancy Felt
Miracle	Edith Flynn
Evening in Paris	Emily Marks
Jet	Gene MacDonald
Mais Oui	Evelyn McGill
Shocking Red	Frances Staples

Number 3 was the Mystic Glee Club. This group of men under the direction of Mr. William Cruger and with Mr. William B. Elmer as accompanist has been organized as a Glee Club since last year when they were such a hit in the Cabaret. They were even more roundly applauded this year and their rendition of the Yale Whiffenpoof song was memorable.

Educating My Feet began with Gertrude Snow singing before the curtain, and when the curtain parted behind her, showed a tap class in most attractive costumes of checked shorts, white shirts, and dapper little hats taking tap lessons from Polly Kimball. The number closed as one might guess, with all girls going into a lively tapping and kicking routine.

Frances Allsop	Helen Downer
Frances Bump	Jeannette Harlow
Helen Barnard	Frances Nichols
Harriet Cooper	Dorothy Pufler
Lucille Corwin	Virginia Stearns
Ruth Dellieker	Edna Wild
Mary McGrath

Mr. Fred Rice once more came forward, this time to sing International Rhythm, a song all about swing sweeping the world. The [illegible] girls who came on to illus[illegible] song were Emily Marks [illegible]arian Girl, Nancy Felt as t[illegible]an, Girl, Nancy England as [illegible] Girl and Helen Butler as [illegible] Girl. At the close of the song a large and very able chorus took over the floor and with the greatest of ease executed the International Rhythm Dance, which was as good as a three ring circus to watch. Although it was most strenuous and fast, the dancers all looked as if they were having the time of their lives.

For the finale of Act 1, and while the Rhythm group were still on the floor, the stage curtains again opened showing the Educating My Feet girls doing the Rhythm steps, and with Brock Lynch in the spotlight doing simply amazing things, so that at the close of the act, one was breathless from just watching. The Rhythm group was as follows:

Rosemary Ash	Robert Armstrong
Sally Bentley	Morrison Bump
Ann Burnham	Lyndon Burnham
Marjorie Coon	William Burtt
Priscilla Danforth	Willard Grush
Virginia Danforth	Leonard Lawson
Jean Moran	Kenneth Leghorn
Priscilla Parsons	Ben Marshall
Elizabeth Pennell	John Plumer
Frances Staples	Russell Tompkins
Jean Tourtellot	Amos Shepard
Gloria Woolley	Charles White

The second act opened with none other than Winchester's own park benches set before an amusing pastoral drop, while various couples ambled about, each taking its turn at a chorus of the song "Strolling in the Park." Enter the boys, very nattily attired, who nervously scan the horizon for their dates, who soon put in their jaunty appearances, and then all combine to show us just how a Park evening should be spent.

The Count and the Heiress — Ben Marshall and Alice Lyman
Elderly Couple — Morrison Bump and Gertrude Snow
Sailor and his Sweetie — Russell Tompkins and Betty Cooper
Two Sweethearts — Charles White and Joy Woolley

Frances Bump	Lyndon Burnham
Priscilla Danforth	William Burtt
Virginia Danforth	Willard Grush
Rebecca Farnsworth	Kenneth Leghorn
Rebecca Jackson	John Plumer
Jane Wilson	Percy Goodale

"The Last Time I Saw Paris" brought to the stage a group of excellent dancers dressed as chic little French maids, who performed a kicking number along with Brock Lynch which nearly stopped the show. It was wonderfully good. The maids:

Ruth Dellieker	Frances Allsop
Frances Nichols	Helen Barnard
Dorothy Pufler	Harriet Cooper
Virginia Stearns	Mary McGrath

Then followed several numbers called "Memories of Victor Herbert." Tarantella was the first of these, and opened with Winchester's own and very popular soprano, Helen Barr, singing an Italian Street Song. The Glee Club joined in with her, and soon there entered the Tarantella Girls who in gay gypsy dresses, and with tambourines, did a most spirited dance. These dancers were:

Edith Jones	Marjorie Coon
Jean Rooney	Priscilla Danforth
Gloria Woolley	Virginia Danforth

For the next "Memory," the curtains slowly parted on a really lovely Victorian parlor, with a dozen young men and women posed about the fireplace, and looking for all the world like a page from Godey's Ladies' Book. Mr. William Cruger was the musical soloist for this number, and while the Glee Club joined him in singing "While You're Away," the group on the stage slowly descended the steps, and very much to the delight of the audience danced a most charming waltz. These dancers included:

Ella Armtstrong	Willard Grush
Helen Butler	Robert Jennings
Nancy England	Kenneth Leghorn
Nancy Felt	John Plumer
Evelyn McGill	Amos Shepard
Mary Worthen	Charles White

Hard upon the disappearance of the waltzers came Herbert's "March of the Toys," and the drill girls in blue and white soldier's uniforms, and bearing red guns, marched into the spotlight, and executed a most intricate and fascinating drill, wheeling and pivoting with quite military precision. Again and again their manoeuvers were loudly applauded. As the corps came into line at the end, the Glee Club again came forward singing, the Victorian parlor again came in to view with the waltzers posing, the Tarantella girls came down onto the steps, and amidst a blare of music, and long and prolonged clapping, another Winton Club Cabaret was at an end. The Toy Soldiers:

Beatrice Abbott	Katherine Lawson
Rosemary Ash	Emily McDavitt
Sally Bentley	Dorcas Parsons
Rebecca Farnsworth	Priscilla Parsons
Edith Flynn	Sally Parsons
Lois Harmon	Grace Phillips
Helen Jennings	Frances Staples
Jane Kimball	Anna Stone

Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., of Worthen road, president of the Winton Club, was present at all performances, and was with justifiable pride receiving congratulations on the success of Winton Club's latest venture.

Special credit should also go to Mr. Harry F. Carlson for his excellent lighting of the show, to Mr. Nat Bornstein for his sound equipment which definitely makes a great difference in one's enjoyment of the Cabaret, and to Miss Murl Daniels for the splendid work with make-up.

Winton Club evenings are definitely the towns gayest, socially, of the entire year. It seems that everyone is dining out, and many go on after the performance to other parties. The Star has already reported many of these in previous issues. Others include that of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Wallace who entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harold Downing of Hingham and Rev. and Mrs. Paul Harmon Chapman. Dining at the Country Club on Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Bouldin Burhank, Mr. and Mrs. Craven Coulter of Clinton and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holdsworth.

Dr. and Mrs. Clement F. Lynch attended the Cabaret with Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Harrigan and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCauley, while at a table nearby were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. White, Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Phillips.

Now You Won't Have to Build a New Garage
Here are Four New Additions to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Motorcar Bigness into Handy Size

Buick SPECIAL 4-door Sedan, model 47, $1021. White sidewall tires extra.★

THINK back over what's been happening in automobiles and see if this isn't right:

In search for impressive size, cars have been getting longer and longer.

Bumper has retreated from bumper until there's hardly room left in the family garage for the lawn mower and the good wife's gardening basket.

Does that mean you'll have to build a new garage to enjoy a big car's glories? Not now!

Buick prices begin at $915 for the Business Coupe
★delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

For there are four new Buicks on the market — additions to our 1941 SPECIAL series — that let you indulge your big-car tastes in spite of 1929-car-size garages.

They are big cars in ability — with a 115-horsepower Buick FIREBALL engine that can be stepped up to 125 "horse" by the addition of Compound Carburetion at slight extra cost.

They are big cars in their room — with plenty of leg-, elbow- and head-room in their spacious interiors.

They are cars big in beauty, with all their trim Buick style and finish — they are big in value born of typical Buick quality and workmanship.

But — they fit your garage! They handle like baby carriages. They park on small change. They stretch every gallon of gasoline over still greater mileage.

And all that because we have packed this Buick goodness and ability onto a 118-inch wheelbase chassis and trimmed down its bumper-to-bumper length.

So if you've been itching for a big car — but wondering where you'd find room for it — better hop right over to see these beauties now.

Look at the new, lower prices their compactness makes possible, and see if you don't call these beauties the season's biggest news!

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Six members were absent from the meeting of Feb. 6

Again illness falls to the lot of several of our members and we are deprived of the pleasure of greeting these good friends who rarely miss our get-togethers. George Davidson, 100 per center and a sufferer from facial neuralgia made good his absence of Jan. 30 but was unable to attend the home meeting today. Nat Nichols has a very obstinate case of the shingles which, devilish though it be, could not discount the cheery tones in his voice as the scribe talked with him today. And there is Billy Beggs. Billy contrived to crack a bone in his leg just above the ankle and that in the confines of his living room. And, as in the case of Nat, such atrocious luck in no wise daunts Billy's blithe spirit. Meanwhile we more fortunate Rotarians bespeak the early return of our good friends to their regular pursuits. Ask Parker Holbrook how good this is for all concerned.

Governor Francis Flagg announces that the District International Service Committee has arranged a reception, entertainment and dance for students from foreign countries now in attendance at local educational institutions. The affair will take place at the Girls' Latin High School, Huntington avenue corner Longwood avenue, Boston on Saturday, Feb. 15 at 8 p. m. Some 300 students are expected to be present. Rotarians and their families are urged to attend. There is no admission fee or charge. We hope that a goodly number of our members will go.

There will be another interchange of visits by local Thursday clubs next week, Feb. 13. Everett will send a delegation to Winchester on that date and Winchester will return the compliment. Our members are enthusiastic about this service and present indications are that a large party will go from this town to Everett. And this is not all. The Melrose club has invited the Winchester club to visit them in Melrose on Thursday, March 13. This is a splendid gesture by the Melrose Rotarians whom we entertained last November at a meeting which left very pleasant recollections with us all. We must make it a point to go to Melrose on the 13th prox. with the shortest possible list of absentees, preferably none whatever.

And now we have a much less pleasant announcement to make. The sportsmens' meeting which has been an outstanding annual event with us for many years will have to be omitted this year due to the illness of the manager and furthermore due to restrictions which the Canadian government has felt constrained to impose on the activities of their sports representatives. We hope that conditions will be better next year. Also Harry Robinson, fire-arms expert and member of the Rotary Club of Boston, who was to appear at one of our February meetings has indefinitely postponed his visit.

Wilbur C. Otis, former president of the Mystic Valley Camera Club, was the guest speaker at our current meeting. His topic was "Travel the World in Your Own Garden." We discovered that Mr. Otis has two major hobbies, photography and flowers. He has most skillfully combined the pursuit of the one with that of the other, by virtue of which talent he was enabled to display before us many rarely beautiful colored screen photos of a great variety of flowers which commonly adorn local gardens and fields, together with short descriptions of their origins and various legends connected with them. This was a thoroughly enjoyable exhibit and greatly appreciated by all present.

Come to our next meeting prepared to give a cordial wlcome to our visitors from Everett. Don't fail the club on this important service.

Our guest speaker will be Harry J. Pearson, director of the Sailors' Haven, Charlestown, and former chairman of the Welfare Department of the Seamens' Church Institute of New York C[illegible].

SELECTIVE SERVICE NEWS

Local Board to Supply 16 Men Feb. 15

The local Selective Service Board for Winchester and Stoneham announces the names of the Winchester men, which includes a large number of volunteers, making up the quota to be inducted into Selective Service Training Feb. 15, is as follows:

Floyd W. Trenholm, 1 Woodside road.
Charles A. Farrar, Jr. 12 Myrtle street
[illegible], [illegible] Fenwick avenue.
[illegible], 11 [illegible] road.
Charles J. Dolan, 22 Hancock street.
Paul F. Wentworth, 1 Calumet road
William C. McGarragh, 3 Cutting street
Carlo D. Iannacci, 16 Swanton street.
Clinton P. MacDonald, 21 Kenwin road.
Carl Harold Ericson, 23 Dunster lane.

These men have been ordered to report to local Board Headquarters on Saturday morning, Feb. 15 at 7:30, and will take the 8:12 train from Winchester to Boston, where they will be met by Army officials and conducted to the new Army Recruiting Station at 269 Columbus avenue, Boston, where they will go through another physical examination, before being considered acceptable for induction under Selective Service.

The Board has been advised of the necessity of furnishing another quota of 13 men to leave Winchester on Friday the 28th of February. The names of the men making up this second quota will be announced later.

It is understood by the local Board that the majority of these men who will be inducted in February will go into the Artillery Division and go to Fort Bragg, N. C., for their training.

The local Board is to continue its policy of examining men for Selective Service training in groups and have ordered to appear for physical examination the following Winchester men on Thursday, Feb. 13th:

Thomas B. Dorsey	Eugene B. O'Keefe
John T. Blanchard	Edward L. Humphrey
Harrison M. Rainie, Jr	Robert V. Clifford
Frank W. Hunt, Jr.	Philip A. Thomas
Elmer V. Josephson	Hugh P. Doherty
Henry A. Subrizio	Andrew Diapella
Gerald J. Ficociello	John H. Elliott
John J. Montieth	James E. Haley
Peter J. Coss, Jr.	Robert J. McTague

The state-wide call for 9100 men to be inducted during March for the purpose of filling various companies of the 26th Division, Mass. National Guard to their full strength, will undoubtedly result in the largest call for men which the local Board has yet to supply. It is expected that this call in March may be as high as 45 men, which is larger than the total number of men which will have been inducted from the local Board up to March 1st.

CORNELL JUNIOR WEEK GUESTS

Miss Priscilla Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Howard of Main street, and Miss Muriel Fifield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Fifield of Woodside road, are Winchester girls who are at Cornell University attending the Junior Week festivities which opened yesterday and continue through today and tomorrow. Junior week at Cornell is a more gay event even than usual this year because of the possibility of military service in the near future for many college students. Benny Goodman and Bob Chester will lead two orchestras at the big Prom Friday night, for which the setting is to be a grandiose penthouse with a New York sky-line and lighted skyscrapers, done in murals. The orchestras will be placed in two gigantic tophats.

An ice carnival by professional talent, formal parties at the 45 fraternities, entertainments by the Musical and Dramatic Clubs and the traditional basketball game with the University of Pennsylvania are only a few of the events that will keep the thousand or more fair guests and their squires stepping through the days and most of the nights until the festivities are over.

Reports of the various committees were read at a well attended meeting of the Auxiliary which was held at the Legion home on Monday evening, Feb. 3.

Mrs. Mary Dunbury, membership chairman, reports 10 or 12 new members ready to join the Auxiliary. These names were presented and accepted by the members. Mrs. Kathryn Doyle, child welfare chairman, made a report of her bridge and whist party which was held last week and was most successful. This will enable Mrs. Doyle to carry on her good work and care for some of the cases which have been brought to her attention.

After the long business meeting, movies were enjoyed and very delicious refreshments served by the hostesses of the evening, Mrs. Margaret Keeler, Miss Mae O'Leary, Mrs. Josephine McElhinny and Mrs. Ethel Kerrigan.

Our next get-together is to be held at the home of our gracious president, Mrs. Gussie McAdams, 3 Kenilworth road (off Euclid avenue) on Tuesday evening, Feb. 18. Bridge will be enjoyed and all members are invited.

This invitation is extended to our new members and will be a great opportunity to become acquainted and be welcomed into the unit.

The proceeds of this party will help swell our welfare fund.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The regular meeting for February will be held next Thursday evening at the home of the Regent.

The Regents will meet on next Saturday with State Director of Charities at the Hotel Bellevue. Business of importance to each branch will be discussed.

The male element of Boston's quiz team of the Feb. 16 session, Robert Abrahamson and Ralph Brown of Arlington, are as equally air-minded. Both are regular members of the Junior Aviation League, a Boston organization of model plane builders established in 1929. Many of the charter members of the group have since graduated to the manufacture of real planes in the aircraft factories of the nation.

Incidentally, the studio audience in Boston broke all previous records last Sunday with a good hundred more enthusiasts than there were available seats.

GROUP THEATRE PRESENTS "AN EVENING OF MAGIC" NEXT MONDAY

Trials for Spring Play Announced

Carrying out its pledge that its monthly meetings shall cover various fields of stage entertainment, the Winchester Group Theatre will have for its regular February meeting, "An Evening of Magic" by members Gerald Y. Hills and Herbert T. Wadsworth. The meeting will be in the Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church next Monday evening, Feb. 17 at 8 p. m. All Group Theatre members, and all members of the Unitarian Players are cordially invited.

The directors have also announced the selection of the play for the spring production to be given in the high school auditorium, April 4 and 5. The play chosen is, "What A Life" by Clifford Goldsmith, and relates the adventures of the now famous radio character Henry Aldrich. It is a light comedy in three acts, the setting being the Principal's Office in a high school, with many amusing situations and lively modern dialogue, enlivening the performance.

Try-outs will be conducted by the Coach, Mrs. Benjamin E. Sibley at the home of the James Woolleys, 5 Fells road, on the evenings of Thursday and Friday, Feb. 27 and 28 at 7:30 p. m. As the play calls for a large cast, with parts both large and small, it is hoped that a large number will present themselves to try out for parts. Younger people, to impersonate high school students are particularly desired. Joy A. Woolley is production chairman for the spring production and any information may be secured from her by calling Win. 0940.

GROSVENOR—STARK

A marriage of Winchester interest took place in Trinity Episcopal Church Melrose, on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 8, when Miss Barbara Enid Stark, daughter of Mrs. Frances L. Stark of Melrose, became the bride of Albert Candlin Grosvenor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor of Fenwick road. Rev. Warren C. Herrick read the candlelight service in an attractive setting of evergreens, white gladiolas and white carnations. Proctor Coffin and Irving Stark, brother of the bride, served as acolytes, the latter also acting as crucifer and leading the 12 choirboys who sang the wedding music.

Miss Stark was given in marriage by her brother, Lawrence Stark, and had for her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Evelyn Stark. Miss Suzanne Alberti of Cranston, R. I., cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta with a train and a finger-tip tulle veil arranged with a satin coronet and caught with orange blossoms. In place of the conventional bouquet she carried a white prayer book, the gift of her mother, with two white orchids and a shower of sweet peas.

The honor maid wore a dress of aqua-marine net over lace with a flower tiara and matching tulle veil. Her flowers were orchid gladiolas and white carnations. The small flower girl wore a frock of orchid organdy over taffeta with a pink ribbon sash and an orchid poke bonnet with pink ribbon ruching. She carried a pink ribbon-trimmed basket, from which she scattered rose petals.

David Grosvenor of Winchester was his brother's best man, and another brother, Richard P. Grosvenor, also of Winchester, served as usher with two cousins of the bridegroom, Robert S. Pitt and David L. Pitt, both of Longmeadow.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the church parish house, opening with the singing of the selection, "Because," by Joseph Newton of Lynn, uncle of the bride. The parish house was decorated with white gladiolas and carnations with a background of evergreens, and the table decorations were in crystal, silver and white.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to Florida Mr. Grosvenor and his bride will make their home in Washington, D. C., where the bridegroom is a research physicist in the Naval Research Laboratory.

The bride is a graduate of Melrose High School and of the Massachusetts School of Art. Mr. Grosvenor is a graduate of Winchester High School and of Wesleyan University with the degrees of B. A. and M. A. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and of the honorary scientific society, Sigma Xi.

P. T. FOLEY
CANDIDATE FOR ASSESSOR

To the Voters of Winchester:

In announcing my candidacy for Assessor I wish to call to your attention that I sought the office at the polls last year and was very gratified at my showing.

Finishing second in a four-man field behind as popular an office holder seeking re-election as Mr. Cassidy indicated considerable support of my candidacy, and when the vacancy on this year's board was occasioned by the death of Mr. Enman, I sought the appointment to fill his unexpired term.

I was naturally disappointed not to receive it, feeling that I had at least indicated a desire for the position and a willingness to work to secure it.

To those who so generously supported me last year I am grateful and I ask their continued support at the polls in March. I will also greatly appreciate the votes of all others who feel they would care to mark their ballots in my behalf.

MRS. RACHEL JULIA KILLAM

Mrs. Rachel Julia Killam of 1 Parker road, widow of Arthur Everett Killam, died Wednesday afternoon at the Winchester Hospital after a short illness that followed two years of poor health.

Mrs. Killam was the daughter of Daniel T., and Lavina (Lutes) Berry. She was born Aug. 8, 1870, at Berry's Mills in Moncton, N. B., came to this country as a young woman and was before coming to Winchester for 25 years a resident of Somerville. She had lived in Winchester since 1926 and was a member of the Women's Republican Club of this town.

Mrs. Killam's husband died in 1933. She leaves a son, Dr. F. H. Killam of Belize, British Honduras; a grandson, A. R. Killam of Winchester, and two brothers, C. T. Berry of Vancouver, B. C., and Daniel Berry of Moncton, N. B.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Licenses have been granted to Guild of the Infant Saviour for a bridge party on the 18th, and to the Columbus Ladies' Club for a dance on the 22nd.

(Winchester safety record improving. Up to 30 from 48. See bulletin.)

1940 census figures as given by the State Division of Metropolitan Planning are 15,081.

Winchester, England, has been challenged by Canterbury to a War Weapons Week tourney for the purpose of stimulating savings, and the investment in war bonds, etc. toward the financing of the armaments bill and "hopes to raise from a quarter of a million sterling upwards." This town has been asked to send a cable of goodwill during the week of March 1 to 8, which the Board will do at that time.

Last week the date of the dance program at the High School sponsored by the Junior High School Associates was incorrectly stated as March 29. It should have read March 7.

KNIGHTS TO SHOW FOOTBALL FILM

Grand Knight Thomas Travers is heading the committee in charge of showing the Boston College-Georgetown football pictures at the Knights of Columbus rooms on Mt. Vernon street on Monday evening, following the regular council meeting. George Kerr and Joe Zabilski of the Eagles varsity are to be the Council's guests, and during the evening a football autographed by all the members of this year's Boston College championship team, will be given away to some lucky member of the audience.

The pictures will probably be shown about 9 o'clock or shortly after, and attendance is to be limited to Knights and their guests. Children cannot be admitted because of the lack of space.

Assisting Grand Knight Travers are Daniel O'Donnell, Ralph Ambrose, Harry Boyle, James Moran, Francis Tansey, Philip Lynch and Michael Penta.

Mr. Joseph L. Champagne, the well known dancing teacher, announces this week registration for his fall dancing classes. Interested Winchester people should telephone Kenmore 5-2[illegible].

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club was held on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 12, with the president, Mrs. Warren Whitman, in the chair. The club was glad to pay honor on this day to that beloved American, Abraham Lincoln, and to realize that much of his homely wisdom and patriotic utterances are as applicable today as when he guided the destiny of this nation.

Mrs. Addison B. Green, vice chairman of the State Committee, was guest of honor and spoke of many things, which club members should now be doing to promote the best interests of the state and community.

Professor Bruce Hopper of Harvard University was guest speaker for the afternoon and it is useless to try to put in a few words the vivid picture of world affairs, which this brilliant and inspiring speaker, gave his audience. His knowledge of his subject, sparkling humor and arresting presentation aroused the interest and enthusiasm of all present.

Professor Hopper, ranging over the fields of history and economics, compared this period in European history with that of the Spartan supremacy in Greece, when the military spirit alone prevailed, without spiritual or intellectual values.

Since 1929 man has spun onward to a new era, with a trend toward political disintegration, economic leveling of men and nations, disappearances of old class ties and the formation of new ties. All past history shows that these blind forces can not be controlled but the political superstructure can be controlled.

What shall we choose for America? Shall we have revolution, tending toward totalitarianism, with the people enslaved under a system of secret police or shall we promote an evolution of democracy with individual liberty and free institutions.

The present situation compels us to think of America in terms of risk. With an easy going optimism and unbounding confidence we risk failure to understand our true political and economic situation; we risk taking our time, hence we may be outdistanced over a long period; we risk explosion from within and we risk an increase in the executive power. We must not allow temporary need to create too great permanent executive power. The 1776 bill should be amended to establish a time limit and to require the sanction of executive measures by army and navy heads.

At the moment the greatest need in the U. S. is for horse power but first we must be dynamic in our national will to give our services to our nation and not consider individual gain. We must learn to control our emotions else we will be doomed in the new era. We must push forward with cold logic and grim determination, must lengthen work hours in wartime industries, glorify the craftmen and quickly train skilled labor. We must show youth that the brightest future for them can best be obtained in a democracy.

Regarding the external scene, timing is essential for the U. S. We need eight months for our lag in our preparation for war. We are facing a moment of historic peril and must not be forced into a situation we are not ready to meet or be diverted from the main issue; which is Hitler's game. First we must supply Britain's needs as to ships, planes and finance. One mission that U. S. can do for Britain is to carry out the diplomatic offensive in the Far East, conciliate Russia and Japan, agree with the British and Dutch on the use of bases in the Far East. We must have no compromise with the Nazi's.

Great danger also produces great courage. The British people have conquered fear. America too will conquer fear and refind her soul. We will ultimately see this period as the prelude to a new renaissance, the unfolding of new creative power—a new day.

Tea as served by the social committee, Mrs. Thodore Elliott, chairman and Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell and Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside, hostesses. Small hurricane lamps and rare old cloths carried out the Lincoln period in table decoration. Assisting the chairman were Mrs. F. B. Chamberlain, Mrs. Lucius Smith, Mrs. R. R. Elliott, Mrs. T. S. Knight, Mrs. F. E. Votaw, Mrs. E. L. Noble, Mrs. A. Reasoner and Mrs. W. Goodhue.

HOLIDAY CLOSING

Many, if not all of Winchester's stores will be closed all day on Washington's Birthday, next Saturday, Feb. 22, remaining open all day on the preceding Wednesday. The banks of the town are also to follow this schedule. Most of the stores will be open on Friday evening preceding the holiday.

BOY SOPRANO TO SING

Those who have enjoyed the voice of Hubert Smith, Winchester boy, soprano, will be pleased to learn that he will sing the solo passages in the anthem, "Whoso Dwelleth Under the Defense of the Most High" by Martin at the morning service at the First Congregational Church this Sunday, commencing at 10:45. Master Smith has appeared as soloist at the First Congregational Church before and has given much pleasure.

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman of Prospect street was the speaker last week at meetings of the Lexington Women's Club and the Arlington Women's Club, discussing proposed legislative measures.

STERLING WILLIAMS

A Great Speaker for a Great Day

Sunday, Feb 16, is being observed as "Wives and Sweethearts Day" by Everyman's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church and a cordial invitation is extended to the wife or sweetheart of every man in Winchester to attend the class meeting with him.

The Sunday nearest Valentine's Day is set aside by the class each year to honor wives and sweethearts of members, and an especially fine program has been arranged for this year's observance of the occasion.

In addition to a musical program, Sterling Williams, prominent lecturer and educator, will deliver one of his characteristically inspiring addresses on the provocative subject, "Then—Now and Then." Those who have heard Mr. Williams series of talks to Everyman's Bible Class will not fail to hear him on Sunday and for those who have yet to hear him a positive treat is in store.

The class meeting will be held in the social hall of the church at 9:11 o'clock, and the slogan for the morning is "Meet me at the door at 9:41." All men are urged to come and to bring their Valentines!

OSCAR BOLTON CROWERS

Oscar Bolton Crowers died Monday morning, Feb. 10, at his home, 20 Lawson road, after a two weeks' illness that followed long years of invalidism.

Mr. Crowers was born Aug. 21, 1866, in Philadelphia, Pa., where he was educated and engaged in the manufacturing business until his health forced him to retire in 1922. At that time he came to Winchester and had since made his home here.

He was a member of the Odd Fellows and the Knights of the Golden Eagle in Philadelphia and of Trinity Lutheran Church in Germantown, Pa. His church affiliations in Winchester were with the First Congregational Church, but poor health prevented his active participation in either the religious or civic life of the community.

He is survived by his wife, the former Helen Rohrman; and by a son, Oscar W. Crowers of this town.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the late residence, Dr. Raymond Calkins, interim pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Services will also be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Philadelphia at the Oliver H. Bair & Co. Chapel, 1820 Chestnut street. Interment will be in Westminister Cemetery, Philadelphia.

SELECTIVE SERVICE BULLETIN

Sixteen men will be leaving tomorrow morning for the Induction Station for a year's training in the Regular Army. Work is progressing rapidly at headquarters and some 42 men were examined last night by the corps of local physicians and dentists.

In a few days the quota of 13 men to be leaving on the 28th of this month for their years tour of duty will be announced by the Board.

It is expected that this section will be required to produce some 45 to 50 men during the first 10 days of March. These men would be sent direct to Camp Edwards to complete the personal of the 26th Division.

We wish to call attention to all young men between 18 and 21 that they can still volunteer for a years tour of duty under Selective Service, but it will be necessary to obtain their parents permission.

Mr. and Mr. Harold B. Richmond of Myopia Hill entertained Mr. Richmond's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Richmond of 22 Ashland street, Medford on Tuesday on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. The event culminated with a dinner in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Richmond were married in Medford by the groom's father, an Episcopal minister. In addition to their son in this town, they have four children, three of whom are Medford residents, and eight grandchildren.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MISS BARONE

Miss Lavinia Barone of 141 Washington street was pleasantly surprised last week when the "Poker Club," of which she is a member, gave her a party at her home in honor of her approaching marriage.

The members of the club, Rose Felt, Frances Sorn Berger of Woburn, Ruth Clancey of Arlington, Mary McGurn and Marie Felt, were gowned in dresses of the World War days, and insisted that the guest of honor attire herself similarly. Much merriment was occasioned as the sextette posed for the above photograph. Games and a social hour were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Miss Barone, who is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Frank Barone, is to be married at St. Mary's Church Sunday afternoon to Roy Papalia of Watertown.

Mrs. P. Stewart Newton of Wedgemere avenue entertained two tables at luncheon and bridge on Tuesday. Her daughter Nancy, a student at Edgewood Park Junior College, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., was home over the week-end. She had as her guests her room-mate, Betty Eichberg of Morristown, Penn., and her classmate Phyllis Fredrickson of Glen Ridge, N. J.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The beautiful weather on Tuesday afternoon must have had something to do with the return of members long absent. Friends from Arlington, Belmont and Medford who had been kept away by winter storms dropped in for a bit of sewing and a chat over the tea cups. Mrs. Michael Hinthian's hour of short stories was enjoyed by all and many expressed the hope that she would give a similar talk in the near future.

Plans for the Bridge Party to be held next Tuesday afternoon in Lyceum Hall have been completed and judging by the interest shown by all the affair should be a great success. There are to be table prizes and a door prize will be awarded to the one holding the lucky ticket. Many lovely articles have been donated.

Serving on the hospitality committee for this week's meeting were Mrs. Emerick Edel, Mrs. F. T. Hannon, Mrs. James P. O'Brien and Mrs. John Piccolo. The next regular meeting will be held on Feb. 25. There will be sewing and a talk on Finance. Tea will be served.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The class on Interstate Trade Barriers which has been meeting at the home of Mrs. Errol Horner will have its final meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 19 at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, 39a Wildwood street. The discussion will be on Milk Control and the stand which the League has taken in opposing the power of the Milk Control Board to fix the resale price of milk except during an emergency.

IN RECOGNITION OF WINCHESTER AUTHORS

Do you know the names of any Winchester authors?

If so, you can help with one of the projects for 1941 at the Winchester Public Library; the compilation of a list of authors who live or have lived in this town, together with the books they have written. The initial list includes some 25 names, which is, in all probability, less than half of the true number. Miss Mead, the librarian, hopes that Winchester people will be interested in this undertaking and will show their interest in this undertaking and will show their interest by offering additional names and information.

Only a very small percentage of the books written by these authors are owned by the public library, but in time it is hoped more will accumulate. The Librarian would appreciate receiving autographed copies of these books for this collection, which would be kept in a special section and used for reference only.

The Winchester College Club has been invited to join in this project, as are all interested people of Winchester.

Following is the list of Winchester authors waiting for additions:

Mrs. Holmes was born in Boston 57 years ago. She married Mr. Holmes in 1916 and had made her home in Winchester for the past 18 years, holding membership in the Winchester Garden Club and Fortnightly Woman's Club until ill health forced her to give up active participation. Besides her husband, she is survived by a brother, Frank E. Allen.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Waterman Funeral Chapel in Kenmore Square, Boston, with Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

WINCHESTER WON FOURTH STRAIGHT

Set Back Stoneham in League Tilt, 30—20

Winchester High School made it four in a row last Friday evening, beating Stoneham High in a Middlesex League engagement at Winchester, 30—20.

The game was a lot closer than the score would indicate, at least most of the way. Stoneham started like a winner, tallying six points before the local boys got going, and leading at the end of the first period, 6—3.

Drew and Captain Provinzano caged goals to wipe out the visitors' lead at the start of the second quarter and at half time Winchester led, 14—9, scoring 11 points while holding Stoneham to one.

The local boys continued to dominate play in the third period, though Stoneham did draw up to a 16—13 count shortly before the end of the quarter. Derby's foul shot and a floor goal caged by Jimmy Coon lengthened the locals' lead, giving them a 22—16 advantage at the start of the final quarter. Coon, who played a nice all around game in the winning cause, was the boy who got the all important goals in this period.

Stoneham scored first in the last quarter to draw within a couple of baskets of Winchester, but Coon and Derby tallied again while Maghakian's basket was the best Stoneham could do and the locals had a comfortable six point lead with five minutes to go.

The visitors, a hard fighting club, had shot their bolt at this point and ran out their string at 20, Don Drew and Pete Provinzano adding goals to bring Winchester's total to 30.

Coach Bartlett's boys last Friday were a bit below the razor form they had for Belmont and Lexington which is not to be wondered at. Drew and Coon were the local stars, Captain Provinzano being definitely below his best form. Pete was closely guarded by W. Bridgman, who played a corking game for the losers, and that may have accounted for his failure to shine more brightly The encouraging aspect of the situation from the local angle is the fact that Provinzano isn't having to do all the scoring nowadays and that Winchester can win with its ace below his peak. Pete carried the load through most of the season and is entitled to a bit of a letdown. With him on his game Coach Bartlett's boys will be hard to stop. Following is the summary:

WINCHESTER AT LEXINGTON TONIGHT

Championship at Stake as Belmont Meets Stoneham

Winchester High goes to Lexington tonight for a game it has to win from Lexington High to maintain its chance to tie with Belmont for the Middlesex League Basketball championship.

Belmont plays at Stoneham and a win for Mel Wenners boys will clinch the title for them. In the event of a Stoneham victory, Winchester and Belmont will be tied for the championship.

Of the two, Winchester faces by far the toughtest assignment. Lexington is playing just about as good ball right now as any team on the circuit, and on its home floor will be hard to beat. Winchester's late season showing has been the best of any club in the league and the locals are no worse than an even chance tonight, but they will have to be hot to win from Lexington.

Stoneham with one victory and eight defeats shouldn't constitute too hard a hurdle for top-place Belmont, but on its home court Stoneham can well be tought as its defeat of Wakefield demonstrated, and a Belmont setback this evening is by no means beyond the realm of the possible, though hardly probable.

Following is the league standing:

	W	L	Pts.
Belmont	7	2	14
Winchester	6	3	12
Lexington	5	4	10
Reading	5	4	10
Wakefield	3	6	6

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT DARTMOUTH CARNIVAL

A number of Winchester girls were on the Dartmouth special last Friday morning Hanover bound for the annual Dartmouth College carnival. Included in the group were: Martha Herrick, who stopped at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house; Mary Alice Mason, Delta Tau Delta; Helen Farnsworth, Psi Upsilon; Jane Armstrong, Sigma Nu; Nancy England, Jean Roberts, Joanne Worthen, Harriet Squires, Theta Delta Chi; Jane Wilson, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Miss Trott was the house guest of Prof. Louis Silverman of the Dartmouth faculty and Mrs. Silverman, and besides the carnival events enjoyed skiing in and around Hanover with her sister, Miss Ruth Marian Trott, who holds a secretarial position at Datrmouth.

WINCHESTER WINS FIFTH STRAIGHT

30—28 Defeat of Wakefield Real Thriller

Vital shots by Lane McGovern and Capt. Pete Provinzano pulled a thrilling Middlesex League basketball game out of the fire Wednesday afternoon at Wakefield and gave Winchester High a 30-28 victory over Wakefield.

Dean Derby got the locals away in front with a goal from scrimmage and Winchester led at the quarter, 10—7. At half time this lead was cut slightly to a 16—14 count.

Winchester has been a great third period club all season, but against Wakefield the reverse was true and with Carisella doing some effective sharpshooting the home club gradually forged ahead to a two basket advantage at the end of the quarter, leading 25—21.

Wakefield made it 27—21 as the final period got under way then led 28—23 with four minutes of playing time remaining.

Captain Provinzano shot the first Winchester goal from the foul line to add a point to the local total and McGovern's goal from a free try further closed up the gap. Lane then caged the ball from scrimmage and Wakefield led only 28—27 with the end in sight.

Provinzano again found the hoop from the foul line to knot the count and the gymnasium was in an uproar as the teams battled for the points to win.

With the chips down it was Pete Provinzano who brought victory to Winchester with a pretty floor basket to give the locals their winning margin.

The game was a great one to win and another tough one for Wakefield to lose. The locals had to come from behind aganist potentially the best team in the league and were able to do so. Only a team that is playing good ball can win under such conditions.

The Winchester seconds won from the Wakefield seconds, 25—16 with Mooney starring for the locals.

WINCHESTER GIRLS OUTCLASSED MALDEN

Winchester High School girls' basketball team added Malden to their string of interscholastic victims, outclassing the visiting girls from the city, 32 to 12 Tuesday afternoon in the local gymnasium. The Winchester second team beat Malden seconds, 21—15.

Coach Fenton's charges led all the way, having a 20—5 advantage at half time. Once again Janet Hayward was the game's leading scorer, tossing in eight goals from the floor and one from a free try for 17 points. Cynthia Foote was right behind Janet with seven floor goals for 14 points.

WINCHESTER HIGHLANDS COMMUNITY MEN'S CLUB

This club was formed three years ago as a neighborhood men's organization without sectarian lines. Neighborliness has always been the keynote of its gatherings and formality of its organization is limited to bare necessities. While it is not directly a church group, many club members are also members of the Second Congregational Church where the club activities are carried on and the men, naturally are grateful to the church for the use of its facilities.

In order to express their gratitude in concrete form the club is planning for the near future an "Old Fashioned Vermont Sugaring-off Party" with real Vermont maple syrup. The proceeds of this party will go into the church fund. A more detailed announcement will be made shortly and it is hoped that a large number will be present to join in the fun. The ladies and young people are very specificaly invited.

The club is sponsor for the newly formed Troop 10, Boy Scouts of America and have presented the boys with their troop flag. This troop draws its membership largely from the Highlands section and at present numbers 12 boys. If the turnout of Scouts and Cubs for the special service on Boy Scout Sunday is any criterion, however, the other troops in town had better look to their laurels. The Rev. Noyes, pastor of the church, who is also Scoutmaster for Troop 10, directed very inspiring remarks to the boys on the distinction between "Me" and "We" in every day life.

On Thursday, Feb. 27, at 6:30 p. m. the club will have its monthly supper and get-together in the parish hall of the church, corner of Kenwin road and Washington street. The supper is being served by the ladies of the Bethany Society and all men are invited. The only string attached is that those expecting to attend should notify Mr. Paul W. Dillingham, 38 Kenwin road, not later than Tuesday, Feb. 25, so that the ladies may be advised how many to expect.

The club is very fortunate to have obtained as a speaker for this meeting Prof. Walter W. Jamison of 10 Gates road, Auburndale. Professor Jamison has instructed at a number of educational institutions, among them Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Massachusetts School of Art. At present he is at Lasell Junior College. He is well qualified by background and intensive study of the forces which brought on the present conflict to answer the questions which have been in most people's minds under the topic "Why England Slept."

By James Coon

Perhaps the most powerful student-faculty organization in the school is the athletic association. The A. A. controls all athletics, such social functions as all dances excepting the Junior-Senior Class prom; the Vau-Devil show, a banquet in the fall, and issues a handbook in the fall. The membership of the A. A. is by far the largest of any school organization; over half of the school belongs to this group. The A. A. is run by a board of 11 students and three faculty members. However, because of necessity the board is run by the faculty. No student has had the necessary training to warrant entire student control. Membership costs one dollar for one year. This is an exceedingly low price for any school to have. In return for their dollar the students can attend any athletic contests at home and half price at all A. A. dances. In most schools the A. A. is confined to the supervision of athletic events. Next year our A. A. is going to try to put this policy into effect. The student council will have the task of supporting the social events in the school. This will enable the student council to have a treasury with some well filled coffers. So far the council has had to borrow $25 from the A. A. Right now the student council has no visible means of earning any money at all. Of course not much money is needed to run any student council, but it should be independent of any of the organizations that it hopes to have under its control sometime. Money collected by the A. A. is used to run all the athletic programs, dances, buy letters and various other awards, give the banquet, hire officials and gives out the handbook every year. The officers are eleceted each year. They are all seniors, in fact, there are only two juniors on the entire board and no other lower classmen. This seems to be impractical for each year an entirely new set of officers have to be acquainted with the situation. If the vice president were a junior the club would be assured of an experienced head for the following year. This would necessitate a change in the constitution which would have to be submitted to the whole club.

The Red and Black will be published from now in by the junior class. The last issue came out January 11. The delay between these two issues was caused by the reorganization of the staff. The juniors take over now so that the paper can start in smoothly next year right where it will leave off this spring.

There was a dance after the basketball game with Stoneham last Friday night.

The student council held a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Report cards came out last Friday. Wednesday morning a few pupils who insisted on forgetting to return theirs had to go home to get them.

At a recent science club meeting Richard Dutting gave a very interesting talk on the telephone.

Miss Mackedon's room is graced with a valentine box introduced by a certain subversive element (girls) over the objections of the masculine members of her French III classes. This element basely signed the names of the objectors to a petition. Thus gaining the consent of Miss Mackedon.

All applications were entered with Mr. Hayward this week for parts in the Vau-Devil show. He, Miss Fenton, Mr. Knowlton, and Arthur Tetrault, president of the A. A., are in charge of the production this year.

BIBLE IS THE BEST

To the Editor of the Star:

Is it any wonder that the majority of the present generation are on the "broad road that leadeth to destruction," when you stop to consider the reading matter that is presented to the public.

Recently I came in contact with a book entitled, The House of Lee. The very first line of chapter I was enough to make me somewhat disgusted, and as I examined the contents further, my disgust was more profound.

Give me the good old BIBLE and its wonderful stories. Where can better, sweeter and more beautiful stories be found than in the Holy Scripture.

The Bible has always been the best seller on the book market, but nevertheless there seems to be many people who are not reading it yet. May I take the liberty to recommend, through your fine paper, the reading of the Bible by those who want something worthwhile as well as entertaining.

Yours sincerely,

FOR COMMUNITY FUND ASSISTANCE

To the Editor of the Star:

It is difficult to put into cold type the warmth of appreciation of my co-workers and myself for the superb job the Winchester Star has done in helping to put Greater Boston Community Fund's 1941 Campaign so gloriously over the top.

Without the co-operation of the newspapers of Greater Boston we could not have gone far toward achieving our goal of $4,883,000 so gallantly oversubscribed by more than $23,000.

It is your individual support, your generous space, your original treatment of Campaign news, which have helped immeasurably in Winchester, under the leadership of Mr. Herbert E. Stone, to carry us through to victory.

For all that you have contributed to the success of this 1941 Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign, to which the people of Greater Boston have given probably the largest account ever to be raised in a single campaign for privately supported health and social service agencies, I thank you.

A deep satisfaction should be yours for two reasons. You have been an important factor in reassuring the 400,000 of all ages who will need the helping hand of teh 200 Fund hospitals, health and social service agencies the coming year. Moreover, you have added one more knot, this most critical of years, in the tie that binds together the 46 metropolitan cities and towns in common defense of the Greater Boston community.

Sincerely yours,
Henry R. Guild,
General Chairman

LABOR POLITICS IMPERILS A NATION

Frequent Strikes Recall the Downfall of France

Preparing France's Fall

To the New York Herald Tribune:

Selfish organized labor in France, aided and condoned by subservient, short-sighted politicians, made the state an easy victim for Hitler in a debacle of armed force unequaled in magnitude, unprecedented in the history of modern nations. Deserted by their generals, exploited by organized labor, betrayed by scheming politicians, the masses were reduced to earth in the chaos that resulted. French labor instituted the sit-down strike, the half-time week and the short-hour day, paralyzing defense production, emasculating a once virile country, inviting economic enslavement.

Copying the sit-down strike from France, adopting the same tactics that destroyed that government, the Congress of Industrial Organizations and a party of labor-condoning politicians in Washington, headed by the President, are taking the United States along the same trail to a fatal ambush. The New Deal politicians belong to the same breed that ruined France. Some are sincere and well meaning, some professional agitators, some fools and all short-sighted. If this country eventually becomes the victim of some dictator they and the C. I. O. will be to blame.

This country does not need the C. I. O., neither does labor. Both would be better off without it. If it continues the tactics of its French prototype, persists in unpatriotic strikes, rendering the nation impotent as the result of non-production and unpreparedness, it will presently be taking orders from some dictator; labor will work ten hours a day, six or seven days a week for small pay; that, a concentration camp or or a firing squad.

The amazing fire fighters of London, bravest of the brave, are paid $13 a week, laborers in the shipbuilding industry $17 a week. Railroad employees in Italy work seven days a week. When labor becomes arrogant, dictatorial and unfair it is riding for a fall, forging for itself the chains of slavery, as it did in France. There are no labor unions in the totalitarian states, no strikes; there it is do or die. Labor unions have done much good. However, they should not be the beneficiaries of class legislation. Labor and capital should share and share alike, they should go hand in hand, and, joining with agriculture, make a harmonious trinity within the law for the good of all.

This Administration has enacted laws granting privileges to one half the people and denying the same to the other, forcing one half to pay tribute to the other. It has promoted and enthroned organized labor and demoted the employer. It has condoned sit-down strikes and all manner of labor lawlessness. The President congratulated the Governor of Michigan for siding with a lot of lawless hoodlums against the Supreme Court of his state, against the law-abiding. Then he rewarded him, a mediocre lawyer, with a position on the United States Supreme Court.

Laws enacted by this Administration have just penalized the people to the extent of $250,000, the government refusing to award the Ford Motor Company, the lowest bidder, the contract for certain defense material on the ground that, according to its interpretation of the labor law, the company would not comply with some clause in the letter of the law. It was not a question of fulfilling the spirit of the law, it was a government quibble over the letter of the law, non-essential, an unimportant insertion, so far as full aid and support of the defense measures are concerned.

Notwithstanding the fact that Henry Ford has done more for labor and the country than the C. I. O. and all the New Deal politicians combined, they are bent on punishing him, "getting him," they call it, and this in spite of the fact that he has offered to build machines at cost for government defense.

These politicians would rule or ruin. Collectively, they have assumed the role of an uncompromising, totalitarian dictator. They are following in the footsteps of the destroyers of France. The President, their leader, has no reason to wonder why 23,000,000 people in this country do not trust him. The majority favor aid to Britain in this crisis, but they do not want the President to be arbiter. They have not forgotten the Passamaquoddy dam project the Florida canal, the money spent in an attempt to put over the St. Lawrence waterways project as a national defense measure. Are there as many fools in the present Congress as there were in a previous, underwitted one that thoughtlessly granted the President extraordinary power?

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S ACTIVITIES

Last Sunday evening the Baptist Young People held a patriotic service in honor of President Abraham Lincoln. Miss Ruth Ormsby gave an address on the story of "The Perfect Tribute." Special trumpet music was offered by Miss Madeline Barnard, assisted by Mr. Ralph Reynolds at the piano.

The youth organization is planning a big event for the 28th of February, when Mr. Bill Elliott, known as the Singing Cop of radio fame, will appear at the First Baptist Church. Mr. Elliott is intending to present an evening of entertainment, of songs and poetry.

Power Spots

Power spots, new and old, make bright spots of news at the central workroom on Wednesdays. One of the newest power spots is the troop of senior Girl Scouts. They will give a benefit play March 5 for the Winchester Fund steadily growing for a second Rolling Kitchen.

Dynamos that never fail are two Winchester women, each with enough birthdays to justify her sitting with folded hands if she were that kind of person. From one comes a stream of gaily striped mittens, all from her own needles. Eight pairs came in on Feb. 12. Another of these self-starting and never-stopping power plants gears the neighbors in too. She has taught them to knit. And as for herself, she turns out socks so briskly that the messenger between her house and the central workroom says that as she goes to take yarn she almost meets herself coming back with a finished pair of socks.

Another new power spot volunteered recently. First, a gift of wool material that she had found and bought, the mill making a special price because she was going to give it to British War Relief. She and her ear and her knowledge of New England wool factories are out in search of bargain sweaters, seconds but perfectly warm and usable, which will make the jumper dresses into complete costumes. When not out on her scouting, she and her portable sewing machine will join the plant at the central workroom on Wednesday.

Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Wansker welcome visitors on Wednesday at the Epiphany parish hall (they know from experience that seeing is joining), or telephone inquiries or offers. Mrs. Wansker will tell you about yarn at Win. 2546. Mrs. Cameron's telephone is Win. 1984.

CURLING NOTES

An error occurred in the Star's report of last week of the District No. 3 Champion Rink matches at Brookline. The Boston Curling Club rink, comprising R. F. Guild, K. T. Young, E. Y. Neill and J. W. Spring, skip, won from The Country Club No. 1 rink, 14—11, for the upset of the entire bonspiel. Winchester's No. 1 and 2 rinks lost respectively to The Country Club and St. Andrews No. 2.

Over the past week-end a Winchester Country Club rink went to Schenectady and competed in matches there on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, doing right well. A big curling dinner at the Mohawk Club concluded the bonspeil. Ralph Pownell, 1; C. P. LeRoyer, 2; John Joy, 3; and H. V. Farnsworth, skip, comprised the local rink.

Sunday morning's intra club matches at the Country Club resulted as follows:

FOR BENEFIT OF SUMMER CHARITY

To benefit its summer charity of a boys camp for under-privileged children, the Rotary Club of Stoneham will present the Quannapowitt Players of Reading and Wakefield in the production "Shadow and Substance" on Friday, Feb. 28, at the new town hall.

The choice of play and players is timely as they have just been awarded first prize in the tournament of eastern little theatre groups for their production of Shadow and Substance in Reading recently.

Shadow and Substance was written by Paul Vincent Carroll and first produced by the Abbey Theatre in Dublin in 1937. Later it was brought to America and with Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Julie Hayden in the leading roles was acclaimed by critics and audience alike.

It is distinctly a remarkable theatre experience. It contains some of the most delightful Irish comedy to be found anywhere, and withal, it is concerned with a serious theme.

All tickets will be reserved for the production with curtain sharp at 8:30 o'clock. Further advice on the production will be found in the advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

Marlborough, settled about 1657 as part of Sudbury, was one of the settlements of John Eliot's praying Indians.

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB FORUM SERIES

Tuesday, Feb. 25, is the date of the first of a series of three evening forum meetings to be held in Metcalf Hall under the sponsorship of the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church. The meetings will be open to the general public, to the seating capacity of the hall. At each meeting the address of the speaker will be followed by discussion by members of the audience.

The speaker on Feb. 25 will be Mr. Karl S. Cate, a graduate of Harvard in the class of 1909. Mr. Cate was formerly president and European manager of the Hoffman Pressing Machine Corporation and Allied companies in Europe. His subject, "She That Was Great Among the Nations," the story of the fall of France, if of the greatest interest.

In connection with his work, Mr. Cate has been in every country except Bulgaria, Rumania, Lithuania, and Latvia. He was in Berlin in June 1934, during the purge; in Rome at the height of the attempt to hold Mussolini from going into Abyssinia. In fact, he has seen many bitter things. As a hobby he has rebuilt old French houses. These prized possessions of his were either destroyed or taken from him. As a United States citizen in occupied France he was presumed to have the right to leave the country when he wished but when the time came he could not get the necessary papers approved by the German authorities, due probably to his well known desire to help the British.

The story of his living there during the occupation, the retreat of the French, their gradually changed attitude, and finally his own escape to make his way to this country is as dramatic a story as any business man could tell. He tells it unaffectedly which of course increases its dramatic quality.

The second meeting will come on Thursday, March 13. The speaker will be Mr. James R. Young, for 10 years Far Eastern director of the International News Service, with headquarters in Tokyo.

Last spring, just after he had returned from a 9000 mile trip over unoccupied China, he was arrested by the Japanese and as will be remembered was then held in an unheated cell for 61 days on the ground that he had libeled the Japanese Army.

He was not merely an American, resident in Tokyo. He held an important place in the life of that city. For 10 years he was one of the five foreign members of the Tokyo Rotary Club out of a total Japanese membership of 200.

His lecture, "Ringside Seats in the Asia Arena," is an intensely dramatic story of what is taking place in the Orient.

The third meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 15. The speaker will be Prof. Samuel Hazzard Cross, professor of Slavic Languages and Literature at Harvard. Professor Cross is a graduate of Harvard in the class of 1912, Doctor of Philosophy, a Wendell Scholar and Phi Beta Kappa, who spent many years of his life as a representative of the United States Government in the Department of Commerce. As such he lived in all the important capitals of Europe.

Professor Cross knows intimately many of the important people about whom we read daily. In addition to being a versatile linguist he is a great student of international affairs, as well as being a most effective speaker. His talk will bring the news up to date and in short he will set forth his idea of what is likely to happen.

EXPANDNG AIRPLANE INDUSTRY MOVES ALUMINUM UP FRONT

The recent transportation by plane of more than a ton of Duralumin tubing across the United States in less than 15 hours as against 10 days by freight, for urgent airplane experimental work, has stressed the growing importance of aluminum to national defense, particularly in airplanes.

Duralumin is a trade-name—a German trade-name, it happens—for one or more than 200 alloys into which aluminum is compounded, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Less than 20 are used industrially.

Planes Four-Fifths Aluminum

This same alloy is known to the trade in the United States as "Alclad" or technically, "17 S-T." It is compounded of aluminum, a small quantity of copper, and lesser quantities of manganese and magnesium to add strength. Magnesium is even lighter than aluminum, but costs half again as much.

Duralumin or Alclad is made mostly in sheets rolled out from ingots. In making the ingots them mold is first lined with pure aluminum so that, when the ingot is rolled, the sheet has a thin covering of pure aluminum.

This treatment gives the metal protection against corrosion. Thus in addition to its value as a light material for airplane construction, its non-corrosive quality makes it particularly valuable for naval planes exposed to the corrosive action of salt water. Eighty per cent of the weight of an airplane today is aluminum.

Aluminum is broadly classified as common and strong. Kitchen utensils are made from common aluminum where the presence of minor impurities as a small amount of iron, has no harmful effect. The strong aluminum, required for airplanes, must have a much higher degree of purity.

Industry Expands to War Measure

A member of the National Defense Advisory Commission has said that the aluminum industry for the next two years could not only provide for the nation's present and estimated defense requirements, but for the British airplane program as well.

The war-time expansion of the industry is exemplified in the new metal-producing plant at Vancouver, Washington. Originally planned to produce 30,000,000 pounds of ingot aluminum yearly, this plant went into operation last year with a capacity of 60,000,000 pounds, and is being expanded to produce 150,000,000 pounds a year.

The ore from which aluminum is refined was found in southeastern France upon the estate of an old family whose name, Beaux, was given to this new mineral compound, bauxite. The name aluminum comes from early Roman days; the Romans called certain salts alumen, thought to have been a mixture of iron and aluminum sulphates.

About half of the bauxite used in the United States is imported from Surinam (Netherlands Guiana), South America. Bauxite is mined in small quantities in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi, but practically all the domestic product used industrially comes from Arkansas.

Why Voltaire Changed Name

Voltaire, the writer, was named Francois Marie Arouet. Accused of reflecting on the government in some of his poems, he was imprisoned in the Bastille. While there he took the name of Voltaire, saying that he hoped to have better luck with his new one than with the old one.

Sixteen baskets of food were delivered at Thanksgiving and Christmas under the direction of Mrs. E. Adele Emery. These baskets contained a full dinner for families from two to eight in number.

The chairman of hospital service, Mrs. R. K. Miller, reported an active year for the Gray Ladies. Weekly visits have been made to the Bedford Hospital with gifts of candy, cards, magazines, cigarettes and etc. A tea and also a tea dance for over 50 men were given and they assisted with the making of wreaths and decorating at Christmas time. The Gray Ladies served 673½ hours.

Mr. James J. Quinn, as chairman of the Junior Red Cross groups with Miss White, school leader at the high school, Miss M. J. Davis, leader at the Junior High School and Miss G. Lewis, leader of elementary grades all reporting a very suicessful year of activities. The following are a few of the many services rendered by this group: 100 per cent enrollment in all the schools; each group collected food at Thanksgiving time; sent Christmas and Easter cards to the veterans at the Bedford Hospital for them to mail to friends and relatives; collected playing cards and magazines. The junior high school group made covers for Easter cards that were printed in Braille and sent to a school for blind children in Tennessee. They also remembered the veteran group at the Bedford Hospital with favors at Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Valentine Day. The elementary grades have made gifts for the Winchester Hospital, Peabody Hospital, Home for the Little Wanderers and the Home for the Aged. Polly Kimball, of the high school was our Junior delegate to the Washington convention held last May.

The Chapter completed a most successful 1940 roll call with Mr. George R. Carter as chairman. With increased publicity, enthusiasm and co-operation of the workers and generosity of the townspeople, $4,751.26 was raised.

Mrs. Harry Goodwin, chairman of life saving and swimming, reported that classes were held this past season at Palmer and Leonard Beaches, with Mr. Alfred Pennell, a qualified Red Cross instructor in charge. During the season about 200 attended off and on with 26 beginners, 16 intermediates, 21 swimmers and six advanced swimmers all successfully passing their tests. In life saving 12 juniors and eight seniors passed. Four swimming meets were held with Winchester losing only one. The final swimming carnival was a great success, and appropriate medals were presented for the various events, with the Park Department co-operating.

The production committee has had an exceptionally active year, due to the situation abroad. With the assistance and co-operation of all the churches and organizations in town, the Chapter has produced a record that all can be proud of. The following are the production figures for the year: 470 woolen dresses, 715 sweaters, 655 pairs of sox, 175 caps, 25 mufflers, 40 hospital and hospital gowns, 80 pairs mittens, 200 woolen shirts, 58 layettes and 36,533 surgical dressings. The Chapter wishes to thank all who have helped in producing these garments.

The Winchester Chapter responded to the call from Nationa Headquarters for funds for war relief. Our original quota of $2400 was doubled, and through the generosity of our townspeople $6,485.55 was raised. A very succesful water carnival sponsored by the Winchester Boat Club for the benefit of the War Relief Fund was held in June, and $670.95 was realized.

The newly organized Motor Corps under the leadership of Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini has proved to be so helpful to the Chapter by being ready at a moments notice to deliver yarn, war relief sewing and to take patients to and from hospitals. The Motor Corps also delivered the Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets this year.

Mr. Malcolm Bennett, chairman of Disaster Relief and Preparedness Committee, has organized active subcommittees who are ready to carry on the work of disaster relief in Winchester should such an emegency arrive.

Mrs. Leonard Griffiths, chairman of the surgical dressings committee with the assistance of Mrs. Dunbar Shanklin and Mrs. Minnie B. Garrett has organized an active volunteer group of women who meet every week to make surgical dressings. One unit meeting at the Winchester Town Hall, the other unit meeting at the home of Mrs. Dunbar Shanklin. These volunteers have made thousands of surgical dressings for England and the U. S. Army.

First Aid courses, Mr. Alfred Pennell, chairman, with Mr. Hansen as instructor, have been given to the residents of Winchester. Policemen, firemen, Motor Corps, teachers, housewives and the various industries in town have been represented in these courses.

In conclusion the directors of the Winchester Chapter wish to thank the townspeople and organizations who have so loyally and so faithfully helped the Winchester Red Cross this year both in response to the call for funds and for the volunteer hours given in the production of garments, knitted sweaters and surgical dressings. Our Chapter stands high on the National Red Cross list for accomplished services this year and we owe it to the generosity of our townspeople.

Respectfully submitted,
Ruth M. Ferguson,
Recording Secretary

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

ENJOYED THURSTON HALL'S HOSPITALITY

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Rogers, Jr., the former Barbara Erickson of Arlington, are still enthusiastic about the gracious hospitality extended them on their honeymoon trip last fall by Thurston Hall, veteran actor of the stage and screen, who will be remembered by old residents as a former Winchester boy.

Mr. Rogers, who is associated with American Airlines Inc., flew West with his bride on their wedding journey and included in their itinerary a visit to the Motion Picture Capitol, Hollywood. They had counted on Mr. Hall's assistance in seeing the real Hollywood, but encountered some difficulty in locating him upon their arrival in filmland, since they knew neither his address nor his telephone number, and soon found that neither was procurable so carefully guarded are the stars' homes.

Western Union, while with-holding his address, readily agreed to get a telegram to Mr. Hall and in response to the Rogers' wire the well known actor met them at their hotel the next day, taking them through the Warner Brothers Studio and on a long tour of the countryside, pointing out the homes of the various film celebrities. On the final evening of their stay he entertained them at his lovely home in Beverly Hills, taking them afterwards to "Peppino's," Beverly Hills rendezvous for many prominent in the film colony.

The Rogers found Mr. Hall delightfully situated and very happy except for an occasional touch of homesickness for his old haunts and cronies in the East. He sent along his regards and best wishes to his Winchester friends.

CUBS TO HAVE FAIR

Tomorrow afternoon, Saturday, Feb. 15, from 2 to 5, the members of Winchester's Cub Pack No. 3 will hold a combined fair and exhibition at the Parish Hall of the First Congregational Church, at which will be displayed the various articles which the boys have been making this winter.

It now appears doubtful that the special pictures of the recent Sugar Bowl football game will arrive in time, but arrangements have been made to show in their place a very interesting sound-movie on air transportation through the courtesy of the American Air Lines. However, as soon as the football pictures are available it is hoped that the parents and friends of the boys who have so kindly supported this affair will again attend a future pack meeting as guests and enjoy these long awaited pictures.

Assisting Cub Chairman, Marshall R. Pihl, and Cubmaster, Alfred Pennell, are various committees of the fathers headed by Ober E. Pride, Dunbar L. Shanklin, Raymond C. Norris, Charles B. Watson, Donald B. Lovis, Neil H. Borden, William A. Kugler and Earl Doub.

Also Den Mothers, Mrs. William Dingwell, Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell, Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell, Mrs. Loring Nichols, Mrs. Earl Spencer, Mrs. Clarence McDavitt, Mrs. James Harlow and Mrs. Donald Lovis.

MOTOR TROUBLE

The Star is informed that a well known member of the local postoffice staff has been having motor trouble of late. By some freak of chance he had to get into his locked car without a key and while he was at work with a screw driver and other tools in front of the postoffice, the police arrived in response to a hurry-up call, adding considerable to the owner's embarrasment.

A few evenings later the same owner paid a call to his recovering "buddy" Carl Morse at the latter's home on Lloyd street, and when leaving the house found that his car had been stolen.

The police again responded and found the missing machine, where it had obviously been pushed, at the corner of Lloyd street and the Parkway.

The owner of the machine does not of course know who was responsible but he feels, and not without justification it seems, that those responsible for the police interruption while he was trying to open his car door have some connection with the motor's subsequent disappearance.

WHERE WERE YOU ON THE NIGHT OF FEBRUARY 14, 1940?*

Memories are short, but few will forget the hazards of that night a year ago - nor the bitter cold and ice preceding and following it.

Now is the time when wise New Englanders seek the comfort and security of traveling via Boston and Maine. They know New England weather - its quick-changing temperatures with icy highways and snow-blocked roads. They know the warm comfort and the speedy and economical service on our trains. That's why thousands of people are every day commuting by Boston and Maine - enjoying the pleasure of riding in a well-heated car that brings them to their destination safe and sound - relaxed and refreshed.

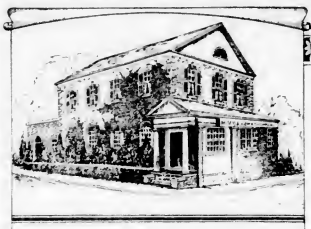

★ Feb. 14, 1940 - Date of the 1940 Big Blizzard - it paralyzed traffic and left many an automobile snow-bound on the streets for three to four days, and the always reliable trains were the only means of transportation to or from many communities.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Ninth Annual Scout Exposition of the Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, held on Saturday at the Stoneham Town Hall, attracted over 2000 spectators to one of the most successful Scout shows in the history of the Council.

The highlight of the day was the presentation of six Eagle Badges by past President Robert H. Sibley of Winchester, and Orvis H. Saxby, general chairman of the Exposition, of Stoneham. These Eagle Badges were presented to six boys including James O'Connor of Troop 7, Winchester. These young men, with their parents, were arranged on the stage at the close of the evening program, and addressed by past President Robert H. Sibley, who then presented the Eagle Badge to the mother of each boy, who in turn pinned the highest award in Scouting on her son.

In the Rally awards Nils Anderson of Troop 1, Winchester, took third place in bugling. Troop 7 of Winchester, H. Boodakian, F. Russo, J. O'Connor and G. DeFilipo, took first in fire by flint and steel.

Blue ribbon booth awards went to Pack 4 and Troop 7 of Winchester, each taking a blue ribbon. A red ribbon was awarded Troop 7 of Winchester. Troop 9 of Winchester took a blue ribbon award in the demonstration with its village hand. Troop 7 now has six Eagle Scouts.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Conservation and Garden Group is offering an unusually lovely program at their next meeting Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 2 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. Mr. Alonzo D. Nicholas will show "A Potpourri in Kodachrome," motion pictures in natural colors. These pictures were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas in various parts of the country they have visited and are very beautiful.

Tea will be served under the direction of Miss Louise J. Bancroft, chairman of the committee.

COUPLES CLUB

The first Cabaret under the auspices of the Couples Club of the Winchester Unitarian Church will be held in Metcalf Hall on Saturday evening, Feb. 15, at 8:30 o'clock.

There will be dancing with a good orchestra, floor shows with local talent, and the feature of the evening will be the mystifying maneuvers of a magician who is one of the best in this part of the country. Attendance is not confined to those who are in the Couples Club, but they are extending a cordial invitation to guests and friends. Information may be secured from the church office.

Barbecue meats, broil thick steaks or chicken in this new Magic Chef Swing-out Broiler

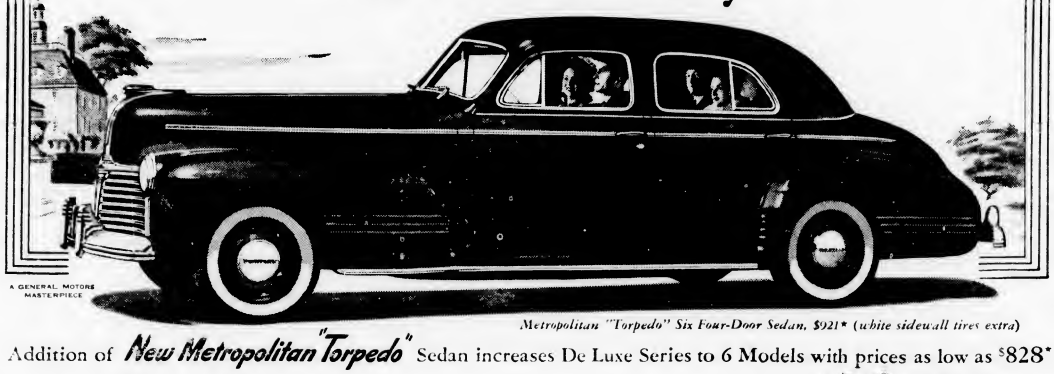

● Now you can enjoy healthful, appetizing broiled meats more often. It makes broiling easy. Swings out away from the flame, almost waist high. You can have fast-broiled bacon or chops. Or you can broil chicken, lobster, even barbecue roasts by the delicious slow-broiling method. Makes an extra oven for heating many foods, and space below provides a handy warming compartment. Smooth enamel broiler pan and grid are easy to clean. (The CP models light automatically, without matches.)

New improved top-cooking and oven features, too, suggested by the 615 home economists who helped design this range.

WITH THE INTRODUCTION of its glamorous new Metropolitan "Torpedo" Sedan, Pontiac rounds out the most complete line of low-priced cars in its entire history—six big, handsome De Luxe models with bodies by Fisher, every one available with either a six-cylinder or an eight-cylinder engine.

The new Metropolitan Sedan takes its place among the motor car style hits of all time. Patterned after a higher-priced and sensationally successful Pontiac model, it combines unusual rear-compartment spaciousness with the privacy possible only in 4-door, 4-window design.

In addition to the new Metropolitan, Pontiac's De Luxe series now includes the 4-door 6-window Sedan; the Sedan Coupe; the 2-door Sedan; the Business Coupe and the very smart Convertible Sedan Coupe.

All six of these lowest-priced Pontiacs offer the sound, time-tried engineering principles which have won Pontiac such an excellent reputation for riding comfort, handling ease and long, trouble-free service. And all of them are exceptionally economical to own and drive.

Plan to see the Metropolitan Sedan—as well as the Pontiac "Torpedoes"—which are offered in a wide range of prices. And remember . . . if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Pontiac.

UNION LENTEN SERVICES

In these times when there are so many forces of disruption and disunity abroad in the world, it is very important for those who believe that cooperation and friendly fellowship are important to foster every opportunity that makes for greater unity. So it is this year that the Union Lenten Services to be held in the Unitarian Church have a special importance, for they give all who are striving to live the Christian way of life a chance to demonstrate their belief in Christian fellowship. These services also provide an opportunity for deepening the religious life of each of us as individuals and as groups belonging to the several churches.

When we gather together for the singing of hymns and uniting in prayer, we forget our sectarian differences and we feel the great unity of the Church of Christ as followers who know no limits or boundary except our own failure to live up to His teachings and His example. In these services we shall gather, as one of our churches phrases it: "In the love of truth and the spirit of Jesus, we unite for the worship of God and the service of man." Certainly we all appreciate the opportunity which is ours in this country of voluntarily uniting to help those who are weak and in need of assistance. We should also appreciate the privilege of voluntarily uniting in Christian worship. As we gather to hear the leaders of the religious life of three different denominations preach at these Lenten Services we shall discover the strength which comes of unity and of devotion to what we all believe is highest and best.

WINCHETER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The winter meeting of the society was held in the Winchester Public Library on Thursday evening, Feb. 6.

After the usual business was transacted, Mr. Charles A. Gallagher offered the following motion in regard to the death of Miss Cora A. Quimby:

"That it is to the sense of this meeting that the Winchester Historical Society has suffered a grievious loss in the recent death of our faithful and devoted member, the late Miss Cora A. Quimby.

She was most active in promoting the preservation of those objects of an historical nature, which typified the early life and traditions of Winchester.

Her kindly and inspirational presence will be greatly missed at our meetings.

It is directed that this resolution be entered upon the records of the Society and a copy thereof be sent to her next of kin."

After this the speaker of the evening, Mr. Stephen F. Harris, gave an illustrated lecture on "The Pageant of History," as shown on the World's Postage Stamps.

In 1840 in London Roland Hill pleaded for penny postage in the sending of letters, etc. Later Brazil in her stamps paid tribute to him in putting his picture on her stamp.

In 1847 our country adopted the use of stamps. All kinds of stamps have been issued; some showing bits of history, with animals, fishes, also with pictures of various cures of diseases, the feeding of the hungry. The lecture was very well received by members present.

We've put one over on the yardsticks

Buick SPECIAL *4-door Sedan, model 47, $1021. White sidewall tires extra.

Here are FOUR NEW ADDITIONS to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Motorcar Bigness into Handy Size

TIME was when you measured a car's ability and standing by the yardstick distance from bumper to bumper.

But not any more—not entirely.

Not since Buick made ready the four new additions to its 1941 SPECIAL series that are built for big-car travel tastes—and small-car garages!

They are cars to take the measure of almost anything on the road in the lift and life of their 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL engines.*

They are cars that doff their bonnets to no others for smart appearance, rich, comfortable interiors and thoroughgoing Buick quality.

They are cars with room for all the family, with all the little Buick luxury touches, with the unrivaled comfort of Buick's all-coil springing and steady-going roadability.

But bumper to bumper they are shorter—so they fit your garage.

Their wheelbase is 118 inches—so they park like a bicycle and flit through traffic with ridiculous ease.

They go farther on every gallon — farther, even, than other Buick models—and they've got a get-up-and-get-away-from-there lift that gets you where you're going pronto!

So you can't take their measure with a yardstick.

You've got to measure them by what they do for you — in the easier handling, the bigger thrill, the extra convenience they add.

And when you hear the prices on them—prices made lower by their new compactness—you'll find they measure up plenty BIG in the dollar-for-dollar value they put within your reach.

How about seeing them — now?

*Add Compound Carburetion at slight extra cost and horsepower steps up to 125 while gasoline mileage goes even higher.

Buick Prices begin at $915 for the Business Coupe

★delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

SYDNEY R. MONTAGUE

"MONTAGUE OF THE MOUNTIES"

"Tales of the Mounties"—the very words suggest thrills and adventure. Sydney R. Montague who speaks on this subject at the high school auditorium on Friday evening, Feb. 28, under the auspices of the Winchester Fortnightly will bring a story that fairly exceed your expectations.

Mr. Montague is an ex-member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, with which famed force he served for six years. For more than half of that time he was on Arctic Patrol among the Eskimos of Northeastern America in the Baffin Land area.

His story rich in human interest, is a vivid, exciting and engrossing recital of his life among these Eskimos. Steeped in the life and lore of the North he strips Eskimoland and its inhabitants of legend, and makes them living realities.

Mr. Montague has a genuinely likeable and magnetic personality. His tales sparkle with whimsical charm and delicate humor, and occasionally are touched with pathos.

A marvellous collection of unusual trophies and gorgeous furs which he brings with him adds to the interest of his talk.

The entire proceeds from the lecture are for the benefit of The Fortnightly Philanthropy Fund.

ENJOY "TIM THE CHIMNEY SWEEP"

Of course you can by waiting until Wednesday, March 5 sitting down in the high school auditorium at 3.15 and watching the Senior Girl Scouts play "Tim the Chimney Sweep." Then you will know whether the play was too old for you or you were too old for the play, or both you and the play were just right.

The Senior Girl Scouts want 800 contented spectators at their matinee and so they are sending a flying squadron of candid salesmen to the meetings of Scouts, Brownies and Cubs to tell them something about "Tim the Chimney Sweep." They had thought of having some of the characters themselves make a personal appearance. But this plan presented difficulties. Nora could have come, but she didn't think she was really the leading lady, even if she couldn't persuade those three perverse and obstinate moon-struck creatures that she was just Nora, and not the Fangle that had been lost and hunted for three years.

Mrs. Mender was suggested, and there never was a more accommodating soul. But she is just up to her eyes in work, what with a waiting list of butterfly wings that need a lot of careful darning and silvery sea scales just ready to drop off for the lack of that proverbial stitch in time. As for the Rainbow Man, there was no use thinking of his going round to make the talks even to the Brownies. For he really was almost grouchy when Peter and Tim went to ask his help, on a very important matter. Any one of the gnomes, or the whole lot of them, would have been just delighted to go and tell the Brownies. But that might have made the Brownies think they were going to see "Snow White" again, and "Tim the Chimney Sweep" is quite another play, though the gnomes are in it too.

As for Tim himself, its not the sort of thinking he likes, this standing up in front of people and making speeches.

So it will be just the Girl Scouts themselves who come to give Cubs, Brownies, and Scouts an idea of what they will get the afternoon of March 5, at 3:15 in the high school auditorium. But anyone, no matter what his age, will like "Tim the Chimney Sweep" if he has a liking still for a journey that you go by directions like these: "Three rivers straight ahead, one cloud to your left, six flights of geese, and then just follow the sign of the scissors."

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS WINCHESTER CHAPTER

The Mail Bag

We are real folks, we of the Red Cross, to folks beyond the sea. For, busy and troubled as they are in this war time, they take time to write letters many people of England to the Red Cross. They would not do that if we were to them just an organization, a machine. The letters prove that they think of the Red Cross as individual Americans who fish out of their pockets individual dollars that they might spend for themselves and give them to the Red Cross; individual Americans who sew and knit and type and drive, using time for Red Cross works of mercy that they could use just for themselves.

The letters make them very real to us. For example here is one from Harry Baxter in Nottingham: "Dear American friends: I am writing a letter of thanks for the frock my little brother received from the American Red Cross. As my brother is too young to write, may I express his thanks for it, because it puts him in a nice jolly spirit every time he has it on."

Another letter, from a woman evacuated to Leeds, is like the boy's letter, in its warmly personal tone. "My dear friends, I am just sending these few lines of thanks for the clothing I received for my two children and the baby I expect soon. But I was surprised to see they had come from the American Red Cross, so far away and I am pleased about this, as I am very thankful for them, from the bottom of my heart."

Just because there is no self-pity in it, but on the contrary courage and hopes that looks beyond this war, this letter gives a vivid sense of the destruction that humble people are suffering. London, from William Loveday and his 72-year old mother: "Just a few lines to express my sincere thanks and gratitude for the splendid help you are doing over here in distributing clothes to the poor and needy, who like myself and mother, have been bombed out of our homes. Having been born, lived and worked in London these last 26 years I suddenly arrive home and find my house and clothes all ruined. My mother and myself wish to send our thanks across the seas to you for clothes given us which will keep us dry and warm this winter. Having listened to your short wave radio for many months and enjoying talks and music from all parts of America, I sincerely hope I shall live to see the end of this war and fulfill the ambition of my life to one day set foot in America."

When next we have baby sewing, we women of Winchester can carry this picture in our minds, to give reality to the need our work is relieving. Southport Guardian: "Great rejoicings at the Albert Road hostel for evacuated young mothers and mothers-to-be. Some of the layettes sent recently from America to the Southport W. V. S. have been passed on to the hostel. The matron, Miss Florence Hall, is immensely delighted with them, says they're a marvellous gift. In each layette there is everything a baby needs, absolutely everything, she declares. And not only everything for babyhood needs, but nighties and frocks which will fit at the toddler stage.

"The hostel is a busy place. Sponsored by the Corporation, it accommodates for some time before the birth of their babies, women evacuated from danger zones, and it takes care of them again afterwards until they are ready to return home.

"If they have toddlers under 5, the mothers-to-be can take them to the hostel, too. Since the war began, Miss Hall tells me, some 150 mothers have passed through the home, and she has also looked after about 100 toddlers. So she'll know where to place those layettes."

It is good to think it may have been some of our sewing that helped out a women who had to flee from one of the Channel Islands: "She left her home and came with only what they were wearing, so that she had to wash the childrens clothes at night and put them on again the next day, until we provided them all with complete outfits."

Or that it was one of the warm coats Winchester sent which made one gallant old soul of 66 say, "Oh, isn't the Lord good to the poor! I've never had a coat like this in my life." Her gallantry has been put to the proof. She is the widow of a marine who had served on three ships that were sunk in the first World War, and now she has 17 near relatives in the marine service.

These individual letters and cases give color to the statistics that show what the Red Cross is doing in Great Britain. The old woman's coat and the layettes for one hostel give meaning to the figures when we learn that the Red Cross has given more than a million and a half garments. And the Red Cross has sent Britain almost 15,000,000 surgical dressings. Those too came from workrooms like ours, made by hands like ours. What a [illegible]

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four of our members from the current meeting formed a visiting delegation to the Rotary Club of Everett.

Add to the list of temporarily indisposed Rotarians, Curtis Nash, whom we missed at his customary place at today's luncheon. And we are sure that this is not the vacation which Curt has been anticipating. We bespeak better luck for him and that quickly. Meanwhile Billy Beggs promises to return to that office chair which he fits so well, and still Nat Nichols' patience is sorely tried.

Rotary International is about to present a series of radio broadcasts for the promotion of international good will and understanding. These programs will be sent over the stations of the Mutual Broadcasting Company. The first will be broadcast from Chicago on Sunday, Feb. 23 at 2 p. m., Central Standard Time and will present a dramatization of the history and activities of Rotary throughout the world. This program, involving the services of skilled, professional talent, will be of interest to non-Rotarians as well as to Rotarians. On Sunday, March 2 will begin a series of broadcasts which will link all countries of the Western Hemisphere. Most Rotary communities in this District will be served by Station WAAB, Boston. Communities in the northwestern part of the District will also be served by Station WLLH, Lowell. In addition to the above there will be special broadcasts during the last week in February in celebration of the 36th anniverary of the foundation of Rotary.

The Nominating Committee for President of Rotary International has certified as candidate for that office Tom J. Davis of the Rotary Club of Butte, Montana.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Mr. Harry J. Pearson, Director of the Sailor's Haven at Charlestown, and former Chairman of the Welfare Department, Seaman's Church Institute or New York City.

Mr. Pearson gave us a very interesting account of the work which these institutions do in behalf of those seamen who come to our great ports as strangers, lacking home surroundings for their comfort and protection, and only too often needy and physically unfit. He especially emphasized the unfortunate condition of the crews and passengers removed from vessels which had been the victims of aerial and submarine warfare. The Charlestown Sailors' Haven is carrying on with too little capital to properly care for the men who need the attention which it is designed to furnish. It is earnestly to be hoped that this philanthropy will receive better support in the near future.

Our guest speaker on Thursday the 20th will be Mrs. Courtney Wilson Deane of Wellesley, who will address us on the topic "My Experiences in Free China." Mrs. Deane has recently returned from an extensive journey to that great and ancient Asiatic country and has been an eye witness of many dramatic episodes which have never been described through the medium of printer's ink. A rare treat is in store for those of us who attend the meeting of Feb. 20.

Mrs. Minnie Edith Lewis, widow of Elmer Lewis, late inspector in the State Department of Public Safety, died early Wednesday morning, Feb. 19, at her home, 20 Maxwell road, after a six weeks' illness.

Mrs. Lewis was the daughter of Benjamin and Isabelle (Glidden) Merrill. She was born Nov. 24, 1864, in Newcastle, Me., but spent her early life in Pittston, Me., where she was educated in the public schools.

She was married June 3, 1887, and in 1892 went to Brockton where she lived for years, her husband serving as superintendent of buildings. Leaving Brockton she was for four years a resident of Somerville, coming to Winchester in 1915 and since that time making her home here. She was a member and past officer of the Boston Daughters of Maine Club, a member of the Jefferson Maine Club, Eastern Star, Rebekahs, Pythian Sisters and Fortnightly Women's Club.

Mrs. Lewis is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ervin C. Tracy, with whom she made her home, by a sister, Mrs. Walter E. Moore of East Kingston, N. H.; and by two granddaughters, June and Jean Tracy.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. Daniel Calkins, D.D., interim pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment will be in the family lot in North Pittston Cemetery, Pittston, Me.

GOODALE—FARNSWORTH

Wearing a bonnet shaped hat and tulle veil with her gown of blush satin, and carrying a bouquet of white orchids, Miss Jean Farnsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth of Central Green, was married Saturday evening, Feb. 15, at the Unitarian Church, to Percy Allen Goodale, Jr., of Yale street, son of Mr. Percy Allen Goodale of New York and the late Mrs. Goodale. Rev Paul Harmon Chapman, minister of the church, performed the marriage ceremony, and the wedding music was played by the church organist, Lincoln Spiess. White gladiolas with a background of evergreens made a most attractive setting.

Miss Farnsworth was given in marriage by her father and had for her honor attendant her cousin, Miss Alice Elizabeth Neiley of Bronxville, N. Y. Miss Virginia Farnsworth, small cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and still another cousin, Miss Emma F. Neiley of Bronxville, N. Y., was among the bridesmaids, the others being Mrs. Oliver Andrews of South Byfield, Mrs. Morrison M. Bump (Frances Kelley) of Cambridge, Miss Aileen Ward of Summit, N. J., and Miss Janet Fuller and Miss Evelyn H. McGill, both of Winchester.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids were gowned alike in dresses of faille, the honor attendant wearing dusty rose and the bridesmaids, light blue. All wore matching bonnet shaped halos of faille and carried bouquets of pansies, anemones and gerberas.

The flower girl wore a frock of dusty rose faille with a matching bonnet and carried a bouquet of the same flowers as the other attendants.

Robert L. Goodale of Cambridge was his brother's best man and another brother of the bridegroom, Benjamin A. Goodale of Boston, was a member of the usher corps with Richard M. Farnsworth of Winchester, brother of the bride; Oliver Andrews of South Byfield, George L. Billman of Winchester, Arthur P. Bonney of Amherst, N. H., Jacob W. Bond of Nahant, David S. Tappan of Westfield and Frank E. Voysey of Boston.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the father of the bridegroom. Mrs. Farnsworth was gowned in blue lace and wore an orchid corsage.

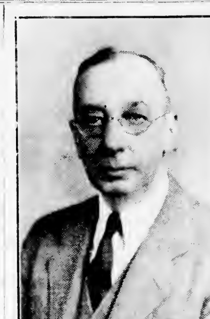

Upon their return from a honeymoon in Florida, Mr. Goodale and his bride will make their home in Stetson Hall.

The bride is a graduate of the Brimmer School and of Smith College in the class of 1940. Mr. Goodale is a graduate of Governor Dummer and is associated with the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York.

RUTH ST. DENIS COMING TO WINCHESTER

Ruth St. Denis, whose name is a symbol of dance fame, is coming to Winchester, in a dance program on March 7, under auspices of the Junior High School Associates. The two great pioneers in the art of the Dance were Ruth St. Denis, with her Oriental themes and influence and Isadora Duncan with her Greek themes and influences. They opened new fields of Dance, from the conventional Italian and Russian Ballet of the early 20th century, and they established the basis for the present so-called Modern Dance.

According to Walter Terry, critic on the New York Herald Tribune, in a recent article, "Forty Years of Dance—performances have not lessened the dancing magic of Ruth St. Denis; that she has been dancing constantly before the audiences of the world, is proof of her enduring popularity. To see her dance, is a privilege, for she is surely one of the great dance-artists of all time."

Miss St. Denis has danced in many European countries. At first, alone; later with her husband, Ted Shawn, [illegible] career as a young [illegible] became a crusader in the dance world; then, with her husband and company, including the now famous Doris Humphrey and Martha Graham, performing in capitals of Europe and the Orient. For years, Mr. Shawn has [illegible] graduates of Springfield College, in dancing for men.

Miss St. Denis recently has developed [illegible] religious dance [illegible] has established a "Temple [illegible]" including several impressive Dance Masques, based on Biblical stories. Last summer, for the opening of the new band shell at the World's Fair, she presented with her group, "Sarah, Mother of Nations," and the "Masque of Mary." Miss St. Denis will include a religious theme called "Color Study of a Madonna" in her program.

MANSFIELD RETURNS TO SPRINGFIELD

Wendell D. Mansfield, former director of athletics at Winchester High School and for the past two seasons varsity football coach at Bates College is returning to his alma mater, Springfield College, to become head coach of varsity football there.

Announcement of his Springfield appointment was made last night to the Star by Mr. Mansfield, who stressed his particularly friendly relations with the Bates athletic authorities and stated that everything possible had been done by the Lewiston college to have him remain there. The fact that Springfield is his alma mater was the deciding factor in his decision to return there. It is of special interest to local fans that "Andy" Lentine, former Winchester High and B. C. football star, is likely to accompany him as an assistant.

Mr. Mansfield has coached at Springfield, having been for two years end coach and scout there as well as coaching freshman basketball. He had been appointed head coach of basketball at Springfield for the year in which he left to accept the position of head coach of football and baseball at Bates.

The former Winchester coach has done very well with only fair material at Bates and in returning to Springfield should have potentially stronger squads with which to work. Coach Mansfield is very popular with the student body at Springfield and his appointment as head coach there will be received with acclaim.

FORMER TEACHER PRAISES CULLEN

Feb. 16, 1941

To the Editor of the Star:

It has just been called to my attention that "Jimmy" Cullen is going to be a candidate for the office of Selectman in the coming election, and I hasten to add my word of commendation to the many that have probably been said in his behalf already.

As his teacher, many years ago, I watched his progress with unusual interest, sensing the dynamic energy smoldering behind those gleaming eyes and that broad smile. Since that time "Jimmy" has come a long way. After college, he sought his fortune in his own town, and has succeeded in making himself known and loved everywhere.

Because he is simple and unaffected in his manner, homey in his tastes and desires, unquestionably honest, thoroughly vigorous in every project he undertakes, and unselfish in his attention to the affairs of others and to the management of his town, he should make an ideal official.

Very truly yours,
Ernest Bensnimoll,

WHEREVER THE ARMY IS, THERE WILL BE THE CHURCH

Young men accustomed to public worship in the language and manner of the Episcopal Church will find, whatever the camp to which they are sent, that the Church too has mustered there.

Young men from Eastern Massachusetts will know in addition that the portable altar from which the chaplain administers Holy Communion in some emergency chapel or in hospital has been the gift of his own state, perhaps of his own parish.

Sunday, Feb. 23, those who attend service at Epiphany will see one of these portable altars with which the Diocese of Massachusetts has promised to furnish every Episcopal chaplain throughout all the camps of the nation. It will be at the left as one enters the church, set up against the screen that marks off the Children's Corner.

Each altar costs $90. Contributions for the purchase will be received at both services.

The altar shown has special interest. It has not come new from the silversmith. It has been dipped many a time into the deep-flowing stream of human need. It belongs to the Boston City Mission, and is used by priests who minister spiritually to those the Mission finds and neighbors to. It has come with its assurance that man's citizenship is in two countries to a sailor in hospital who knows that his next sailing will be on an uncharted sea and to a harbor which eye hath not seen. It has gone many a time within prison walls to remind men that God's mercy never fails nor grows narrow.

ESSAY CONTEST FOR LEGION SONS

The State Department of the American Legion is sponsoring an essay contest for members of the Sons of the American Legion, in which it is expected that many members of Winchester Post's new Sons of the American Legion Squadron will participate.

The contest subject is "What the American Legion Means to Me" and $150 in prizes will be awarded the winners. Winchester Legionnaires are encouraging their sons to enter the contest.

The Post's Squadron committee is also interested in the announcement that Frank Ralphs, Middlesex County Chairman of Membership for the Sons of the American Legion has offered a cup to the squadron showing the largest percentage of increase in membership registered at State Headquarters within a given time. Winchester's new squadron which is growing has an excellent chance to be very much in the running for this coveted trophy.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly of the Unitarian Church have been working every Tuesday on Red Cross garments and will continue to sew through the spring.

On Feb. 11, Mr. Alonzo Nicholas showed his beautiful colored pictures at the regular meeting of the organization, and on March 11, Rev. John Nicol Mark of Arlington will speak at 3 p. m. On that day there will be no sewing but business meeting will be held at 2:30. With the exception of that day, Red Cross sewing will be done every Tuesday at 11, and coffee is provided. Everyone is urged to come and help in this much needed task.

MRS. THAXTER AND TEA FEB. 28

At 2:15 Friday, Feb. 28, the second play of the series sponsored by the Tuesday Luncheon Group will he read in the Epiphany parish hall. An enthusiastic audience welcomed Mrs. Thaxter's first reading, a remarkable presentation of the thoughtful and moving play, "There Shall Be No Night." One of the audience who had seen the Lunts play the drama of Finland's heroic defeat found herself amazed at the further pleaure to be found in hearing the play read. For the second of the series Mrs. Thaxter has chosen a very different play, as full of laughter as the first was of high-hearted pain. This time she will read "George Washington Slept Here."

The party element of the Friday afternoons will be restored by popular request, and the Symmes Corner Group will serve tea in the parish hall immediately after the play for those who would like to linger and visit. The cost will be nominal, 15 cents a cup.

The house at 12 Woodside road, occupied by Mr. Sydney H. G. Stragham, was badly damaged by a two-alarm fire Wednesday forenoon.

How thefire originated is not known. The family was not in the dwelling when it was discovered by neighbors who put in an emergency telephone call which was relayed from the Telephone Exchange to the Central Fire Station.

Transmitter Box 541 was sounded at the station at 10:32. The firemen found upon arrival that the fire had made considerable headway and Chief David H. DeCourcy ordered a second round of the box sounded at 10:47, bringing all the local apparatus to the scene. Flames were licking up through both floors of the house and thick clouds of smoke were rolling from it when the first pieces arrived.

The fire apparently started in a big easy chair near the chimney in the living room on the first floor. The fire ate its way down through the floor and followed the chimney up to the roof, mushrooming out into the partitions of the upper floor and roof. Two thicknesses of asbestos shingles over wooden shingles prevented the flames from burning through the roof and the firemen had a hard job getting at the blaze from above, it being necessary to chop away some of the roof timbers. It was after 3 o'clock in the afternoon when the "all out" sounded.

The interior of the house and the furnishings were badly burned, total damage being estimated by Chief DeCourcy as between $5000 and $6000.

The house, a 12 room, three story structure of old fashioned design, was used as a club-house years ago on the old west side golf links and stood about where Parker road is now located. It has stood at its present location beside Winter Pond for some years and had recently been extensively remodeled and renovated by Mr. Stragham.

While the local apaparatus was away form the Central Station a pump and engine crew from Woburn "covered in" for any emergency that might arise.

LENTEN SERVICE PREACHER HAS HAD INTERESTING CAREER.

Dr. Vivian T. Pomeroy, who will be the guest speaker at the first of the Union Lenten Services on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 7:45 p. m., in the Unitarian Church, has had an interesting and varied career.

Born in London, England, the present minister of the Unitarian Church in Milton, engaged in business for five years before deciding to enter the ministry of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, in which he was reared.

He studied at Wesleyan College, but was advised by the principal to leave before the end of the first year because of his inability to meet the requirements of theological orthodoxy. He gave up his intenton to enter the Wesleyan ministry and resigned from membership of the Wesleyan Church. He then went to Oxford, and spent six years in study there, first graduating from Wadham College and then taking the theological course at Mansfield College.

He went from university life to the charge of Greenfield Congregational Church, Bradford, where he succeeded the stalwart liberal, Rev. T. Rhondda Williams. For 12 years he carried on his ministry in Bradford, being identified with the Liberal wing of English Congregationalism and with the Labor Party in English politics. His work in Bradford hrought him in touch with the social problems of a large city.

In 1923 Dr. Pomeroy came to America. After traveling in various states for four months, and preaching and lecturing in both the United States and Canada,, he came to the pulpit of the First Parish in Milton, where he was later settled as minister.

An interesting and forceful speaker, Dr. Pomeroy is much in demand hy both religious and secular organizations. A treat awaits those who will hear him for the first time on Ash Wednesday.

MR. GALLAGHER IN HOSPITAL

Mr. Philip H. Gallagher, treasurer and general manager of the Winchester Brick Company, is confined to the Winchester Hospital with a bad case of laryngitis, a relapse of a case with which he had been stricken early in January. The second case proved more serious than its predecessor and necessitated hospital treatment. It is expected that it will be several days befor he is able to be out.

His illness is proving quite a handicap for Mr. Gallagher, aside from his discomfort, for he is a candidate for Selectman at the March election, and being confined to the hospital has seriously interfered with his campaign plans. Losing his voice only ten days or so before election isn't the best sort of a break for a candidate in the field.

VALENTINE SOCIAL

A spelling bee featured the Valentine Social held last Saturday evening in Lyceum Hall for all Winchester members of the Junior Catholic Daughters of America with Miss Alice Quigley as hostess.

Troop 4 with Anne McGuerty as mistress of ceremonies, gave an excellent entertainment program and the troop president, Joan Hevey presented the Chairman with a beautiful Valentine bouquet of red and white carnations.

Marie Moore conducted the spelling bee, in which juniors of all the troops participated. First prize winners were Claire Noonan and Rita Flanagan, with other prizes going to Grace Marabella, Anne DeFilippo, Eileen Welch and Anne Costello.

At the conclusion of the entertainment refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was devoted to games and dancing.

WYMAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION BOARD MEETING

A meeting of the Wyman School Mothers' Association Board was held in the teachers room at the school with Mrs. Robert Keeney, president, presiding. During the serving of coffee and cookies, the following business was discussed.

The annual fashion show for the benefit of the scholarship fund will be held at the school on Wednesday afternoon, April 12 at 2 o'clock. Filene's will put on the show after dessert has been served and there will be bridge for those that would like to play. As the chairman of the ways and means committee has moved to Maine, the Board will take over the show this year.

The business of the children's entertainment was presented by Mrs. John Turner, chairman of the committee. The entertainment, open free to all children of the Wyman School will consist of a magician, Mr. Val Evans, who will also have a Punch and Judy show. The show will be given on Wednesday, March 12 at 2 in the afternoon in the school auditorium. Refreshments will be served.

Sewing for the Red Cross was again mentioned. All those who could possibly do so were urged to come to the Red Cross room at the top floor of the Town Hall on Wednesday mornings and sew. You do not need to be an expert needlewoman, as there is all kinds of simple work for those who are not.

WINCHESTER DROPPED FINAL LEAGUE TILT TO LEXINGTON

Winchester lost its mathematical chance to finish in a top tie for the basketball championship of the Middlesex League by losing to Lexington High at Lexington last Friday evening, 18-14. As things turned out the loss didn't make any difference for Belmont won from Stoneham, and a Stoneham victory was necessary to give even a winning local team a first place tie.

Perhaps if the local boys had known they were out of the championship money, they might have played a better game at Lexington. As it was, with a win necessary to tie for the title, they were away too tight and over-anxious to play winning ball. Not that it is any disgrace to lose to Lexington. The Minuteboys are as good as any team in the league and toward the end of the season, aside from Winchester, were playing the best ball on the circuit. They had more poise than Winchester with the chips down, and this is not to be wondered at for they are much the more experienced club.

Both teams played very cautiously as the game got under way, each having a profound respect for the other. The local boys led at the half by the hair-line margin of 9-8.

Winchester didn't leave its nerves in the dressing room between the halves, and with the resumption of play tried vainly to get that basket which would have broken the ice and gotten them back to normal.

Dean Derby finally found the hoop with a pretty floor goal, but the referee ruled "travelling" on the shot and refused to allow it. Two subsequent goals were called illegal by the arbiters and the rulings seemed to discourage the local boys who ultimately failed to get a single goal from scrimmage in the entire second half.

During the whole game Winchester scored but four goals from scrimmage out of an even 50 shots, and this poor showing, reminiscent of the Woburn debacle, was of course fatal. The boys were just too tight out there to play their usual game and their showing was away below their peak.

Between the halves the Lexington seconds won from the Winchester seconds, 30 to 21.

BELMONT WON MIDDLESEX CROWN

Belmont's defeat of Stoneham last Friday while Winchester was losing to Lexington gave the Red and Blue the championship of the Middlesex County Basketball League with eight games won and two lost.

Winchester's reverse at Lexington placed the locals in a tie with the Minutemen for second with Reading in third place.

Few close followers of the league will agree that Belmont was the best team on the circuit. At full strength both Winchester and Lexington were better than Belmont as was Wakefield, potentially the best club in the league, when it was having a good night.

Belmont got two big breaks, one in the schedule which permitted the Wenner team to play its hard games early in the season, and the other in having its first string lineup intact through the campaign.

Winchester, Lexington and Wakefield all had key men out of action, either through illness or injury in the early stages of the season while Belmont sailed along in high gear, running up an unbeaten streak that permitted its team to slip a bit late in the year and still stay at the top.

Following is the standing:

	W	L	Pts.
Belmont	8	2	16
Winchester	6	4	12
Lexington	6	4	12
Reading	5	5	10
Wakefield	4	6	8

Mr. Edward A. Bartlett of the Wincheste High School faculty and coach of varsity basketball is leaving this week-end to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wendell D. Mansfield at Lewiston, Me. Mr. Bartlett was Mr. Mansfield's assistant when the latter was coaching at Winchester High.

WOBURN HERE TONIGHT

Locals Hope to Reverse Defeat in Previous Game

Woburn High comes to Winchester tonight for the second of two basketball games with Winchester High School. The erst-while tanners gave the local boys their worst defeat of the season in the first of the two games at Woburn, winning 27 to 8.

Winchester has improved greatly since that game, and has played ball on occasion plenty good enough to bother Woburn, if not to win from the Orange. Whether such will be the case tonight reamins to be seen.

At Woburn the locals were away too tight to score, but their defense gave the tanners plenty of trouble, holding them to a bare eight points the entire first half. Winchester might have been very much in the ball game had the boys been able to shoot a lick at Woburn, but in their anxiety to tally their shooting was generally awry and during the second half the experienced Woburn players easily drew away.

If Winchester plays the ball they played against Wakefield, Belmont and in the first Lexington game, Woburn will have to hustle to win. A repetition of the locals' play at Lexington last Friday night will of course make things easy for the visitors.

Woburn is a much more experienced club than Winchester, the Woburn boys playing a lot more basketball than is possible under the set-up here. This experience shows in the poise and habitually correct reactions of the Orange players who will probably be just a bit too good for the locals again tonight.

Coach Bartlett will start Captain Provinzano and Don Drew at the forward posts against the tanners, with Lane McGovern at center and Dean Derby and Jim Coon in the back court.

There will be first and second team games, starting at 7:30, and seats will positively be at a premium, so get there early.

KNIGHTS ENJOYED FOOTBALL PICTURES

The chambers of Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, were taxed to their utmost capacity Monday evening when official Boston College-Georgetown football game pictures were shown after the council meeting. Knights and their guests thrilled to the passing wizardry of Charlie O'Rourke, marvelled at the guard play of George Kerr and Augi Lio, shuddered at the tooth-jarring blocks of Toczylowski and the bull-like plunging of Castiglia, gazed pop-eyed at the gigantic Gladchuck, Yauchoes and Blozis and held their breath through the legerdemain of Georgetown's triple-reverse scoring play.

Grand Knight Thomas Travers presided and Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney of St. Mary's Church, who went to the Sugar Bowl with his alma mater, B. C., introduced the guests of honor, George Kerr, great Eagle guard, and Teddy Williams, reserve back.

The erudite Kerr, who is to study for the priesthood, served as a commentator for the pictures, explaining each play and singling out individual players in a manner that added greatly to the pleasure of the audience. He and Williams also answered many questions, increasing the esteem in which they were held by their comments on the departure of Coach Leahy from University Heights. In the best sporting tradition Kerr praised the play of those two great rival guards, Lio of Georgetown and Suffridge of Tennessee, and said that the Vols were the toughest team he played against in his three years at the Heights.

Besides the Boston College boys, the Council had as its guests, Rev. Fr. John O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's and Rev. Fr. James Fitzsimons, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church.

A football, autographed by the members of the Boston College varsity football squad was won by Sergt. Don McFarlane of Bonad road, a member of the Metropolitan Police.

WINCHESTER WON FROM PUNCHARD

Winchester bounced back into the win column again Monday afternoon, winning a 29—22 victory over Punchard High of Andover in the local gymnasium. The Winchester seconds won a hairline 21—20 victory in the preliminary game.

The visitors jumped to an early game lead, but with Jimmy Coon doing some real sharpshooting, the local boys wiped out their advantage to lead at the quarter, 10—8. The teams were still a basket apart at half time with Winchester on the long end of a 15—13 count.

Winchester added slightly to its advantage in the third period, leading 21—18 as the final quarter got under way.

Coon tossed in a floor goal to raise the count to 23, but here Punchard came to life with a vengeance, Yancey and Duke shooting baskets to draw up within a point of the locals' total.

Winchester braced in turn, Coon scoring from scrimmage and McGovern adding a goal from a free try. Provinzano scored from the foul line and then hit the hoop from scrimmage to give the locals their seven point advantage as the gun barked. Coon with six floor goals and a foul basket was the leading scorer, having 13 points. Following is the summary:

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL RADIO TRAFFIC MANAGER

Out West in Hollywood is a girl named Ruth Barnard who has whipped one of radio's toughest jobs and now ranks as one of the few . . . if not the only . . . woman network traffic managers in the United States.

It's her job to keep regional and Mutual traffic moving swiftly and accurately to the 33 Don Lee stations, to see that the 48-quarter hour a-week feeds go to Mutual with unfailing regularity. Hers is an everlasting job of accuracy and she knows full well that a feminine excuse will not suffice if things go wrong. Radio is a man's business but there are executive places for women . . . . lots of places for the kind of women who knows how to be consistent and persistent.

Born in Bensonhurst, N. Y., and educated in Winchester, blonde, blue-eyed, Miss Barnard studied commercial subjects at the Sawyer School of Business in Los Angeles, then joined KHJ in 1930 as part time secretary to Agnes White, home economist.

When Mrs. White's secretary was married, Ruth Barnard got a chance for advancement. In swift succession came assignments in publicity, secretaryships under Traffic Manager Van Newkink and Herbert Witherspoon, and finally on May 16, 1934, her own promotion to traffic manager.

Among her treasures Ruth has a little sheet of yellowed paper that formally announces her promotion to Traffic Manager of the Don Lee Broadcasting System, the largest regional web in the nation.

Miss Barnard is five feet eight and one-half inches in height, rides horseback, swims and participates in other athletics when not spending vacation periods dude ranching. She resides in lGendale, a residential suburb with her mother, Mrs. Edith Barnard, whom older residents will remember is Edith Carter, daughter of George Carter, for many years Town Clerk of Winchester. Ruth's brother, Slim Barnard, colorful advertising executive with the Rodney E. Boone organ ization. He conducts an automotive column in the Los Angeles Examiner under the title of "Slim's Pickin's."

One sister, Claire Barnard, owns and operates the American Travel Service in Pasadena, while a married sister, Mrs. Grace Kinkead is secretary to Prof. Robert T. Moore, associate professor of Ornithology at the California Institute of Technology.

Radio needs more women like Ruth Barnard.

RESCUED BABY FROM YOUTHFUL ADMIRER

Roland W. Roberts of 6 Seneca road saved a five months old baby from possible serious injury last Saturday afternoon in Medford.

Mr. Roberts was driving along Riverside avenue when he noticed a small boy dragging what he at first thought was a large doll along the sidewalk by the ankle. Closer observation discosed the fact that the doll was a baby, who was voicing his disapproval of proceedings in no uncertain terms.

Mr. Roberts intervened effectively and learned that the boy, having a great desire for a baby, had taken one that took his fancy from a carriage and finding the child too heavy to carry, had resorted to the expedient of dragging in an effort to reach his home.

By the time the explanation was finished the excited mother put in an appearance and she and her baby were taken to the Lawrence Memorial Hospital by Mr. Roberts. At the hospital it was found that the baby had suffered no serious ill effects.

The Star is the only newspaper printed in Winchester. The Editor's name is Wilson. Its office is at the Star Building on Church street in Winchester center. It does not print phoney advertisements nor month-old news; neither does it claim a circulation of 16,000 in a town of 15,000 population. It has been printed in Winchester since 1880. If you like it, why not subscribe?

The Star regrets that its editions for the past three weeks have been sold out at an early period. Each week we have increased our run. We are now up 200 copies, and trust that all our friends will have no further trouble securing their town paper.

MADELEINE S. ROONEY

Mrs. Edwin R. Rooney of Sheffield road, whose name will appear on the town meeting ballot as Madeleine S. Rooney, a candidate for election to the Board of Public Welfare, is widely known to Winchester people as "Phoebe." Mrs. Rooney was chairman of the cabaret committee of the Winton Club, which gave the recent production in Winchester for the benefit of the Hospital and British relief.

HOW A GREAT MIND WORKS

The following is taken from the publication "Life" of last week:

"Mr. President," inquired a reporter during discussion of H. R. 1776 (the Lease-Lend Bill) at a White House press conference Feb. 4, "what is the first thing you can do under that bill that you can't do now? What is the first aid that can be rendered to the democracies?"

Replied the President: I would go out in the middle of Pennsylvania Avenue and stand on my head, since that is not yet prohibited in the bill.

But how, goggled the reporter, would that help Britain?

Well, grinned the President, it might get some favorable publicity.

BAD NEWS FOR ALL DAY PARKERS

It begins to look like those who have been parking all day on the east side of Common street will just have to use the space provided by the town at the rear of the fire station and town hall in the near future.

It is reported that the Boston & Maine Railroad, owner of this strip of land along their tracks, is soon to post it with signs forbidding its use by any but patrons of the road.

Railroad officials have been quietly conducting a parking survey of their own, having a railroad policeman on the job for several days checking cars parked along the tracks and at the rear of the Winchester depot.

They found that a substantial number of the machines left in both places belonged not to commuters but to local clerks and merchants. The whole matter was brought to a head by a non-commuter who wanted compensation for damages done a car while parked on the railroad land.

Once the railroad parking places are posted, they will be available only to patrons of the railroad, the officials of which seem to think they will be able to bar the clerks and merchants and ladies having treatments at the beauty shoppes. It sounds like a stiff assignment to us, but the B. & M. has a reputation for delivering!

WAKE UP MASSACHUSETTS!

To the Editor of the Star:

There is now pending on Beacon Hill, House Bill 289 which is a direct blow at all citizens with the vision and courage for constructive effort. This bill reads, "Be it enacted, etc: Section five of Chapter fifty-nine of the General Laws is hereby amended by adding to the end thereof the following new clause:— Thirty-sixth, Real Estate, other than real estate upon which the owner resides, which produces no rent or other revenue."

This section five is the section providing for the exemption from local taxation of certain type of property. The effect of H 289 would be to exempt all real estate not producing rental or other revenue from local taxation unless the owner resided upon it. What subsidy to the speculator! All he has to do is to leave the property vacant and he can hold it for his asking price, indefinitely, absolutely tax free. What a joke on justice that anyone should be provided with the legal opportunity to prevent anyone else from making use of the services and opportunities provided by all the people, at public expense without any compensation to the people for advantages monopolized! Are we Americans willing to fasten a new monopoly around our neck?

Until we insist on enough economic justice to force those enjoying exclusive occupancy of sites to pay a just compensation for privilege monopolized we are heading straight down the road which has led Europe into its present economic slavery, and war.

Write your Senator and Representative an emphatic NO on this proposition. They have their "ears to the ground."

THOMAS NICHOLAS FARRELL

Thomas Nicholas Farrell of 34 Oneida road, wire chief for the Everett district of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, died early Sunday afternoon, Feb. 16, at the Winchester Hospital, following a week's illness. He underwent an operation on the Friday preceding his death, which came as a severe shock to his family and many friends, both in and around Winchester.

Mr. Farrell was born 58 years ago in Dublin, Ireland, the son of Patrick and Mary (Kelley) Farrell. As a child of four years he came with his parents to this country, spending his early life in Cambridge and receiving his education in the Cambridge schools.

As a youth of 15 he entered the employ of the Telephone Company as an office boy and spent 43 years in the company's service, having been the proud possessor of the 40 year diamond studded service pin. From his apprenticeship as office boy he entered the company's plant department, rising to the position of wire chief of the Everett district after holding a similar position in Winchester and Stoneham. He was for a short time in charge of the Belmont office before coming to Winchester to open the local office serving Winchester and Stoneham.

Mr. Farrell had made his home in Winchester for 30 years, coming here from Cambridge. He was a member of Cambridge Lodge of Elks and of the Telephone Pioneers of America. His position brought him in contact with many of the town's people and he was held in esteem by a wide circle of friends.

On June 26, 1907, in Cambridge, Mr. Farrell married Margaret Sweeney, who survives him with two daughters, Miss Pauline and Miss Marie Farrell, both of Winchester; a son, Thomas N. Farrell, also of Winchester; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds of Scituate; and three brothers, John of Brighton, Paul of Allston, and Leo Farrell of Chicago, Ill.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning with solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church.

Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Francis J. Sullivan, sub-deacon. Bearers were Charles A. Farrar of Winchester, John Shea of Somerville, James McLaughlin of Reading, representing the Telephone Company; two brothers-in-law of the deceased, William Reynolds of Scituate and Joseph Sweeney of Somerville; and a nephew, John H. Farrell of Brighton.

Interment was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline, where the committal prayers were read by Fr. Mahoney.

Special: 72 single sheets of paper, 50 envelopes in Vellum or Parchment for 50c at Wilson the Stationer.

RESOLUTION FOR LATE CORA A. QUIMBY

The following vote was passed at the last meeting of the Library Trustees.

"The Board of Trustees hereby spreads upon its records its appreciation of the devoted services of the late Cora A. Quimby who for seven years, was an assistant librarian and for 51 years, librarian of the Winchester Library, a length of service without parallel in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

She was a capable executive, operating our Library economically and efficiently. Her staff of assistants, probably more than anyone else, realized her kindness and sympathy and loved her; and now all Winchester will appreciate her the more on learning that she so loved the Library and the Town that she left a fifth of her estate to be used for the purchase of books.

In consideration of this bequest, we hereby designate the fund as the Cora A. Quimby Trust Fund and direct that a suitable book plate be put in all books purchased from it.

We direct that a copy of this record be sent to the surviving relatives of Miss Quimby and that a copy be published in the Winchester Star.

QUOTA OF LOCAL SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARD INCREASED

The local Selective Service Board serving Winchester and Stoneham received advice this week to the effect that their quota of men to be inducted into Federal Service up to June 30th had been increased from the original figure of 103 men to the new figure of 165 men. The reason for this increase as explained by the State Director of Selective Service is a result of a new method of allotting quotas in proportion to the number of men available for induction out of those who have been classified by the local board up to date.

In view of this increase in quota the board has received unofficial advice that it will be asked to supply a quota of 79 men on Thursday, March 20th. This quota from figures which are available at the local board seems to be one of the largest assigned to any board with a corresponding number of registrants. It would seem as if the Selective Service Training Corps likes the quality of the men who have been inducted from Winchester and Stoneham.

This large quota to be supplied during the month of March has meant that the local Board has been obliged to continue to work under pressure and to continue its group physical examinations in order to be able to classify a sufficient number of men to meet the increased demands. Over 50 registrants appeared at the local Board headquarters last evening for physical examination and another large group has been ordered to appear next Thursday night, Feb. 27th.

The group physical examinations which were inaugurated by the local Selective Service Board have not only been a great help to the medical examiners, but perhaps an equal help to the registrants. Several cases of the detection of a physical disability which had heretofore been unknown to the registrant, some of which have resulted in immediate operation to correct the disability, have been reported to the local board.

Thirteen men from Winchester and Stoneham, many of whom have volunteered out of order for immediate induction, comprise the following named citizens of this town who have received orders to report for induction into the Selective Service Training Corps on Friday, Feb. 28, and will renort to the local headquarters at 7:30 a. m. prepared to take the 8:12 train to Boston where they will be met by Army officials and subjected to a rigid physical examination by Federal medicos:

Francis W. Harkins, 19 Eaton street.
Gerald J. Ficociello, 72 Oak street.
John H. Elliott, 35 Water street.
Edward G. Wadell, 2 Black Horse terrace.
Peter J. Coss, Jr., 30 Salem street.
Arthur L. Smith, 106 Ridge street.
Andrew E. Lynch, 53 Grove street.
Wayne R. McFadyen, 17 Webster street.

It is expected that these men will be conducted to Fort Devens and listed and outfitted preparatory to being sent to some camp for a year's intensive training.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By James Coon

This Friday, the basketball team closes their season with a game with Woburn. There is no dance scheduled after the game, possibly because the school wasn't too optimistic concerning a victory for the team.

The Vau-Devil show is now going ahead under full steam with a capacity load. Tryouts were held all last week in the auditorium under the supervision of Mr. Hayward, Mr. Knowlton and Miss Fenton. Most of the chairmen for the various committees have been chosen. They are Dan Roop, Janet Hayward, Shirley Brackett, and Jim Grimes. Mr. Hayward has a difficult job this year as there will be a weeks vacation next week. This interrupts his schedule for smoothing out the spots in the program, but when faced with this problem in the past he has always come through more nobly than anyone has dared to hope for, and each year the standards have become increasingly higher. Miss Knowlton will have charge of the tickets as usual. Every year the show manages to fill the auditorium so you had better get your tickets early.

The Science Club went on a conducted tour of the Beggs & Cobbs' leather preparing plant here in Winchester Tuesday. The various processes were explained and demonstrated for them.

Miss Mackedon's Valentine box turned out to be more of a success than was anticipated by the non-believers and less of a success than hoped for by the pro-Valentine-boxers. No Valentine at all appeared until the day itself, but the number that turned up, then was surprising to most people. We think that the idea will be squelched in the future for Miss Mackedon has already got rid of the box.

Wednesday morning, both Lincoln and Washington's birthdays were commemorated by the school in an assembly. The student speakers were as follows: Zoe Tibbetts, chairman, told us how Washington set up the Union; Brock Lynch how Lincoln preserved the Union; and Lane McGovern, what we should do to keep the Union. Mrs. Stacey was in charge of the assembly.

JUNIORS TO HAVE "COTTON BALL"

Winchester juniors are looking forward to the "Cotton Ball" which is to be held at the Winchester Country Club on Friday evening, Feb. 28, as the fifth in the series of Junior Dances.

Reversing the usual order the girls will date the boys for the affair and a group of fathers will be in the receiving line as hosts. Messrs. Joseph W. Worthen, A. Allen Kimball, E. Craig Greiner and Robert S. Clark will serve in this important capacity.

Continuing in reverse, Polly Kimball and Genevra Underwood will act as head ushers for a staff comprising Mary Janet Smith, Priscilla Flagg, Eleanor Randall, Jane Coulson, Margery Chapin, Muriel Fifield, Zoe Tibbetts, Claire Tapley, Roberta Ray and Jeanine Beranger.

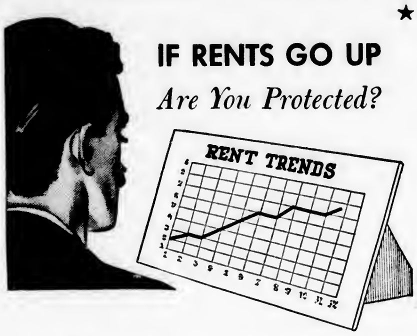

LYBECK MEN'S CLUB SPEAKER

School Committeeman Robert F. Lybeck of Everell road, a representative of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company, will speak on Oiling National Defense at the meeting of the First Congregational Church Men's Club next Thursday evening, Feb. 27 in the parish hall. Many interesting facts about defense preparations which are not available for ordinary publication will be discussed in his address which will be illustrated with pictures of the latest type army and navy planes.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Six members were absent from the meeting of Feb. 20.

Curtis Nash and Nat Nichols, disabled last week, stepped spryly to the mark today. Curtis feels so well about it that he is going to take a month's vacation, while Nat diligently presents his compliments to that never-forgotten man, the tax-payer.

Phil Gallagher has been investigating the whys and wherefores of laryngitis. He isn't saying much about it but is preparing to do so shortly. Nor was Tom Quigley feeling up to the mark today. Just give me a couple of days said Tom, in response to our query, and then—!.

Those Everett Rotarians are no quitters. Maybe they didn't come over last week but they did today, and how!! Charlie Clarke was in search of evidence and he certainly got it. "Hear dem Bells a-Ringing."

The District Spring Conference is announced for Friday, May 9, 1941, at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

Last week we announced that Rotary International in the interests of its International Service, would present a series of weekly broadcasts over the Mutual Broadcasting System. The first program, entitled "Humanity in Action," will be heard on Sunday, Feb. 23 and will commemorate Rotary's 36th anniverary, Local Rotarians will be served by Station WAAB from 4 to 4:30 p. m. On Sunday, March 2 the first of a series of broadcasts entitled "The Americas Speak" will be sent from Mexico City. The program of Sunday, March 9 will link the cities of Havana and Chicago. Shortwave station WRUL in Boston will send these programs to Latin America.

Mrs. Courtney Wilson Deane of Jamaica Plain was guest speaker at our current luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Deane have recently returned from an 18 months tour of Free China and this trip was the topic of Mrs. Deane's lecture. She traveled by truck over the Nanning road to the capital city of Chungking. This would not be classified as a pleasure trip what with the constant threat of machine-gunning and bombing by Japanese planes in addition to the ordinary hardships of travel over the roads and trails of the interior of China. Mrs. Deane told us of the political aspects of present-day China, the reactions of the people to this war with a short description of the city of Chungking and the aims of the republican element now in uncertain control of the destinies of Free China. The speaker graciously replied to questions from the floor and displayed a competent knowledge of the conditions and problems which go to make up the complex of Free China. We deeply appreciate her courtesy in giving us this insight into an area little known to the average American.

Our next meeting on Feb. 27 will be our annual meeting for the entertainment of community Rotarians and former members of this club. It will be held at the Country Club as usual but please note that it will be an evening meeting with dinner served at 6:30 p. m. Cliff Davis, of the sports department of the Boston Post will preside during the entertainment hour and although unable to present the Canadian woodsmen as on previous similar occasions, has, nevertheless, prepared a lecture on the northern game land which he loves so well together with superb motion pictures to show what it is all about. In addition there will be a program of music, song and dance designed for its appeal to this gathering of Rotarians. Members are urged to notify the secretary as to the number of guests they propose to bring on Thursday, Feb. 27 at 6:30 p. m. Every member is on the committee to make this occasion enjoyable to our visitors and guests.

MAPLE LEAF FUND

Desipte the severe cold, a goodly audience assembled on Tuesday evening in the parish hall of the First Congregational Church to hear Sir Herbert Ames, veteran Canadian statesman, outline the gigantic effort which Canada is expending on behalf of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Mrs. B. R. Gage, chairman of the Winchester committee welcomed the guests, and introduced our guest artist Mrs. Idabelle W. Winship. Mrs. Winship with Mrs. Darling as accompanist opened the program with "There will always be an England" and graciously responded to applause with an encore "Keep the Home Fires Burning" which quite carried the audience into the spirit and theme of the evening

Dr. H. Edward MacMahon, vice-chairman of the Massachusetts branch was then introduced and in turn, in a few simply chosen words presented the guest speaker Sir Herbert Ames, honorary chairman of the Massachusetts Branch.

To compass more than the barest skeleton of Sir Herbert's masterly and direct treatment of his subject. The Commonweatlh Air Training Plan: is beyond our poor power of reporting. So we shall attempt only a few of the salient facts presented in this new science, "Modern Air-Fighting" and its inevitable long range planning. But first a little history. The symbol of Briton is the Lion, of Russia, the Bear of the United States, the Eagle of Canada; the Beaver. Now this industrious little animal seems to have grown wings. The record of Canadian air-men was outstanding in the last war and has grown both in quantity and quality since the R. C. A. F. has undertaken the three-fold task of home defense. Fighting overseas and instruction of cadets. Upon the collapse of France, a speeding up of installation, of schools, of training centres, for pilots and groundmen and production of latest types of airplanes was demanded for "Super Planes require Super-Flyers."

Only about 15 in every 100 applicants qualify and still large enlistments continue. The ground men outnumber pilots more than 2 to 1.

Field development is nearly complete. Construction projects 50 per cent finished. Equipment keeps pace, but the full plan will not be in operation before 1942. The numerical advantage of the Germans is somewhat less now, than in 1939, but Briton alone cannot overtake this lead. Only with help from outside can this be done. Will the rate of delivery from Canada and the United States be adequate and on time? If so, American super-planes and Canadian super-flyers, may yet turn the scale.

At the conclusion of the address, a moving picture showed students in the 26 weeks course, learning to fly, to fight, to drop bombs, to bail out, to communicate by wireless, to take pictures, to shoot with wings in vertical position and often doing three of these simultaneously.

A story is told of a young pilot with considerable experience in commercial flying. Emerging from the stationary blind-flying machine after the landing test he asked, "Well, how did I do?" The teacher replied "You are, at present 800 feet below the surface of the earth."

Blankets, such as have been sent by thousands to Briton for use in air raid shelters and subways were on display and Dr. MacMahon stressed the great need of more. Many of those present placed their name on a tag to go with a blanket to England to keep someone warm.

In closing, Mrs. Winship suggested the audience join in singing America and Mrs. Gage invited all to remain for coffee, prepared by Mrs. Knight, chairman and her committee, Mrs. Estabrook, Mrs. Grey, Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Wm. Apsey, Mrs. Pitman. Presiding at the coffee urns were Mrs. Charles Tozier and Mrs. Alfred E. Knight.

As all those contributing to the evening's entertainment give their services and the use of the parish hall was also a contribution to the cause, we are able to send to headquarters in Boston a modest but substantial sum.

We are honored to add to our last weeks sponsors the following:

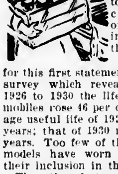

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Apsey
Mr. and Mrs. J. Ronald Brown
Mr. and Mrs. Albert K. Comins
Mr. and Mrs. John Downs
The Misses Joy
Judge and Mrs. Curtis W. Nash
Rev. and Mrs. R. Mitchell Rushton
Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Winship

To all our sponsors and friends, grateful thanks.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, Virginia Hurd Legro, dramatic reader and Michael Power, pianist, will appear in joint recital at Boston University, Hayden Memorial for the benefit of the Maple Leaf Fund.

Bates List Finders, that popular telephone index. $1. on sale at Wilson the Stationer.

At this season of the year Americans take stock of the things for which they should be thankful. Fortunately, they are numerous. And, too, the American motorist has much for which to be thankful. Just recently I ran across two facts which should make him thankful. First, the life span of the automobile is increasing: second, car operating costs are on the way down.

The authority for this first statement is a national survey which revealed that from 1926 to 1930 the life span of automobiles rose 46 per cent. The average useful life of 1926 cars was 6⅞ years; that of 1930 models was 9½ years. Too few of the more recent models have worn out to permit their inclusion in this study.

The other fact was disclosed in the booklet, Automobile Facts and Figures—1940, and was based on the operating costs per mile for light passenger cars as revealed by the records of ten large fleets. This booklet said that in 1939 car operating costs had an index number of about 49, as against an index number of 100 for 1926. During the same period living costs, based on the U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics for 32 cities, declined from 100 to 81, or 19 per cent.

These figures would seem to indicate that American motorists are not only getting better cars, fueling them with more efficient gasolines, lubricating them with more scientifically designed lubricants and driving them on better roads; but they are also taking better care of them. Good care results in lower operating costs and longer car life. It always has and always will pay to give your automobile sensible care. You'll be glad you did it, too, because it will not only insure more motoring pleasure and a minimum of trouble on the road, but it will go a long way toward promoting safety.

RED CROSS NOTES

Tri-State Red Cross Institute For National Defense Held in Worcester Last Week

Coordination of all Red Cross services in a unified program for national defense was held in Worcester, at the Bancroft Hotel, Monday, Feb. 10 to Friday, Feb. 15.

Red Cross Chapter executives and officers from Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island attended the conferenee and worked out with National officials plans for integrating local Red Cross chapter services with the broad national program of preparedness which the national organization is developing in co-operation with the nation's defense forces.

Those representing the Winchester Red Cross Chapter at the institute were Mrs. George A. Dutting, chairman; Mr. Malcolm Bennett and Mr. George R. Carter.

Chief among topics disеussed were the obligations of the Red Cross in the present emergency, Disaster Relief, Public Health Nursing and Home Hygiene and care of the sick, nursing in disaster, military and naval welfare services, roll call, junior Red Cross and volunteer special services.

THE IMPRESSION WE LEAVE

One of the most delightful and interesting events of the year will be a lecture on "The Impression We Leave" to be given by Miss Elizabeth Macdonald Osborne on Friday, Feb. 28 at 3 p. m., in the Morrison Barn, 12 Glen road. Following the lecture coffee will be served and an opportunity given to meet Miss Osborne, who is a Mt. Holyoke classmate of Mrs. Charles E. Greene, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. F. S. Hatch, Mrs. Floyd Clement and Miss Dorothy Larned. The lecture is being arranged by these friends in order to send help to the American Farm School near Salonica, Greece, which is being run by Mrs. Charles House, another classmate, and Mr. House, a graduate of Princeton. They are valiantly striving to keep their farm going and milk being delivered, to help others nearby with their farms, to shelter the American Consulate which has moved out from Salonica, and many refugees. Also Mr. House has been loaned to the American Red Cross in Greece and is helping to manage that.

Other Mt. Holyoke graduates who are helping with the affair are Mrs. Martin Swanson, chairman of the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Club, Mrs. Howard Morrison, who is providing the meeting place; Mrs. Wm. A. Kugler in charge of the coffee; Mrs. Harold A. Smith, Mrs. Gerald R. Barrett, Mrs. James B. Willing, Mrs. John L. Turner.

Miss Osborne has been lecturing for 15 years on personal development, feminine philosophy, etc. and has been advising girls in schools and colleges on how to dress, how to make the most of themselves, how to make a good impression, speaking at Radcliffe, Wheaton, Connecticut Colleges, Dana Hall, Bradford Junior College. At present she is giving a six weeks' course on personal development, which meets one hour a day at the Women's Republican Club in Boston and which is offered to "those who wish to dig down into the storehouse and bring out the best they have in vitality, balanced thinking, graeious living and good looks." She writes that this lecture will include "something light and humorous, some good meaty morsels (some of which they will digest and remember with pleasure and something worthwhile) which probably won't make a ripple but which would be included because American women need it."

WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

Last week the Star printed a preliminary list of Winchester authors compiled by the Winchester Public Library. Since then, Miss Dorothy Pendleton presented the library with her book, "Staff Training in Department Stores" and several interested people offered the following additional names:

Arthur S. Adams
Harold K. Barrows
Helen Clark Fernald
Carolyn Draper Gilpatric
Marjorie Mills
Henry H. Norris
Dr. Norman Padelford
Dorothy S. Pendleton
Laura Woodside Watkins

Further additions will be welcomed.

"COME WIND, COME WEATHER"

A New Realism from a Writer of Romance

Today Winchester will be dotted with little squares of red as people carry home copies that they had ordered of Daphne Du Maurier's newest book, Come Wind, Come Weather. The name of the author would sell it to many people, because they know her through her biography of her actor father, Sir Gerald Du Maurier, or through Rebecca, the book or the film drama. Others have ordered it sight unseen out of curosity, or interest, as to what sold 50,000 copies of Come Wind, Come Weather, in England last August the day it appeared. That day happened to be also the day when the threatened invasion was expectd and any hour it might be falling from the air and clambering ashore on some inlet of the sea. On such a day one would reasonably expect a first edition of a book to get scant attention. What a people! one says. Or What a book!

Miss Du Maurier would not agree with those who explain that sale as due to a national trait. Her belief is that the secret of steadiness and inner strength which is the heart of national defense is a supernational thing, as free for Amerіca as for Finland and Britain. These true stories of steadiness and inner strength which she has collected she is convinced can come to be true wherever man is man. We shall disappoint her if we read them and only sigh or write a wishful sonnet that we too and all our countrymen had hearts of oak.

She wrote the stories as her war service, to keep off fear.

Many things we are produeing for war we hone will never be used. We hope the battleships will never fight, the bombs will never be dropped. But Come Wind, Come Weather is as signifieant for peace as for war. If fighting stopped today, it would be just as timely. For the tangles and problems for whieh it offers solution are not war-made. The eapable and well-meaning woman who has unwittingly been a busy and dietatorial little Hitler in managing all her family and what she did when she met herself faee to face, that is not a war story merely. Lads very tough at 12 and eight to endure physieal pain but very soft in lack of self-diseipline and what they learned when evaeuation plumped them into a home where it was believed that even young human nature can learn to run by springs on the inside not pressure from the outside, this is not just a problem of war and evaeuation. What kept some soldiers steady at Dunkirk and made them able to pass on the steadiness to others may well be just as important when an Amerіean industrial community is threatened with breaking nerves and the defeat of peaceful and co-operative settlement.

The wave of the future rises high and menaeing and near. Some of us are afraid that, come war or continue peaee in Amerіea, when that wave comes in many precious things will be overwhelmed. We who do not choose to sit helpless and afraid and let the future just happen to us and the world will look thoughtfully into a book that bids us find sure ground for hope and join those who say

"One here will eonstant be Come wind, come weather."

England has bought 600,000 copies of the book.

The Winchester Unit of British War Relief will have 50 copies for sale Wednesday, Feb. 26 at the central work room. These are a gift from a Winehester member of the Relief Soeiety, and the proceeds will go to the fund accumulating in the Winchester Trust Company for Winchester's seeond rolling kitchen.

GREEK ATMOSPHERE STRESSED AT LUNCHEON

In keeping with plans for the gala event at the Winchester High School auditorium on March 7, when a Greek Choir will sing on the program of Dance with Ruth St. Denis, the committee members were entertained at lunch in the studio home of Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff, on Wednesday of this week.

The long table, set for 12 guests had as a center piece two small figures, one a Venus, and one an East Indian Buddha, with lavender tulips and candles. Several unusual dishes were served, including a dessert ehristened Pythagoras Pie.

The various ehairmen of committees invited were Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. Harold Bostwiek, tickets; Mrs. Harold Blanchard, educational contaets; Mrs. John Chipman, club contaets; Mrs. Harrie Nutter, program; Mrs. John Rutherford, project secretary; Mrs. Charles Underwood, posters; Mrs. Clarence Whorf, musie advisory; Mrs. Stanley Barnes, acting president for Mrs. John Penniman who is president of Junior High Associates and who is now in Florida; and Mrs. Lester Armstrong, transportation.

"MARDI-GRAS CARD PARTY"

The students of Marycliff Academy, Arlington Heights will hold a mardi-gras bridge, whist at the Academy on Tuesday, Feb. 25 at 3 p. m.

Marguerite O'Donaghue is chairman of the committee in charge. Progressive and pivot bridge will be played. Tea and coffee will be served.

Mary Clark, Winchester; Imelda Cormieo, Somerville; Serena Cummings, Arlington; Patrieia Dunn, Winehester; Arlene Finigan, Belmont; Audrey Graves, Lexington; Shirley Lamson, Arlington; Helen Latour, Arlington; Mary Lowe, Lexington; Antoinette Penny, Belmont; Alice Riley, Woburn; Kathryn Rogers, Somerville; Joanne Seanlon, Arlington; will aet as hostesses and pourers.

The students are expecting a large attendance of parents, alumnae and friends. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Academy.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Committee of Safety Chapter

The regular meeting of Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held on Feb. 17, at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Rowe, 30 Vine street, with the regent, Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes, presiding.

Representatives to the State Conference, whieh will be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston on March 18 and 19, and to the Congress in Washington for the week of April 19, were nominated as follows: March Conference delegates, Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes, regent; Miss Clara Russell, vice regent; alternates, Mrs. Edmund Merriam, Mrs. Reginald Cahalane, Mrs. Charles York and Mrs. George Bryne. Washington Congress delegate Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes, regent; alternates, Miss Clara Russell, vice regent and Mrs. Harry Jackson.

Following the business of the day Mrs. Francis Carlson presented an excellent resume of a new book by Mrs. Martha Genung Stearns, "Homespun and Blue." The author has done mueh researeh in the field of household arts, needlework being a special interest, and her account of the handicrafts of the early days of Amerіea gives reality and eolor to the readers eoneeption of the life of tho times.

Examples of handicraft, the work of Committe of Safety Chapter, were exhibited.

The guest speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Archibald Jordan, former State Chairman of National Defense. Mrs. Jordan reviewed the age-old struggle between democratie and totalitarian ideal and ended with a stirring appeal for a strong stand gainst the subversive influences trying to unermine our government—a government founded upon high ideals of justice and equality—and above all upon a sure faith in God.

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d—until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

Thought it was time someone built a truly big car—big in ability, in room, in beauty—that was still compact enough, bumper to bumper, to fit your garage without dispossessing the garden tools.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—trigger-quick, steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

They dress every mile you travel in trim Buick style—cradle every yard of distance on soft all-coil springing. They top off every trip with an even greater measure of gasoline economy, thread traffic with a new nimbleness, and when it comes to parking find the proverbial dime roomy as a dance floor.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling—and both will stand upand cheer for the easily-reachable price.

Buick Prices begin at $915 for the Business Coupe delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, white sidewall tires, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

Sheep Business

Sheep are raised on every continent except Antarctica. Australia is the biggest producer of wool, while India and China are leading sheep countries, says Pathfinder Magazine. Argentina leads other South American countries in the production of wool and mutton. Africa's flocks graze mainly over its two extremities, along the Mediterranean sea on the north and in South Africa. Every country in Europe raises sheep, but they are comparatively scarce in the northern countries of Norway, Sweden, and Finland. The United States, with more than 50,000,000 head, leads the North American countries.

On Friday and Saturday, Feb. 14 and 15, the Parish Players added another to their long list of excellent productions when they presented Sir James Matthew Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton" in the social hall of the First Congregational Church.

All, it seems, is grist to their mill, whether they tackle a recent Broadway success or one of the established classics of the stage. "Crichton" is undoubtedly one of the high spots in their distinguished career. The play is packed with social implications, and with its delightful humor and inherent human nature ranks as one of Barrie's best. For an amateur group to attempt it is unusual; that they should succeed so well with it is remarkable.

From a scenic standpoint, the play is difficult, requiring as it does three changes of scene. The reception room of the first act gave the needful impression of a family well established financially and socially. The island of Act 2 required, perhaps, some imagination mixed with it, but after all, this is a fantastic play, and a bit of imagination on the part of the audience is always helpful. The hut in Act 3 was strikingly in atmosphere; and while one would expect the garments in this act to be more fragmentary one must not, perhaps, forget the censors!

The play's effectiveness, of course, hinges on the portrayal of its leading character, the truly "admirable" Crichton. Since William Gillett originated it in 1902, this part has consistently absorbed the best that any actor could bring to it. In this case it was in safe hands, for Mr. Graves invested it with becoming dignity. Act 3 is, of course, the acid test of the role, and therein he rose nobly to the occasion. From the moment of donning the colorful robe through the scene of his cautious proposal to Lady Mary he so emphasized the masterful quality of the man that the scene emerged as the author intended it—the dramatic crux of the play, reaching its climax in the throwing of the switch that fires the electric beacons.

As Lady Mary, Mrs. Graves with practiced skill ran the gamut from the dignified and gracious lady of the first act through the conflicting emotions of ensuing scenes, embroidering the part with many telling strokes. Her growing admiration of Crichton's inherent worth, her touching anxiety to please him, and her impish delight at being waited on by her sisters as Crichton's future "consort" linger in one's memory.

In the skillful hands of Dr. Pollard, Ernest emerged in all his airy impudence and complacent self-esteem. By many little touches he developed the character until all hailed his duckings at the hands of Crichton with a sigh of satisfaction. It was evident that Dr. Pollard enjoyed himself hugely in the part, and so, needless to say, did the audience.

In the part of Lord Loam, Dr. Blanchard made much of a difficult characterization. To be sure, he could have given His Lordship a shade more dignity and a degree less of helplessness, but as the plan hinges on the contrast between him and Crichton this may well be a matter of opinion. No one who saw Dr. Blanchard's memorable portrayal of Deacon Thompson in the Cavalcade can accuse him of not being able to assume dignity on occasion.

Arnold Nichols as Lord Brocklehurst wa engaging and natural, and a special word must be said for Lady Brocklehurst, as portrayed by Rosalind Lynch. "Formidable" was Barrie's word for the character, and formidable indeed she was. A dangerous and diabolically clever woman, her cynical and searching cross-examination in the last act, foiled only by Crichton's quick-wittedness and composure, provided one of the play's outstanding moments.

A word, too, should be said for "Tweeny," impersonated by Eleanor Randall. Her appearance among the "odds and ends" and [illegible] gradual emergence under Crichton's tutoring into something upon which he might well "cast an eye" was portrayed with genuineness and charm.

Mr. Johnson was a manly and sympathetic clergyman, and Mary's two sisters, in the persons of Marion Harmon and Katrina Morse, were truly sisterly and human.

Other incidental characters were adequately played, and the servants, right down through the "odds and ends" were well contrasted with their betters. The only one to whom praise cannot be given was the prompter, who, as far as this critic could observe Saturday night, had nothing whatever to do. Orchids to Francis R. Hart, Jr., for a swell job of directing! In Act 2 particularly, the timid but trance-like return of the wanderers to the scene of the boiling pot—one of the most telling and dramatic bits of pantomime in all drama—was amusingly and effectively done.

All praise to the Parish Players and as time goes on, may their ambition and enthusiasm find ever new and fascinating dramatic fields to conquer!

GROUP THEATRE TRY-OUTS FEB. 27 AND 28

Joy A. Woolley, production chairman for the spring production of the Winchester Group Theatre announces that try-outs will be held at her home, 5 Fells road, on Thursday and Friday evenings Feb. 27 and 28. Mrs. Benjamin E. Sibley, director, will be in charge. Though it was originally announced differently, the play to be given will be "Murray Hill," written by Leslie Howard, and played by him with Genevieve Tobin on Broadway. It is an interesting comedy with character parts, and it is hoped that all persons interested in doing dramatic work will report at the try-outs whether or not they are members or no matter how litle actual stage experience they may have had.

Last Monday evening in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church, the Group Theatre had a joint meeting with the Unitarian Players. Under the chairmanship of Gerald Y. Hills an evening of magic was presented by Mr. Hills and Herbert T. Wadsworth. The audience was enthusiastic over the interesting variety of magical illusions and performing skill shown by both.

"BILL ELLIOTT, THE SINGING COP" IS COMING TO TOWN

The Baptist Young People's Society has arranged a varied program of musical entertainment for Friday evening, Feb. 28 at 8 o'clock at the social hall of the First Baptist Church.

Bill Elliott will be the soloist, ably assisted by Hubert (Swetty) Swetnam at the piano and Emil Gaverluk and his violin.

Bill's radio fame has come on before him and he needs no introduction to New England audiences.

"Swetty," as he is called familiarly by his intimates, is no stranger either to New Englanders, as those who listen to Tremont Temple's Twilight Hour can testify.

Emil Gaverluk, known to radio as "Gaverluk and his Violin," holds an enviable place in the hearts of music lovers and radio audiences.

We just don't know what's in store for us on this occasion, except that it is going to be something extraordinary good and unusual in the annals of music in Winchester.

Please hold the date open.

COMMUNITY FUND FINAL FIGURES

The Winchester Campaign for the Greater Boston Community Fund raised a total of $32,546.08 up to Wednesday, Feb. 19, a $1000 increase over last year's figures. A staff of 675 workers obtained contributions from 2779 contributors.

This year's campaign was carried on under great difficulty because of the grippe epidemic which greatly reduced the staff of executives and workers during busiest part of the drive.

MRS. LOBINGIER GRACES "OUR GRACIOUS LADIES"

Appearing recently in the Boston Traveller's column, "Our Gracious Ladies," was the following sketch of Mrs. John L. Lobingier of Manchester road, who is well known as an artist and teacher of art:

"Born Elizabeth Erwin Miller in Washington, D. C., daughter of Judge Thomas Fayette Miller, she grew up in Athens, Ga. Studied at the Art Institute of Chicago and won her Ph. B. from the University of Chicago to which she returned later in the role of art supervisor. Married to the Rev. John L. Lobingier, she has one son, a student at the University of Virginia. Lives in Winchester, where her greatest interest outside of her own creative painting is the Studio Guild, an organization of 22 women, which she organized for the purpose of developing artistic talent, and at which she teaches one day a week. Landscapes in oil are her own metier, and Rockport and Taos, N. M., her respective Meccas. Her work has been exhibited at the Boston Art Club the Copley Society, the Men's City Club, Oberlin College, Association of Georgia Artists, the Southern States Art League and the National Exhibition of the Society for Sanity in Art. Has written and published 10 books on education in art and self-illustrates her publications. On the faculty of the Andover-Newton Theological School, has written a goodly bit on religious education.

An omnivorous reader, she likes modern non-fiction; and Beethoven, Brahms and Bach are her music preferences. Favorite flowers are field daisies and asters; and she'd rather paint than raise them. Hobby is collecting pitchers and she has a passion for all kinds of chinaware. Her home is furnished mainly in antiques, most of which are heirlooms. With little time for clubs, belongs only to the American Association of University Women, of which she's a board member; and the Winchester College Club, of which she's a past president. Blue-eyed, she still has a faint trace of Dixie accent."

PAPALIA—BARONE

The marriage of Miss Lavinia Mary Barone, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Frank Barone of Washington street, and Roy Charles Papalia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Papalia of Summer street, Watertown, took place at 4:30 on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 16, in St. Mary's Church with the pastor of the church, Rev. Fr. John O'Riordan, officiating.

Miss Barone was given in marriage by her father and had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Isabelle C. Barone of this town. Miss Rinda M. Barone of New York City and Miss Eve F. Barone of Winchester were bridesmaids.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon with a tulle veil arranged with a tiara or orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of orchids and sweet peas. The honor maid wore spring lilac taffeta with matching headdress and carried iris with mimosa.

Miss Rinda Barone wore a frock of rose taffeta and Miss Eve Barone was in aqua taffeta. Both wore headdresses to match their frocks and carried bouquets similar to that of the honor maid.

Augustin Papalia of Watertown was best man, and the usher corps was headed by Dr. William D. Barone of Winchester, brother of the bride. The remining members were Anthony Julian of Boston, John Papalia and Albert English, both of Watertown.

After the ceremony a reception and wedding supper were held at the Women's Republican Club on Beacon street in Boston. Upon their return from a wedding journey to New York and Washington, D. C., Mr. Papalia and his bride will live on Mt. Auburn street in Watertown.

LEO F. GARVEY
FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Voters of Winchester:

We, the undersigned voters of Winchester heartily endorse the candidacy of Leo F. Garvey for the School Committee.

Mr. Garvey resides at 12 Allen road with his wife and five children. He is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire from which institution he received a Bachelor of Science degree. While in college he majored in Education and Psychology. After graduating he entered the employ of the Boston and Maine Railroad where he was employed for two years. For the next seven years he was employed by a group of casualty insurance companies doing claim and legal work. He attended the evening division of Suffolk Law School after marriage, from which institution he received a bachelor of Laws degree. He has been actively engaged as a practicing attorney at 573 Main street, Winchester for the past three years.

Mr. Garvey has been President of the Winchester Lions Club for the past two year, is an officer in the Winchester Lodge of Elks and the local council of the Knights of Columbus.

He is a member of the Federal Bar and the Massachusetts Law Society.

He has three children attending the Mystic School, a fourth child to enter school in the fall.

During his 10 years of residence he has been active in the community life of Winchester and the fact that he holds office in three local organizations is indicative of the high regard in which he is held.

He has a sound educational background, unquestioned business ability, and a wide knowledge of Winchester and its people, largely due to the fact that he is in business locally.

The fact that all of his children are in the lower grades in school will, in our opinion, insure a continued interest on his part in our school system.

We strongly urge you to support him in the coming election.

OFFICER PALMER ORDERED REINSTATED BY COURT

The Board of Selectmen has been ordered by Associate Justice Alfred A. Sartorelli of the District Court in Woburn to reinstate Patrolman William A. Palmer of the Police Department, dismissed by the Selectman during last November on charges, including failing to report for duty and conduct unbecoming an officer. Patrolman Palmer appealed from the Board's finding and the court ruled in his favor, ordering his reinstatement. The Board of Selectmen will act on the court's decision at its meeting Monday evening. In the meantime Patrolman Palmer will return to duty tonight, Chief Rogers announced this morning.

Early Tuesday morning a Ford sedan being driven south on Main st. by Forrest J. Lord of 16 Hancock st., was in collision with the Town Way with a Chevrolet sedan, owned by William French of 70 Beach street, Woburn. The latter machine had run out of gas and had been left by its owner, parked facing south. Both cars were badly damaged, the Chevrolet being towed to Bates Garage in Woburn.

ALPHONSO S. CAMPBELL

Alphonso S. Campbell of 19 Ridgefield road and "Green Gates," Duxbury, died suddenly Wednesday, Feb. 19 aboard the S. S. Brazil while on the way to Rio de Janeiro. He had not been well for the past year and was taking the southern cruise in an effort to improve his health.

Mr. Campbell was the son of Alpheus, and Angeline (Greenleaf) Campbell, his mother being a cousin of the poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. He was born 63 years ago at Boothbay Harbor, Me., and in 1910 founded the A. S. Campbell Company, located in East Boston and manufacturing metal stampings for the automobile industry.. He served as president until last November when he retired to become chairman of its board of directors. During the past 15 years he had been closely identified with the Detroit office of the company which grew to be one of the largest metal stamping concerns in the east, producing accessories for automobile manufacturers in all parts of the country.

Aside from his business Mr. Campbell's hobby was the raising of turkeys and he was well known for the excellence of the birds raised on his Duxbury estate. He came to Winchester in 1923 from Medford and lived on Lewis road before moving to his late address.

He leaves his wife, the former Bertha Ryder, two sons, Corthland and Kenneth Campbell and a granddaughter, Bonnie Lee Campbell.

Funeral arrangements could not be learned when the Star went to press.

MRS. ADDIE E. MARSH

Mrs. Addie E. Marsh, widw of Walter H. Marsh and a former resident of this town, died Friday, Feb. 21, at her home in Hudson N. H. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Davis Funeral Home in Nashua.

On June 11, 1885, she married Mr. Marsh and lived for a time in the house on Highland aveune occupied by William P. M. DeCamp. Later her husband built and occupied the house at 102 Cambridge street which was subsequently the home of the late Handel Pond and which is now occupied by the latter's sons Clarence and Dana Pond.

Mrs. Marsh left Winchester with her huband about 30 years ago, Mr. Marsh returning to make his home in the old Marsh homestead at Hudson, N. H. She had since resided there.

FIREMAN'S BALL ATTRACTED LARGE CROWD

With every seat taken and many late-comers standing, the Concert and Ball of the Winchester Fireman's Relief Association was held last Friday evening in the town hall. The hall was filled long before the show got under way and the big audience was fast becoming impatient when the curtain finally went up at 8.30.

Featuring the entertainment bill were Jack Birchley, contortionist; Dot Russell, dancer; and Raymond Pike, juggler and balancer. The first named twisted himself into unbelievable pretzel-like shapes on and off a table while the petite Miss Russell's rapidfire tapping proved a crowd pleaser. Mr. Pike, late of the World Fair, presented a very high grade balancing and juggling act done with an effortless ease that made it seem easy.

Supporting these feature acts were Walsh and Renee, a statuesque blonde and a funny man in slapstick comedy and cross talk; Roberta, 11 year old toe dancer; Lloyd, seven year old tapper, who appeared in the Dance of the Wooden Soldiers; and Ray Hilyer, magician. The latter's act got a big hand when he picked up as "stooges" two local boys, James Lee and John D'Ambrosio, who acted as human guinea pigs for his legerdemain. Jack Lane as master of ceremonies contributed humorous stories and songs.

Leon Mayer's Orchestra, playing for the dancing after the show, also accompanied most of the entertainment, being placed at the rear of the stage.

At the conclusion of the show the hall was cleared by Janitor Lee Mellett and his assistants, dancing continuing until one o'clock.

Meanwhile at the Recreation Center opposite the Central Fire Station the firemen were holding open house, entertaining visiting firemen and many friends about town. The hall was very attractively decorated and though the old timers missed the atmosphere of pumps and ladder trucks, there was much about the new quarters to admire. The usual satisfying repast was served.

Dancing was under the direction of Deputy Chief John J. Gorman, Assistant Floor Marshal, John McCarron; Floor Director, Alexander W. McKenzie; Assistant Floor Director, Walter J. Skerry; Chief of Aids, John J. Flaherty; Aids, Lt. James E. Callahan, James H. Nowell, John J. Flaherty, Jr., Hugh Skerry, Howard Ambrose, Everett W. Kimball, Harry E. Brown, Frank Amico, Robert Scanlon. Edward Callahan, Robert Haggerty, Joseph Callahan, George Nowell, Leigh Roberts and Robert McKee.

Committees were: Hall, Lt. Ray Hanscom; Entertainment and Music, John F. O'Melia, chairman, Lt. David J. Meskell and Edward D. Fitzgerald; Refreshments, Lt. J. Edward Noonan, chairman, Walter J. Carroll, George Osborne, James E. Nolan, Homer Davidson, Neil Kerrigan, John Pearson, William Carroll, Stanley Mullen and Frank Nowell; Tickets, Walter J. Skerry, chairman, Edward Fitzgerald, John J. LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Winchester league held their annual Legislative luncheon last Friday, Feb. 21st, at the Church of the Epiphany. The program was in charge of Mrs. Earl J. Carrier and was a most interesting one. Th morning session was opened by Mrs. William C. Cusack, the president, who after a few words of greeting called for various committee reports. Then Mrs. Erro Horner gave a brief description of the Foreign Affairs School held at Radcliffe College last month.

Mrs. Carrier then introduced Mrs. H. Kelsey Moore, who described a hearing on a bill now pending before the Legislature to compel the licensing of all boarding houses for children from 2 to 16 years. At present only homes for children under 2 years are required to have such a license. Massachusetts is behind 34 other states in respect to this very necessary law. Next Mrs. Margaret Roethlisberger, State Legislative Chairman, spoke on the legislative program of the league and discussed the five bills which the league has selected for emphasis. These are:

To support—

(1) A statewide system of Juvenile Courts.

(2) Recommendations of the special commission on pardon and parole.

To oppose—

(3) A state lottery to raise funds for Old Age Assistance.

(4) A constitutional amendment to permit regulation and prohibition of employment of married women in public service.

(5) To bar certain minority parties from the ballot.

After a most delicious luncheon served by a committee of the church, Mrs. Philip Woodward, State Chairman on Foreign Policy, gave an analysis of the Lease-Lend Bill and urged everyone to write to our Senators in vigorous support of it. She then introduced Miss Corinne Meade, librarian at the Winchester Public Library, who spoke appreciatively of the interest of league members in the library and of the increased circulation of books particularly of the nonfiction variety.

Mrs. Woodward then introduced Mrs. Lois Rantoul, only woman member of the Pardon and Parole Commission appointed by Governor Saltonstall, who gave a fascinating description of the difficulties and discoveries of that board over a period of 19 months of intensive work. Two pardons issued by Governor Hurley in 1939, one to Raymond Patriarca and one to John Tarter, both notorious criminals, started the investiation which it is hoped will have far reaching results. Mrs. Rantoul said that although the system of parole and pardon is excellent if properly administered the board has recommended regulation of the Governor's right to pardon as there are no rules governing that at present and would like the parole board changed to a quasi-judicial commission with the members to serve for longer terms of 15 years with larger salaries. She spoke in terms of highest praise of the present parole board and urged everyone to support the recommendations of the commission. After questions from the floor the meeting adjourned.

CARS CRASHED ON MAIN STREET

The police were notified of an accident that took place on Main Street near Chestnut Street, shortly before 2 o'clock on the morning of the holiday. Patrolmen John Hogan and James Noonan being dispatched to investigate in Patrol 52.

Upon arrival they found a Chrysler sedan disabled and a Packard sedan badly damaged. According to their story the Packard sedan, driven by William J. Young, of 34 Oakland St., Medford, was headed south on Main Street when it went in collision with the Chrysler, which was being driven north on Main Street by George A. Doucette of 230-A Main Street, Woburn. Police say the Chrysler went to the west side of the street just before the accident occured.

Doucette was taken into custody, charged with drunkenness and with driving while under the influence of liquor. He appeared in court Monday morning when his case was continued.

The Chrysler was so badly damaged about the front end it had to be towed to the Super-Service Garage. The Packard was smashed along the entire left side, but was able to leave the scene of the accident under its own power. There were no injuries.

CONGRATULATED BY TAX COMMISSIONER

Winchester's Collector Felicitated on Excellent Record

Writing Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols soon after the fall of the new year, Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long once again extends his heartiest congratulations to Winchester's capable collector of taxes for the excellence of his collection record and for being the first of the State's collector's to make their report to him.

Especially was Commissioner Long impressed with he fact that as of Jan. 1 only 16.02 per cent of Winchester's real estate taxes remained outstanding.

Showing Mr. Nichols further honor, Commissioner Long had it reproduced and sent to all collectors of the State the "trial balance" furnished him by the local collector as an example of efficient administration of the office.

Mr. Nichols has been in the town's employ for nearly 40 years. He has served as collector of taxes for 15 years and has been for 14 years secretary of the Massachusetts Collectors' and Treasurers' Association. In this capacity he has been responsible for much helpful legislation affecting collectors and treasurers in the conduct of their offices.

Professor Lambie, who recently rated cities and towns of the Commonwealth financially, informed a group of local women that Winchester's high standing was in large part due to the good collection of taxes.

MRS. JENNIE BURNHAM CAMERON, O.B.E.

WINCHESTER GIRL WINS BRITISH EMPIRE AWARD FOR HEROISM DURING AIR RAID

Mrs. Donald Cameron of Kirby Muxloe, Leicestershire, England, the former Jennie Burnham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham of Everett avenue, is the first American woman to be decorated with the coveted medal of the Order of the British Empire for heroism during an air raid.

Official news of their daughter's great honor was received by the Burnham's on Washington's Birthday a representative of one of the Metropolitan dailies informing them that his paper's English correspondent had cabled that "Mrs. Jennie Burnham Cameron, American-born wife of a Leicestershire business man today (Feb. 22) became the first American to be awarded the Order of the British Empire for heroism during an air raid." Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Burnham were besieged by reporters and kept busy answering telephone messages of congratulations from their own and their daughter's friends.

The first intimation the Burnhams received of their daughter's heroism came in a letter from Mr. Cameron who informed them that every one in Kirby Muxloe was talking of "Jennie's latest feat." A letter previously received from Mrs. Cameron very probably made mention of the experience which led to her decoration but was so heavily censored that no account of the exploit remained.

Mrs. Cameron is credited with getting 165 persons to safety during an air raid, a fellow worker stating that "She worked like a Trojan all through a really ghastly night, quite oblivious of the bombs." It is thought the raid took place near Kirby Muxloe which is only 100 miles north of London and six miles from Leicester.

Bomb are no new experience for the former Winchester girl, who has been living in England since her marriage, but who has always retained her United States citizenship under the Cable Act. In her letters home she has told of going to see shelters, and described the storing of effects of bombed neighbors in her garage while giving shelter to people made homeless by the Nazi flyers.

Mrs. Cameron is chairman of the Woman's Voluntary Service in her district and has more workers serving under her, with two exceptions, than any other chairman in Leicestershire County. She is a member of a commission comprising three men and three women created to establish community feeding places in more than 20 villages in the British Midlands. Because of her previous experience and the heroism displayed under fire during the air raid she was the first person chosen for membership and received the greatest number of votes. Her activity in support of the British cause was also recognized not long ago when she was chosen to present the trailer-ambulance sent to Winchester, England by the Town of Winchester, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Cameron's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, are widely known in Winchester and there are many here who know the former Jennie Burnham, remembering her as a pleasant friendly girl of that quiet bearing that so often rises to the emergency when real danger threatens. Her parents and brothers, Lyndon, of this town, and David, Brown University sophomore vouch for the fact that under no circumstances has she ever displayed the slightest emotion of fear.

Born in Lynn, great grand-daughter of Lydia Pinkham, whose name has been for years a household word, Mrs. Cameron came to Winchester at the age of seven years and attended the Winchester schools, leaving high school after three years to enter Dana Hall School in Wellesley.

It was while at Dana Hall that she met Mr. Cameron, who was then a student at Oxford, but who had accompanied his father on a business trip to the United States. The Burnhams and Camerons were friends of long standing and the engagement of Jennie Burnham to Donald Cameron was a source of great satisfaction to both families.

The couple were married Sept. 27, 1926, and went to England to live, Mr. Cameron being British and European managing director of the B. B. Chemical Company in Cambridge. He is also serving as local report post officer in wartime and assistant training officer for the Leicestershire district.

The Cameron's two sons, Ewen, 13, and Fergus 12, are in Winchester "for the duration" living with their grandparents. Needless to state they are tremendously proud of their mother's recent honor, a pride shared by their father who addressed the following cablegram to the Burnhams on Feb. 22:

"Cable received. We are very proud of our Jane. She thoroughly deserved the honor for her superb leadership and infinite patience and kindliness. You must be very proud of a daughter who can show such qualities under fire. All well. Fondest love.

Donald Cameron"

Mrs. Cameron's service to Britain extends back two years for it was two years ago that she organized the Woman's Volunteer Service in Kirby Muxloe. Her organization grew until it alone took in ten villages and now she is one of six leaders responsible for more than 20. The women do everything that no one else has time to do, billeting, canting work, caring for evacuees, handling clothing, Red Cross supplies etc.

The former Winchester girl as head of the women workers is faced with multitudinous duties but always finds time for everything, not forgetting now and then a bit of relaxation and pleasure which must be snatched as opportunity permits..

In addition to her other duties she is Air Raid Welfare Officer, and as Kirby Muxloe, a village of 1200 inhabitants, is near three air fields it is likely that she is often called upon for hazardous duty in this field. It is known that she quartered 200 London evacuees in the Leicester motion picture house until they could be picked up by her motor corps and taken to the homes where they were to be billeted. After a hard day's work that extended far into the night Mrs. Cameron went to bed and as she laughingly relates, dreamed that all her evacuees had gotten out of the wrong side of their beds.

A good part of the time Mrs. Cameron is either in her uniform of the Woman's Voluntary Service or in her "siren suit," a zipper fastening combination of blue flannel blouse and trousers, to which are added a steel helmet, coat, scarf, heavy boots and sex and a gas mask.

The Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, which is the full name of the honor conferred upon Mrs. Cameron, was instituted June 4, 1917, and is designed chiefly as a recognition of the services rendered by civilians, voluntary and otherwise, in connection with war, though there is also a military division. The order is divided into five classes, the first two classes in the case of men carrying the honor of knighthood, and in the case of women, the privilege of prefixing the title "Dame" to their names. The initials O. B. E. are always affixed to the signatures of those to whom the order is awarded.

WINCHESTER LOSES FINAL GAME

Woburn Too Good for Locals, 32—19

Winchester High closed its current basketball season last Friday evening, losing to Woburn High in the local gymnasium, 32—19. The Woburn seconds won the preliminary game after a hard fight, 17—15.

Local fans had a chance to see in Woburn a slick working team, the visitors proving just too good for Winchester. Coach Bartlett's charges played a better all around game than in their first Woburn engagement, but the Orange too had improved since early season, and there was never any doubt of the outcome. The visitors passed the local boys dizzy to keep control of the ball most of the time and generally gave a fine all around exhibition of play. Their lead at the half was 22—7.

Cristaldi of Woburn with 10 points led both teams in scoring. Lane McGovern, playing guard in the altered lineup, was the locals best scorer, having six points. The summary:

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

by James Coon

There isn't any school this week, but we still have a little information to pass on to you.

The Yearbook staff has been chosen by the Senior class. The editor-in-chief is Lucille Mantini. Her assistant editor is Leonard Sherman. Frank Marabella, Joe Palumbo, and Polly Kimball head other committees. Last Friday Mr. Graves held the first meeting and acquainted the staff with their various duties.

Two Wadleigh boys have published a freshman paper for the benefit of their class. Billy Eaton and Sammy Tompkins together typewrite, sell, and collect the profit on his paper monthly.

The Seniors now have a greater per cent of their class on the honor roll than any other class in the school. The Freshman came in second. There are nine more students on the honor roll this quarter than the first quarter.

The orchestra has a new leader in the person of Mr. George Brown of Melrose. He has started a drive for increased membership. He also is giving lessons on the correct manner of conducting an orchestra.

The library has added 31 new books to the shelves. These books were made possible by the Nickerson and Parkhurst funds. The books can be taken out for only one week at a time and can't be renewed.

The treasurer of the A.A., Margery Harris has recently made public a financial report for the month of January. The receipts for the month were $97.59, the expenditures were $173.96. Thus there was a loss of $76.37 for the month.

The Red Cross distributed 835 Valentines to the Winchester Hospital and the Children's Hospital.

The dramatic society is working on a play called "The Telegram." Janet Smith is the director.

Ot a recent student council meeting there were several suggestions adopted by the council. Two rules were passed which are designed to make the attendance at the meetings better than it has been in the past. The most important rule however was this. Hereafter all home room representatives must give a report at their home rooms the morning after the meeting. Thus the school will no longer be in doubt about what is going on at the meetings. The plan for students to help teachers in the study hall is also under discussion. However, no decisive action was taken on this subject at the meeting. The majority of the teachers are in favor of this plan. Quite a few people feel that the council is trying to start at the wrong end. Disciplining your fellow students is the most difficult thing that the council has to do. This should be the last thing attempted by any student body, coming only after the council has acquired more savoir-faire.

FIRE DEPARTMENT BUSY

The combination of high winds and school vacation has kept the members of the Fire Department busy this week putting out grass fires, many of which was started by boys.

The first fire of the week-end was Saturday morning at 11:12 a.m., a grass fire near the old Beggs & Cobb patent leather plant on Cross street. At 12:05 p.m. there was a grass fire at the rear of the home of Miss Mary Donaghey, 15 Water street.

Sunday morning's only run was to Stowell road where a grass fire was reported at the rear of the Berry residence at No. 15. At 5:41 p.m. there was a grass fire on the Brooks estate off Grove street near the Medford line, and at 6:12, another grass fire at the rear of 763 Main street.

Sunday evening at 6:10 the department was called to Winchester station to put out a fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring of an automobile owned by Hilda Cabral of 81 Newland avenue, Arlington.

Monday morning at 11:38 there was a grass fire at the corner of Main and Hemingway streets, and at 1:40 p.m., another fire on Allen road near the residence of Mr. H. Warren Arnold. An alarm for a third grass fire at Cullen's dump on upper Main street came in at 2:23.

Box 37 was sounded at 2:26 Monday afternoon for a fire caused by an over-heated motor on a washing machine at the home of Mr. Dominick Luongo, 7 Florence street. The last run of the day was at 3:25 p. m. for a grass fire near the residence of Mrs. Josephine Salice, 92 Loring avenue.

The first alarm on Tuesday came in at 12:02 p.m. for a grass fire at the rear of the residence of Mr. Thomas Connolly, 28 Clark street. Considerable excitement was occasioned at this fire when a booster-pump attached to a hydrant caused the latter to burst. Fireman believe the hydrant had been struck at some time by an automabile and weakened by the accident. Box 45 was sounded for additional help at the same fire at 12:15. At 3:36 Tues. afternoon there was a grass fire on cemetery land off Middlesex street.

Every registered voter of the town physically able to do so should vote in the annual election of town officers at the town hall on Monday. Aside from the civic obligation entailed, it is the least the electorate can do for the candidates who are seeking public office. Few realize the amount of time, effort and expense which a candidate must put into a campaign in competition with other candidates for public office. If no one ran for town office, or putting it another way, if no one contested for public office, Winchester's civic government would suffer. Our town stands upon its present high plane because public spirited men and women have sought office and have been willing to make the sacrifice entailed to be elected. Another group of candidates awaits the electorate's preference on Monday. They are entitled to a representative vote. A large vote more nearly assures the majority choice in office. We should all vote to ensure this desirable result.

All the town is proud of Jennie Burnham Cameron, the Winchester girl upon whom Great Britain has conferred the Order of the British Empire for heroism duing an air raid near her home in Kirby Muxloe, Leicestershire County, England. Being the first American woman to win this honor since the beginning of the war adds to the prestige of her exploit and further sets the unassuming young matron upon the pinnacle of public esteem in her adopted country. Determination to serve that country well motivated Mrs. Cameron from the moment when danger first threatened Britain and devotion to what she conceives as her duty has kept her in England by her husband's side when the easier way would have brought her back to the safety of her home land. Winchester shares in the reflected glory of that determination and devotion and we believe this fact in itself will mean much to Mrs. Cameron. Great as must be the thrill at winning the coveted O. B. E., still greater is the satisfaction that must be hers as she realizes the great success she has achieved as an ambassador of good will to England from her own home town and state and nation.

We took a trip down to our camp on Cape Cod over the week-end—the first since last November. Contrary to our expectation, we found everything all O K. The army camp population had left the day before we arrived, and the only casualty we heard of was one camp burned up. Our old friend George was on deck, happy as a cricket. He bought himself a carpenter's job from his government last fall, and stated that he had paid its cost of $75 and had made himself a little money. He has now bought himself another job from his government, paying $25 for the right to hire on as a painter. While he does not expect to make quite as much money at painting, he feels pretty good over having the $25 to buy the job with. Horace, the old died-in-the-wool Cape Codder, refused to buy a job. He is still at work, has no union dues to pay, and is satisfied with conditions in general. He claims he will have work the rest of the year unless someone discovers what he is doing and cracks down on him. Meanwhile the Cape roads over which we traveled are in just the mess one would expect under our magnificent defense program and we are wondering how long we will still be able to travel over them before shifting to an airplane or a sea going cruiser.

With America straining every nerve to give aid to Britain, to say nothing of China, Greece and some others, it seems about time to attend to the rising revolution which appears to be gathering speed here at home. According to our newspapers the epidemic of strikes is growing weekly and spreading well over the country. The news of this feature is confined largely to disturbances in plants engaged in defence work. What is taking place in other plants seems unimportant. Just why all these strikes should again break out is not explained, but in those settlements which are published, the strikers are usually granted their demands. One of the latest plants to come into the fold is that of Henry Ford, hitherto hailed as the greatest friend to labor of all big American manufacturers. If we are going to war, and it looks as though we are, it might be a good plan to clean house right here at home, starting at once. Our administration may approve of strikes and give them its sympathy, but if the movement continues it may find itself in a worse position than France—and as a prewar example we are not far removed from that country now. If the administration is still trying to divide all wealth and run a war at the same time, it appears to be taking on a job which even it my have hard work to finish. Possibly it may be a good thing if we get into the war at once. Perhaps that might bring a show down and let us all know where we stand before any foreign powers get ready to come over here and wipe us up.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The next meeting of the Board will be held at 8 o'clock on March 3.

Movement is on foot to see if the new business blocks to be erected in the business center of the town cannot be planned to conform with the New England architecture and surroundings with a view to increasing the attractiveness of the buildings.

If House Bill 2042 which relates to the apportionment of the State and County tax is passed it will mean an increase in Winchester taxes of 7.01 per cent, with varying amounts in other towns. This is on account of the valuation of Middlesex County being increased $30,121,136, and the valuation of Boston alone in Suffolk County being reduced by $368,229,198 thus reducing the proportion which Boston would contribute toward the State tax by 4.14 per cent. No date for hearing has been set as yet, according to Rep. Ramsdell.

Catholic Daughters of America have been granted a license to conduct a bridge and whist in Lyceum Hall on the 27th.

Sons of the American Legion Post have been granted the use of the town hall for a bridge and whist on Easter Monday.

MRS. ABIGAIL S. SARGEANT

Mrs. Abigail S. Sargeant, widow of William H. Sargeant and mother of Guy H. Sargeant of Wyman court, died Sunday afternoon at her home in Boston after a long illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday forenoon at the Waterman Chapel in Boston with Dr. Bridges of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul officiating. Cremation at Mt. Auburn followed the service.

Mrs. Sargeant, a former resident of Winchester for 15 years, was 88 years old and a native of Rutland, Vermont. Besides her son in this town she leaves a son, Will L. Sargeant of Hyde Park, and a daughter, Edith A. Sargeant of Marlborough street, Boston.

SELECTIVE SERVICE FEBRUARY QUOTA COMPLETED

Thirteen men from Winchester and Stoneham left Winchester this morning by train to Boston to meet the requirements of the fourth call on the local Board for men for Selective Service Training, issued by the State Headquarters of Selective Service. These men will be physically examined and taken to Camp Edwards were they will be outfitted, identified and assigned to companies, preparatery to being sent to some training camp for at least one year Army life.

Official advice has been received by the local Board to the effect that the fifth call will comprise 79 men from Winchester and Stoneham, who will be inducted into the Army for one year's training on Thursday, March 20th. This group will include many well known young men in both communities These men, in fact the entire March quota from the State, will, it is expected, go directly to Camp Edward in Falmouth to be used as replacements to build up the 26th Division, National Guard to full strength.

The men comprising this quota will after their induction, be subjected to various questionnaires in order to determine which branch of the 26th Division their previous training in civilian life will best suit them to serve. It is expected that many will join the various motorized and mechanical units of the 26th Division, if their training in civilian life has acquainted them in any sense with the mechanics of automobile engines and motorized equipment. The large number of volunteers that are still being received by the local Board would seem to endorse the popularity of, and loyalty to, our own 26th Division, National Guard, made up entirely of Masachusetts men, many of whom come from this immediate vicinity.

It is expected that many young men who realize that they are to be expected to accept a year's training under the Selective Service and Training Act will volunteer and be physically examined so that they may have the opportunity of joining this March quota and be able to serve with their neighbors and friends in the popular 26th Division.

The board is particularly anxious that immediate Selective Service Training will appeal to young men between the ages of 18 and 21 who have finished their public school education, but who are not yet too heavily involved in business, and who may not, as yet, have taken on themselves the responsibility of matrimony. It seems to the local Board as if this group of young men should volunteer for Selective Service Training before they become too valuable to some business concern, so that their induction into Selective Service may create the least amount of disturbance in the business and industrial world. Such men it seems would be assured of far more rapid advancement in business if they have completed their year of military training than with the possibility of being inducted for such training hanging over them.

MRS. WHORF TO ENTERTAIN DANCE COMMITTEE

Mrs. Clarence Whorf will entertain at a luncheon in her unusually beautiful home at 2 Central Green on Monday, March 3. Mrs. John Rutherford is acting as project secretary; Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. Harold Bostwick are ticket co-chairmen and feel the response is enthusiastic.

Mr. Ralph Hatch of the Winchester Savings Bank, is a member of the Board and is acting as treasurer for the project. Mr. Pennell and Mr. Charles Jordan of the Junior High faculty are assisting Prof. Ware of Harvard. Mr. Charles Green as head usher, and a group of Junior High boys will be ushers. A group of Junior High girls will sell inexpensive flower bouquets, adding a delightful touch to the festive evening.

FIRST FORUM MEETING OF THE WINCHESTER UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

Metcalf Hall was filled to capacity last Tuesday evening when Mr. Karl S. Cate gave an enthusiastic audience a clear and straightforward account of his own personal observation of the fall of France. It was the opening meeting of the series of three forum sessions, to be held under the auspices of the Winchester Unitarian Men's Club. As an American manufacturer living and doing business in France for 20 years, Mr. Cate had extraordinary opportunities of knowing at first and what went on during the years between the two great World Wars as well as during the tragic war months themselves. His references to the amazing way in which Germany "planted" her nationals in key French positions, from politics to munition-making, gave his audience much to think about. Particularly noteworthy were such incidents as the one about a munitions factory in which blue prints were changed so often that in all the months from Sept. 1, 1939 to France's surrender not an order was allowed to be completed; and the one about the hospital which after the 1940 Armistice was put in charge of a Colonel in the German medical service who, it turned out, had been living for 20 years in the town where the hospital was situated and knew the hospital more intimately than the Frenchmen themselves.

A lively question period followed Mr. Cate's address.

The second forum meeting will be held on Thursday evening, March 13, when the speaker will be Mr. James R. Young. For 10 years Mr. Young was the Far Eastern director of the International News Service, with headquarters at Tokyo. Last spring, as many Americans will remember, Mr. Young returned from a 9000-mile trip over unoccupied China, only to be arrested by the Japanese and held in an unheated cell for 61 days under accusation that he had libeled the Japanese army. His lecture on March 13 is entitled "Ringside Seats in the Asia Arena," and will be an intensely interesting and dramatic account of what is taking place in the Orient.

LOOK HIM UP!

Charles A. Farrar, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Farrar of Myrtle street is now located at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, where he is a private in Battery A of the 60th Field Artillery Battalion. A close friend of Private Farrar, Bruce Pendergast of Everett, recently inducted into the service through the Selective Service Board in that city, left for Fort Bragg Tuesday and arrived in camp well in advance of the Star which goes to the Winchester soldier each week. The reunion of the two 'buddies" must have been a pleasant one.

The Kerr "Changepoint" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building. $2.50, $3.00, $3.50.

PAST NOBLE GRANDS SERVICE CLUB

The Past Noble Grands Service Club of Victoria Rebekah Lodge No. 178 met on Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, at the home of our President, Sister Lillian Donaghey, Glenwood Avenue. The regular business meeting was held, after which there was an open discussion on several festivities which the Club is intending to hold in the near future, the first of which will be a bridge and whist party, which will be held at Association Hall on Thursday evening, March 6, at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend. The club is also actively engaged in preparing for the Annual Guest Day of the Eastern Middlesex Past Noble Grand Association to be held here in Winchester on April 5 and of which one of our most beloved members, Sister Margaret Sharon is President.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served from prettily decorated small tables by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Barbara Donaghey and Sister Mabel Lawson.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Sister Winnifred Fay, 36 Park Avenue on Wednesday evening, March 26. It is hoped that every member will be present, as there is many important questions to be settled at that meeting.

FINAL GROUP THEATRE TRY-OUTS TONIGHT

Tonight is the second and final night for trying out for parts in "Murray Hill", the Spring Production of the Winthrop Group Theatre to be given in the Auditorium of the Winchester High School Friday and Saturday evenings, April 4th and 5th.

This amusing comedy, written by Leslie Howard and played by him on Broadway, offers interesting character parts for four men and four women. It is hoped that anyone who has either experience or a desire to act with the Group will report for the tryouts, whether or not they are Group members.

Try-outs are being handled at the home of Mrs. Joy A. Woolley, 5 Fells Road, under the direction of the Group Coach, Mrs. Benjamin E. Sibley. Mrs. Woolley, Production Chairman for the Spring Play, is very anxious to have "new faces" in this play, and if there are any who are interested but who cannot report tonight for Trials, they are asked to phone her a Winchester 0940 so that they may be given special consideration.

INJURED IN WOBURN ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Roberts of Cottage avenue were painfully injured shortly before midnight Tuesday when the Buick sedan Mr. Roberts was driving on Main street in North Woburn was in collision near the Wilmington line with a Chevrolet coach, driven by Robert J. Hart of 21 Muzzey street Lexington.

Both cars were wrecked and two occupants of the Chevrolet were seriously injured. Hart, the operator and John Fontas of Woburn sustaining possible fractures of the skull. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn at the Choate Memorial Hospital for contusions and abbrasions. Mr. Roberts also having a fractured nose.

Special: 72 single sheets of paper, 50 envelopes in Vellum or Parchment for 50c at Wilson the Stationer.

WHAT ABOUT THE ARTS AND OUR DEFENSE PROGRAM?

Ruth St. Denis, in a recent interview when plans for the program at the High School Auditorium on March 7 were discussed, says, with deep penetration for she is a philosopher and inspiring lecturer as well as a dancer:

"The Arts are that definite element in a civilization toward which all political, domestic and social efforts are made. The Arts symbolize those qualities of a National Consciousness which make it either superior, mediocre, or commonplace. The Arts are what make a civilization worth defending."

This event is an effort on the part of the Ways and Means chairman and the Board of the Junior High School, to present as the money-raising project for the school, something of educational and cultural value to the community.

The program presents one of the world's most famous dancers, Ruth St. Denis, in conjunction with a very spirited young Greek choir. This choir is very interesting both from the musical point of view, and from the sociological point of view. It is made up of 40 boys and girls of Greek parentage, who are members of the Pythagoras Club of Boston and the Orpheus Club of Lynn, and is under the able guidance of Basil Prangoulis, their conductor.

They are vivid proof of the joy in group cooperation for a goal of better citizenship, and the preservation of culture. Strangely enough, in planning the program, although a choir was suggested by Miss St. Denis, Carlene Samoiloff, after searching long, found the Greek choir, and the words of Mr. Prangoulis echo the words of Ruth St. Denis, "Let us preserve our culture."

It is hoped that Winchester will respond to this unusual opportunity to pay tribute to a great figure in our artistic generation, and to cooperate with the mothers of our school children who seek to do their bit to help educate our children.

Tickets may be purchased for this program Friday, March 7, at the Winchester High School Auditorium at 8.30 p.m. or at Mary Spaulding's Book Shop, March 3rd through the 7th. Mail orders now to Mrs. Harold Bostwick, 11 Appalachian Rd., Winchester.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Monday evening March 3, will be the next meeting of the Auxiliary at the Legion Home.

At this meeting our membership Chairman, Mrs. Mae Dunbury will present 12 or more new members to be initiated and we are very fortunate in having Mrs. Mae Tanner and her Degree Staff of Reading initiate our new members. Last year this group was with us and their work was most impressive.

All members are urged to attend this meeting to welcome Mrs. Tanner and her group as well as our new members.

A very enjoyable evening is planned and there is to be an excellent entertainment. Refreshments will be served by the hostesses of the evening, Mrs. Margaret Hevey, Mrs. Mae Dunbury, Mrs. Marguerite Walsh, Mrs. Nellie Moffette and Miss Mary Donaghey.

EMBLEM CLUB WHIST PARTY

Mrs. Minnie O'Neil will conduct a whist party at her home, 9 Alben treet on Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Emblem Club. The public is invited.

FILENE'S FASHION SHOW DONATION DAY FEATURE

The outstanding even on the March calendar at the Baptist Church is the Donation Day for the Winchester Thrift Shop which is to be held on March 11 from 10 a.m. to 12m with Mrs. Charles A. Burnham as general chairman.

At 10 a.m. Filene's of Boston and Winchester will present "The Fashion Show of 1941," with costumes for all types and all occasions.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the affair and to bring with them a donation for the Thrift Shop which will sell for about one dollar. The shop is entirely dependent on the voluntary offerings of its friends. The need is great and a generous donation will be much appreciated.

Morning coffee will be served at 11 a.m. and it is expected that the Winchester ladies and neighboring townspeople will join their friends at the church for coffee.

WYMAN SCHOOL FASHION SHOW

The annual Wyman School Fashion Show given for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund will be held on Wednesday, April 2 at one-thirty in the afternoon. Mrs. Robert Keeney, President of the School Mothers' Association, is acting as general chairman, ably assisted by Mrs. Edwin Rooney who did such an excellent job on the show last year that she was drafted for further help this year.

Members of the Board of Directors of the association are acting as chairmen of the various committees. Mrs. Paul Rocray, assisted by Mrs. Donald Lovis is chairman of tickets which she says will go on sale after the first of March. Mrs. Murray Moore, assisted by Mrs. Francis Chase will head the committee on refreshments. Mrs. W. G. Morse, Jr., is taking charge of the publicity. Mrs. Paul Forester, Jr., is heading the committee for bridge.

Mrs. Langley Keyes will see that everyone buys at least one chance on the beautiful cloth donated by Colton and Abelson. Mrs. Robert Abbott is supervising the choosing of the latest thing in spring clothes to be modelled for all those present to behold. The clothes will come from the Filene's store in town and those doing the modelling will include many of your own friends.

As this Fashion Show has become one of the leading events of the spring in Winchester you do not need to be urged to come—but buy your tickets early and be assured of a table. The stage decorations designed and executed under the clever leadership of Mrs. Albert S. Crockett, will be a fit setting for the display.

FIFTH GRADE MOTHERS MEET

A meeting of the mothers of the fifth grade children of all the Winchester schools was held at the Wyman School on Tuesday, February 18 to discuss dancing classes for the children who will be in the sixth grade next year. Mrs. John West ahly addressed the mothers, telling them of the formation this year of sixth grade dancing classes held in the various schools for all the children in the sixth grade. This had seemed the most democratic method tried in Winchester. It was voted to continne these classes in the schools next year. The chairman of the classes for next year for the George Washington School will be Mrs. Edward H. Nowhall, for the Wyman School, Mrs. John Allen and for the Mystic School, Mrs. William A. Keefer.

PARK BOARD BILL PASSED LEGISLATURE

The bill introduced in the State Legislature by Rep. William E. Ramsdell of this town, enabling communities to elect either three or five members to the Board of Park Commissioners was recently passed by the General Court.

At the hearing held on the proposed bill Mrs. Lorence Woodside, Mrs. Muriel Barnes, Fred M. Ives, Theodore von Rosenvinge and Sherman Russell spoke in favor of the lawyer committee. Rev. William S. Packer of the Park Board appeared in opposition.

The action of the Legislature does not mean that the local Board shall be increased to five members, but merely provides the necessary authority to enable the town to add two members if the voters so desire.

MR. NICHOLS APPEARED FOR AUDITS BILL

Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols only partially recovered from his recent illness, appeared Monday before the Committee on Municipal Affairs of the State Legislature in support of the bill he had filed for the Massachusetts Collectors' and Treasurers' Association making compulsory the biennial audits by the State of Municipal Accounts.

Mr. Nichols contended that such audits would greatly reduce municipal losses resulting from dishonesty and save thousands of dollars to communities in bonding costs. Under the present setup State audits are permissive but not obligatory. Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long favored the legislation.

JOY PRAY WON JUNIOR A. A. U. SWIM CROWN

Joy Pray, 15 year-old Winchester High School girl splashed her way to the N. E. A. A. U. junior 50 yard free style crown at the 20th anniversary meet of the Boston Swimming Association Feb. 22. Miss Pray swims under the colors of the Brookline Club and last year with two teammates won the N. E. A. A. U. junior 150 yard medley relay championship swimming backstroke and setting a new record for that event.

Winchester has some fine swimmers in spite of the fact that they have no indoor pool, hence must go some distance for practice.

Helen Carroll, who won the 220 outdoor championship last summer and Joan Moffette both swim for the Boston swimming club. Bob Harris, who swam his first race in the 50 yard free style (closed to B. S. A.) Saturday night, did fine work in taking second place with a big handicap. Leo Treacy, another Winchester boy, came in third in the same race.

ARRANGING SUB-FRESHMAN TEA

Two Winchester ladies, Mrs. John Turner and Mrs. Martin Swanson, are members of the committee arranging a sub-freshman tea, sponsored by the Mount Holvoke Club of Boston, and to be held at the home of Mrs. George Willard Smith, 200 Ivy street, Brookline, at 3:30 on the afternoon of March 8. FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Wasn't that Minstrel Show the grandest fun! Such talent should be put on exhibition more often. There should be one correction in the cast. It was Mrs. Stanley D. Howe and not Mrs. William N. Beggs (as previously announced) on that wonderful "bicycle built for two."

Continuing their travels through "Literary Regions of the United States," the Fortnightly Literature Group at their meeting on Monday, at 2 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall, will visit "The Southeast," at which time Mrs. Blanche S. Barnard and Mrs. Arzillia M. Higgins will discuss the literature of this section.

Miss Gertrude A. Kimball will review "Diplomatically Speaking" by Lloyd Griscom. Mrs. Gordon Mann will review "Suannee River" by Cecile Hulse Matschat, and give a brief biography of Marjorie Rawlings, author of "The Yearling."

WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

On Monday, Feb. 17, Miss Follansbee's fourth grade presented a play on Mexico.

The first act took place at the home of a Mexican family. The mother, father and children getting their many wares ready for market.

The next scene occured at the market place. Here an American family came to buy the many articles for sale.

The last act was at the home of the American girl. At this time the children told many interesting facts about the country of Mexico. These were in the form of Mexican stories, poems and songs.

Miss Jepson's second grade class gave an assembly relative to Washington's Birthday on Thursday, Feb. 19 in the Wyman Scool auditorium.

It was in the form of a play taken from the story "The Little Cook." Washington is visiting in the south and stops for breakfast at the house of Betty. Her family has gone to town to see the great George Washington and she stays home to keep the house. She wishes she could see Washington when a stranger comes and asks for breakfast. It proves to be Washington, so she sees him before her family does and has the pleasure of giving him his breakfast.

Carol Hawkins took the part of Betty, the little cook. Robert Barnham took the part of George Washington.

EPIPHANY WOMEN WELCOME NEW DIOCESAN LEADER

Tuesday, March 4, women of the parish of the Epiphany will have as guest at luncheon Miss Elise Dexter. Miss Dexter was elected in January to be the head of all the activities of women in the Diocese of Massachusetts. This will be her first visit to Epiphany since her election.

The luncheon will be in charge of Mrs. R. K. Bennett and a committee of the Tuesday Luncheon Group.

Immediately after luncheon Miss Dexter will speak in the parish hall. She knows the Episcopal church at the centre and at the margin; she has worked in it in fields that externally seem very different. She was one of New England representatives at the Triennial Convention last October, she knows intimately the typical New England parish, and she has been a part of the church in China when war was moving whole populations from their homes and their livings. In the Orient she has seen a living faith tried by bitter adversity and come through triumphant. Showing the life-giving, life-transmuting power it had its beginning. She is a timely speaker for Lent, when we are taking stock of the bad life investments we have made and of the rewarding investments we have missed or scanted, and when we are endeavoring to cast away what we have found profitless and to start again with new humility, new light, new vigor.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

During March there will be shown by the Winchester Art Association at the Winchester public library a group of flower paintings and seascapes. Mr. Bartlett Hayes, Jr., director of the Addison Gallery in Andover will give the gallery talk at the opening on Sunday March 2.

Herman Dudley Murphy Nellie Littlehale Murphy, Edward C. Tarbell, Mrs. Sally Cross Bill, Harry Sutton, E. Bernard Lintolb and Mrs. Emma Fordyce MacRae submitted flower paintings.

Charles Woodbury Jay Connoway, Arthur Johnson and Stanley Woodward have submitted seascapes.

Billfolds at the Star Office.

SENIOR SCOUTS ON THE SKYLINE IN LIVELY PLAY FOR BRITISH WAR RELIEF

On March 5, Winchester will have the opportunity of seeing a prize play. The Junior League gave the prize for the most lively and playable drama submitted in a nation-wide contest, and it was won by Mildred Maxey with a three-act play, "Tim the Chimney Sweep." The Senior Girl Scouts will present it in the Winchester High School Auditorium next Wednesday, at 3:45 o'clock.

Betty Engstrom will be the announcer.

The two boys, Peter and Tim, will be played by Virginia Olivier and Barbara Wood. The grown-up roles of Mummy and Nora will be taken by Barbara J. Smith and Edith Wood. So much for the real folks in the play.

Then come a bevy of fanciful character parts, offering a free field for sprightly and imaginative characterization:

Rainbow Man.....Ruth Tapley
Mrs. Mender....Barbara A. Smith
Miss Fix-It.....Suzanne Wolff
Mr. Patch.....Muriel Howard
The Character Man..Ann Thompson

Perhaps Walt Disney has laid down some conventions as to how gnomes should look and how behave, but there will be plenty of room for originality in playing these parts, which will be taken by Constance Budgell, Virginia Burr, Jean Ebens and Ruth McCarthy.

As for the Soots, Muriel Watkins and Joan Nettles may do what they will playing these unwelcome black intruders in Nora's well-kept house, and will dance these wordless parts as their fancy pleases. Mary Butler's portrayal of the owl will have to satisfy our sense of the fitness of things; if he isn't a wise old bird as she plays the part, we'll protest, but otherwise her imagination may have a free field.

The committee that is costuming the play has equal chance for free invention in dressing out the fanciful and the grotesque parts. Costumes are by Mrs. William G. Morse, Jr. Mrs. Harold Dover, Betty Main, and Mrs. Raymond Dickman. Mrs. Dickman will be special costumer to that fussy customer the Owl.

The actors will be made up by Mrs. Samuel Graves.

In the settings for the play, both the real and the whimsical scenes, the Scout members of the committee, Suzanne Wolff and Virginia Burr, have had the assistance of Mrs. J. Henry Smith and the resources of the Group Theatre.

Other Scout committees are:

Properties, Marilyn Drake, and Marbara A. Smith.

Prompter, Barbara J. Smith

Tickets, Edith Dover and Anne Penniman

Programs, Betty Jeanne Dickman

Candy, Marjorie Geerts, Joan Hanson, Jean Freygang and Miriam Moulton.

The play is produced by Mrs. J. Mulford Olivier director, and Mrs. James K. Baldwin, dance director. Dan Roop is in charge of the lighting. Members of the Winchester Sea Scouts will usher.

In addition to the candy which will help the audience pass the time pleasantly while the stage is being reset between acts the management promises another pleasant diversion, directed by Mrs. Clifford Cunningham.

The Senior Scouts offer the play as a benefit for the British War Relief Society. The Auditorium has been granted without cost, the owners of the play have made special arrangements about royalties, and the total proceeds will go to the fund for Winchester's second "Rolling Kitchen". Their printed programs will carry acknowledgement of help from many sources.

As ticket sellers in all the troops of Scouts in the audience, in the acting, production, and business management, and in securing wide co-operation for their benefit play, the Scouts will be on the Winchester skyline this coming week.

ICEBERG PATROL

March 6, Thursday, at 7:45, in the parish hall the Epiphany Men's club and their friends will hear Commander Edward Smith speak on "Iceberg Patrol." It is said, and sounds reasonable, that men did not admire or love night and darkness so long as they could not control it. The literature in its praise dates from the time when men and their machines made them masters of light at will. Similarly, tourists in peace days, pretty safe from ice-bergs, welcomed a sight of an ice-mountain wallowing in June seas. Perhaps they often gave scant thought to the ingenious machines and the wide net of human watchfulness that made them safe. Renewed interest in the machines and in the watchfulness which together almost master the silent, sinister menace of the icebergs will bring a large group to hear Commander Smith.

The committee which secured him as the March speaker was Mr. William Martens, Mr. P. Stewart Newton, Mr. Robert Abbott, and Mr. J. Warren Shoemaker.

Laid End to End They Add up to a Swell Idea

We mean these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Series that Give you Big-Car Thrill in less Curbside Space

*delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories —extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

THE way cars have been stretching out lately, it usually takes only a couple of cars to occupy the curb space of an extension-ladder fire truck.

Not so with the newest additions to the 1941 Buick line.

Here we've reversed the trend—just to prove that an honest-to-golly BIG car can be built without going overboard on bumper-to-bumper distance.

The four new models now adorning the Buick SPECIAL Series fit neatly into modest garages without putting a permanent crimp in the doors.

They slip into parking places smoothly as a rowboat nestles up to a dock—and the way they flit through traffic is a delight to wheel-weary drivers.

When it comes to action—well, they've got a 115-hp. FIREBALL eight under their bonnets that skims you down the road like a mallard heading home. You can add Compound Carburetion at small extra cost and have 125 horsepower that does things we hardly dare hint about in print.

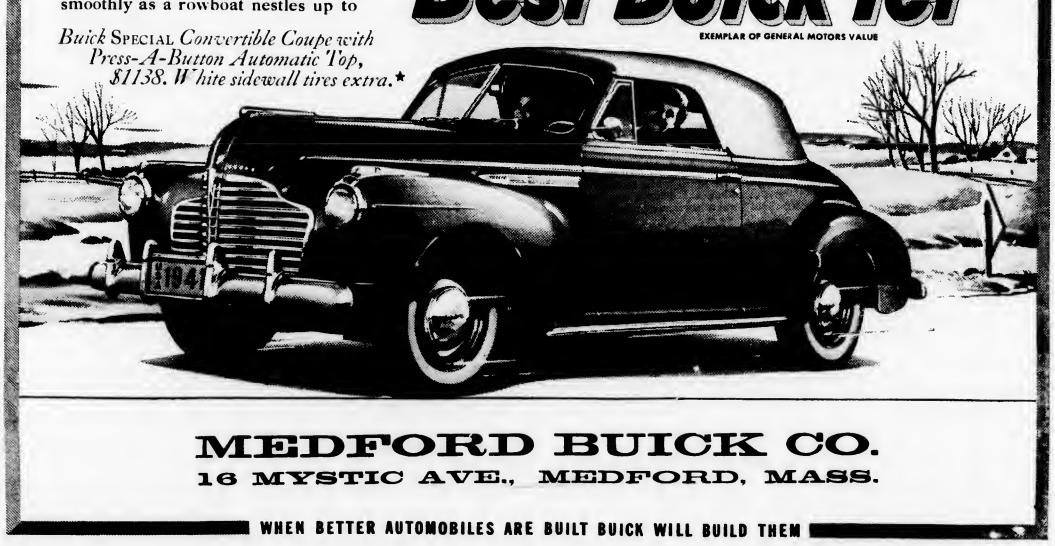

But they're a handy six inches shorter, bumper to bumper, than other Buicks—a quartet of top-quality cars in an easily-handled size that hasn't known such merit before.

The price? It's lower too, since we've passed on to you savings we make in trimming inches off these models.

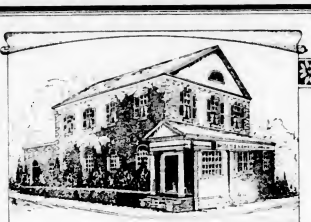

Better take a look—it'll be the first time you've ever seen a really BIG car wrapped up in this bumper-to-bumper distance.

ELKS SPONSOR PATRIOTIC ESSAY CONTEST

The Benevolent and Patriotic Order of Elks is sponsoring a National Patriotic Essay for students of high school age, in which Winchester Lodge is cooperating. Exalted Ruler Howard A. Brownell announced this week that the local lodge's Defense Committee, comprising Warren C. Hichborn, R. Sheldon Hamilton, Charles A. Farrar and Lieut. Comdr. Richard W. MacAdams is making arrangements for the contest in Winchester in cooperation with local school authorities. Rules governing the contest or any information concerning it may be obtained from any of the above, from Principal Wade L. Grindle of the Winchester High School or from Dr. J. H. O'Connor, secretary of Winchester Lodge of Elks, whose office is in Lyceum Building.

The subject on which the essays are to be written is "What Uncle Sam Means to Me", and is divided into two parts. In one part the contestant is to itemize the persons or things which appear in an unusual painting of Uncle Sam by the well-known artist, C. C. Beall. The painting was recently presented to President Roosevelt and will be used by the War Department as a national defense poster. At a distance of ten feet it is a remarkable portrait of Uncle Sam, but at closer range it breaks down into a group of individual people and things which go to make up the important elements in our national defense.

The second part of the subject is to be devoted to an essay of not less than 300 nor more than 500 words on the subject, "What Uncle Sam Means to Me."

A group of three judges will select the three best essays at the conclusion of the contest March 31. Winners of local contests will be entered in a State contest, from which State winners are entered in the national contest, for which the awards are $1,000., first prize; $500., second prize; and $250., third prize. Prizes for local and state winners will also be awarded.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

A large group of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. James McGovern, 48 Everett avenue on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 20, for the meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League.

Mr. Harold B. Richmond, President of the Circle, presided and introduced Miss Mary E. Driscoll, chairman of the Boston Licensing Board. Miss Driscoll delighted her audience with many interesting stories of personal experiences through the years of her public service..

Mrs. Albert B. Carter, Educational Secretary of the League spoke briefly; Miss Helen Louise Walker sang a group of songs accompanied by Mary Ranton Witham. The musical program was greatly enjoyed.

Among the interesting reports was the announcement of the Luncheon-Bridge to be held on April 2 at Metcalf Hall with Mrs. A. Allen Kimball as chairman.

Mrs. Richmond announced the election of Mrs. Harold F. Meyer as chairman of the Educational Committee of the League at the annual meeting held on Feb. 18 at the Women's Republican Club in Boston.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. John W. Johnson and her committee. Mrs. Harold Bates and Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke presided at the tea table.

"AL MARCHANT" NIGHT OBSERVED

The Rotary Club of Winchester held its first observance of "Al Marchant Night" last evening at the Winchester Country Club. This event, to become a yearly feature on the last Thursday evening of every February, was designated last week in honor of Mr. Alfred H. Marchant of Rangely, past president of the Boston Rotary Club and a constant attendant at the Winchester club since his serious illness last fall.

For many years Al has sponsored this yearly night under the auspices of the Winchester club in recognition of the many Rotarians living in Winchester, but who are affiliated with other clubs. The evening gives all Winchester Rotarians opportunity to mingle and become acquainted.

About 70 attended. The opening dinner was held at 6:30, President George R. Carter, presiding. Among those attending was a large delegation from the Boston Rotary Club, numerous guests and a number of important Rotarians.

The evening's entertainment was provided by Miss Esther and her Alpine Group in native Bavarian costumes. Songs, dances and music, aided by a Greek Count as an impersonator, presented a fine program. A feature of the evening was Cliff Davis of the Boston Post, who showed colored movies of fishing and hunting scenes in northern Maine and New Brunswick.

SPEERS AND CULLEN NEW SELECTMEN

Foley Wins Assessor's Fight. Garvey Elected School Committeeman

WILLIAM J. SPEERS, JR.
Elected Selectman With High Vote

JAMES A. CULLEN
New Selectman

William J. Speers, Jr., and James A. Cullen were elected Selectmen on Monday as Winchester concluded one of the most unpredictable town elections held here in many a year. Patrick T. Foley won the four-cornered fight for Assessor. Robert F. Lybeck was re-elected to the School Committee, with Leo F. Garvey winning the other vacancy in this contest. Madeleine S. Rooney was the successful candidate in the contest for the one year term on the Board of Public Welfare, and Michael J. Foley, Edward F. Maguire and Gleason W. Ryerson were re-elected Constables. All other elected town officers were unopposed.

Seldom, at least in recent years, has there been as little advance interest in a town election as was the case this year. While things livened up a bit last week it wasn't until the week-end that real political activity became apparent. Much of this activity was in connection with the contest for School Committee though the candidates for Selectmen were also active.

By 4 o'clock in the afternoon close followers of local politics were predicting the election of Messrs. Cullen, Foley and Garvey, the size of the vote cast with the apathy of the electorate in Precincts 3, 4 and 5 making such a prediction perfectly natural. Final tabulations found the prognosticators correct, though there were few pre-election prophets who would have gambled that Mr. Speers would be high man in the Selectman's fight.

Precinct 6 was the precinct to be heard from and when the final vote was tabulated Mr. Cullen had jumped into second place with 1921 votes, picking up 624 in precinct 6, while Mr. Gallagher had also passed Mr. Bennett with a total of 1756 to the latter's 1729. Mr. Gallagher's vote in 6 was 482 to 144 for Mr. Bennett. Mr. Speers polled 101 votes in 6, but his commanding lead in the other five left him riding in first place with 1962.

The same situation arose in the contest for Assessor and School Committee. J. Waldo Bond, present member of the Board by virtue of his appointment to fill the unexpired term of Frank N. Enman, was leading Mr. Foley by some 300 odd votes with Precinct 6 to be heard from. Mr. Foley's 621 votes in 6 put him under the wire an easy winner, Mr. Bond polling only 82 votes in the final precinct. Totals were, Mr. Foley, 1556; Mr. Bond, 1368. Of the remaining candidates in this bracket, former Selectman W. Allan Wilde polled a surprisingly small 825 and Vernon W. Jones, 440.

With five precincts counted in the contest for School Committee Gilbert H. Tapley was leading Mr. Garvey, 1737 to 1249. When the vote in Precinct 6 had been counted Mr. Tapley's lead had been wiped out, Mr. Garvey polling the highest individual precinct vote of the election, 692 votes to win by 67 votes, 1941 to 1874. Mr. Lybeck, running for re-election, rolled up 2410. Edwin S. Matherson, the other candidate polled 643.

Elected Assessor

LEO F. GARVEY
Elected to School Committee

Mr. Speers displayed a general strength with sufficient reserve in 3, 4 and 5 to offset his weaknesses in 1 and 6. With five precincts counted he was leading with 1861 votes, Malcolm D. Bennett was in second place with 1585, Mr. Cullen was third with 1297 and Philip H. Gallagher, fourth with 1274.

Mrs. Rooney, running for the one year term on the Board of Public Welfare, slightly more than doubled the vote of her opponent, William M. Vayo, polling 2489 to his 1209. The veteran, Edward F. Maguire had the high vote in the contest for Constable, polling 2890 votes to lead all

CITIZENS INVITED TO INSPECT TOWN HALL

The Town Hall Improvement Committee, created at the last town meeting for the purpose of considering the possible remodeling and renovation of the town hall, has invited members of the limited town meeting to visit the hall on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 to see the complete new floor plans, go over the committee's recommendations and make a survey of the building. A previous invitation had been extended for last evening, when a number of town meeting members and other interested citizens responded.

The committee has made an exhaustive study of possibilities for improving the hall and with sound engineering advice has prepared plans for remodeling the building to make it adequate for present day needs. The estimated cost, which is in the vicinity of $90,000 is substantially less than the cost of a new hall.

Although the committee has issued a report of its findings its members have felt that printed reports and drawings cannot present to the average person a clear picture of the situation of the improvements suggested. It is with this in mind that town meeting members and others interested are urged to visit the hall on Saturday afternoon and actually see what is proposed to be done.

Selectman Donald Heath heads the committee, the other members of which are Franklin J. Lane, Richard W. MacAdams, Charles R. Main and W. Allan Wilde.

NEW ASSISTANT TOWN ENGINEER NAMED

The Board of Selectmen has appointed John A. Wakefield, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., assistant town engineer to fill the position vacant since the death of the former incumbent, John F. Sharon.

Mr. Wakefield comes originally from Machias, Me., is a graduate of the University of Maine and of the Harvard Engineering School. He has had a wide experience of a type which the Selectmen feel will prove of great value to him in his position here.

Mr. Wakefield is married and has an infant son. He assumed his local duties on March 1.

FROM CHILDREN OF WINCHESTER, MASS., TO CHILDREN OF WINCHESTER, ENGLAND

Last 4th of July when Winchester children were asked, through a letter in the Winchester Star, to sacrifice a part of their usual holiday fireworks spending money "to help suffering war-shocked children," we little realized how prompt and generous the response would be. In addition to their contributions to the Red Cross the children brought to the local banks for this definite "Children's Fund" a total of $98.69 in pennies, dimes and larger sums, several contributors insisting that they did not want to give part but all of their firecracker money "because firecrackers are just foolish and wasteful anyhow."

Because of the definite appeal for this fund it was difficult to tie it up with existing organizations without having it loose its identity. We wished very much to have it go direct and intact as a Children's Fund for Children.

When the suggestion was finally made "Why not send it to the Mayor of Winchester, England?" we felt that the problem was well solved.

After adding $1.31 to make the sum an even $100 and an extra $1.77 for a cable, the following message was sent through the Winchester Savings Bank and Lloyd's Bank Limited, London.

"Pay Mayor Griffiths of Winchester, England One Hundred Dollars. U. S. Currency (about $125. English money) for needy children, from children of Winchester, Mass."

Hoping that all the contributors will approve of this disposition of the funds, we again express our hearty thanks to all who helped and ask for continued support for a children's fund for children this year.

Children's Crusade Committee,
Lorence M. Woodside,
Chairman
Ralph Hatch,
Treasurer

P. S.—Because the cable to Mayor Griffiths was sent through the Savings Bank with no individual name attached a direct reply has not yet been received, but from a letter dated Jan. 27 to Chairman Cameron of the Board of Selectmen, we quote the following:

"I have just received information that the children of your city have cabled $100 for needy children of this city.

"We have an organization for providing such children with a mid-day meal and this very welcome contribution will increase the numbers that we shall be able to deal with. I hope you will convey our gratitude to those who have subscribed so generously."

BOND—HILL

In an attractive setting of white snapdragons and white candlelabra, at the First Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon, March 1, Miss Barbara Hill, daughter of Mrs. Donald Russell Hill of Norwood street, became the bride of Harold Arthur Bond, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arthur Bond of Brantwood road, Arlington. Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the church, performed the marriage ceremony at 4 o'clock, and the wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Frederick C. Macdonald.

Miss Hill was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William Bunton. She wore a gown of ivory satin, having a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, and her bridal veil was of tulle. Her flowers were gardenias, orchids and freesia, arranged in a shower bouquet.

The bride's honor attendant was her sister, Miss Martha Hill of this town. Miss Mary Logan Hodgson of Atlanta, Ga., Miss Aline Bursley of Winchester and Miss Charlote Morrill and Miss Marguerite Bond, both of Arlington, were bridesmaids.

The honor maid wore a dress of blue faille and carried yellow roses. These colors were reversed in the costumes of the bridesmaids, who wore blue marquisette frocks and carried yellow snapdragons and sweet peas.

Charles Cameron Bond of Arlington was best man and the usher corps comprised Rollin Steele, Arthur Hendrick, George Carens, all of Arlington, and Richard Offutt of Winchester.

Receptions were held after the ceremony both at the church and at the home of the bride's mother, the house being decorated with pink roses and white snapdragons. Upon their return from a honeymoon spent skiing in the White Mountains Mr. Bond and his bride will make their home at 197 Beacon street in Boston. The bridegroom is associated with the Home Savings Bank in that city.

Among the pre-nuptial festivities were showers given Miss Hill by Miss Miriam Snow, Miss Marjorie Finger and Miss Aline Bursley of Winchester, and by Mrs. P. B. Metcalf of Cambridge.

RAYMOND S. WILKINS
New Member of Governor's Council

Winchester's town moderator and former chairman of Selectmen, was elected Tuesday to the Governor's Council to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Eugene Burtnett. Mr. Wilkins, Governor Saltonstall's personal counsel, was an easy Republican choice for the office, Rep. William E. Ramsdell, among others, withdrawing his own candidacy in his favor.

TOWN MEETING MARCH 13

The first session of the limited town meeting takes place next Thursday evening, March 13, at 7:45 in the town hall.

Thirty-seven articles are included in the warrant, and it is not likely that these articles will be disposed of as rapidly as last year when two meetings sufficed. If nothing more, the reports and recommendations of the Salaries, Town Hall and Town Meeting Committees are likely to produce plenty of debate, and there are other articles, such as the one seeking to enlarge the Park Board and to purchase some 23 acres of land in the Brooks Estate near the West Medford line for the culture of trees or for park purposes which seem destined to be controversial.

It is impossible to predict just what articles will result in controversy and sometimes the most innocent appearing question in the entire warrant proves the one that takes the longest to settle. Past meetings have wrangled interminably over changing the name of a street or closing certain parts of the Fells to protect the town's water supply while articles calling for the appropriation of thousands of dollars are passed without a murmur.

The Finance Committee predicts a $27.20 tax rate if its recommendations are followed by the electorate, and in past years the voters have been guided to a great extent by the advice of this committee.

WINCHESTER PRIEST ENTERS ARMY SERVICE

Rev. Joseph P. Mahoney, curate at St. Mary's Church, has been commissioned a chaplain with the rank of first lieutenant in the United States Army and assigned to duty with the 101st Infantry at Camp Edwards. He was relieved from duty in the local parish last Saturday.

Father Mahoney came to Winchester during the latter part of December in 1937. He has been a general favorite in town, highly esteemed in and out of the parish he served and genuinely loved by the children. A graduate of Boston College, he has been an ardent follower of the Eagles' football destinies and last fall accompanied the Boston College football team to the Sugar Bowl game with Tennessee at New Orleans.

While Father Mahoney's leaving Winchester has occasioned sincere regret, his parishioners and friends are happy to realize his increased opportunities for service with the young men of the army.

LENTINE TO ASSIST AT SPRINGFIELD

Andrew Lentine of this town, former Winchester High and Boston College football star, received a telegram Thursday evening offering him the position of assistant football coach at Springfield College.

Needless to state "Andy" accepted. At Springfield he will work under his old high school coach, Wendell Mansfield, who is leaving Bates to become head coach at the Physical Education College. Lentine assisted Mansfield at Bates last fall and was very popular there. It is understood that Coach Mansfield insisted that he accompany him to Springfield.

DARTMOUTH ALUMNI MAGAZINE HONORS LEWIS PARKHURST

The current number of the Dartmouth Alumni Magazine has an excellent biographical sketch of Lewis Parkhurst, senior trustee of the college and Winchester's leading citizen. The writer, Edward K. Robinson, '04, has covered his subject very completely, yet in a most interesting manner, and the sketch is one which every friend and admirer of Mr. Parkhurst will read with the greatest pleasure.

Recent guests at the New Weston Hotel, New York, were Mrs. Harrison F. Lyman and her daughter, Miss Alice Lyman, of Lawson road.

JAMES R. YOUNG

FAMOUS CORRESPONDENT TO SPEAK AT UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB FORUM

James R. Young, who was head of the International News Service Bureau in Tokyo for 10 years, will speak March 13 at 8 p. m. in Metcalf Hall at the second forum meeting of the Unitarian Men's Club. Mr. Young's subject is, "Ringside Seats in the Asia Arena," a topic of both timely and universal interest.

America's first clash in the Far East if relations become worse with Japan will most likely occur at Shanghai where inspired incidents by Japanese gendarmes could easily precipitate a fight.

This is Mr. Young's assertion. The noted foreign correspondent, who, for writing articles to which Japanese police objected, spent 61 days in a cold Japanese prison (though presently kept somewhat warmer by Ambassaodor Grew's own sealskin overcoat!) is on a lecture tour of the United States and is writing two books on the Far East, during a leave of absence from the International News Service. A native of Illinois, Jimmy Young, as he is known throughout the Far East, has spent more than half his life as a foreign correspondent in Europe, Africa, and Asia, covering revolutions, earthquakes, up risings, cabinet crises, assassinations, tidal waves and epidemics.

During his residence in Japan, he also managed an American newspaper, The Japan Advertiser, directed an advertising agency and operated a news service bureau. He was active in the America-Japan Society, and for 11 years was a member of the Rotary Club which the Japanese finally ordered disbanded, under indirect German pressure.

"By agreement," Mr. Young says, "United States Marines stationed at Shanghai are responsible for the abandoned British sector of the International Settlement where most American and British buildngs, firms and investments are concentrated."

Before Japan moves too far, and her moves will depend on Germany, the United States should halt all trade with Japan, for present trade, Mr. Young warns, is in war materials only, and if we are not mindful of this situation, Japan may turn and use our own materials on our own interests.

He is strong in condemning the paradox of giving Chinese government $100,000,000 when in the same week tens of thousands of barrels of gasoline are shipped from Texas to Japan. "Then," Mr. Young maintains, "we become the silly fool by protesting to Japan over the bombing of American properties and killing of American people in China. We should see the reflcection in our own miror."

"Japan still buys our gasoline and converts it to use for aviation purposes by adding lead to the refining process, thereby circumventing the export licensing requirements of our government. The same applies to buying cheap grade scrap iron, to avoid the export restrictions; by using their own ore in the process the Japanese can obtain metals, although the process is slow and expensive.

"Another problem confronting the United States is the Philippine Islands. Now that these islands have been granted their indepedence, they do not want it, but instead they would like to remain under the protection of the United States.

"Emperor Hirohito can call a halt to the present three and a half year undeclared war if a way to retreat without losing face can be found. In Japan or in China if a man loses face, he might lose his life, for by tradition one is almost commanded to commit hari-kiri," Mr. Young says.

Regarding Russia, Mr. Young asserts that "Toyko and Moscow, all reports to the contrary, notwithstanding, will never agree on any treaty in any form. The violent but subdued hatred of men like Japan's General Sadao Araki and others for Moscow's Stalinized diplomacy, will prevent Japan from ever entering into pact other than commercial agreements or fishing treaties. Japan hates Russia and Russia hates Japan. That mutual feeling throttles at the outset any planned negotiations. Russia's Siberian forces as a consequence remain a permanent and potential threat, necessitating the Japanese keeping their best armed, mechanized and aviation forces of a half million men, in Manchuria alone."

NO JOB FOR WEAKLINGS

Wellesley has 1.3 fur coats for every student, an enterprising newsgatherer with a love of figures recently told the world. The Bishop of Wyoming, the Rt. Rev. Winfred H. Ziegler, would breathe more freely if he could know, when the snow begins to fly in his mountains and across his plains next September, that all his clergy had one fur coat each. For he knows that one fur coat given a year or two ago by a Massachusetts man who believes in missions has already saved two lives, when snow and a driving gale and a temperature of 60 degrees below zero stalled one of his clergy on a long drive between posts of duty.

It is a man's job to be one of Bishop Ziegler's clergymen. As he tells of one who offers himself for that field what he must be prepared to face, the talk has the downright ringing challenge of Winston Churchill's famous speech to the British people. He too offers "blood and sweat and tears." And like Churchill he finds human nature rising up to cast off ease and fears and in a great cause take great risks. He gets hardy men willing to be his clergy. The limits put on the work are not put on there by the softness of young clergy, unwilling to endure and to dare. The limits come from our slow, blind inability to see our neighbors when they live 2500 miles away.

The missionary district of Wyoming embraces 100,000 square miles—"half an acre for every man, woman, child and baby in the United States, if they moved there," as Bishop Ziegler says himself. How many thousands of miles he has travelled from his headquarters in Laramie to keep in touch with the far outposts of his diocese, perhaps only Bishop Ziegler and the speedometer of his car could tell.

The work of a bishop in Wyoming is one to test the fiber of the strongest. To vast distanees are added the extremes of terrain—mountain country and valley—and of torrid heat and bitter cold. Wyoming holds two United States records in temperatures for heat, 118 degrees, and for cold, 66 degrees below. Wind-borne Wyoming gravel will blast the paint from any car; ranch road chuck-holes will break any spring or axle.

Bishop Ziegler's constituents run the social and occupational gamuts—bankers, ranchers and filling station operators—but he is best known for his work among the Arapahoe Indians of the Wind River Reservation. He has the oversight of some 50 widely separated parishes and missions and 30 unorganized missions. Besides these there are educational institutions for both boys and girls, including the widely known St. Michael's Mission School for Arapahoes, and two church hospitals, all of which demand his watchful care.

Epiphany people who "don't believe in missions," are advised not to hear Bishop Ziegler Sunday morning, March 9, when he will preach at the 11 o'clock service unless they are willing to change their minds. He does not scold or argue, but he knows what the Church can do in his diocese, and his land and his work become real and alluring as he talks of them.

NEW GROCERY STORE OPENS

Charles W. Meek, for many years identified with the grocery and provision business in Winchester, is opening his own grocery store today at 874 Main street, near Swanton street, in the location of the former A. & P. store, of which he was manager.

Mr. Meek, or "Charlie" as he is to his many friends in and about Winchester, concluded 26 years with the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company when the store he was manager of closed. He entered the company's employ in Providence and came to Winchester to manage one of the A. & P. stores here in 1919.

Since that time he has served continually in town and when the big new A. & P. Market was opened on Mt. Vernon street was chosen as its first manager. He had been managing the upper Main street store since 1934.

Supplying the food needs of Winchester householders for more than 20 years has given Charlie Meek a real understanding of local requirements in this important field, and his new store will stock only those quality foods which his long experience has taught him are favorites with Winchester housewives. To a full line of groceries he is adding fruits, vegetables and dairy products of highest grade.

Mr. Meek makes his home at 40 Church street, is married and has three sons. He is a member of Winchester Lodge of Elks, having many friends in and out of fraternal circles. A cordial invitation is extended by Mr. Meek to his friends and former customers to visit him at his new store where he hopes to serve them even better.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

60TH ANNIVERSARY TO BE HELD MONDAY

Sixty years old! That is the proud and happy record of the Winchester Fortnightly. At the next meeting on Monday, March 10, we celebrate with a very special dessert and birthday party, at which past presidents will be guests of honor.

Decorations arranged by the Committee for the preservation of Antiques, of which Mrs. Paul G. Eberle is chairman, will provide an old-time atmosphere, and an attractive setting for costumes of by-gone days. Many members are planning to wear such costumes, and it is hoped others will do so. Whatever your choice however, you will find plenty of people in both modern and old-time garb, and so need have no feeling of embarrassment. But dressing up is fun and especially suitable for this occasion.

The party begins promptly at 1.00 o'clock with the serving of dessert by the Social Committee under the direction of Mrs. George Budd, chairman. In order that the complete program may be carried out it is very important that everyone be present at 1 o'clock.

At 1.30 the program proper will begin. A Fortnightly history, prepared by Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge Sr., Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden, Mrs. Hubert Arrowsmith, Miss Mary L. Hodge and Mrs. Stanley D. Howe will be read.

A number of other delightful features have been planned, but as these are intended as a surprise, details will not be revealed until that afternoon.

There will be a table on which will be displayed pictures, mementoes, and keepsakes of earlier Fortnightly days. Anyone having any such material is earnestly requested to bring it for the afternoon.

At the regular meeting which follows, Margaret Payson Blish, monoactress, will present "White House Portraits and Other Sketches". Miss Blish was born in Baltimore, Md., and educated in Boston, studying at Emerson College and Boston University.

There her radio sketches and monologues, gay caricatures of people she met, were greeted with such enthusiasm that she decided to write something more serious. "White House Portraits" were created after much research of Congessional Library records, and the gowns were made from originals now on display in the National Museum. They are fascinating portrayals of dramatic episodes in the lives of President's wives, and are historically correct.

To her varied presentations Miss Blish brings a keen artistry, charm and a rare ability for character delineation.

The Committee for the preservation of Antiques plans a trip to the Museum of Fine Arts on Friday, March 14, at 2: p. m. There they will be taken through the Period Rooms, under the guidance of Mrs. Mary T. Sayward.

Cars meet at Fortnightly Hall at 1:00 o'clock. Anyone who wishes transportation, or who has an extra seat in her car, please call the chairman, Mrs. Paul G. Eberle, Win. 0809, not later than ednesday, March 12.

FROM WINCHESTER, MASS., TO WINCHESTER, ENGLAND

WINCHESTER GIRL PRESENTED TRAILER AMBULANCE

The trailer ambulance, given by the Town of Winchester to the City of Winchester, England, was formally accepted by Councillor C. H. Bones, chairman of the Joint Ambulance Committee, on Tuesday, Jan. 21, according to clippings from "The Hampshire Observer,' recently received by the Board of Selectmen. Shown above is the actual presentation of the ambulance, made by Mrs. Donald Cameron, O. B. E., of Kirby Muxloe, Leicestershire County, England the former Jennie Burnham of this town, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham of Everett avenue. Last week's Star published the story of Mrs. Cameron's decoration by Great Britain with the Order of the British Empire for heroism during a German air raid near her home. She is chairman of the Woman's Voluntary Service for her district.

The Mayor of Winchester, Lt.-Gen. F H. Griffiths, in welcoming Mrs. Cameron said: "It is a very great pleasure to me to welcome on behalf of the City of Winchester, Mrs. Cameron, and to ask her to present, on behalf of our sister city in Massachusetts, the ambulance for which they have so kindly subscribed. Mrs. Cameron is a native of Winchester, Mass., and on Jan. 2nd, last we had the pleasure of listening to her two sons who were broadcasting from America, where they are staying with Mrs. Cameron's parents. We also heard from the chairman of the Board of Selectmen of that city.

"In that broadcast the chairman informed me that he was cabling 350 dollars to provide a trailer ambulance, and that ambulance Mrs. Cameron is presenting to us today.

"I should like to remind my fellow citizens that the late Alderman Harry Collis, then Mayor, visited Winchester, Mass., in 1930 for the celebration of their tercentenary. That is a long record for municipal corporation in any country.

"Very cordial relations have existed between our two cities since the last war and Christmas greetings are exchanged each year. We greatly appreciate the sympathy that America is showing to us in our time of trouble, and this gift is tangible proof of that feeling.

"We are all confident that with their help we shall bring the war to a successful conclusion which it is hoped will enable all nations to live the life they desire, free from the dictates of any one nation."

In reply Mrs. Cameron said: "One of the first places I wanted to see after England became my home was your lovely city, which has played such an important part in England's history. I can assure you that it more than came up to my expectations.

"While in Winchester, New England, we have nothing to rival the wonderful architecture and historic associations of your lovely buildings, particularly the Cathedral, there are many things in which the two places are very much alike.

"For instance here, I understand, there is a shop where people bring all sorts of things to be sold and the proceeds given to charity: while there, there is a similar place, the Thrift Shop, which has been organized and run by my mother for several years for the same purpose. No doubt there are other similarities, because it is in the friendliness and good will of the residents that the two places seem to have so much in common. Over there they too have Red Cross knitting parties, groups for making clothing for bombed-out and evacuated families, and others for making hospital supplies, also raising money by means of dances and theatrical entertainments; and yet in almost every letter I receive my friends and family are still asking what more they can do to help.

"This ambulance is some expression of their regard and sincere wishes for their mother city and for England's victory. While I trust that the need for its use may never arise, if it should, may it be the means of saving lives.

But this is not only an ambulance. It is one of the bonds of friendships which are helping to bind the two great democracies even more closely together, giving them a better understanding of each other, so that they march forward side by side to build that saner, happier world when the powers of darkness, oppression and slavery shall have been forever vanquished.

"Mr. Mayor, as a daughter of Winchester, Massachusetts, it is not only an honor, but a very great pleasure formally to present this ambulance to you on behalf of the residents of Winchester, New England."

THE SINGING COP A SUCCESS

The Baptist Young People were thrilled with the success of their program which was presented last Friday evening in the social hall of the First Baptist Church. Bill Elliott, the Singing Cop, was the star of the show and his singing received the approval and praise of all who were present. Also on the same program were two young men who have achieved outstanding success and radio fame. Hubert Swetnam at the piano and Emil Gaverluk with his violin were greatly enjoyed by the audience as they played at different intervals during the evening. The Youth Organization wishes to extend its thanks to the many parents and friends who made the program a success by attending.

On Sunday evening the usual youth service was held in the chapel. Dr. Elizabeth Fleming gave a very interesting address on the Opportunities of the Christian Doctor. Doctor Fleming is now living in Beverly, where she is enjoying her work administering aid and comfort to those who are ill. Miss Irene Tindall of Gordon College offered a solo. She was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Ralph Reynolds.

Today is the day—see your newsdealer and order your Boston Sunday Globe. Many dealers were sold out last Sunday.

WINCHESTER GIRLS HAVE UNBEATEN SEASON

Winchester High School girls' basketball team enjoyed its second perfect season in three years by going through its current campaign undefeated in 6 games. Victories were scored over such representative teams as Belmont, Arlington, Watertown, Malden, Melrose and Lexington.

Coach Deborah Fenton stressed especially team work, and her efforts were richly rewarded for her team played a fine combination game though it was not without its strong individual players.

Janet Hayward was high scorer for the season, amassing a total of 79 points. Cynthia Foote, with 62, was runner up for scoring honors.

While these girls were largely responsible for the all-important goals that win games, the work of the local guards, Capt. Joyce Maxson, Joan Moffette, Frances Stratton and Janet Douh, was also very high grade and in large measure responsible for the success of the Winchester basketshooters. So closely did the local backs cover that the opposition not only found it hard to score, but also to prevent Winchester from tallying.

For once a local coach had a squad studded with big girls, and size is quite important, especially in the type of game the girls play.

The Winchester second team also had a fairly successful season, breaking even in its six games; winning from Belmont, Malden and Lexington, while losing to Arlington, Watertown and Melrose.

Coach Fenton probably could have bettered the record of her jay-vees had she stuck to a limited lineup. Instead she wisely used her seconds as a proving ground for future varsity material, starting practically a new lineup in each quarter of every game. The result was a lack of combination play on the part of the seconds, who however, picked up a lot of valuable individual experience which should stand them in good stead next season when it will be necessary to replace several of this year's varsity performers.

WINCHESTER WON NINE OF SIXTEEN

Winchester High School enjoyed a fairly successful basketball season under its new coach Edward A. Bartlett, the team winning nine of 16 games and finishing in a tie for second place in the Middlesex League with a record of six wins in 10 league contests.

When one stops to consider the possibilities for a winning team at the beginning of last season, Winchester's record is nothing short of remarkable for if even a mentor was faced with drab prospects and tormented by hard luck that coach was Ted Bartlett.

When the first call for candidates was issued a huge squad reported to Coach Bartlett, but among the large number of candidates were but two letter players, Capt. Peter Provinzano, a regular the previous year, and Bert Callanan, who was voted his letter as a sophomore. There was not a single senior letter player in the squad.

To make a bad matter worse Coach Barlett was laid low at the very start of the campaign with an abscessed throat hat kept him from practice for eight days just before the Christmas vacation. The School authorities turned thumbs down on practice during the holidays, though the other teams in the Middlesex League were hard at it during the vacation period.

Then as the boys squared away to make up for lost time, the grippe epidemic hit the squad and kept Capt. Peter Provinzano, the only really experienced member of the team and its high scorer, out of the Belmont and Reading games which closely followed the Christmas holidays.

The loss of these two games meant the loss of the circuit championship as things turned out, and even without Provinzano, many close followers of the team believe Winchester could have annexed the league crown had practice been permitted during the Christmas vacation. Reading and Belmont had worked out during that time and were definitely ahead of Winchester in all around development when the teams met for the first time. The locals' relatively easy wins of their return games with these clubs bears out this contention.

Only twice during the season was Winchester outclassed, Woburn proving too good for the locals both at home and in the local gymnasium. After winning the first two games Winchester dropped five of its next six games, but refused to crack, and came back to win five in a row for an exceptional reversal of form.

At the end of the season Coach Bartlett's charges were playing as good ball as any club in the Middlesex League and had it not been for their early season "hard luck" defeats at the hands of Reading and Belmont, would have copped the flag.

Captaining the team at right forward was Pete Provinzano, high scorer with 121 points. Runner-up for scoring honors was Jimmy Coon, who played guard and some center and was easily the most improved player on the club at the end of the campaign. His total was 91. Lane McGovern, playing center, tallied 67 points, and Don Drew left forward, 57. Dean Derby and Bert Callanan alternated at right guard, Derby scoring 42 points through the season. Ray Tetrault, forward and Mooney, reserve center, got into a number of varsity games. Bill Hodge was varsity manager.

The local seconds equalled the won and lost record of the varsity under the tutelege of Andy Lentine, former Winchester High and B. C. athlete. McDevitt, Twombly, Martens, Rallo, Errico, Wright, Mooney, Tarbell, Amico, West, Buzzota, Manning, Poirier, Treacy and Ramsdell were members of the jay-vees.

ELKS TO HANDLE MILLIONAIRES

It is reported that Winchester Lodge of Elks will sponsor the Winchester Millionaires, fast independent baseball team, during the coming season.

Plans are not yet complete, but the grapevine reports that the Elks have already discussed handling the local nine and that a definite announcement to this end with complete details will soon be forthcoming.

Miss Priscilla Tapley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Tapley of Glen road, has played regularly on the first freshman basketball team at Smith College this past season. She is a former three sport athlete at Winchester High and is freshman class president at Smith.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By James Coon

Monday morning most of the students slept through their first four periods and woke up in time for the rush to the cafeteria only with great effort because of their strenuous activities during the last weeks vacation. The teachers themselves took part in the general apathy and a drowsy atmosphere, pervaded the class rooms.

The Red Cross has started a new drive. This time it is for any jokes that the students may know. These jokes are to become part of a joke book. Even jokes with whiskers on them are acceptable.

The Student Council held another meeting after school Thursday. This morning the new rule requiring all representativese to read or give a report in their home room will go into effect. This is the most promising piece of legislation that the Council has passed this year.

The basketball team missed the Tech Tournament, the peak at which all teams aim by a mere three or four points. Both Chelmsford and Lexington are among those included in the tournament. Winchester lost to Chelmsford by three points and to Lexington by four points.

The basketball, girls and boys, cross country, and freshman football team all had their pictures taken in the gym after school on Wednesday.

The last lecture of this year's series at Tech will come on Friday and Saturday of this week. The lectures will be on etching. The lectures will be different on each day for the first time this year.

This week ends the current five week marking period. Slips will soon be wending their way to many parents.

The Yearbook committee is hard at work. All seniors have filled out blanks stating their secret ambitions and other incidentals.

The Star is the only newspaper printed in Winchester. The Editor's name is Wilson. Its office is at the Star Building on Church street in Winchester center. It does not print phoney advertisements nor month-old news; neither does it claim a circulation of 16,000 in a town of 15,000 population. It has been printed in Winchester since 1880. If you like it, why not subscribe?

Once again the Star must call attention to its insistence upon communications sent the editor for publication in its columns being signed with the name and address of the writer. The name need not be published, but anonymous letters are not acceptable and can not be printed. This week we received a letter dealing in a critical vein with the administration of town affairs. It was signed "Ye Old Scribe," who states that he has read the Star since the days when it was published by the present editor's father. We regret that we could not print hs first letter to us in all that time, but "Ye Old Scribe" will recall, if he will let his memory wander back through the years, many occasions when we have reminded our readers that we can not print unsigned communications.

According to this week's papers, President Roosevelt feels that the strikes which this country is experiencing in defence plants (omitting others) are unimportant. He thinks someone has written something which has given a worthy citizen an erroneous impression—which he feels is a great pity. Only 1/400th of the total defence effort is affected. Meanwhile we continue to read reports, erroneous or otherwise, of spreading strikes. The reading is interesting. The CIO strikes because of the AFL; the AFL strikes because of the CIO; both strike for more money and less work. The other important party concerned, if we leave out the employer and the public, is the man who desires to work. He doesn't want to buy a job from the union, and he is satisfied with the hours and wages, but, being free and equal here in America, he is not allowed to work. If he does buy his job from a union, he is apparently told to strike by some labor leader whom he has never seen. If he resents this and tries to continue work, he is stopped (we read of men beaten up and cars smashed). What the matter is with the Ford plant we do not know, but strike talk concerning it is in the news. The Ford company states that the agitators are the same group which introduced the sitdown strike and reign of terror which followed in Michigan. The strikes may be unimportant as stated, yet we recall a strike in the aluminum industry a while ago, and more recently a warning from the President's wife that housewives must now give up aluminum cooking utensils. There seems to have been strikes more recently in the steel industry. How these were settled, if they were, we do not know, but there is increasing talk concerning the shortage of steel. Of course we are an outsider in this scheme for the distribution of wealth other than having our own wealth properly divided weekly and monthly according to the great plan now underway, but aside from this, if our wealth is to be taken from us and distributed throughout the nation, it does appear that the results are very disappointing. If Mister Hitler comes over here and takes command there will undoubtedly be a distribution of wealth which will affect everyone, and hours of labor and rates of pay, and few vacations will vanish along with automobiles, washing machines, electric toasters and oil heat. This country has had a good example of what may be done by taking us for an example. We wonder just how much France has learned about the more abundant life. We have felt that if we could get into the war now it might bring a show down and settle where we are going in our industrial liberation, but as viewing the complaisant attitude of our administration, we are very skeptical that such a state will accomplish anything constructive, either for the defense program or the future of America.

Tells Department Heads to Treat Taxpayers Well

A reminder that Boston taxpayers are the "real bosses" of City Hall and that they must be treated at all times with utmost courtesy and consideration by municipal employees was issued to his department heads yesterday by Mayor Tobin.

"The taxpayers pay the bills, they hire us and they are our bosses," the Mayor told the city fathers gathered together at a Parker House luncheon.

Mayor Tobin said he had received a number of complaints of discourtesy during the last few months and that they have become increasingly numerous in recent weeks.

The Mayor announced he plans to hold a daily meeting of his department heads to give him an opportunity to exchange views on municipal problems.

GATE SHANTIES, OLD AND NEW

By Thomas A. Connolly
(Electric Gate Operator, Winchester, Mass.)

The completion of the new combination traffic tower for the crossing tender and policemen brings a much needed improvement in Winchester Square. This modern tower is the most up-to-date one which the railroad possesses. Through the efforts of the Selectmen of the town and railroad officials, this building was conceived to do away with the unsightly old shanty and distant traffic control box. Although the exact date of the erection of the old shanty is not known, an old resident of the town informs me that he can remember it being there in 1885.

The new tower consists of a two-story brick structure. The first floor houses the gate operator, and the second floor the traffic policeman. Located in the first floor are the levers which control the electric gate operations and the oil burner which supplies the heat for the building. On the second floor there is a dual set of controls for the electric gates and the manual control box for the automatic control of traffic lights.

The building was put in operation on Nov. 13, 1940, with Mr. W. E. Barrett, Superintendent, Mr. T. F. McGuane, Trainmaster, and Mr. Kelly, State Inspector, in attendance. Complete in every detail, it is truly a building which the residents of the town can be proud to look upon.

TO "FINISH THE JOB"

Winchester Will Contribute to English Morale

Many familiar Winchester names are on the list of sponsors who are linking together now the innumerable people of our village who see as their present part in the battle for free peoples the furnishing of practical means of keeping up civilian morale in England. They hope for a prompt and wide response that will soon start on its way a second "Rolling Kitchen."

This letter, signed by Mr. Joseph W. Worthen, will undoubtedly bring up briskly the fund already started by voluntary contributions and in the hands of the treasurer of the British War Relief Society Mr. G. Dwight Cabot, of the Winchester Trust Company.

March 1, 1941

To the Citizens of Winchester:

The job which Winston Churchill grimly says "We will finish," is a long, an arduous, a terrifying job. For thousands of English men and women it is their last job. For millions of others it is one beset with desperate difficulty and constant peril. In the doing of it we who know only the safety, the comfort and the peace of Winchester are proud and eager to help.

To enable us and others to give this help is the sole purpose of the British War Relief Society. Under the sponsorship of those whose names appear on this letter a committee of citizens has been formed to further the excellent work already started here. Through it we hope now to send from Winchester more Rolling Kitchens and other equipment to provide prompt aid, with proven efficiency, to those who work and suffer in areas which are bombed.

It is with sure confidence that we ask your generous response. Your check should be made payable to the British War Relief Society.

For the Committee,

WINCHESTER GIRL WRITES OF CHINA'S BOMBINGS

The following article, contributed by a reader of the Star and taken from a late magazine, will be of interest to the many friends of Miss Jennie Crawford. Miss Crawford was born and brought up in Winchester, and for many years has been in charge of missionary work in China.

Calmness and Courage During Air Raids

During my recent furlough in America I thought of air raids and air raid alarms with dread and I had visions of them upsetting all our regular work. After returning to Suifu West China, I was amazed at the way life went on, improvements made and signs of progress in spite of air raids and air raid alarms. Remembering China of old I had visions, during an air raid, of wounded being left wherever they fell to suffer and perhaps to die, until the "all clear' signal came. A surprise was in store for me one bright moonlight night when Japanese bombers visited our north suburb. Within 15 minutes after the bombing started, first aid helpers had brought the wounded or, stretchers to our two mission hospitals. As the wounded arrived we brought in small oil lanterns so as to see to give first aid treatment, prepared to blow them out as soon as we heard the bombers overhead.

One Sunday, just before Pastor Shu had finished his sermon, an air raid alarm was given. Before I went on furlough such an alarm would have emptied the church. Again I saw a change. A few people left the church but Pastor Shu went on with his sermon and ended the service in a dignified way. Then the rest of the people were dismissed. All had plenty of time to get to places of safety before the bombers arrived.

One day one of the city officials called at our hospital on business. While there he remarked to some of the Chinese "Every one will have to pray hard that nothing happens to these two mission hospitals (men's and women's) for they are all we have to depend on for the civilians in this city."—Lydia Jennie Crawford, Suifu, West China.

WINCHESTER GIRL A FINE FIGURE SKATER

Miss Eva Barone of this town, is winning added fame as a figure skater and great things are expected of this Winchester girl within the next year. Miss Barone, who is a confidential secretary at the offices of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee in Boston, took up this popular sport only seven months ago but has rapidly progressed and is now rated as one of the best of the modern skaters in this territory. She is also an accomplished tennis player and linguist.

BOTH FUN AND FUNDS FURNISHED BY GIRL SCOUT PLAY

The first nighters, or to speak more accurately and as better befits the bedtime hour for a good percentage of the audience, the first-afternooners, who saw the Girl Scouts give the first Winchester performance of "Tim the Chimney Sweep" settled promptly that they liked both the play and the players.

The fireplace shown in the first setting, Peter's bedroom, proved to be just as hospitable as the announcer, Betty Engstrom, had said it would be. The audience liked the first characters that came out of it, the little black Scots and applauded the gay and graceful dancing of Joan Nettles and Muriel Watkins. They didn't have to take sides between Nora, whose business was to keep a room and a boy clean, and the boy who had to adventure into mud in order to get acquainted with the world, and the other half of boyhood in the play for whom the dark and the night shadows and voices had so keen a lure. Barbara Wood and Virginia Olivier were delightful boys in all the humorous explorations of boyish likings and impulses, even untamed edges of boy nature where dail baths and scrupulous ears were at times questioned, but were accepted as the inevitable price a boy must pay for making the outside match the really nice bright inside of him.

In portraying the grown-up parts, Edith Dower as Nora and Barbara J. Smith as Mummy (in black velvet, all ready to go out to dine and dance) Barbara A. Smith as Mrs. Mender and Suzanne Wolff as Miss Fix-It just borrowed a little from their tomorrows, aid there they were, gracious, winsome, lovely-voiced ladies. They would doubtless tell us we mustn't forget that the make-up which Mrs. Samuel Graves gave them had something to do with the magic transformation.

Mary Butler, as Mr. Hoot, was a favorite figure, a great credit to her tailor, Mrs. Raymond Dickman, who furnished her brown feathers and crest and wings, and was a wise and impressive bird. And the interesting circles Mr. Hoot did move in, and the unusual folks he introduced the boys to in the Repair Shop, Fastidiously aesthetic was Ruth Tapley as the Rainbow Man in artist smock, and his lack of beauty co-operation was atoned for by Mr. Patch's kindly eagerneses to help Tim find the craftsman who could fix him up. Muriel Howard played the nice Mr. Patch. Anne Thompson, in academic robe, cap and glasses, was certainly convincing as the Character Man. When she said that's that, it just was, and Tim could go back to his chimneys and his night prowling reassured about the brightness of the real Tim inside him.

The busy, prankish gnomes, Virginia Burr, Constance Budgell, Jean Ebens, and Ruth McCarthy gave color and action to the Repair Shop. The setting and the stage picture they made brought applause as soon as the curtains opened on Act 2.

Between acts the audience "rolled out the barrel" and with Mrs. Clifford Cunningham as leader had "a heap of fun," singing and whistling all sorts of snatches. The more serious songs, the stanza of "America" and "God Bless America" the young audience sang with the same thorough participation.

The report of the fun has almost crowded out the mention of funds. But that is good news too. The Scouts in optimistic moments had hoped for as much as $50. They have $80 in hand as net proceeds. Their rift will make a real addition to the fund for the second "rolling kitchen."

This benefit for British War Relief is the second service project the troop has carried through this year. Using scraps of time at rehearsals and after meetings, they have made 55 beanies. What is a beanie? Have a Scout tell you or show you. They take lots of stitches, and careful ones.

"We are a community," said one grown-up, noting how much co-operation from their elders the Scouts were gratefully acknowledging. First to Chief William H. Rogers, of our Winchester police for giving a special traffic officer. Then to Mr. Quinn, superintendent of schools; to the Erskine Trucking Co.; the Winchester Star, the Winslow Press, Barnes Store, Woolworth's Mrs. Gilbert Tapley and Mrs. John P. Carr. Most of all the Scouts thank Mrs. J. Mulford Olivier, their leader and director of the play. A sheaf of flowers from the Troop expressed their appreciation of Mrs. Olivier, as she took a curtain call with the cast.

TRUCK RAMMED PARKED CAR

A Mack truck, owned by the South Medford Mason Supplies Co. of Boston avenue, Medford and loaded with sand, crashed into a Plymouth sedan, parked headed south on Main street opposite the high school gymnasium Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, badly damaging the rear of the latter machine.

The Plymouth was in charge of Mrs. Earl M. Wood of 65 Wedgemere avenue who had with her in the car her mother, Mrs. Besse Osterberg and her daughter, Miss Mary Wood. Mrs. Osterburg complained of injuries and was attended by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy.

The driver of the truck, John J. Egan of 98 Winn street, Belmont, told the Police that the accident occurred when his attention became diverted by a calendar which fell from the cab of his truck.

WINCHESTER MAN AIDING NAVY WITH BERMUDA DEFENSE BASE

Mr. Robinson Abbott of Everett road is sailing Saturday on the S. S. Exeter of the American Export Line for Bermuda where he is to serve as civilian senior civil engineer with the United States Navy in the construction of the Bermuda Defense Base. He expects to be at Bermuda for a year or longer, some of his duties being to approve plans, design, construction, etc. He will have under him a civilian staff.

Mr. Abbot has been since last August serving as senior structural engineer for the contractor engaged in building the Defense Base at Quonsitt, R. I. He has had a long and varied engineering experience, becoming acquainted with the practical side of his profession by working as a boy for his contractor father.

Later he studied engineering at Tufts, from which he was graduated with the class of 1918. After serving for a time in the Navy he secured his discharge and returned to Tufts to teach in the engineering school, remaining on the faculty until three years ago, and for several years coaching the varsity second football team.

Since leaving Tufts he has done graduate work at Harvard, taught at Bucknell and engaged in private engineering practice which he has now given up to work for the Navy.

Mr. Abbott's wife and son, David, a senior at Mt. Hermon School, will remain for the present at least in Winchester.

WINCHESTER MT. HOLYOKE CLUB BOOK TALK

Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond's book talk on Tuesday morning, March 4, and one of a series of six given for the benefit of the Mt. Holyoke Club of Winchester's Scholarship Fund, was the first of 1941. That meant that Mrs. Bond not only had a good many books to review but a great deal to tell of her "Little Journeys" to the homes of several well-known authors.

With loving care she described the farm house of Louis Bromfield which she visited in Ohio. Feminine hearts were green with envy as they heard of his new home, typical Ohio farm house as to exterior, French Chateau as to interior.

Mrs. Bond made predictions about the types of books which will soon flow from the presses. There will be, she said, a great many written by Englishmen about the English spirit in the face of disasterous war, a great many written by Frenchmen who safely escaped from the German regime in their homeland, and a flood of books on the work of foreign agents in America.

My Name Is Aram, the first book reviewed, with the vitality and breeziness of the author shows a trend in American writing. Aram, is a thinly-disguised William Saroyan and in the account of his life we see struggles of the author to find the underlying meaning of life.

Random Harvest, which James Hilton wrote in Hollywood shows the influence of the movie technique on his style in its dramatic tension, its use of the flash-back. The book is a picture of a mind trying to re-establish itself and at the same time a picture of England from Nov. 11, 1937 when the story opens.

In the Bachelor Life, George Jean Nathan, the New York dramatic critic, explodes many myths about the sad lot of the bachelor, at the same time he airs many of his trenchant prejudices which masquerade as opinions.

I Must Have Liberty, by Isabel Palencia is her autobiography. She writes from Mexico where she and her family have established themselves. Although the author has left her native Spain, she still hopes and works for its future.

War Letters from Britain, which have been edited by Diana Forbes-Robertson are interesting because they are the work of English people of all types, ages, classes. They are divided by time into four main groups. The first group contains letters of Sitzkrieg, days while England waited for total war, the second letters about the fall of the Allies, the third letters of the beginning of the battle of Britain, the fourth accounts of the Blitzkrieg of 1940.

Mrs. Bond will review for her talk in the Library Hall on the morning of April 1 what she calls the spring "Inundation of Books."

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, March 9, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Golden Text is: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is" (I John 3:2). Other Bible citations include: "Then spake Jesus to the multitude, and to his disciples, . . . But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. And call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven" (Matthew 23: 1, 8, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. His mission was both individual and collective. He did life's work aright not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mortals, to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility" (p. 18).

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

At the request of the many candidates up for office, the League of Women Voters performed a new function at the Town Hall at last Monday's election, by checking the voting lists and having them open to all candidates in the Town Hall

It may be of interest to citizens to know that the League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose purpose is to promote responsible informed, intelligent participation of women in government and it never endorses a candidate but always is ready to help all candidates alike.

The League feels that it is the responsibility of every citizen in a democracy, a government representative of the people, to vote in every election, local, state or national, and calls your attention to the following record of Monday's election:

Precinct 3	1411	725
Precinct 4	1402	590

Mr. Nolan was thrown from the wrecked car to the street. He was removed to the Winchester Hospital by a passing motorist and treated there for head injuries. He was not reported as seriously hurt.

ANNUAL TOWN ELECTION

candidates where contest occurred. Michael J. Foley was in second place in this bracket with 2694, Mr. Ryerson had 2643, and Frederick J. Larson, the unsuccessful candidate, polled 1488.

was 4397, against 4686, last year's all time record vote for a town election. About 50 per cent of the electorate went to the polls this year.

Despite the fact that a light vote was predicted the total at 10 o'clock was only 115 less that last year. Precinct 5, with Fred Scholl as warden, was again the first precinct to get its total in at 7:48 p. m. Precinct 6 was last in at 10:30. It should be remembered in this connection that much of the 6 vote is a late afternoon vote.

Frederick Douglas' Paper

In 1847 Frederick Douglas established the North Star, afterward called Frederick Douglas' Paper, a weekly abolition newspaper at Rochester, N. Y.

MAPLE LEAF FUND

According to information received Thursday last by Mrs. B. R. Gage, chairman of the Winchester Chapter of the Maple Leaf Fund, Victor Goggin, president of the Maple Leaf Fund, announced today that aid to the bombed peoples of Britain by the fund in January 1941 had more than tripled that shipped in July 1940, the first month of the relief groups activity. In the month of July 1940, the Maple Leaf Fund shipped $10,595.02 in money, clothing and medical supplies. In the month ending Jan. 31, 1941, the relief material totalled $36,914 in value.

Summing up the Maple Leaf Fund's activity, Mr. Goggin said clothing and money to the value of $184,823.55 (American dollars) have been shipped by the fund to a multiplicity of beneficiaries. Shipments rose from a total of five in July 1940 to 29 in the month of January 1941. One hundred and twelve shipments in all were made by the Fund.

For the entire period from July 9, 1940, to Jan. 31, 1941, inclusive, the Maple Leaf Fund shipped 73,101 pieces of goods and 110,084 surgical dressings and bandages, and $30,585.10 in cash or purchased materials. The fund provided $1200 to the Canadian Red Cross for surgical equipment and an ambulance and $2000 to the British War Releif Society for a mobile feeding unit.

A breakdown shows that shipments included: 7212 blankets; 4104 pieces of knitted wear; 6785 pieces of new clothing for children and hospital use; and 55,000 used garments.

The fund has received contributions from 10,111 contributors, many of them societies and organizations which are listed as single units. It maintains working headquarters at 601 Fifth avenue.

In making the report, Mr. Goggin said, "The report of the Maple Leaf Fund should not be mistaken for the report of a completed project. No matter how great the efforts of thousands of Americans, the need of the mothers and children of the bombed territory daily grows greater. The Maple Leaf Fund is an avenue of aid for Canadians and the friends of Canada, American arm in the fight for freedom."

The Winchester Committee is proud to have a part in the work and takes this occasion to thank again its many friends in Winchester who have responded so generously to every appeal in the midst of so many calls for relief from every quarter.

The sewing group meets every Thursday in the Unitarian Church, members and friends please mark your calendar.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

A birthday message to the more than 630,000 members of the Girl Scout organization has just been received by local councils throughout the country from Mrs. Harvey S. Mudd of Beverly Hills, Calif., president of the Girl Scouts. The organization celebrates its 29th birthday on March 12-18.

The message reads: "If our founder could speak to us on this anniversary of Scouting I sense that she would choose the theme of peace and good will between all nations and races. Todav war has embroiled every continent except South America—North America has not escaped for our neighbor on the north is loyally supporting its mother country—she has our good will as do all the countries to the south of us. Our task is to foster their good will so that there will ever be a guarantee of peace among the people of this hemisphere. Scouting can carry a message of friendship to the girls of our sister republics and so play a real part in forging a bond of union that no force can shatter."

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 7

Troop 7 met at the usual hour last Monday night in the Baptist Church. Mr. Dexter Blenkhorn, chairman of the district field commissioners presented the troop with the booth ribbon won at the Exposition held in Stoneham, Feb. 8.

Troop 7 also won the blue ribbon in the finals of the fire by flint and steel. The combined time of the four boys was nine seconds.

A patrol contest started last Monday night and is to run for one year. The Scoutmaster, John Casler, will present each boy of the winning patrol with a pedometer and a compass.

Thirty-eight tests have been passed within the last two weeks. Five boys are going to the Board of Review next Monday night and three new boys will receive their registration at the next investiture service.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The regular meeting for March will be held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Julia Fitzgerald on Washington street. Election of officers will take place. The meeting will be called promptly at 7:45 thus enabling any member who desires to attend the Town Meeting to do so.

The Girl Scout movement was founded on March 12, 1912, by Juliette Gordon Low, of Savannah Ga., and London, England.

A PRAYER FOR THE YEAR

Nothing is more needful in these days of confusion and uncertainty than a consciousness of a powerful strength which will enable us to face the future with courage.

Christians in China, England and other war-torn countries are drawing heavily on God's power. They are heroic, unafraid, uncomplaining, because they are confident that through Christ they "can do all things." Prayer is the only thing on earth powerful enough to bind all mankind together. As we fellowship with Him each day, our lives become illuminated with an inner glow; a calm; a peace which the world cannot give.

The World Day of Prayer Committee of Shanghai, China, prepared a daily prayer for 1941 which appeared on the cover of the program which we used at our union service, on Friday, Feb. 28. Many persons have expressed their desire to have copies of this prayer. We are indebted to the staff of the Winchester Star for their kindness in printing it. May it prove edifying and helpful to all who make it theirs.

M. K. W.

A Daily Prayer for the Year 1941

Father of all mankind, throughout this day, and every day, help me to remember that a very real portion of Thy Kingdom has been placed in my keeping. Therefore teach me to love Thee: with all my mind—that I may think Thy thoughts after Thee, from dawn to dark, making beautiful and significant each decision of my daily living; help me to remove all prejudice and small-mindedness, O Lord:

With all my heart—that I may love those whom Thou lovest, feeling for even the most unlovable and difficult of Thy children Thine own everlasting mercy:

With all my soul—that I may seek fresh ways in which we can all be one in Jesus Christ our Lord, praying for Thy livine power to surge through my commonplace routine from morning till night:

With all my strength—that I may work the works of Him who sent me while it is day, seeking to channel throuh every act Thy devotion to the needs of both my neighbor and myself. Remind me from moment to moment that this is not optional, but the last command of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Quicken me and use me, this day, for Thy name's sake. Amen."

STAR OFFICE

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

On Monday evening, March 3, 20 new members were initiated into the unit by Mrs. Mae Tanner and her group from Reading. Our membership chairman, Mrs. Mae Dunbury, has done excellent work and is to be complimented on her untiring efforts in securing new members.

The meeting was well attended and Mrs. Mae Early, Department Vice President, gave a most interesting talk.

A delightful entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Marguerite Walsh who played several selections on the piano, one of which was her own composition "Dawn." Mrs. Walsh also accompanied our guest soloist, Mrs. Nell Edwards who rendered several lovely selections. Mrs. Frances Conlon entertained with her stories in dialogue, as only Frances can.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Marguerite Walsh, Mrs. Mae Dunbury, Mrs. Nellie Moffett, Mrs. Margaret Hevey and Miss Mary Donaghey.

Our next get-to-gether will be for a bridge and whist party. Watch next week's Star for more details. This party is to be sponsored by Mrs. Mary L. Gorman, chairman, and her committee of officers.

Oil Long Used in California

Californians have burned oil for heat and power since as far back as 1880. Originally it was used only in the galleys of ships, but, because of its convenience, it grew rapidly in popularity and was going strong as an infant industry when the San Francisco earthquake and fire almost ruined it.

WINCHESTER HIGHLANDS COMMUNITY MEN'S CLUB

The monthly supper of the club was held in the parish hall of the Second Congregational Church last Thursday Feb. 27. The speaker of the evening, Prof. Walter W. Jamison of Newton, gave an extraordinarily thought provoking talk under the title "Why England Slept." Prof. Jamison has had numerous direct contacts with persons in high places in England and on the continent during the past few years, sources of information which, combined with the results of his extensive reading, led to a conclusion which was as unexpected by his audience as it was convincing.

In short, he found his answer in the loss of moral values resulting from the last war. A loss which was particularly devastating in that most of those in positions of power in England were actual participants in that conflict and thus had vivid memories of the horrors of war. The attitude of appeasement, therefore, was actually an inability or unwillingness to cope directly with an intolerable situation for fear of the even more intolerable situation which they knew was sure to follow their acceptance of the challenge.

DR. ALBERT WIGGAM'S regular, illustrated feature, "LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND," is still another of the many reasons why more and more people, these days, are reading THE BOSTON GLOBE.

The next gathering of the club as a whole has been planned for Sunday, March 16, when the men will attend the regular morning service at the Second Congregational Church in a body. It is intended that, subsequently, other churches represented in the club membership will likewise be attended.

On Monday evening, March 17, at 7:30, the previously announced "Sugaring Off" party will be given in the parish hall. Under the chairmanship of Mr. A. C. Kendrick, an old Vermonter from way back, the committee has arranged an evening which is certain to provide enjoyment for young and old alike. Real Vermont maple syrup, and snow upon which to make one's own personal, maple-sugary designs are assured, along with plenty of home-made doughnuts. Films showing the process of producing maple sugar will also be shown. Nobody seems to know quite why, but a fellow by the name of Neal H. Barker, who claims to be a Yankee, seems to think that no real Yankee party (Vermont or otherwise) is complete without a "dicker." He says that something of value which he doesn't want any more which he would like to swap for something for which he has some use. (It wouldn't be fishing tackle you need, or would it, Neal?) The committee hopes that everyone attending the party will bring along something which will result in a "dicker" either with Mr. Barker or some other member of the gathering.

REV. GARFIELD MORGAN GUEST PREACHER

Union Lenten Service at the Unitarian Church

On Wednesday, March 12, at 7:45 p. m., the next Union Lenten service will be held at the Unitarian Church. Rev. Garfield Morgan, minister of the Central Congregational Church in Lynn, will be the guest preacher. Mr. Morgan is one of Lynn's outstanding spiritual leaders. Besides his great services to his church he has been active as a worker in innumerable civic affairs, and is widely known in the city for his services to the various community organizations.

Mr. Rushton of the First Baptist Church will conduct the service.

His outstanding achievement in his own church is the growth and success of the Lynn Fellowship Class, which was started just before he came there with 40 members. The class now meets regular every Sunday morning with an attendance of over 200 members.

REV. PAUL H. CHAPMAN PARTICIPATED

Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman of the Unitarian Church was marshall at the junior choir festival of the Unitarian and Universalist churches of Newton Saturday. The festival was held in the First Unitarian Church West Newton, with more than 200 voices, representing the junior choirs of 16 churches.

Life Insurance in action!

BY ITS VERY NATURE, Life Insurance is an active, continuing force—a living force in the homes of millions who share its benefits.

Last year Metropolitan visited many homes in times of family crisis, for a total of over $182,000,000 was paid on account of death claims to scores of thousands of beneficiaries of Metropolitan policyholders. Dividends, matured endowments, annuity payments, disability, and health and accident claims, and other benefits paid or credited to living policyholders during the year amounted to more than $426,000,000. The total of almost $609,000,000 for payments to policyholders and beneficiaries is a record high for the Company.

Metropolitan funds, invested for the benefit of its policyholders, continued to play a part in the economic structure of the nation. These funds aided in financing Government activities, helped to keep industry humming and men in jobs, to erect public and private buildings, and assisted farmers to own their farms and to keep them in proper repair. However, the low interest rates generally prevailing, continued to have their effect on the Company's earnings and consequently on dividends to policyholders.

Moreover, through its Welfare activities, its nursing service for eligible policyholders, its research, its health and safety literature and advertising, Metropolitan again contributed to the task of bringing better health to America. The death rate of Metropolitan policyholders as a whole continued to be low, and mortality among Industrial policyholders was approximately the same as the 1939 figure, a record low for this group.

Metropolitan is a mutual life insurance company. This means that the assets of the Company are held for policyholders and their beneficiaries. The value of these assets will ultimately be paid out for their benefit . . . and for them only.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

On Sunday, March 2, the Winchester Art Association opened its March exhibit at the Winchester Public Library with a gallery talk and tea. This month's exhibit, procured with great effort by the exhibit committee, as a group of Seascapes and Flowers by well known Boston Artists and others from further afield. Such artists as Nellie Littlehale Murphy and her husband Herman Dudley Murphy, Edmund C. Tarbell, Sally Cross Bill, Harry Sutton, Charles Woodbury, Jay Conneway, Arthur Johnson, E. Barnard Lintott, Emma MacRae and Stanley Woodward are all showing.

The gallery talk which preceded the tea was given by Mr. Bartlett H. Hayes, director of the now famous Anderson Gallery in Andover. Mr. Hayes sketched briefly the history of Art Museums and Art Associations such as the Winchester one in prelude. He stated that Art Museums per se were comparatively young since the first one known as such was the Vatican established as late as 1740, pointing out that the first American museum was not in existence until 1823. In the early stages of museums they were merely store houses for art treasures that people neither wanted nor knew what to do when they had them. It was not until after the last World War that the period of analysis entered into the picture and art museum became really what we know them today to be, the place where masterpieces of art are displayed intelligently.

Today there are more than 2500 such museums throughout the United States alone and these museums and clubs such as the Winchester Art Association fill in a great need fro adult education so lacking in public schools to date. Mr. Hayes pointed out that in his opinion Art Associations had the three-fold purpose of educating the children, stimulating such education in the teachers, and adult education and entertainment. He realized the difficulties that the committee had to select a show that would do this as well as satisfy the ever growing needs of the transcienet who passed through Winchester especially in the summer.

The tea which followed was in charge of Mrs. Edward V. French assisted by Mrs. Carl Eaton, Mrs. Ben Schneider, Mrs. Harry N. Squires, Jr. The pourers were Mrs. Marshall England and Mrs. John Joy.

This exhibit will be on show at the Winchester Public Library gallery during the month of March and the public is cordially invited to attend it during all library hours.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Miss Mary Alice Fitch, president of the Winchester Gorden Club was hostess to the club, Thursday, Feb. 27. Luncheon-Dessert was served where sprigs of mignonette mingling with yellow marguerites made an arrangement suggestive of spring. Mrs. Ralph T. Damon poured.

The president, at the opening of the meeting, paid tribute to an honorary member, Mrs. Addison F. Holmes after which a letter-obituary was read; a copy to be sent to Dr. Holmes.

Mrs. John B. Wills reported on the club's exhibition for the Spring Flower Show. Mrs. Herbert B. Cox reported on two conferences; one at Horticultural Hall on "Care of Plants" and the "Forest and Park Association" at the Parker House.

Mrs. Waldo V. Lyon substituted for Mrs. John Chipman who was to speak on "Trees." Mrs. Lyon, although on short notice, spoke on "Wild Flowers of New England" and as an authority from study and experience, stimulated the idea of preserving these wild flowers in individual gardens. Using a Hyde Chart, she presented each flower, describing it with instructions about transplanting and kind of soil. There is a sporting chance to have these wild flowers in our gardens—study and practice can make them happy. The mayflower needs an acid soil and when taken up it should have five or six inches of roots; cut to the nubbins and cover with pine needles the first summer. Hepatica fragrant, pinkish blue or white, hidden by dead leaves or snow needs an acid soil; cuttings can be used when plant is established. The pink moccasin resents being moved and it needs shade to keep it cool. The yellow slipper is more adaptable. Dutchman's Breeches, with ferns as a shade, grow anywhere. Snow Trillium is shy and hides itself in the cool, moist woods, responds to treatment in a neutral soil and measures three or four inches across if happy Bloodroot lasts all summer and nroduces seeds. Columbine is easy to grow in sun or shade a rocky soil preferable. May Apple with a white blossom leaves a red pod. Ladies Tresses, growing along the borders of streams like moist places; planted on a hummock with surrounding moisture is ideal. Rattlesnake plant will send out runners if contented. Gentian, the flower that has insnired poets, and bottled Gentian where various theories are suggested in regard to its closed corollo, can be planted and successfully grown. Jack-in-the-Pulpit, Indian Pipe, Checkerberry, Azalea, Wood Lily and many more of these flowers can be an added delight as well as preservation of these beautiful wild flowers in a materialized New England Wild Flower Garden of our own.

Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini will be the hostess Thursday, March 27. Mrs. Robert C. Whitten will speak on "Famous Gardeners."

Two good mixers are better than one

THERE you sit, watching the long road ahead as it dips and rises.

Under your feet there's a quiet whispering, to let you know that all eight able Buick cylinders are happily on the job.

You're giving not a single thought to what's happening under that long bonnet nosing out in front, but here's what's going on:

Instead of the single, compromise-size carburetor you find on most cars, this Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion* has two good mixers on the job.

A single one of them—the front one—handles all your normal carburetion needs in frugal fashion—keeps you rolling smoothly, easily, quietly, on the very minimum rationing of gasoline.

But the other carburetor is alert and ready for any sudden need. Just tramp down on that accelerator pedal—it goes into instant action.

What for? To give you more fuel and more power for any emergency purpose!

To swing you up a tough hill without slacking pace—to swoop you around slow trucks with sudden power—to let you take advantage of long, open stretches where timesaving is possible.

It's almost like having two engines—one to handle normal requirements thriftily, another to team up with the first for extra oomph and wallop when you want it.

That kind of teamwork pays.

Owners by the thousand will tell you it's more economical too—as much as 10% to 15% more economical.

If you haven't experienced what it feels like to have that under the bonnet of your automobile, better go have that Buick demonstration now.

*Standard equipment on all Buick SUPER, CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED models, available at slight extra cost on all Buick SPECIAL models.

Marooned Fisherman Battles Sudden Flood

Wilbur M. Mosley

GOOD fisherman's luck almost turned into tragedy for Wilbur M. Mosley, of Mount Airy, N. C. Ignoring a heavy rainstorm, he got his tackle and went late in the afternoon to a favorite spot on the Ararat River.

He fished from a sandbar in the middle of the river. The bites were coming fast and he soon forgot the passage of time. When darkness fell, with the rain still pouring down, he continued his sport.

Three hours later Mosley gathered up his equipment and catch and prepared to wade ashore. He found he was trapped. The violent rainstorm had flooded the entire section. On either side of his "island" raced a swirling, boiling current a hundred yards wide.

The sand bar on which he stood had shrunk, he discovered, to a small strip. The water was rising so fast he knew he could not stay there. He had a flashlight in which he had put fresh batteries just before he set out. With this, he found a long, stout pole. Armed with light and pole, he started out into the current, taking a chance on getting to shore.

He gripped his pole and held to his light, trying to brace himself against the flood. Only desperate maneuvering enabled him to make any progress. Several times he went completely under water.

"Every few yards I thought it was all over," Mosley said. "Each time I managed to keep on my feet and hang to my pole. I could do that only because my bright light showed every whirlpool and rock. I worked along, actually foot by foot, through the whole hundred yards of current. When I got where there was solid ground under my feet once more, I was so cold I was almost helpless."

Mosley found a house near the river where he got thawed out and dried his clothes. The flood completely submerged his "island" shortly after he got ashore.

SUEZ CANAL NOT AS VULNERABLE AS PANAMA TO BOMBING ATTACKS

Although bombs recently have been dropped near the Suez Canal by German airplanes, as explosives were earlier dropped there by Italian flyers, it can hardly be expected that great damage will be done to the waterway by such attacks, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. It has no locks to make it vulnerable, as has the Panama Canal. About the only damage that could be inflicted would be the destruction of terminal breakwaters and warehouses, the caving in of the banks, or temporary stoppage of navigation by the sinking of ships in the ditch. Repairs to such damage would not be difficult.

Lakes Are Expansion Chambers

Sea level short-cut between Europe and Asia, says the bulletin, the Suez Canal unrolls it ribbon of water for 104.5 miles through desert and marshy lakes from Port Said on the Mediterranean to Port Tewfik (Taufiq at the head of the Gulf of Suez. It slices through the low-lying Isthmus of Suez, the narrow land bridge between Asia and Africa. The banks are mostly sand and gravel, although in places concrete as been laid along the shore at water level to prevent erosion.

The northern half of the canal is an almost straight ditch through the desert, while the southern half follows through an irregular chain of lakes which act as "expansion chambers" to take up the flow of the four-foot tide pouring in from the Red Sea; the Mediterranean is practically tideless.

The depth of the canal has now been increased to 45 feet and the minimum width to 70 yards, thus allowing the passage of all but the very largest ocean vessels. Throughout almost the entire length of the waterway two-way traffic is unimpeded. The rules of navigation often compel a palatial cruise ship to draw aside to let a lowly tramp steamer puff by. Ships move through the canal under their own power, but are guided by canal company pilots. Navigation through the canal goes on night and day; in a twenty-four hour period during normal times, 25 or 30 ships may pass through. A railroad and a fresh water canal parallel the shipway.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Winchester Rotarians to be classified as travelers this week include John Roosevelt, Curtis Nash and Jim Scott. Also we suspect that several others are casting longing eyes on the road.

Billy Beggs, of course, has been very much in town and next week he promises to be very much in Rotary. Congratulations on your splendid recovery, Billy.

Time marches on and so President George Felt felt constrained to remind Ralph Bonnell and Bill Priest that their birth anniversaries were clocked respectively for the 5th and 6th inst. Estimates submitted as to the number of these anniversaries ranged from wild to wilder but certainly congratulations were sincere.

The writer presents apologies for failing to report last week's meeting and will endeavor to see that it does not happen again. But it was too good a meeting to ignore entirely being, as it was, the 12th in the series of meetings devoted by our club to the entertainment of all Rotarians residing in Winchester regardless of their club affiliations. We also entertain former members of our club on these occasions. The meeting of last week registered the third largest attendance of any one of the series and was characterized by its dedication as a tribute to the many and significant services rendered to the club by our fellow-townsman, Alfred H. Marchant, past president of the Rotary Club of Boston. By the way, we are most happy to report that "Al" is making splendid gains in his long fight to regain his health.

Well, that bell story keeps popping up from time to time, each time with certain embellishments of a more or less provocative nature. At one point in today's discussion it was earnestly suggested that impeachment proceedings be instituted because said bell was not in its usual station at a recent meeting. However, calmer counsel finally prevailed as the fine points at issue were argued. At all events we had an object lesson as to the respect which the bell commands from its proud position up front.

Announcement is made that two new Rotary Clubs have been organized in Massachusetts. The Rotary Club of Cohasset, District 198 will meet on Mondays at Hugo's. The Rotary Club of Groton, District 197, will meet on Wednesdays at 12:15 p. m. at the Groton Inn. The President of the Groton club, Rev. John Crocker, is also President of the famous private school, Groton School. We foresee a bright and useful future for these clubs, both located in sterling Massachusetts communities.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Mr. Fred E. Hamlin, manager of the Boston Automobile Club Division of the American Automobile Association and chairman of Mayor Tobin's Boston Traffic Committee. Mr. Hamlin's committee is charged in particular with the solution of Boston's difficult parking problem. He gave us very interesting statistics and reported various surveys which indicate that the majority of communitiese, large and small, also have parking problems of one kind or another. The most effective means of combating the difficulty, declared Mr. Hamlin, is to gain the co-operation of motor car drivers and to instil the idea that courtesy pays big dividends in the control of motor traffic just as it does in other human affairs. That Mr. Hamlin's message was deeply appreciated was best indicated by the undivided attention which he received from his audience.

Our next meeting Thursday, March 13, will be held at Melrose at the invitation of the Melrose club. Members will recollect the recent joint meeting when Melrose sent a surprisingly large delegation to Winchester. We are duty bound to reciprocate. Members needing transportation will be properly cared for. Remember, be at Oak Manor, 21 East Foster street, Melrose at 12:30 p. m., Thursday, March 13.

The remains of Alphonso S. Campbell of Ridgefield road, who died Feb. 19 while on the way to Brazil, are expected to arrive in New York on Monday. They will be brought to Winchester for funeral services, the exact time of which has not been decided.

SEASCAPES AND FLOWER STUDIES IN ART ASSOCIATION SHOW

Seascapes and flower studies are being shown in the Winchester Art Association's current exhibition at the Library Art Gallery.

Chief among the pictures of flowers are two large studies of peonies by Herman Dudley Murphy, one of which, showing pinky white full-opened blooms in a large metal bowl, won the special prize offered by the Society for Sanity in Art at Chicago in 1939. Also by Mr. Murphy is a strikingly lifelike and artistic study of purple iris in a jade green bowl standing on a table with a glazed Chinese figure, a smaller metal bowl and a string of large beads.

Rosebuds and larkspur in a crystal bowl by Nellie Littlehale Murphy is painted with the delicacy characteristic of her work. Another attractive study by Mrs. Murphy is of wisteria in a tall pottery vase with a bright green background.

Two charming small flower studies are white roses in a crystal vase with a small brass bowl by Lintatt, and Sally Cross Bill's deep purple and white petunias shown with a dull metal smoking set.

Striking is Harry Sutton's Psyche and Peonies, showing large white blooms surrounding a statue of the goddess. Very colorful is a large garden scene, a veritable riot of blossoms, reflected in a pool of blue water with a long white building in the background.

Emma Fordyce MacRae has three large studies that are most unusual in their suggestion of age and in the attention given to the background for the flowers.

Marines by Stanley Woodward are always a joy and there are several fine studies by Mr. Woodward in the current show. Beautifully painted is his study of foaming breakers dashing their spray high in the air with creaming green water running in the foreground and the dark blue of the open sea behind. Especially beautiful is the sky in this painting, though generally speaking the skies in the entire group of marines are unusually fine.

Full of sullen threat is Tripod and Starrett with its angry green water and slatey sky. Arthur Johnson's large canvas showing a long comber about to break on a rocky shore is very convincing.

Two large marines signed "Connaway" are painted to catch the surge and rush of heavy water, one depicting the spume and foam of waves breaking on rocks and the other, heavy jade green, white capped rollers about to break on a rugged bit of heavy ledge.

Also by Stanley Woodward are two fine marines, the one showing a big white-capped wave curling up to break on some well painted rocks, and the other, a two master on sleek blue-green water with a most effective background of silvery green clouds and a gull rising from the water in the foreground. The entire picture is very warm and luminous.

The exhibition will remain at the library through March and is open to the public. Those who like such widely divergent studies as flowers and the sea should not fail to visit it.

Garabedian of the college faculty. During last fall she played for the traditional candle-light service at the college.

Mr. Downs prefaced his opening remarks with a tribute to retiring Selectmen Elliott Cameron and Donald Heath, both of whom had given three years service to the Finance Committee before their three years on the Board. He also praised the service to the town of William L. Parsons of the Planning Board, a public servant for 25 years.

Mr. Downs stressed the large amounts for national defense which the state and town will be called upon to pay, and stated that his committee had asked for and secured the cooperation of all town departments this year in paring departmental expenditures to the bone.

Under reports of committees the report of the Salaries Committee, appointed last year to consider salaries of certain town employees and make recommendations for salary levels was received and accepted with the exception of that portion referring to school janitors.

Mr. Tansey made the motion to amend the acceptance so as to exclude janitors and in speaking to the amendment felt that the janitors of secondary schools should be eligible to receive the maximum pay for head janitors in the junior and senior high schools, stating that men in the secondary schools are now receiving as little as $22 per week with their contribution for pension deducted

Mr Neiley gave the School Committee's support to the amendment, stating that its members felt that an $1800 maximum should replace the $1500 maximum provided by the Salaries Committee. Mr. Rotundi and Mr. MacAdams also spoke in favor. Mr. Blackham, for the Salaries Committee, stated that his group had the support of the Finance Committee in arriving at their figures.

The meeting finally voted to amend the Salaries Committee's report to exclude the secondary school janitors from its recommendations, 98—71. Apparently the vote simply makes it possible to pay the janitors the increased maximum if the school authorities so desire.

An amendment offered by Mr. Parker to advance the assistant town clerk to class 3 from class 2 was defeated 43-117, Mr. Sanderson speaking in support of the amendment and Mr. Lyman in opposition.

Under the appropriation for the collection of taxes a reduction was affected due to the fact that Collector Nichols, having resigned previous to election, because of reaching the required age for pension, and having been re-elected for the balance of his unexpired term, will now receive a salary of only $1,337.50 or the difference between his pension and his former salary of $2500.

In announcing this fact Mr. Downs paid tribute to Mr. Nichols' fairness and efficiency. Mr. MacAdams also praised Mr. Nichols ability as a collector, but felt that his resignation should have been made public when it occurred so that the electorate would know the exact conditions of his re-election. Mr. Cullen concurred.

When the library appropriation was reached Mr. Rich took the floor and asked permission of the meeting to transfer $156 in the library appropriation to personal services from other expenses. He went at great length into the education and training necessary for successful library service and felt that the library staff is not being dealt with fairly in the matter of salaries.

Mr. Downs objected for the Finance Committee. Mr. Hale and Mrs. McDonald supported Mr. Rich, and so

GROUP THEATRE ANNOUNCES PLANS

Joy A. Woolley, production chairman for "Murray Hill," the spring production of the Winchester Group Theatre, has announced that casting for the play has been completed. Almost the entire cast represents talent new to Group Theatre productions. Rehearsals are now under way and the play will be presented in the high school auditorium on Saturday, April 5.

Combining the usual after-the-show party, with an effort to raise additional funds for the Group treasury, there will be a dance and get-together at the Winchester Country Club after the performance. A group of members have engaged the Country Club for this purpose, paying for it privately, so that all receipts from the get-together will go directly to support Group activities. There will be no Friday night performance, but guest tickets will be on sale for the Saturday night performance. Many members are planning dinner parties for that evening, to be followed by attendance at the show, and dancing at the Country Club.

The March meeting of the Group, originally scheduled for a play reading on March 21, has been postponed until after the spring production.

Mr. Crow Condemned

The crow is detrimental to game life because it robs birds' nests of eggs and also eats young birds. It is also considered a menace to agriculture by the average farmer because of its love of corn and corn sprouts as well as other types of farm crops

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The meeting of the Guild on Tuesday afternoon was enlivened with talk of plans for spring activities. The lecture scheduled for March 21 has been postponed to April 4. The Rev. Fr. Dan O'Leary will talk on "The Balkans, the Danger Spot of Europe." Mrs. Michael Hinthan will open her home at 115 Church street for this lecture.

On March 28 there will be a silver tea and sewing exhibition. It has been the custom of the Chapter to display once a year samples of the work done by members and this year Mrs. Earl M. Wood of 65 Wedgemere avenue will be hostess for the showing. Mrs. Wood has cordially invited all Guild members and their friends to attend the exhibition to be held at her home.

Next month brings the date for the annual spring bridge. This party, which no one who has ever attended would think of missing, will be held at the Winchester Country Club and will be featured by a fashion show to be given by Filene's.

This week our group was delightfully entertained by Belle Libby Hinckley whose talk, "We the People of the Antique Shop Speak" brought to life some of the items in her collection. Among the many lovely old things shown by Mrs. Hinckley were a Royal Dresden demitasse set for 12, believed to be the only one of its kind in this country and an egg cup originally owned by Napoleon which she considers as her greatest treasure.

Tea was served by the hostesses for the afternoon: Mrs. Coren H. Hinthan, Mrs. C. F. McCarthy, Mrs. M. J. Quinn and Mrs. L. A. Williams.

There will be a sewing meeting on the afternoon of March 25 and it is hoped that there will be many willing hands to help with the work planned for that day.

STAGE SETTING — THRIFT SHOP DONATION DAY

An enthusiastic audience gathered at the First Baptist Church Social Hall on Tuesday, March 11, for the most successful Thrift Shop Donation Day on record, with Mrs. Charles A. Burnham as chairman.

The background of greens with spring flowers, forming a terrace garden on the stage, made a beautiful setting for the gay spring costumes presented at the Fashion Show by Filene's.

Following the display over 350 guests enjoyed their morning coffee in an atmosphere of colonial charm made possible by the artistic arrangements of old paneling, hooked rugs, samplers on the walls with pewter on lovely old tables. This setting was enhanced by Mrs. George Dutting, chairman of the American Red Cross and Mrs. Fred Cameron, chairman of the British War Relief gowned in Colonial costumes presiding at the tea tables.

Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood and Mrs. Norman Mitchell with their helpers felt the keen appreciation of their friends at the tremendous amount of work done in decorating for the affair.

The success of the undertaking was due to the splendid co-operation of all the Church people and their friends.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB

The Epiphany Men's Club had a good attendance at its meeting last Thursday in the parish hall of the church where members listened to an outstanding address by Comdr. Edward H. Smith of Wildwood street who spoke on iceberg control.

Commander Smith proved one of the most entertaining speakers to which the Epiphany Club has yet listened. Not only was his subject of absorbing interest but the manner in which it was represented added greatly to the pleasure of the audience. Standing behind his lantern, from which he projected beautifully clear colored slides, Commander Smith "just talked," easily fluently and authoritatively while his audience listened intently until every last word was spoken.

Messrs. P. Stewart Newton, Robert Abbott and Warren Shoemaker were the committee in charge of arrangements for the evening. Mr. Maxwell McCreery introduced Commander Smith.

HARVARD CLUB OF EASTERN MIDDLESEX

Prof. Samuel H. Cross will be the guest of the club at its dinner meeting Thursday, March 20, at the Shaker Glen House in Woburn. Professor Cross is an authority on international affairs and undoubtedly will provide a clear cut analysis of the present situation in Europe. His talk will be most timely with the present threat of an invasion of England, particularly so as he predicted the invasion of Norway, Denmark and Holland almost to the day a year ago.

Notices have been sent to all men listed in the Harvard Alumni Directory as living in Melrose, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Winchester and Woburn. Any Harvard men who have not received notices or who wish further information may call the Secretary, Mr. Edward Ramsey, 64 Tamworth Hill avenue, Wakefield. LEVINE—SCHWARTZ

Miss Ethel Lynne Schwartz of Main street, daughter of Mr. Morris Schwartz, and Abraham Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Levine, also of Main street, were married Sunday evening, March 9, at 7 o'clock in the Hotel Bradford, Boston, by Rev. L. H. Masovetsky of Winthrop. Charles Friedman and his orchestra played the wedding music, and colored motion pictures were taken by Nathan Chaban both of the marriage ceremony and of the reception which was held afterward in the lobby salon of the hotel.

Miss Schwartz was given in marriage by her father and was attended only by Miss Sally Schwartz of Boston. The bride wore a gown of white silk bengaline, having a court train. Her bridal veil, having a train of five yards of illusion, was arranged with a head-dress of orange blossoms, and she carried a muff of white baby orchids. The honor maid wore a gown of blue crepe with a head-dress of blue tulle and matching rosettes. Her flowers were talisman roses.

Saul Sudman of Boston was Mr. Levine's best man and the usher corps included Harry Sudman and Hyman Schwartz of Boston, Louis Faber, Jack Chitel and Harry Labourene of Brookline, Leonard Sudman of Dorchester, Harry Sandler of Roxbury and Herman Werner of Mattapan.

Mr. Levine and his bride are spending their honeymoon at Coral Gables, Fla. Upon their return they will make their home in Winchester. Mr. Levine, an attorney at law, is a graduate of Boston University Law School, class of 1939, and a member of the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity.

MANSFIELD WELCOMED AT SPRINGFIELD

Wendell D. Mansfield former Winchester High School athletic director and for the past two seasons varsity coach at Bates, received a warm welcome from his alma mater last week when he visited Springfield College to make the necessary arrangements to take over the position of head football coach there next fall.

Mr. Mansfield went to Springfield last week Wednesday and was formally introduced to local newspaper men by the college president, Dr. Ernest Best. The latter explained that in choosing a football coach Springfield had to select a man who not only knew the gridiron game thoroughly but was also able to coach basketball, assist with baseball and teach physical education in the class room. Such widespread qualifications Dr. Best found Mr. Mansfield to possess and he praised him as just the man Springfield needs as it starts to rebuild and improve its coaching staff.

Meeting the Springfield newspapermen was sort of old home week for Mr. Mansfield for he is already on the friendliest terms with the scribes though his association with them while assistant coach at the physical education college before going to Bates.

On Thursday Mr. Mansfield addressed the Springfield student body and received a warm welcome. He plans to get spring football under way at Springfield March 31 and expects to spend a week with the candidates there, after which Freshman Coach Edward Penneock will carry on. It is hoped that Winchester's Andy Lentine will be able to be at Springfield for at least a part of the spring drill.

Lentine, who captained a championship team at Winchester High under Mansfield in 1934 and afterward played at New Hampton, New Hampshire U. and Boston College, is to coach the Springfield line for Mansfield next year, having held a similar position at Bates last fall.

WINCHESTER HIGHLAND'S COMMUNITY MEN'S CLUB

W... old Vermonter, A. E. Kendrick, said that plenty of maple syrup and doughnuts were assured for the Sugaring-off Party next Monday evening, nobody had the slightest doubt concerning his ability to produce these important items. His remark, however, that he had also arranged for the necessary snow was received with much lifting of eyebrows. The ground was quite bare at the time, if you remember, and the scent of spring was in the air. Well, gentlemen, after the storms of the past week what have you skeptics to say now? Looks as though our maple sugar expert has in Indian sign on the weather man, doesn't it? Or was it someone higher up that you talked it over with, "A. E.?"

Now that everything is all set, it certainly appears that a vat full of fun is in store for old and young, beginning at 7:30 p. m., March 17, in the parish hall of the Second Congregational Church. And the folks who bought lampshades or paper towels at last Monday's very enjoyable Penny Sale, instead of the shellac or range oil which they intended to purchase, should not over-look the Yankee Swap feature of the party. Or why not get that "whats-it" out of the attic and let's see how shrewd a "dicker" you can make.

Club members should not forget their appointment with the Reverend Noyes at morning worship Sunday, March 16th. This is the date agreed upon for group attendance at the Second Congregational Church. Plan to be on hand at 10:45 a. m. so that all may be seated before the start of the service.

The bowling league is moving into the last lap of its season, with Team D (Mills Chaffe, C. Thomann, Barker and Colpritt) still on top after a bad slump. Of course anything can happen, but at the present writing it looks as though Champ Nelson's team has the best chance of upsetting the leaders. Both Thomas and Noyes, who have shown the most consistent improvement of all the contenders, are on this team.

Mr. William N. Beggs attorney and member of an old Winchester family, will be the guest of honor at the monthly supper, Thursday March 27. Mr. Beggs, who has attended the Seeing-Eye School in New Jersey, will tell about his experiences at this school. He will be accompanied by his shepard dog and undoubtedly demonstrate what a boon such intelligent, trained animals can be to persons handicapped by the loss of sight. Don't forget to reserve this evening. It is bound to be most interesting and informative. While only men will attend the supper, the ladies are invited to listen to Mr. Beggs' talk, which will start about 7:45 p. m.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

by James Coor

T... Dr. Alley showed ... on pictures on radio and television to a few classes. These pictures were very easily understandable by the the laymen, and, therefore, showed the pupils what was going on at the present time in these two fields.

Wednesday morning, Mr. Grindle showed the senior boys another picture dealing with radio. This picture showed the different opportunities in the field of radio.

College Board classes are ... at full speed now. Miss Mackedon Mrs. Stacey, Mr. Keeney, Mr. Butters, and Dr. Alley manage among themselves to take up almost every afternoon of the pupils. These classes really do give the students a lot of help. He learns many things that sometimes are not stressed in class. Besides this he is getting practice in answering the same type of question that will be asked when he takes his exam.

Preparations for the Yearbook are also being speeded up. All pictures for the book must be taken by the end of the week according to the photographers. Different students are now engaged in writing short paragraphs about the others which will appear beneath or beside the pictures in the Yearbook.

Thursday morning in the home room period, the members of one of the senior English classes gave short ten minute talks in the senior home rooms. The subjects of these talks were picked by the students themselves. In some rooms the students introduced themselves; in others, they were introduced by a member of their English class.

Baseball practice has, of course, been delayed by the recent snows. However, Coach Knowlton is going to start practice in the gym soon.

All seniors and juniors are in the throes of class dues right now. In order to go to the Prom, one must be either a junior or senior and have paid one's dues. The seniors cannot go to class night unless they have paid their dues.

Tennis started in the gym last Saturday under the supervision of Mr. William S. Packer, a member of the Park Department. He has a talented corps of teachers helping him teach the fundamentals to young boys and girls.

HELEN CARROLL SWIM WINNER

Helen Carroll, Winchester High School senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Carroll of Lincoln street, won the N.E.A.A.U. 100 yard freestyle handicap swimming event at the Brookline Municipal pool last Thursday evening.

Helen, captain of Winchester High's field hockey team last fall and a member of the girls' unbeaten tennis team of 1940, had a handicap of four seconds. She won from Gertrude Klaucke and Claire O'Donnell, both members of the Worcester Women's Swimming Association. Helen competed under the colors of the Boston Swimming Association, having been a member of that organization for the past two seasons.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL HONORED

At an election held by the Senior Class of the Winchester High School Miss Leila Jane Smith of 11 Lawson road was chosen the outstanding citizen of that class, thus making her the D. A. R. good citizenship pilgrim of 1941. The requirements for this election are dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Sponsored by the Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R. of Winchester, Miss Smith will be their guest at the opening of the Massachusetts State Conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution to be held at the Copley Plaza in Boston March 18. There she will meet girls from almost every high school in Massachusetts who have been similarly elected.

Each girl's name is placed in a sealed envelope and at the conference a drawing is made of the girl to represent Massachusetts at the opening session of the Continental Congress held in Washington, D. C., April 14, 1941. The girl chosen at the drawing will be the guest of the National Society D. A. R. in Washington.

At the Copley Plaza the girls will witness the impressive opening of the state conference after which they will be entertained at luncheon. In the afternoon there will be a conducted tour of the State House where they will probably be addressed by the Governor.

The award of this trip to Washington to one girl from each state is not the only benefit derived from this contest. Thousands of young girls become citizenship-conscious and realize to a greater degree their obligation to society.

We all wish Miss Smith the best of luck at the state convention and are proud of her as our representative.

TABLE TENNIS EXHIBITION

Table tennis enthusiasts will be interested in the announcement that Les Lowry, Massachusetts champion, and Frank Dwelly, New England open champion, will appear with other top ranking players in an exhibition, open to the public, on Monday evening, March 17, at 8 o'clock in the Parish Hall of the Melrose Methodist Church. Proceeds from the exhibition will benefit a youth organization of the church.

UNSAFE at HOME

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE TO START SATURDAY

Coach Henry Knowlton of Winchester High School and Assistant Edward Bartlett will start spring football practice in a limited way in the high school gymnasium, probably next week.

Such practice sessions as can be held this spring are in no sense an attempt to over-emphasize football nor to produce a "big time" eleven next fall.

Winchester must, however, meet two strong teams in Framingham and Wakefield on the first two Saturdays of the 1941 schedule, and Coach Knowlton believes his charges need plenty of drill to compete with these clubs on even terms.

Last season disclosed the fact that even boys with two or three years of football to their credit were woefully weak in knowledge of such important fundamentals as blocking and tackling. Faced with two hard games to start the season, Coach Knowlton will hardly have sufficient time in the fall to do the necessary work with fundamentals and at the same time equip his charges offensively and defensively to meet foes like Framingham and Wakefield.

Spring football, especially this year is the answer, for there are any number of relatively inexperienced boys on the local squad who are in real need of the instruction this practice alone can provide.

Coach Knowlton attended the coacehs meeting in Boston last week-end, and found that despite a recommendation against it offered at the Christmas meeting, nearly all coaches are planning spring football practice this year.

VAU-DEVIL SHOW

After four weeks of organization work, and preliminary rehearsals, the ninth annual Vau-Devil show of Winchester High School gives promise of surpassing in the quality of entertainment all previous productions. Committee chairmen are working hard—tryouts have been completed. The major efforts of the some 200 students engaged in its behalf are being bent towards a "smooth production for Friday night, March 28, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Anticipating the clamor for seats at Winchester's annual house-packer, the ticket committee this week announces the public sale of tickets.

A special, but complete matinee, scheduled for 3:15 p. m., March 28, has been arranged for grade school and Junior High pupils.

This year's production will feature popular acts of previous years in 1941 style, and in addition show several distinctly novel numbers designed to tickle the ribs of an octogenarian. There is no doubt in the minds of the planning committee that the Powder Puff Ballet, Horsehide and Hickory, Pin-a-for, or Bunny Business will alone be worth the price of admission. And these are only four numbers in a two hours and a half of solid entertainment.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

This has been a good week to get out and push the snow.

We like our streets well cleaned, but oh, for a few cross walks where we do not have to go in knee deep.

The Star is the only newspaper printed in Winchester. The Editor's name is Wilson. Its office is at the Star plant on Church street in Winchester center. It does not print phoney advertisements nor month-old news; neither does it claim a circulation of 16,000 in a town of 15,000 population. It has been printed in Winchester since 1880. If you like it, why not subscribe?

Town election is over for another year and all of the newly elected officers have been sworn into service. The Star has no quarrel with the voters' choice for any office and believes those chosen will discharge their duties with credit to themselves and satisfaction to the community. Those who do not like the officers chosen and who did not vote, have no kick coming. Perhaps if there are enough malcontents, we will get better than a 50 per cent vote another year.

It is really quite all right, folks. The Fire Department didn't err in displaying the National Colors Wednesday. They didn't make a mistake about the birthday date of a famous American nor had the day special significance in connection with the Girl Scouts or Veterans of Foreign Wars, as suggested by those lacking official information. The Fire Department is always right, and March 12 is a very special day in the calendar year. We make no charge for the information, hut on March 12 in the year 1879 the United States Post-office was established. That ought to rate showing the Colors, at least on the Fire Station, and the postoffice business seems to he factual, too. At least Boh Scanlon showed us the date in an almanac. We imagine "Vin" Ambrose knew all ahout it and didn't even raise an eyelash when he saw "Old Glory" fluttering in the breeze on the Fire Station staff!

For the benefit of its readers who may have gained the impression at Town Meeting last night that the Star purposely withheld news of the resignation of Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols we would say that such is not the case. Mr. Nichols of course would not make his resignation public, and those whose place it was to do so gave the Star no such information. There is a system for press releases at the town hall which has worked well and to which the Star, in an effort to give its readers authoritative news of town affairs, rigidly adheres. It did not get Mr. Nichols' resignation for publication and so did not print it. There was no attempt to keep anything hack. We did publish the fact that Mr. Nichols was a candidate for re-election, and of course there was nothing to prevent anyone running against him. We are blaming no one, least of all Mr. MacAdams who has always been a good friend of the Star and its staff.

The President, we read, is strongly opposed to the anti-strike bill and other lahor curhs now under consideration in the House Judiciary Committee. He apparently still thinks, we read, that the badness of the labor picture is exaggerated, and has the pro-labor New Deal faction of his subordinates to consider. Meanwhile the strikes continue and multiply to such an extent that they are the chief domestic news, and if they can attain such prominence in these New Deal defence days, they certainly must amount to something. We read of another strike in the aluminum industry and the threat to Ford, steel, auto manufacurers and coal. As an aftermath of compelling Americans to buy their jobs when answering their Goverment's call for workers at Camp Edwards, the New Bedford union is now fighting over a collected $262,000. The bus drivers in New York struck because, apparently, the bus lines paid a dividend to their stock holders. This apparently should go to the union. All this turmoil appears to be viewed with complaisance by our administration. The go ahead signal appears again to have been hung out, and apparently the old war cry of they're all with us is the 1941 slogan. With social security, compensation insurance, minimum wages and hours, we are told that the strikes are justified and that labor must live and receive aid in its endeavor to meet the rising prices—another feature which seems to be cast aside as wholly unimportant. No wonder we read that no one should expect that the United States will ever be the same again as it has been. Viewing the whole picture it would seem that no business man is to be allowed to make any money. Rather he is to operate and work solely for the benefit of the masses. The masses, from present observation, have little regard either for America or its system of government. Perhaps this L—L bill just passed will aid in bringing a showdown. Perhaps also, some of these high officials who view the situation with such complaisance, may have a rude awakening before long. We hope so in both instances.

CRITICISM OF BURTNETT

To the Editor of the Star:

Previous to the Massachusetts State Election, Nov. 5, 1940, a large number of the citizens of Winchester, particularly some members of the Women's Republican Club, mercilessly criticized Eugene A. F. Burtnett, Republican candidate for the Governor's Council.

Among the many charges made against him, it was stated that he aided Governor Curley by his votes. As a matter of fact he was not in the Council during Governor Curley's term. Other statements equally false were made regardless of which he was elected by a large vote.

Directly following Councillor Burtnett's death a Boston newspaper published the following:

"Governor Saltonstall paid tribute to his public service last night in a statement as follows: 'I am shocked and surprised to learn of Councillor Burtnett's sudden passing. He was a very good friend of mine a hard-working public official and one of the most conscientious members of the Council. I shall miss him personally and I shall also miss his advice and counsel. We talked together about many matters at the State House today and I had asked him to attend with me the funeral services for the late Representative Hiram Dearborn of Somerville tomorrow.'"

The representative of the Boston Herald on March 2, 1941, nublished the following:

"The death of Councillor Eugene Burtnett of Somerville has deprived the council of its most industrious worker. A member of the committee on warrants, he took his duties seriously and passed uncounted hours in the council chamber making a careful inspection each week of the hundreds of vouchers passing through the council for official appoval.

"He was one of the few councillors in years who actually took this assignment seriously hecause it had been the custom to accept the recommendations of the state comptroller's bureau without question. Possessing a retentive memory, he was ahle to recall details of any given warrant without difficulty."

It would appear to the average person that Governor Saltonstall, who appointed the Councillor Vice-Chairman of Finance and the political writer of the Boston Herald might be in a hetter position to judge Councillor Burtnett than his critics in Winchester.

Yours very truly,
George M. Bryne

NEW BATTERY NEEDS FURNISHINGS

To the Editor of the Star:

Recently a new hattery, the Service and Ammunition Battery, 1st Bn, 101st F. A., was organized at Camp Edwards. Unlike the organization which existed prior to their induction into the United States Army, this battery has no equipment of its own to furnish the recreation room in their barracks. Naturally, as is true of any organization, it is their desire to have as attractive a recreation room as possible for the benefit of their men.

Two Winchester boys, Edward F. Bennett and Lester C. Gustin, are Sergeants in this battery, and through me are appealing to the citizens of Winchester to donate whatever they can toward furnishing this room. Furniture such as chairs, tables, divans, carpets, rugs, floor lamps, etc., will be greatly appreciated.

If readers of the Star have anything of this nature that can be spared, they are urged to telephone Mrs. Bennett, Win. 0035, or Mrs. Gustin Win. 0971, and they will arrange to have the Army trucks collect the items when they come up from Camp Edwards next Wednesday.

Sincerely,
Lester C. Gustin,

MRS PAUL D. BOWLER

Winchester Woman in Musical Who's Who

Mrs. Paul D. Bowler of Ridgefield road, known professionally as Eva Bowler and the possessor of a fine soprano voice, is among those whose photographs and biographical sketches appear in the 1941 edition of "Who Is Who in Music," a large volume full of authoritative musical information.

Mrs. Bowler has lived in Winchester for nearly 10 years. She was born in Central Valley, Ark., daughter of a Methodist minister and traces her English descent from the Shipleys of London. She attended Fayetteville, was married soon after and travelled all over the North American continent and in the Orient.

Mrs. Bowler commenced her musical education at Chicago Piano College, has been a pupil of Elizabeth Stokes in Chicago and has coached with Thompson Stone in Boston and Fred G. Ellis in Los Angeles. She has appeared as soloist with the Los Angeles Peoples' Chorus, at the Illinois Central Celebration of Electrification at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, in 1926 and in various churches and recitals in both Boston and Chicago.

She has often sung for charity and has been heard on a weekly radio program over Station WHDH in Boston. She is a member of the Chicago Opera Club, Chicago Art Institute, American Opera Society, Conference of Club Presidents, Musicians Club of Women in Chicago and the Musicians Club of America. Actively identified with the Park Street Church in Boston, Mrs. Bowler has often appeared as soloist at services there and recently has been elected chairman of the church music committee. In addition she is a member of the Membership Committee of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts. Her interest in young musicians is evinced in the vocal scholarships which she has given the Elizabeth Stokes Studios in Chicago.

While enjoying a wide success in the professional field, Mrs. Bowler is first of all interested in her home and her three sons, Lowell, Arthur and Downing Bowler. She devotes three hours daily to voice practice, finds time to devote to flower culture and is a collector of stuffed birds, squirrels and other small animals. She admits a passion for windmills of any size, shape or description.

Those who have met Mrs. Bowler have found her gracious, considerate, appreciative and vitally interested in people and events, in short the sort of person who is an asset to any community.

EVENTS AT WYMAN SCHOOL MARCH 12 APRIL 2

Anyone passing the Wyman School Wednesday afternoon would have heard loud shrieks of laughter coming from within, for the children of the school were the guests at an entertainment sponsored by the Wyman School Mothers' Association.

The program featured Mr. Val Evans, a well known magician from Boston, whose tricks and clever showmanship kept his young audience in a state of hilarity for a full 60 minutes.

The afternoon will prohahly long be remembered by such youngsters as Richmond Keeney and Nicolas Browne who were chosen to come up on the stage only to have sausages pulled out of their backs and money appear and disappear in the thin air right under their very noses.

One of the more unique features of Mr. Evans program was his presentation of the Dancing Dolls, his fingers being used to represent the lower extremeties of the Dancers. A little theater was used and an illusion was created whereby one would truly believe that two diminutive people, eight inches high were dancing.

Mr. Evans wound up his afternoon's performance with a fast and furious Punch and Judy show.

The building fairly rocked with the thunderous peals of laughter from the children as they watched Punch punch Judy and Judy punch Punch.

The next big event scheduled to be held at the Wyman School is the annual Wyman School Fashion Show.

A meeting of the refreshment committee of the Wyman School Mothers' Association was held at Mrs. Moore's home Monday afternoon at which plans were discussed for the dessert to be served. The fashion show is to be held on Wednesday afternoon, April 2 at 1:30 p. m. There will be a delicious dessert, bridge if you care to play, and an opportunity to see many of your friends modeling some of Filene's smartest creations.

So, do come!

WINCHESTER SETS NEW HIGH FOR ARTISTIC PROGRAM

Ruth St. Denis Dances to Capacity Audience

Many famous and renowned lecturers have appeared on public school stages—for educational or money-raising projects—but it is revealing and inspiring to find such a vigorous response to such an essentially cultural program as was presented by the Winchester Junior High School Associates in the high school auditorium in Winchester last Friday night.

Ruth St. Denis, who has been dancing before audiences for 35 years or more, in Europe and America, was a glowing vibrating proof of the vitalizing spirit of Dance. The Greek Choir of Boston and Lynn high school students, chosen for its educational significance and remarkable quality of beauty were most impressive as they came singing down the aisles of the auditorium, carrying lighted candles.

The many student groups, some of whom had trekked miles to this event, were enthusiastic and went away filled with delight, for they and the brilliant local audience had experienced a remarkable demonstration of the supreme artistry of Ruth St. Denis in her Improvisation to a hauntingly beautiful solo and chorus number of the Greek Choir. The conductor was Basil Prangoulis; the soloist, Nicholas Kalafatas and the song was "Old Dimus" legend of a famous Greek mountaineer warrior, who valiantly inspired his people to throw off their oppressors and become free. Poignantly significant was the singing of these spirited youths while at the very moment their relations in Greece battle their would-be oppressors.

The three Oriental Dances in the first part of the program of Miss St. Denis were rich in color and atmosphere of exotic splendor, the Cadman Nautch not lacking in that delightful sense of humor which abounds in Ruth St. Denis along with the great power to inspire her audience.

Another touch of this humor came when she at first "whispered" to the audience before her verbal explanation of her Dance Improvisation to the Choir, in order to imply her pledge of a silent performance.

Miss Katherine Avon, recently from Hungary, accompanied Miss St. Denis at the piano, and played ably during the intervals.

The choir sang among other native Greek Songs, the "Dear Land of Home" from Sibelius's Finlandia. And in the choir's entrance and exit, wearing long dark red robes, they sang lovely orthodox chants, thus establishing a perfect mood for the final Dance number of Ruth St. Denis, "the Color Study of a Madonna."

The response of the audience in its delighted enthusiasm was not the least achievement of the evening, for Winchester had turned out in gala array. Many student groups and teachers from our own schools, as well as out of town groups were present, including 22 from Wellesley College; 12 from Bradford Junior College; 10 from the Dalzell School of Music and Movement; nine from our Congregational Choir; 10 from Mrs. Phelps Ballet group of Winchester; 20 from Mrs. Samoiloff's dance group and members of the Cambridge School in Weston, the Brimmer School, the Boston Y. W. C. A., the Hans Weiner Dance School; and Miss Rebecca Hobbs of the American Theatre Society, etc.

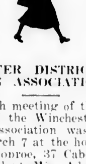

Ruth St Denis herself could not speak to the audience in introduction form, because of lecture contracts. But the prophetic words of Miss St. Denis, used in phrases on the front and back pages of the program, and in the few words she had prepared for the ways and means chairman to read, to better explain her convictions, enriched the sense of the evening.

Ruth St. Denis said, "The Dance" is complete in its own universal circle. It descends to the elemental and simple on the one side, and rises to unpredictable heights of spiritual realization on the other.

"It is with this understanding of the Dance that we have planned this program this evening."

And it is through a certain spiritual realization through the words and dancing of Ruth St. Denis in her Improvisation of movement song, and her Madonna Study, that the audience departed. And it is this sort of realization that prompted so many calls the following days, to the committee, of appreciation, and that makes us believe that since Winchester responded so wholeheartedly to this artistic venture, we may not be hesitant to strive in future to "preserve and continue the pursuit of the Arts, for it is the culture of a nation that makes it worth defending, and the more receptive education is to the Arts, the richer will be our civilization."

Due to the lack of space this week the acknowledgement and thanks of committees and co-operators will be made in next week's issue of the Star.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The March meeting of the board of directors of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held on Friday, March 7 at the home of Mrs. Theodore Monroe, 37 Cabot street.

The president, Miss Adelaide Homer, presided. The following 15 members were present: Mrs John B. Cecill, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, Miss Adelaide Homer, Mrs. Errol O. Horner, Mrs. Ralph T. Jope, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. Gardner D. Pond, Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr., Mrs. Harlow Russell, Mrs. Jamison S. Slocum, Mrs. William Spaulding, Mrs. Henry K. Spencer and Mrs. James Willing.

Mrs. O'Leary, the nursing supervisor, reported that the very heavy siege of illness has subsided although there are still quite a few with bad colds. February proved to be a husy month with 329 calls made. Five of the patients visited were communicable disease cases, four with scarlet fever and one with whooping cough.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the Association on April 16 at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, 6 Ledgewood road with Dr. Burgoyne as speaker.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Nineteen members were absent from the meeting of March 13, five of whom have already made up for their absences.

Jim Scott is back at his desk again, all to the good after his recent outing, while Bill Hevey is once more on the road and not at present prepared to join in the refrain "Home, Sweet Home." Which leaves our traveling delegation at the same strength as it was last week.

Here is an interesting item relayed from the Chicago secretariat of Rotary International, viz: Of the total number of Rotary clubs admitted to membership in Rotary International, only about eight per cent have ceased to exist. Most of these have gone out of existence during the past two years either as a direct result of or because of circumstances incident to the wars in Europe and Asia.

Rotary clubs located in popular resort areas frequently entertain an astonishing large number of visiting Rotarians. Recently the Rotary Club of Miami, Fla., welcomed at one of their regular meetings 260 visitors from 30 States, Canada, and China. Not a bad record for a club whose membership is less than 200.

Our own club went a-calling today, the destination being Melrose, where President Wyn Dangelmayer and his fellow clubmen had prepared a warm welcome for the men from Winchester. In this way local Rotarians reciprocated for the compliment which Melrose offered when it visited at Winchester last November. During the entertainment hour at Melrose the Dupont Company presented a motion picture film which brought vividly to our attention the important and often spectacular part played by the chemical industry in its contribution to modern civilization. Winchester Rotarians are most grateful to their Melrose hosts for this significant service for the promotion of fellowship in our area.

Next week, March 20, we shall meet at the regular time in home quarters. Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, minister at the Unitarian Church in Winchester, will address the club and the occasion calls for a full attendance. What better place than the popular Country Club and a Rotary club meeting to celebrate the initial day of Spring, 1941 edition? We expect YOU, friend Rotarian, to join in welcoming our good neighbor, Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman and to exert your influence with the weather man so that he will bring us a day worthy of the incoming season.

Percentage of Attendance, March 6, 1941—89.47 per cent.

AMERICAN NAVAL HISTORY ONCE MADE AT TRIPOLI

Tons of British bombs reported dropped on harbor works an ships at Tripoli in Italian Libia, recall the fact that this North African port was the scene of the most daring exploits of American naval history, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

It was in 1804, during the United States-Tripolitan war which had been dragging on for several years, following the refusal of the infant American republic to pay further tribute to the Barbary coast pirates then hurrying all Mediterranean shipping.

"My Country Right or Wrong"

The hero of the occasion was Stephen Decatur, whose much quoted toast later became a watchword of national loyalty: "My country . . . may she ever be right; but right or wrong, my country!"

In February, 1904, Lt. Decatur, under command of Commodore Preble, was assigned the task of destroying the former American vessel, the Philadelphia, which, with its officers and men, had fallen into the hands of the enemy. The ship lay in the harbor of Tripoli.

With a crew of some 75 men, Decatur—in a captured Tripolitan craft which had been rechristened the Intrepid—sailed without challenge into the Tripolitan harbor. Receiving permission to draw alongside their prey, the Americans boarded the Philadelphia before her command realized what was happening. The Tripolitans were quickly overcome, the fires laid for the ship's destruction, and, in less than half an hour, Decatur and his followers were back in their own vessel. As they sailed safely out of range of Tripoli's shore guns, they found that not a single American had been lost in the adventure.

Later, Decatur played a prominent role in the naval blockade of Tripoli and in various attacks on the port. His capture of two gunboats during one furious assault on Tripoli was called "the biggest little fight in history."

Taken From Turkey in 1912

It was more than a century after the final settlement of the U. S.-Tripolitan struggle that the North African region of Tripolitania became the modern Italian colony of Libia.

Won from Turkey in the 1911-12 war, its capital, Tripoli, has since been turned into an active Italian center, with little evidence of its former Turkish domination. In normal times the city has a population of well over 100,000. To its port in 1938 came 16 boatloads of Italian farmer-settlers in the first large-scale drive of the motherland to people her Libian "desert colony."

Around Tripoli are some of the most fertile areas for farming to be found anywhere in the colony. For there the precious, life-giving rainfall amounts to some 12 inches a year and over, compared with less than eight inches for more than half of the country. The rains in the environs of Tripoli, moreover, are spaced over a longer period of the year than those in many other farm areas of Libia where the annual total of moisture is concentrated within a month's time, or less.

Many Ohioans Used Oxen

The Ohio pioneers used oxen more than horses or mules in the hauling of timber and clearing the forests for cultivation. When an ox became unfit for such work, it was then fattened for beef.

Facts For Fish Lovers

By BETTY BARCLAY

This country may not be the "fishermen's Paradise" that Finland is with 60,000 lakes and 80,000 islands but there are few districts where fresh fish are not available — and excellent canned seafood is always in season. The many varieties of fish and shellfish make planning Lenten menus a pleasure. In fact Lent offers the homemaker a good opportunity to get better acquainted with this nutritious food which contributes valuable proteins and minerals to the diet.

Fish and lemons are associated on dining tables the world around. Lemon juice is rubbed over fish to be baked or fried; fresh fish is marinated in lemon juice and oil before it is baked or broiled.

To keep fish white when boiling, add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and ½ teaspoon salt to one quart of water used for cooking.

When using canned fish such as salmon or tuna in a creamed or scalloped dish, sprinkle fish with lemon juice before adding the white sauce.

If fish is served as an appetizer course, lemon is indispensable. An excellent cocktail sauce for shellfish — oysters, clams or shrimp — is made with 1 tablespoon horseradish, ½ cup tomato catsup, 6 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, a dash of tabasco sauce and salt to taste. Blend ingredients well and serve very cold.

For a canape spread, cream 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice with ½ pound sweet butter. This is an excellent spread for crisp crackers or fresh or toasted bread to be topped with anchovies, caviar, sardines or spreads made with tuna, salmon or any desired fish.

For lemon garnishes with fish, be sure to serve juice quarters so that the individual can add lemon to his taste.

Here is an excellent method of preparing a salmon mold, good for Lent and equally good at any season.

Salmon Mold

- 1 No. 2 can salmon
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ½ tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 egg yolks
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ¾ tablespoon gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- Salt to taste
- ½ cup whipping cream
- ½ cup diced cucumber

Cook butter, cornstarch, mustard, egg yolks and milk in double boiler to soft custard consistency. Add gelatin liquefied in cold water. Add lemon juice and salmon. Season to taste. (Rub salmon through coarse sieve if a fine texture is desired.) Cool. Fold in whipped cream and cucumbers. Pour into one large mold or a number of small molds. Serves 6.

Serve garnished with lemon quarters, lemon slices and radish roses.

MAYNARD HUTCHINSON

NEW GENERAL CHAIRMAN

Maynard Hutchinson treasurer of the Newton Community Chest, has been appointed general chairman of the Greater Boston Community Fund 1942 Campaign, it was announced last night by Charles Francis Adams, president of the Community Fund.

Hutchinson, treasurer of Loomis, Sayles and Company investment counsel in Boston, is a former president and campaign chairman of the Newton Community Chest and has long been been identified with social agencies.

Expressing the gratification of the board of directors of the Greater Boston Community Fund in Hutchinson's willingness to serve as general chairman of next year's Campaign, Charles Francis Adams said:

"The appointment of Maynard Hutchinson of Newton as general chairman of the 1942 Campaign of the Greater Boston Community Fund marks a milestone in this great cooperative enterprise involving 46 cities and towns.

"As a former president and campaign chairman of the Newton Community Chest, now affiliated with the Greater Boston Community Fund, Mr. Hutchinson brings to his new job ability and experience, which fact augurs well for the success of next year's Campaign throughout Greater Boston.

Graduate of Harvard College in 1908, Hutchinson is a director of Boston Better Business Bureau, a trustee of Northeastern University, Boy's Camp Inc., and Newton Hospital, of which he is also a member of the board of governors. He is treasurer of the Newton Community Chest. He is a former member of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

MONEY RAISED FOR GREECE

A group of Mt. Holyoke Alumnae, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles E. Greene, managed a very enjoyable affair on Feb. 28 in the Morrison barn on Glen road. Miss Elizabeth Macdonald Osborne, a popular lecturer and consultant on personal development, gave a talk on "The Impression We Leave." Those who attended received many useful suggestions as to how to make a better impression on friends and acquaintances. When Miss Osborne illustrates the wrong way of doing things she is so dramatic and so humorous that it is impossible to fail to see yourself as others see you and to be fired with zeal to eradicate faults of carriage, mannerisms, etc. No telling what improvements may be observed in town as a number of those present made appointments for private consultations. Miss Osborne is now giving a six weeks course at the Women's Republican Club in Boston.

Coffee and cookies were served after the lecture and a very pleasant social hour followed. Seventy-five dollars was raised to be sent to a classmate of Mrs. Greene's and Miss Osborne's, Mrs. Charles House, who with her husband, a graduate of Princeton, is head of the American Farm School a few miles outside of Salonica, Greece. The lecture was planned on short notice in order to send word at once to Mrs. House about the money so that she might be able to use it if a crisis develops. Word was sent to her by clipper and by cable. Mrs. House spoke here some time ago and many people have been interested in the school, which has been influential in the district and has trained many men to go out from it to their homes and to inaugurate modern agricultural methods and teach others to use them. Since the war began there they have cared for many refugees, among them Miss Meverett Smith of the Near East Foundation and the American Consulate from Salonica. Mrs. House writes, "There is much that we can do to help and whether life is shortened or lengthened really makes very little difference." Mr. House has been loaned to the American Red Cross in Greece and has helped them to organize their work. He is well and favorably known in Greece and even in some of the nearby countries.

Blind Dolphin Catches Fish

Though blind, the Chinese dolphin is able to catch and devour fish that have normal eyesight.

"THE CORN IS GREEN"

At 2:15 Friday afternoon, March 21, Mrs. Phyllis Thaxter will present at the Epiphany parish hall the play in which Ethel Barrymore is making a notable success on Broadway this winter, "The Corn Is Green."

This play is made around a teacher as the chief character. This fact brings pleasantly to mind, "Good bye Mr. Chips," but the leading person and the life-stuff presented are quite different. This is not a play about a school where boys come from easy prosperity and look ahead to easy and ample opportunity, as did the nice, likable lads who made the background of Mr. Chips. The woman teacher whom Miss Barrymore plays, teaches children in a remote Welsh village.

They came from homes that know dearth and difficulty; no easy path to varied occupations and careers led from the schoolhouse door. But genius, which has often a whimsical way of passing the stately homes and "the best people" (if one may get forgiveness for using once and ironically, that phrase so ill suiting American lips!) planted itself in that out of the way school. The teacher knew it for what it was, and fought for the Welsh lad's chance at all his genius needed and was entitled to have. The humor and the drama of her victorious fight makes the play, which is established as one of the year's best.

It is worlds away from the cene "Ladies in Retirement" which was read as the third of the series. The power of Mrs. Thaxter's presentation was attested by the remark heard more than once over the teacups, I'm not sure I'll sleep tonight.

"The Corn Is Green" is a play of courage and hope. It is a proper offering for March 21, the gateway of spring. It tells us in humanity's winter of the night that loses, the light that wins.

As usual, the Symmes Corner Group will serve tea in the parish hall at the usual nominal price, Mrs. Dwight W. Hadley and Mrs. John Sharon will pour.

The committee arranging the tea will be Mrs. Francis Bowes, Mrs. Kenneth Hiscoe, Mrs. Guy Livingstone, Mrs. R. E. Meehan, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer and Mrs. Ralph Swanson.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

A Budget of Cheerful News

The central work room hears the news at noon each Wednesday in the pause for coffee and sandwiches.

The women have taken time earlier in the day to read at least the headlines of the calamitous news, of ships sunk, of speeches exhorting to hate, of skies raining Heath, of homes destroyed. At noon they listen to the weeks news of a different kind of forces, of forces that refuse to hate, forces that are bent on making and not destroying. The news from this home-front in Winchester this week made very cheerful hearing.

First, Mrs. Cameron told the workers that the money for Winchester's second "Rolling Kitchen" is in the treasurer's hands. The gift made by the Girl Scouts came at the right time to provide the final dollars.

The fund for this kitchen started with the proceeds of a bridge party given by Mrs. Frederick Taylor and Mrs. Paul Elliott. The dollars in between that beginning and the Scouts finishing touch have come from individual givers. These have in the last fortnight been stimulated by the appeal that has been made by the committee of citizens headed by Mr. Joseph Worthen and through the Winchester Star.

The treasurer of the fund for the Britsih War Relief seems to have a sort of miraculous pitcher. From the beginning no pouring out has ever quite emptied it. That is true now. When Mr. Cabot takes out $1500 the price now of a Rolling Kitchen, his miraculous pitcher will still have dollars toward the third of these mobile feeding units which Winchester hopes to supply.

The workers heard, and saw, another cheering bit of how Winchester's friendly aid is answering the increased fury of destruction. The workroom set its hands to a new piece of sewing, pants for boys. The workers had to hear twice before they could believe their ears, how little the material for a pair is costing. Thrifty buyers and clever cutting, to avoid damaged spots which made the good cloth such a bargain, enable these workroom wizards to get a pair of pants out of 15 cents worth of goods.

Finally a cheerful note was the announcement that the Society would give a party. At tea, March 18, the youngest givers to the second Rolling Kitchen will have an opportunity to see what their elders are making for the British and to meet leaders, Mrs. Fred Cameron and Mrs. Charles Wansker. A special honor guest will be the woman who started Winchester on Britsih Relief work, Mrs. William B. Weeks.

Those who have newly come to Winchester or who have just cleared the decks ready to join in this work may come to the central work room on Wednesday, or at any time, telephone to Mrs. Cameron, 1984, to discuss a project or receive general information, or to Mrs. Wansker about knitting.

DARTMOUTH WOMEN'S CLUB BAZAAR

The Dartmouth Women's Club will hold a Bazaar for the benefit of Dartmouth College Scholarship Fund in the Empire Room of the Hotel Vendome, Wednesday, March 19, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Edmund S. Phinney is general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Parker F. Soule, president of the club; Mrs. William C. Cusack, second vice president; Mrs. Percy E. Gleason and Mrs. Sherman W. Saltmarsh.

Antiques, food, household articles, handkerchiefs, books and baby gifts are for sale. At 2:30 p. m. there will be a Costume Travelogue by Mrs. Robert S. Allingham and 14 models representing "Ladies of Our Hemisphere."

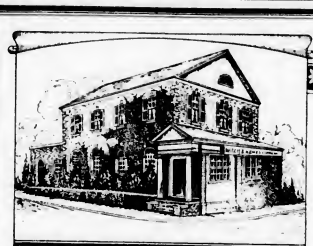

Billfolds at the Star Office.

MARJORIE MILLS SERVES ON LUNCHEON COMMITTEE

Mrs. Robert A. Burns, well known to Winchester residents as Marjorie Mills of the Boston Herald staff, is joint chairman with Mrs. A. Russell Ellis and Mrs. Frank T. Olmstead for the spring rainbow luncheon, to be served Tuesday, April 1, at 1 o'clock in the Unitarian Church.

For the members of the Ladies' Friendly Society and their friends, this spring luncheon has become an annual affair. Mrs. Theodore R. Godwin and Mrs. James M. Joslin are in charge of the dining room committee. Mrs. Alger T. Bunten has made plans for a pleasant afternoon of bridge following the luncheon.

Mrs. Everett F. Kidder, Win. Win. 0208-W, is ticket chairman and she urges all those who wish tickets to make early application for them.

Eight Balls of Fire

IF YOU like fireworks, and who doesn't, it's really too bad you can't see what goes on inside the sparkling big Buick FIREBALL straight-eight engine.

There you'd see eight busy cylinders, with pistons flashing up and down . . .

You'd see each fuel charge packed tight into a tiny bundle shaped like a flattened ball . . .

You'd see the spark leap, the flame spread, the piston thrust down with extra force as each furious fireball lets go its pent-up wallop—as fast as thirty times a second in each cylinder.

and how they can travel!

Gasoline gives up more of its power when it's packed as tightly as it is here.

That special, flattened-ball shape of the compressed fuel charge means smoother, better burning, full focus of the power on the piston head, where it counts.

So when you've got these eight balls of fire working busily under the bonnet, you really travel!

You travel farther on every gallon and you travel more pleasurably.

You travel—but, shucks! Why listen to talk when there's a Buick dealer nearby waiting to show you how you travel behind a FIREBALL?

Winchester Arms Nearing Completion

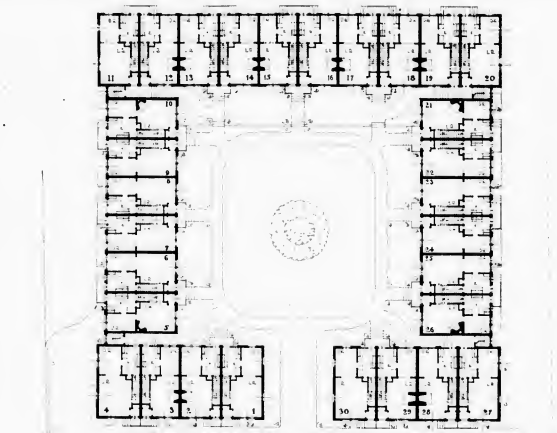

WINCHESTER ARMS
GROUP HOUSE NEARING COMPLETION AT WASHINGTON AND HANCOCK STREETS

Winchester Arms, new group house located at the corner of Washington and Hancock streets, is nearing completion and the owner-manager, Lester C. Gustin, of Lakeview terrace, expects to have it ready for occupancy on, or soon after April 1.

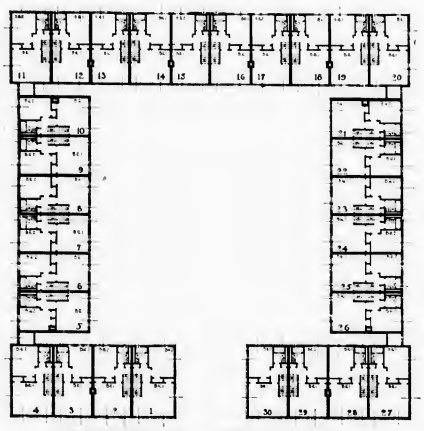

This newest and most modern development of the apartment house in neighborhood in which it stands.

Sturdily built, in the English manner, the upper story of the two and one-half story building is of cream stucco with dark brown half-timbers, surmounted by a slate colored roof. The lower story is of antique brick laid in black mortar joints, and attention has been given to exterior

First of all each apartment, or actually small house of two and one half stories and basement, has its own front and rear entrance for tenant privacy. Masonry walls eight inches thick between apartments provide sound deadening and no modern housekeeping facilities have been omitted. Heat, with individual control, hot water and janitor service are furnished by the management, and maid service is also available for those who wish it at moderate cost.

Each apartment consists of a small hall with a convenient coat closet, a large living room with dining alcove, kitchenette with Magic Chef gas range and Servel refrigerator; also a broom closet, plenty of cabinet space and drawers for dishes, pans and linen.

The second floor, which is conveniently reached by a staircase leading out of the living room, has a large and a medium size bedroom, each with ample close space, a linen closet and a tiled bathroom with tub shower. Ample storage space is provided on the third floor with emergency sleeping quarters for that "unexpected guest."

Each suite has a basement playroom and laundry with double set tubs and space for drying clothes. Many living rooms and some playrooms have fireplaces.

Winchester Arms is conveniently located, only a short walk from the shopping center, railroad station, schools, churches and town buildings. Buses pass the door and only 20 minutes are needed to reach down town Boston by automobile.

In talking with the Star, Mr. Gustin stressed his desire in connection with Winchester Arms to erect a building of which the whole town can be proud. He believes when the group house is completed the community will feel that he has succeeded in his attempt to give the town comforable, modern living quarters at a reasonable rent.

EDISON REPORT OUT

The Boston Edison Company Wednesday began the distribution to stockholders of the pamphlet report reviewing the operations for 1940. The report shows that new maximum records were established in output, sales and revenues, and as already announced, the income balance available for dividends and surplus of $2.39 a share was the largest in several years.

President Frank D. Comerford, in commenting on the contents of the report, points out that this income balance was not affected by the federal tax deduction made possible by the December bond refinancing, and that the $2.39 a share earned in 1940 is comparable with the $2.21 earned in 1939.

The Edison report discloses that the company is making rapid progress in providing alternating current service in sections of the city where only direct current has been available. The entire Fenway district has now been changed over, and during 1941 the Company will begin the installation of alternating current circuits in the Back Bay. Announcement was made recently that the Company plans the installation of a new 18,000-kilowatt turbine-generator at L Street, South Boston, and a 40,000-kilowatt unit at a new plant on the Mystic River.

SEDAN AND SNOW PLOW COLLIDED

An International truck to which a snow plow was attached and a Chevrolet sedan were in collision on Forest street at the entrance to the driveway of Mr. Eugene Rotundi, 273 Forest street, at 11:30 last Saturday night. According to the police Mr. Rotundi was driving the truck and was turning right to enter his driveway while the sedan, the property of the National Yeast Company of Cambridge, was being driven west on Forest street by James J. Haggerty, Jr. of 12 Baldwin street.

Mr. Rotundi complained of injuries to his right shoulder. Neither machine was reported as badly damaged.

A HAVEN WORTH A TRIP IN THE STORM

Those who constituted the committee led by Mrs. R. K. Miller to Sailors' Haven the stormy afternoon of March 8 have a new twist for the old proverb "Any port in a storm." They make it say The Boston Sailors' Haven through any storm. The trip was worth the effort.

The occasion was a Saturday night dinner at the Haven at which Epiphany parish was host to young men in training at Gallup's Island and to any seaman or officers that were in harbor. There were Scandinavians and Britons, young and older, fresh from a perilous crossing and cheered by home letters. There were old sea-farers, now for many a year perforce in harbor, remembering even the days when Boston harbor was a forest of masts.

The talk and the games filled the time before dinner. The Winchester party consisted of Mrs. R. K. Miller, chairman; Mrs. Harry Goodwin, Mrs. John Sharon, Mrs. Arthur Farrell, Mrs. George Bryne, Mrs. R. E. L. Meehan, Miss Ruth Meehan, Miss F. Louise Nardin, Mr. George Bryne and Dr. Hugo Dobelmann.

For several of the party it was a first visit to the Haven. They readily understand why with others the visiting has become a habit. The Haven is an interesting corner of Boston, fittingly presided over by the parrot on a perch in the corner. Twenty years ago a sailor brought him. But he keeps abreast of the times, this self-educating bird and has modernized his vocabulary by adding a crisp, "Diamond" and "Pass."

CITIZENS EMERGENCY DUTY FORMS AT TOWN HALL

The Committee on Public Safety with headquarters at the State House in Boston has sent the Board of Selectmen forms to be filled out by citizens desiring to volunteer for emergency duty in the event there is need in the national crisis for such service as they can perform.

There are two forms, one for men and one for women. Each is to be filled out in duplicate one copy to be retained by a local committee which is to be named to handle emergency service in Winchester and the other, to be forwarded to State Headquarters.

In addition to listing name, address, age, family connections, dependents, educational and other personal information, there are listed a number of forms of service which signees having experience in any of the lines mentioned can check.

Filling in the forms and providing information concerning an individual's availability and qualifications for voluntary emergency service in no way increases the obligation of that individual beyond the obligation of any citizen of the United States. The emergency duty which may be requested as the result of filling out the questionnaire form will be purely voluntary in character and without renumeration unless otherwise provided for by agencies of government responsible for requesting such service.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The next meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club will be held on the evening of March 18 at 7:45 p. m. at the Art Room of the Public Library.

This is the time of year we are all seriously thinking of spring and our gardens so the motion picture on, "How Does Your Garden Grow?" narrated by Lowell Thomas will be most interesting to all of us and after you have grown your flowers you will learn how to make beautiful arrangements from the instructive pictures of the Coco-Cola Company and be able to obtain one of their new books on this fascinating hobby.

MISS LOFTUS ON COMMITTEE

Ruth L. Loftus of Meadowcroft road is a member of the committee arranging the details for the presentation of "Ladies of the Jury" by Frederick Ballard in the annual play production of Boston University's school of education dramatic club. The drama will be presented Friday evening, March 14, at 8:15 o'clock in the Little Theatre of the University's Soden building, 84 Exeter street.

Early Use of Mint Sauce

Mint sauce with lamb is believed to have originated in the fact that mint was one of the bitter herbs with which Moses instructed the Israelites to dress the lamb of the Passover.

FORTNIGHTLY'S SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The birthday party held last Monday afternoon in Fortnightly Hall in celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the organizing of the Winchester Fortnightly was a worthy observance of such an important occasion.

Much credit belongs to the president of the Fortnightly, Mrs. Paul H. Howard, who originated, planned, and in some cases, personally carried through many of the delightful features of the program, particularly those intended as surprises.

It was like "old home week" to see so many gathered there. Many who through illness or busyness of some sort have found it difficult to attend regularly, made a special effort to be present, and many former members came as guests of present members. The attendance was unusually large.

Under the direction of the Committee for the Preservation of Antiques of which Mrs. Paul G. Eberle is chairman, the stage had been transformed into an old-time living room; its fireplace, mellow maple furniture, shining brass candlesticks, and other lovely furnishings making a most attractive picture.

Seats in the hall were arranged in circular fashion around a central table on which stood the birthday cake, beautifully decorated with yellow roses, the club color and flower, and 60 tiny yellow candles. Smaller cakes surrounded it. Credit for this loveliness is due the Social Committee Mrs. George Budd, chairman.

From 1 to 1:30 o'clock dessert was served by the Social Committee, and those present enjoyed a pleasant friendly time, renewing old acquaintances, admiring the picturesque old-fashioned costumes worn by many of the members, and inspecting the collection of pictures, programs, scrapbooks, etc., of earlier Fortnightly days.

Promptly at 1:30 Mrs. Howard opened the program proper with gracious words of greeting after which all joined in singing "Happy Birthday" to the Fortnightly and to the General Federation which this year celebrates its 50th birthday. Mrs. Frederic C. Alexander presided at the piano.

She then presented Mrs Theodore von Rosenvinge, Sr., who representing the Fortnightly history committee consisting of herself, Mrs. Stanley D. Howe, Mrs. Hubert Arrowsmith, Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden, and Miss Mary L. Hodge, read a necessarily condensed but comprehensive and entertaining history of the joys and achievements of the Fortnightly since its organization in 1881. It is hoped that sometime in the near future this splendid record may be available to all.

Mrs. Howard next presented Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, first vice president, who read an inspiring original prophecy, part of which follows:

"The grand record of achievement of our Club for 60 years predicts its own future. An organization spreading out its boundaries to include every part of the world in its good works will grow beyond any human prophecy.
However, we predict the future holds great things in store.
Opportunities to serve, more and more.
The privilege to lend a hand each day
To those who plow a rocky way.
The goal our members seek is high,
And their ideals are true.
So with the faith of our Founders
And sixty ears upon which to build,
Cooperating, we'll bound forward
And great works fulfill.
The members of our Junior Club
Have made the future bright
By forming as they do, a club
To carry on our light.
One good activity added to another
Will make for the greater good to all
Understanding will bring faith,
And together faith and understanding
Will bring progress.
May I close with a bit from our earlier history, possibly contributed by an early founder, Pleasantine Wilson, 'May the Club ever live consecrated to the high ideals of its founders, animated by the double purpose of self-improvement and active benevolence, in a spirit of gentle tolerance and high endeavor.'"

A happy part of the program was the presence of so many past presidents. Since its organization the Fortnightly has had 28 presidents, 18 of whom are still living. Of these 15 were present.

Mrs. Howard presented each past president in order of her presidency, and each as she was presented, made a cut in the birthday cake. They were Mrs. E. L. Dunning (1909-11), Mrs. Nathaniel M. Nichols (1911-13), Miss Maud Folts (1913-15), Mrs. Stella Root Robbins (1915-17), Mrs. G. H. Eaton (1917-19), Mrs. Lura Bond Rhodes (1919-21), Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth (1921-23), Mrs. Lillian T. Mason (1923-24), Mrs. Helen B. Emerson (1924-26), Mrs. Marion P. Powers (1928-29), Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden (1929-31), Mrs. Walter Winship (1931-33), Mrs. Josse S. Wilson (1933-35), Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor (1935-37), and Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds (1937-39). Mrs. Paul H. Howard has served since 1939.

Mrs. Austin H. Welch, as a Pioneer Woman, also cut the cake as did Mrs. Ralph Larson in memory of her mother, Dr. Mary T. Maynard, president from 1926 to 1928.

Also present were Mrs. Henry Pearson (Elizabeth Winsor) of Newton Center, daughter of Mrs. Ann B. Winsor, first president of the Fortnightly, and Miss Jane Wilson of Concord, daughter of Mrs. Pleasantine C. Wilson, twice president (1895-97 and 1905-06). It was an honor and a great pleasure to have them meet with us and share in the cutting of the cake.

Later the rest of the cakes were cut and the pieces wrapped and distributed to those present.

In 1885 Mrs. Mary L. Winn joined the Fortnightly and except for one year, when illness forced her to drop her membership, has been a member ever since. In recognition of this remarkable record, Mrs. Howard presented Mrs. Winn with a lovely old-fashioned bouquet, amid great applause. Mrs. Winn expressed sincere thanks but delegated her share of the cake-cutting to her daughter, Miss Ida Winn.

Then came community singing of "In the Gloaming," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Long, Long Ago" and the program closed with "Auld Lang Syne," and the pledge of allegiance to the flag, a good start for the next 60 years.

After the business meeting which followed the party, Margaret Payson Blish, mono-actress, was heard in an enjoyable program of varied presentations ranging from the delightfully humorous to the intensely emotional and dramatic. Her portrayals of Abigal Adams at the Court of St. James and of Mrs. Andrew Jackson just after Andrew Jackson's election were especially appealing.

The Young People's Room at the Winchester Public Library has special shelves for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts on which are kept recommended reading books for Scouts.

GEORGE ANTHEIL, author of the nationally-known column of personal counsel entitled "BOY ADVISES GIRL," writes exclusively, in Boston, for THE BOSTON GLOBE—one of the many reasons why more and more people, these days, are finding THE GLOBE to be their favorite newspaper.

The Story of the Telephone Industry in Winchester

By EUGENE H. ANDREWS

A Former Manager for This Area

In February 1878 there occurred in the neighboring community of Woburn a public demonstration by Mr. Frederick A. Gower, an assosicate of Dr. Alexander Graham eBll, of the latter's newly invented telephone. Following this successful transmission of the human voice and music over a private outside wire, two young men, Messrs. J. Fred Buel and James Kimball, constructed in April of the same year another private line between their respective residences and gave numerous demonstrations of telephone efficiency. This, of course, all happened before the introduction of telephone switchboards.

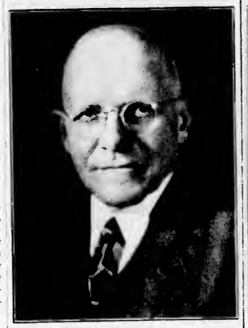

A Near Central Office

It was not until December 1881 that a telephone exchange was opened in the Grand Army Building in Woburn. This event was reported in the Woburn Advertiser in its local news column on Dec. 15, 1881.

A Telephoned News Item

In the same issue (Dec. 15, 1881) appeared the following bit of Winchester news which was transmitted to the representative of that paper by telephone.

"The report of the fire last night at John Richardson's place, which appears in our Winchester department, was sent to us this morning very expeditiously by telephone." The item read, "Fire—John Richardson's barn on Washington street with a horse was burned about 10 o'clock last evening. Loss $1150. Insured."

E. H. ANDREWS
Former Manager, Winchester

Polo Construction Granted

According to the Winchester Star of July 30, 1892, the Selectmen of Winchester granted "permission to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company for leave to erect poles and string wires on certain streets of the town." This was preliminary to the establishment of the first telephone exchange in the town.

New Telephone Exchange Established

The Winchester Star of Sept. 17, 1892 had the following news item. "The new metallic telephone service went into operation Saturday noon (Sept. 12, 1892) with 15 subscribers. The remainder will be given the service as soon as the wires are put up

J. E. SULLIVAN
Present Manager, Winchester

"New Telephone Exchange of the Telephone Company Goes into Fine New Building on Washington Street

Everything ready for the 'cut in' to take place Saturday night

"The new exchange of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company at 125 Washington street will be 'cut in'—as the technical phrase is—some time Saturday evening barring unforeseen accidents. A cutover is regarded by telephone engineers as a very important event and elaborate preparations which extend over many months have to be made in advance of it. Even after the building is complete and the switchboard and the allied apparatus are all in place every possible connection has to be tested over and over again in order that the act of transferring the service from one switchboard to another may be accomplished without disturbance to any subscriber."

On Oct. 25, 1907 the Winchester Star reported the "cutover" as having been effective as follows:

"Without a Hitch, Cut-in of System to New Building Done as Scheduled"

"The delicate task of 'cutting in' the new telephone exchange last Saturday night was accomplished without the least friction so that the telephone users Sunday found no difficulty in getting the usual good service. Selectman Dwinell received the first telephone call at 11:30 o'clock at night, his son being in the exchange at the time of the 'cut in.' There are a few defects yet to be overcome caused by the new method of calling 'central.' The ringing of all bells on a party line when a subscriber calls up 'central' will be no signal apparent to the other persons on the line. This will cut off 'rubbering' to the extent of one half.

"When Central calls up a subscriber on a party line the bells will ring as heretofore, so that there is as yet an opportunity for any one to listen if they care to, but it will be known now on which line the curious person completed the operators at the new central take care of the calls just as if nothing had happened at the old office. If anybody should be listening in at his station when the line is cut over, he would hear a single sharp click. There is no interruption of the service.

"The building which will administer to the needs of Winchester subscribers is of a special type of American architecture due to the development of the telephone system. It is one of those designed under the direction of the Company's engineers in order that the peculiar demands of the business may be met and it is intended to provide room enough for a plant that will take care of the increase of business during at least 20 years."

The Winchester Star of June 30, 1911 under the caption, "New Winchester Telephone Office Equipment" had the following:

"The installation of a complete new central office equipment has been made in the Winchester office of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. A switchboard with four sections, equipped for 1600 subscribers' lines, with frames, racks, desks and power plant, has been cut into service. The installation of the new equipment will undoubtedly mean the best of telephone service in this town.

"The switchboard represents the latest and best in the art of telephone engineering. It is of the central battery lamp signal type which is recognized as the standard for telephone offices of this size. All of the equipment was made and installed by the Western Electric Company, the largest manufacturer of telephones in the world. This company makes all the telephones used throughout the entire Bell System and in many other communities as well.

OPERATING ROOM
PRESENT TELEPHONE EXCHANGE — WINCHESTER

This was the first news story transmitted from Winchester to Woburn by telephone. Previous to this the only wire communication in Winchester with the outside world was by telegraph, which service had been in existence as far back as February 1866.

The First Telephone

The earliest telephone installed for a subscriber in Winchester was that of Waldmyer & Co., tanners, in their plant opposite the Boston & Lowell passenger station. This telephone was connected with the new Woburn central office and was listed in the telephone directory of March 1882, the telephone number being 9651. At this time telephone numbers carried no prefix; the particular number series designated the connecting exchange. The Woburn exchange numbers ranged from 9650 to 9749. Party line subscribers were then given individual numbers. The operating company of the Woburn exchange was the Suburban Telephone Company, the predecessor of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

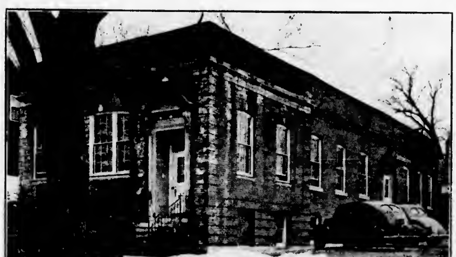

and connections made, which will be within a few days. Subscribers speak in the highest terms of the advances made on the old method. A young lady operator is at the headquarters during the day and at night a man will have charge, the rooms open day and night."

The location selected for the new exchange was on the second floor of the White Building, now 572 Main street,—then 188 Main street. The manager was Mr. Irving H. Jackson (now deceased), and the operator was Miss Mabel McKim, who continued in that position until 1900 at which time she left to engage in a business venture.

Previous to the establishment of the Winchester exchange all lines were grounded and subject to induction difficulties and restricted largely to local and nearby service. It was now possible to communicate with such long distance points as New York and Chicago.

A Public Telephone

The first public telephone connected to the new Winchester exchange was installed in the drug store of R.

VIEW OF PRESENT TELEPHONE EXCHANGE — WINCHESTER

In January 1883 according to the telephone directory of that month there were nine telephones working in Winchester and also connected with the Woburn exchange as follows:

7801	E. D. Bangs, residence
7802	Winn & Son, stable
7803	J. Maxwell, residence
7804	B. T. Church, physician
7805	J. Maxwell & Co., tanners
7807	W. D. Sanderson, residence
7808	D. N. Skillings, residence
7809	J. P. Skillings, residence
7811	Joseph T. Trowbridge, residence

The telephone numbers in the Woburn exchange then ranged from 7500 to 7999. Of the above listed telephones that of the late D. N. Skillings is continued in the current telephone directory of November 1940. Now Winchester 0692 is the number. Mrs. Skillings, an estimable resident, has the distinction of having enjoyed telephone service for herself and members of her household continuously for a period of 57 years.

C. Evans opposite the Town Hall, then on Pleasant street,—now Mt. Vernon street. In 1893 Harris W. Packard superseded Mr. Jackson as manager for Woburn and Winchester and continued until 1896, when he was transferred to Newton. Mr. Packard, now a retired employee, resides in Dorchester.

In 1903 the headquarters at 188 Main street had become inadequate, and a new exchange was established with a larger switchboard at 175 Main street—now 551 Main street—on the opposite side of Winchester Square.

Mr. Packard as manager was succeeded by Mr. Eben F. Hersey, now a retired employee residing in Hingham.

Four years later in 1907 a new building was erected by the Telephone Company at 125 Washington street and the Winchester Star of Oct. 18, 1907 published the story of the proposed cutover from the old exchange as follows:

H. W. PACKARD
Former Manager, Winchester

"Smoothness accuracy, and rapidness in answering calls are assured by the installation. The automatic features of the new switchboard take care of the various slips in making and breaking connections in a manner that leaves very little manual work to be done by the operators.

"The operator does not need to listen in to the conversation at any time so that privacy is secured. With the common battery telephone there is no cranking or ringing of bells. When the receiver is lifted from its hook a tiny electric lamp flashes into view before the operator who immediately makes the connection desired by inserting the metal end of a cord into a jack or hole.

"When the subscriber lifts the receiver from the hook he performs a manual act, one that is necessary to ever system. Removing the receiver automatically releases the hook which flies into contact with several springs, the result of which is to set in motion a train of automatic apparatus closing the subscribers' circuit and automatically actuating a relay at the central office. This causes a lamp to light up before the operator who then performs another manual act, inserting the plug into the jack. This again automatically makes connections which accomplish a number of operations such as disconnecting the line relay and so forth.

"The operator on completing a call from one subscriber to another operates her listening key and makes the necessary connection to the called telephone. This causes a train of automatic operations to take place and the subscriber's bell is rung. He lifts his receiver from the hook and this automatically notifies the operator that he is at the telephone.

"The reverse of all this takes place when the disconnection is made. The subscribers hanging up the receivers at their respective hooks sets in place a complex system of automatic operations by which the operator without listening in upon the line or asking the subscribers if they are through talking may determine at a glance that the conversation is finished and by the simple operation of withdrawing the plugs and allowing them to fall automatically into their positions, mechanism is released, which automatically restores the lines to their original condition.

"The panel of the switchboard before each operator's position contains a series of lamp signals, each with its corresponding jack, all within easy reach. The supervisory signals when work is performed after the line lamps task is completed keep the operator informed as to when the parties are through.

"The equipment which has been installed in Winchester is the latest development of the telephone art and the acquisition of the switchboard may be regarded as a most important telephone service."

This equipment and improvement of the telephone service was in effect June 17, 1911.

Additions to the existing equipment have been made from time to time to take care of the continued growth of telephones.

In 1929 the business office at 17 Thompson street was opened for the convenience of Winchester telephone patrons. This office was under the supervision of E. H. Andrews. The present manager is J. E. Sullivan.

The present number of telephones in Winchester is 3000 and the number of calls handled inward and outward is 39,000 per day.

J. E. Sullivan, Manager; Mary Vaugh, Chief Operator;
Charles Farrar, Wire Chief

is. When this defect is remedied then conversations over the telephone will be private.

"Winchester now has up-to-date telephone service and is now on the same footing with all the large Metropolitan offices. There is probably no town in the United States of the same population as Winchester that has so many subscribers to the telephone."

The news article went on to describe the advantages of the common battery system over that of the magneto type, which was in effect in the former exchange. The force at this time consisted of a manager, a chief operator, seven full-time operators, two short-time operators and a night operator. Mr. N. W. Penniman, formerly chief operator at Lynn, had been in charge of the Winchester exchange since the previous August. There were then 897 telephones connected to the exchange. Previously the Stoneham subscribers received service through the Winchester office. In October 1905, 119 subscribers were connected to the Stoneham office. In September 1907 there were 3224 calls originating in the Winchester area and 2219 calls being received from outside exchanges.

"It was expected by the officials of the Company that the cutover will be accomplished without disturbance to the service."

"The actual event Saturday night will consist simply in ripping out certain lines of heat coils at the old exchange, a piece of stout piano wire being the simple instrument with which the final cut is accomplished. As the coils are ripped out one by one the current henceforth flows exclusively through the new exchange. Duplicate forces of operators are on duty for the occasion at the two exchanges. As the cutting over is

The Senior Girl Scout troop, under the leadership of Mrs. Mulford Olivier netted $80 from their presentation of "Tim the Chimney Sweep" given at the high school auditorium on March 5.

Next Tuesday, March 18, the girls will be guests of the local British Relief Committee for tea in the library of the parish hall, Epiphany Church. At this time the check will be presented by Miss Ruth Tapley.

Service pins will be presented to the girls by the Commissioner, Mrs. Donald Heath.

If the snow stays on, the Sports Day at Cedar Hill will be held this Saturday, listen for the announcement over WNAC at 7:15 a. m. and 7:30 a. m. on Saturday.

Anyone having an outgrown Brownie uniform that she has no further use for, would make some new Brownie very happy if she would leave it at Girl Scout Headquarters.

A second Western Hemisphere Encampment will be sponsored this summer by Girl Scouts of the United States, according to an announcement by Girl Scout Commissioner Mrs. Donald Heath.

When international conditions made it impossible last summer for delegates to attend the international encampment held each year at the Girl Scout Chalet in Adelboden, Switzerland, 22 Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from 13 countries of the western hemisphere met with more than 80 hostess Girl Scouts from all parts of the United States at Camp Andree, Pleasantville, N. Y. From Aug. 14-28, teen-age girls from the Argentine, Brazil, Bermuda, British Guiana, Canada, Cuba Curacao, Guatemala, Jamaica, Mexico, Newfoundland, Trinidad, the Panama Canal Zone and the United States, exchanged information about their countries.

The encampment was so successful that the Girl Scout International Committee, whose chairman is Mrs. E. Swift Newton, of Daylesford, Pa., decided to sponsor a similar encampment this year. The same countries will be asked to send delegates. A Girl Scout Camp in New England is under consideration.

Honor guest at the encampment last year was Mrs. Arethusa F. G. Leigh White, O. B. E. of London, England, director of the World Bureau of Girl Guides, and Girl Scouts, who is now on a 95 day good will tour of 11 South and Central American countries.

The first Girl Scout troop in the United States was organized March 12, 1912 and had fewer than 20 members. Today there are more than 633,000 members, and an alumnae group of more than a million.

"The call that helped a million girls" was the phone call made March 12, 1912 in Savanah, Ga., by Mrs. Juliette Low, inviting school girls to the first Girl Scout meeting in the United States.

The Girl Scout uniform has changed color three times since the organization was founded on March 12, 1912. The first troops wore dark blue, later khaki was the approved color. It was not until 1927 that the green uniform now worn by the organization's half million members became the official Girl Scout dress.

TWO ACCIDENTS DURING TUESDAY NIGHT'S STORM

Two automobile accidents were reported to the police during the heavy snow storm of Tuesday night.

The first took place in front of the residence of Mr. Francis R. Mullin, 336 Main street, at 7:30 o'clock, when a Plymouth sedan, driven by Ralph C. Bertolucci of 64 Winthrop street, Chelsea, was in collision with an Oldsmobile sedan, driven by Frank Diappela of 23 Olive street. Bertolucci told the police he was headed south and stopped his car to permit a machine parked on the right hand side of the road to turn around. As he did so his car was struck and damaged in the rear by the Oldsmobile, which was also headed south. No one was injured.

The second accident took place at 9:43 on Bacon street near Ravenscroft road and involved one of the Town's snow-plows and two automobiles.

According to the police account of the accident a Dodge truck, to which a snow-plow was attached, was plowing east on Bacon street, driven by Thomas McKee of 59 Wendell street with Joseph Chamberlain of 47 Water street as plowman.

As the plow reached Ravenscroft road it met a Pontiac sedan, driven by Edward F. Sexton of 428 Parkser street, Lowell, and a Chrysler touring sedan, driven by Thomas Dulligan of 40 Saratoga street, Lowell.

Both cars were headed west, the Chrysler following the Pontiac. The latter, in passing the snow-plow, struck the left end of the plow and slightly damaged its running board. The Chrysler struck the plow with more force and was so badly damaged about the front end it had to be towed to the Super Service Garage.

Dulligan told the police he saw the Pontiac pass the opproaching truck, but did not realize that the latter was a snow plow. Neither he nor McKee was hurt, but two men, riding with Dulligan, John E. Sullivan, 56, of 33 South Walker street, Lowell, and Patrick Higgins, 49, of 400 Woburn street, Lowell, complained of injuries.

SIDI BARRANI WAS SCENE OF BRITISH TRIUMPH IN WORLD WAR ALSO

Salum, Buqbuq, and Sidi Barrani are the three northwesternmost defense posts of the 75 miles of Egyptian coast just east of the frontier of Italian Libia, says a bulletin from the Society. They stand on the narrow coastal shelf between the Mediterranean on the north and the cliffy escarpment of the high, arid, rocky Libian Plateau to the south. Any invasion from Libia aimed along the coast at Alexandria and the Suez Canal must travel the same strip of coastal plain.

The World War attack on Egypt, aided by German submarines and Turkish officers, was conducted mainly by a native army of Senussi tribesmen, who swept across to Sidi Barrani on Nov. 18, 1915. A large fraction of the native members of Egypt's Camel Corps Coastguard deserted to the Senussi, and British authorities ordered the withdrawal of the garrison, as in 1940, eastward to the more secure base of Matruh. Three months late, however, the British staged a small-scale blitzkrieg against the Senussi, with armored cars reinforcing their camel corps and cavalry, and recaptured Sidi Barrani on Feb. 28, 1916, thereafter using the base to crush the invasion attempt entirely.

Its proximity to the sea has been the only reason for Sidi Barrani's frequent reappearance in history. Formerly Sidi Barrani was one of the spots visited for water and provisions by slow vessels skirting the coast on voyages carrying Moslem pilgrims to and from Mecca. Although not a true port, it is near a convenient landing place. The British garrison was reinforced and provisioned from the sea, and in 1916 as in 1940 naval bombardment took a prominent part in the land engagements.

Mr. Meek Puts $30 on Right Side of Ledger

The meek little man counted his change and moved away from the railroad ticket window. He looked worried, counted again and edged diffidently back.

"I think," he said apologetically, "that you made a mistake in the change."

The sleek-haired clerk became chill with sudden hauteur.

"Sorry, but you should have rectified that when I gave it to you. Can't do anything now."

"But," said the little man, peering piteously over his glasses, "I didn't notice it at the—"

"Rules of the comp'ny," recited the clerk pompously. "We can't risk gettin' gypped by people who don't count their change. Move along, please; please; others waiting."

"Are you sure you can't do anything about a serious error like this?" The agonized anxiety in the small voice would have melted a human heart.

"Yes. Absolutely! Now, will you move on or must I—"

"No, there's no need of that," sighed the lamb, melting into the passing throng. "You're just out $30, that's all."

SPRING VACATION TRIPS HEAVILY PATRONIZED

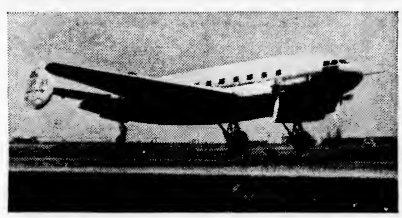

There seems to be a little heavier travel this spring than in the past two or three years, possibly on account of the many attractive cruise bargains. The United Fruit Company "Great White Fleet" steamers feature beautiful tropical resorts, taking from 10 to 20 days. The large steamer "Kungsholm" of the Swedish-American Line is doing a fine cruise business to the West Indies. The new mammoth steamer "America" will be in the West Indies cruise service in April. The Grace Line steamers to Bermuda and the Eastern Steamship Company Lines to Nassau, and the Clyde-Mallory Lines to Miami report very heavy advance bookings for spring travel. The Merchants & Miners sailing from Boston have a very attractive and inexpensive cruise tour to Washington, taking six days. Also the Savannah Line sailing from Boston offer very attractive popular priced 10-day cruises to Savannah and Sea Island, and an opportunity to visit the beautiful semi-tropical gardens at the height of the season. Literature information, stateroom plans on all cruises cheerfully furnished by the Colpitts Tourist Company, 262 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

NEW SUBSTRATOSPHERE TRANSPORT REQUIRES ONLY 1000 FEET FOR TAKE-OFF

The huge new Curtiss-Wright Substratosphere Transport surprised observers at Lambert Field, St. Louis, Mo., recently when it took off in less than 1,000 feet. Landing wheels equipped with Timken Bearings eliminate rolling friction and thus enable it to take off and land in small airports with a full passenger load and three tons of mail and express. This newly completed plane is 75 feet long, has a wing span of 108 feet and is powered with two 1700 H.P. Wright Double Row Cyclone 14 engines. It is designed to travel at 20,000 feet where artificial air pressure inside the cabin will equalize the atmospheric conditions outside. Its maximum speed is 243 miles per hour.

OPENING SESSION OF TOWN MEETING QUIET

did the meeting, passing his amendment by a voice vote.

There was little more debate. Mr. Saltmarsh sought vainly to increase the appropriation for snow and ice removal by $5000 to provide for "adequate sanding" of streets and sidewalks and the Mothers' Association entered the lists during the discussion of providing for traffic control near the school buildings.

This discussion occurred when the subject matter of Articles 9 and 10 was referred to a committee for study and report at the next town meeting. Mr. MacAdams felt that the matter is a vital one and warned the committee to take its duties seriously as the lives of children are involved. Mrs. McDonald wanted to know what is to be done during the year in which the committee is to study the matter and felt that the present system of having the unemployed handle the traffic job under the Welfare Board is unsatisfactory. Mr. Litchfield assured Mrs. McDonald that the schools will be covered, if not by the unemployed, by the regular police.

Mrs. Barnes, representing the Mothers' Association, felt that the matter is very urgent and called upon the presidents of the various chapters of her association to rise and state their backing of the proposal to provide better control of traffic at the schools.

Mr. Pihl felt in connection with school traffic control that more definite school traffic zones should be designated and clearly marked with a lessening of speed by motorists in these zones.

Upon motion of Mr. Rowe the meeting adjourned until Monday evening, March, 17. Adjournment time was 10:46 p. m. Two hundred and ten of the 233 town meeting members were present.

FUNERAL RITES FOR ALPHONSO S. CAMPBELL

Funeral services for Alphonso S. Campbell of 19 Ridgefield road, who died suddenly Feb. 19 while on the way to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, were held Thursday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with a large delegation attending from the A. S. Campbell factory in East Boston.

The rector of the church, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, read the service and favorite hymns were played on the organ by Mrs. Campbell's brother, Arthur H. Ryder, organist at St. Paul's Church, Dedham. Honorary bearers were Noel C. Raymond, H. A. Wentworth, F. W. Wheeler and Stephen Paine. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Campbell was born 63 years ago at Boothbay Harbor, Me., and had lived in Winchester since 1923. In 1910 he founded the A. S. Campbell Co. in East Boston, manufacturing metal stampings for automobiles. Later the company established a branch office in Detroit with which Mr. Campbell was associated before his retirement. He leaves his wife, the former Bertha Ryder, two sons, Kenneth and Courtlandt Campbell, and a granddaughter, Bonnie Lee Campbell.

TOWN MEETING DISSOLVED

Post Midnight Session Killed Town Meeting Charges, Town Hall Improvement and Park Membership Increase

One hundred and ninety-five precinct members concluded the warrant for the current limited town meeting Monday evening in the town hall, voting to retain its limited town meeting act in substantially its present form, deciding not to remodel or improve the town hall, refusing to increase the Park Board from three to five members and accepting the proposal to purchase what amounts to 23 acres of land in the Shepard Brooks estate at the Medford line adjacent to the Girl Scout cabin and between Russell's Farm and the Peter Brooks estate.

Other highlights were the appropriation of $12,000 to improve High street and the proposal to eliminate the discharge of fireworks in Winchester, except under municipal control, the subject matter of the latter article, after considerable argument in its favor being referred to a committee for consideration and report.

The meeting first authorized the expenditure of $2000 of the Cemetery Fund for the embellishment and permanent improvement of Wildwood Cemetery, and then appropriated $25,000 to be administered as a general unemployment relief fund in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 90 of the Acts of the General Court in 1955. An additional $4490 was appropriated to continue the town's recreation center on Mt. Vernon street.

The committee established to consider and report on the matter of adult recreation in the public schools offered a brief but comprehensive report, presented by Mr. Kelley, in which it recommended that for lack of general interest such adult recreation be discontinued. Mr. Kelley pointed out that during the entire season, despite adequate advertising, only 88 persons registered for adult recreation, 40 of the 88 registering for basketball. The greatest number participating in the recreation program in any week was 33 and the committee felt because of such an evident lack of interest it would be unwise to continue the program.

The committee's report was accepted and the meeting then voted $50 for continued co-operation in the County Aid to Agriculture program, naming Charles Eshbach as director for the town.

The first real debate of the meeting occurred under Article 17 with the motion to appropriate $12,000 for a Chapter 90 project to relocate and improve High street from the point where the construction job ended in 1938, at the sixth tee of the Country Club golf course to the present junction of High and Ridge streets.

Mr. Litchfield voiced the Selectmen's approval of the project and other proponents included Mr. Rotundi, Mr. MacAdams, Senator Richardson, Mr. Downs and Mr. Cullen. In general the arguments in favor were the necessity for removing the present dangerous curves in the road, the furnishing of work for needy citizens, the bargain the town is getting in doing the job as a Chapter 90 project and thus securing appropriations to aid from the State and County and the fact that the Selectmen and other town boards had long favored the proposition.

In opposition were heard Mr. Farnsworth, Mr. Dwinell and Mr. Saltmarsh, who argued that the improvement is not necessary, that the street now serves the few families living upon it quite well enough, that improvement will turn the street into a "through way" which might well be quite undesirable, that the street does not go anywhere to warrant its being any better than it is now and that nothing that isn't needed, or wanted, is a bargain at any price.

Questioning though not opposing, the proposed improvement were Mr. von Rosenvinge and Dr. Blaisdell, the latter asking just what proportion of the cost is to be paid by the Town, State and County.

Several conflicting divisions of the cost were advanced, much to Mr. Tansey's confusion, Mr. Cameron finally settling the question by stating that the Town will pay one-third of the cost, the State, one-half and the County, one-sixth. Mr. Schneider concurred, adding that the entire project will cost about $36,000.

Mr. Sanderson warned that the proposed improvement will open some undesirable land and quite a sum will be necessary for sewer and water construction in the event the job is done. The motion to appropriate the $12,000 and do the work, providing the State and County contribute, was carried, however, 126 in favor and 40 opposed.

Under Article 18 the meeting accepted the Selectmen's layouts of Bonad road, Franklin road, Hollywood road, Horn Pond Brook road and Wyman court, $11,200 being appropriated for the necessary expenses in connection therewith. The alteration at the westerly corner of Everett avenue and Bacon street as made and recommended by the Selectmen was also accepted.

This brought the meeting to the consideration of the article calling for the purchase of ten acres of land and the acceptance of a gift of the remainder of a parcel of land, totaling 23 acres, at the Medford line, adjacent to the Girl Scout Cabin between Russell's Farm on Main street and the Peter Brooks estate on Grove street.

The sum of $10,000 was asked and in explaining the motion to acquire, Mr. Cameron stated that the Shepard Brooks heirs, owners of the land, are most desirous of selling it to the town to keep it in is present natural state

DRAFTEES GET SEND-OFF

Great Crowd Bid Good-Bye to 79 New Soldiers

The Winchester town hall resembled the rush hour at a hot presidential election on Thursday morning, when a group of 79 draftees from Stoneham and Winchester departed for their year's training in the Army. Long before the appointed hour of departure at 8.30 the street was jammed with automobiles and crowds of relatives and friends of the boys, all gathered to give them an enthusiastic send-off.

At 8 o'clock the big group of draftees were lined up in the town hall, headed by the flags of the nation and the American Legion, while a throng of spectators filled every available space and part of the two galleries. Under the direction of W. Allan Wilde, head of the local Selective Service Board, members of his board and town officials of Stoneham and Winchester were given opportunity to review the boys, and Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, who headed Winchester's local committee during the last war, addressed them briefly.

Chairman Wilde gave the boys a last word of advice and encouragement and then introduced the officials who were present.

At 8.36 the march to the railroad station was started, the Selectmen and officials heading the procession. At the station, during the wait for the 9 o'clock train, which had a special car attached to convey the group to Boston, last goodbyes were said and the boys departed on their adventure amid enthusiastic cheers.

Probably not during recent years has the station been so thronged, the big crowd filling the walks about the building.

The boys will remain in Boston until passed upon by the parent draft board.

MISS CROSBY SHOWERED

Miss Mary Crosby of the Winchester National Bank staff was given a combined birthday party and miscellaneous shower last Saturday evening at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Crosby on Flint street in Stoneham.

The house was attractively decorated in white with touches of green in honor of St. Patrick's Day. Most unusual was the center-piece of the refreshment table, cleverly made in the shape of a green top-hat, filled with flowers. Both cakes and ices were decorated with tiny green shamrocks.

Miss Crosby was the recipient of many attractive gifts, for which she graciously expressed her thanks. After the packages were opened a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Among the guests were the Misses Mary, Catherine, Elizabeth and Ann Flaherty of Woburn, Misses Ruth, Eleanor and Harriet Russell of Stoneham, Miss Josephine Crosby, Mrs. Alice Crosby Walsh and Mrs. Ann Crosby of Stoneham, Mrs. Josephine Quinn of Wakefield, Mrs. Nellie McGrath, Mrs. Helen Widtfeldt and Miss Pearl Widtfeldt, Miss Kathleen Lynch and Mrs. Dorothy M. He gave a most interesting talk, taking for his subject "Lessons From the Fall of France."

ENGLAND TO BROADCAST TO WINCHESTER

The program will be broadcast by short wave and possibly rebroadcast by one of the local stations. Further information regarding the broadcast will be given when the details have been worked out.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR SOLDIER

Ernest S. Barron of 206 Washington street was given a farewell party by a group of 40 friends at his home Tuesday evening before he left for induction into the United States Army through the Selective Service Board office in Wakefield. Though a local young man Mr. Barron had been located in Wakefield for several months and registered for selective service in that town.

He was presented with many appropriate gifts and purse of money by his friends. Refreshments were served and a general social hour enjoyed.

MISS VIRGINIA MARTENS ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. William Martens of 1 Ridgefield road announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Virginia Arnold Martens to Mr. Richard Norris Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Carr of West Medford.

Miss Martens was graduated from the Penn Hall School in Chambersburg, Penn., with the class of 1939. Mr. Carr received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Tufts College, class of 1940.

There are no immediate plans for the wedding.

DRAFTEES DINED AT SPLENDID

That was quite a party Fotis Antippas, "Frank" to you, gave at his Splendid Lunch Wednesday evening for the large group of Winchester draftees leaving the next morning for induction into the United States Army and a year of service, commencing at Camp Edwards.

About 50 draftees and guests accepted Mr. Antippas hospitality, enjoyed an appetizing turkey dinner with many extras, cigarettes and a general good time. Some draftees brought relatives or friends with them, some brought their girl friends, some came in alone and some in groups of three or four. All were welcome, and all were made to feel at home, from white collared official guests to the humblest draftee in slacks and sweater.

An attractive little hostess, Margaret Sampson, was at the door to greet everyone. With her was "Mike" Penta, master of ceremonies and a very busy man. Tables were attractively decorated with flowers, and a large American Flag was prominently displayed. Appropriate musical selections were played on the Spendid's caliope. Virginia Katis and Kathleen Murphy waitresses, saw that everyone had everything they wanted while Counterman Bill Liachames kept busy dispensing appetizing dishes.

Moving about the spacious restaurant, greeting his guests was "Frank" himself, the happiest one present, except when someone, appreciating what he was doing for the young draftees, attempted to thank him. He wanted no thanks, appreciation embarrassed him. He was getting his thanks in the evident pleasure of his young guests.

Through the evening the boys kept coming and going, and it was well into Thursday morning when the party finally broke up.

Among the guests that the Star reporter saw dining with the boys were Selectman Marshall Symmes, Selectman and Mrs. James Cullen, former Selectman Allan Wilde and James C. McCormick, now members of the local Selective Service Board; John F. Fitzgerald of the same Board, George P. Graham and John F. Murphy, members of the Board from Stoneham; Roland Parker, local appeal agent; Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton of the First Baptist Church, Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman of the Unitarian Church, Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's Church; Assessor P. T. Foley, Constables M. J. Foley and Gleason Ryerson, School Committeeman Leo F. Garvey and Alfred E. Sweet, office manager of the Selective Service Board.

TOWN CLERK GETS MARKER

Miss Mabel W. Stinson, Winchester's popular town clerk, was on Thursday afternoon presented with a handsome desk marker, carved with a hand-knife by Mr. Robert P. Moody, craft instructor at the Recreation Center on Mt. Vernon street.

It was through the courtesy of Chairman George T. Davidson of the Park Board that the marker was made for Miss Stinson and others wer also made for the incoming members of the Selectmen and for their secretary, Mary French. For several years now Mr. Davidson has been furnishing these markers for the Board.

This year's markers are made from especially handsome paduk wood or nara, imported at great expense in 1898 by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad for use in pulman cars and aged in their Readville shops since that time.

Miss Stinson's was presented in impressive fashion in the presence of a large number of her co-workers at the hall, including the Misses Mary French, Mary Travers, Eileen Eason, Helen and aMrgaret Lilley, Rose Politano, Lillian Hardy and Kay Foley, George Franklin, Frank Olmstead, Henry Horne, Tom McGowan, Parker Holbrook, John Cassidy, Harry Winn, P. T. Foley, Harrie Nutter, Nathaniel Nichols, Mike Grant and Ethel Cassidy.

A bit nonplussed for the nonce, as it were, when this sizeable delegation entered her sanctum, Miss Stinson quickly recovered and graciously expressed her thanks in "a few well chosen words."

DR. BARTLETT TO SPEAK TO METCALF UNION

Dr. Ruhl J. Bartlett, PhD, professor and head of the department of history at Tufts College will speak to the Metcalf Union and their guests Sunday evening, March 23, on the subject: "The Flowering of Liberalism."

This will be the third in the Metcalf Union's series of meetings on, "The Unitarian Way." At the first meeting, March 9, Mr. Haskell outlined the philosophy of liberal religion that inspired so many people of ideas and vision particularly in the early 19th century. March 16, Mr. Conrad Wright of Harvard traced the background of American Unitarianism through the 17th and 18th centuries.

Dr. Bartlett is well equipped to give this talk. From his studies as a historian and his experiences in teaching, he will contribute much toward helping the young people of today to "find themselves." Indeed, we consider ourselves fortunate to have the opportunity to hear him.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of March 20.

The cheerful warmth of the great fireplace at the Country Club makes an ideal rendezvous for our members on these cold and blustery days of the month of March. And happily most of these members were on hand today to enjoy this cozy retreat.

Two of our members, Harry Benson and John Roosevelt, have been assigned to duties in the naval service of the nation. Their country's call finds these sterling young men ready to give their aid to the land they love so well. Needless to say they go with the sincerest blessings of their fellow Rotarians.

We are reminded that, in these days when military requirements are claiming many Rotarians, those who remain should bestir themselves to increase their membership. More than ever is it necessary that the civic activities of Rotary shall be promoted in every possible way. Every community needs the broadest possible representation in the ranks of Rotary and each Rotary classification should be filled by men who appreciate the ideals of Rotary and are willing to work in furtherance of those ideals. Not all of us are eligible for active military duties; very few indeed there are who cannot in some way reinforce the armed cohorts of the nation. Rotarians are well adapted to promote and coordinate the activities of those citizens who will remain in civilian life. They certainly will not fail in their obvious duties directed toward the cessation of strife in this war-torn world.

District Governor Francis Flagg reports that the reception and dance given last month for the entertainment of foreign students in this area was a great success. Some 125 of these young people, natives of at least 14 different foreign countries, were present. And many of them called for a repetition of the affair sometime this spring. Which is good evidence that it was indeed a success.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was the Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, minister at the Unitarian Church in Winchester. Although Mr. Chapman has been in Winchester but a few months it is already apparent that he is very popular in this community, an able church man and a worker in behalf of the spiritual requirements of our people. His cheery presence and earnest words today made it certain that we shall wish to hear him speak at our meetings from time to time as he continues in our midst.

Next week we shall listen to an address by Roger Dow, Supervisor in History at Harvard University. His topic will be "Three Years of Nazi Warfare." We are confident that every club member will be anxious to hear Mr. Dow's able analysis of the acts and aims of the dominant party which is in control of Germany and through Germany of practically all of Europe outside of Russia and Britain. Come and bring your friends.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. John Hart Taylor of Warwick road, Melrose Highlands, formerly of Winchester, announce the engagement of their daughter Virginia to Donald J. Linnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton W. Linnell of Lincounshire way, this town.

Miss Taylor is a graduate of Winchester High School and attended Westbrook Junior College. Mr. Linnell also a graduate of Winchester High School attended Northeastern University.

No date has been set for the wedding.

VISITED TOWN HALL

The Town Hall Improvement Committee was more fortunate in its choice of a visiting day last Saturday and about 80 town meeting members and interested citizens visited the hall during that afternoon to inspect the building and see first hand the committee's plans for renovation and improvement.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL TO SPEAK

Tuesday, March 25, the Women's Division of the Epiphany Church Service League, will hear Mrs. Dorothy Mills Roberts speak of China. In spite of war and continuing threats of war and devastation, China is still home in Mrs Roberts' thinking. Her children are here and there in her native land for school or college, but her husband, Bishop William Roberts, is at his post in Shanghai, and to her that land of service rather than this land of safety is home. Mrs. Roberts' girlhood home was Winchester and old friends will be among those who greet her at luncheon and who will hear her speak immediately after the luncheon in the parish hall.

Luncheon will be served by members of the Tuesday Luncheon Group with Mrs. Donald B. Lovis as chairman.

YOUTHS WITH REVOLVER PUT TO FLIGHT

Saturday night shortly after 10 o'clock when Meyer Levy of 38 Sturges road, West Roxbury, was leaving the home of Mr. Clinton H. Jonas at 40 Arlington street to enter his car, which was parked in front of the house, he was accosted by two youths, one of whom had a revolver.

The youth with the gun said, "We are not fooling," but both he and his companion ran in the direction of Fernway when Levy cried out for assistance.

The Police were notified and combed the hill in the vicinity of the holdup but without results. The Arlington department was also notified. Levy described the youths as 17 to 18 years old and one wearing a cardigan jacket. Police believe they may have been in the vicinity attempting to steal gasoline.

APRIL LUNCHEON GIVEN BY LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The spring luncheon of the Ladies' Friendly Society to be served at the Unitarian Church on Tuesday, April 1 is one of the year's most ambitious ventures.

The three chairmen, Mrs. A. Russell Ellis, Mrs. Frank T. Olmstead and Mrs. Robert A. Burnes (Marjorie Mills) have planned a menu which will doubtless be as attractive and unique as have been several others which Mrs. Burnes and other Ladies' Friendly members have arranged.

The entertainment to follow the luncheon will be a bridge party for which Mrs. Alger T. Bunten and her committee are responsible.

For this luncheon Mrs. Everett F. Kidder, Win. 0208-W, is ticket chairman.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

At the next regular meeting of the Chapter to be held on the afternoon of March 25, Miss Susan Sturgis of the First National Bank of Boston will give an address on Banking. Tea will be served at the close of the talk.

A silver tea and sewing exhibition will be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Wood, 65 Wedgemere avenue, on the afternoon of March 28. Mrs. Wood graciously invites all Guild members and their friends to attend this exhibition.

A lecture and tea are to be held at the home of Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, 115 Church street, on April 4. Prof. Daniel H. O'Leary, teacher of political science and history, will talk on the Balkans, "The Powder Keg of Europe." Mrs. Theodore Dissel is in charge of tickets.

HAROLD B. RICHMOND WAS SPEAKER

Harold B. Richmond of 30 Swan road, treasurer of the General Radio Company, was the speaker on Monday evening at the graduation exercises of the evening school of the Franklin Foundation, held at the Franklin Union on Berkeley street, Boston. Mr. Richmond also spoke on Thursday evening at Harvard University in a symposium on the subject of "The Scientist and Selective Service."

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL ASSOCIATES PROGRAM FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The Winchester Junior High School Associates have sponsored not only a successful program financially for their scholarship and maintenance fund, having acquired a "nest egg," but they have contributed considerably to the community standing of public school programs.

The Winchester Mother's Association as a whole may well be proud of the results of abandoning the "tag day" which nobly launched a good cause, and acquired the splendid educational programs of first, the Mrs. Martin Johnson lecture, arranged courageously under the chairmanship of Mrs. Guy Livingstone; second, the Lowell Thomas lecture, under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker; and third, the Admiral Byrd lecture, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edmund Filler; and now, a single school contributes the very artistic event of the Ruth St. Denis dance program.

Perhaps this Junior High School effort will prove the ability of our mothers to co-operate in things of educational value. Some of these mothers, moving into our high school next year, where the concern of the scholarships is most keenly felt, may do their bit in bringing the valuable contact of association of teacher, parent, and student in our own High School into a more vital organization. It does seem a pity that the parent body of the high school, whose students are directly concerned with scholarships, should not function to help raise these same scholarships.

First of all, the ways and means chairman of the Junior High School Associates, Corlene Murphy Samoiloff, wishes to thank, on behalf of the board and herself for the splendid co-operation, her committee members, the School Committee, the School Department and the teachers and the children of the Junior High School. Thanks is extended for the generous co-operation of Mary Spaulding's Bookshop, where the tickets were handled ably by the co-chairman of tickets. Thanks to the Winchester Star for its co-operation which was most helpful.

The kind advice of Mr. William Sullivan and Mr. Frank O'Connor, both newspaper men of this town, to the ways and means chairman should be here acknowledged with thanks.

To the radio stations of WEEI and WHDH thanks is given for their notations in biweekly news announcements and to Miss Marjorie Mills, Mrs. Robert Burns of Rangely, who so generously spoke of our program in three broadcasts.

And most of all, we thank Ruth St. Denis and the Greek Choir for coming to us within our means.

And now, in extending appreciation to the committees:

In view of the nature of the program, various chairmen for the committee were selected to better divide responsibility contacts and labor. They follow:

Ways and Means, Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff.

Project Secretary, Mrs. John Rutherford.

Educational Contacts, Mrs. Harold Blanchard, through persevering and able handling, assisted by Mrs. Elsworth Snow, the knowledge of our program was spread to many schools and colleges, the fruits of which were visible in the many students and teachers attending the program.

Club Contacts, Mrs. John Chipman, who contacted many club groups which were represented in the audience.

Posters, Mrs. Charlotte Underwood and Mrs. Fulton Brown, each of whom contributed 10 artistically handmade posters and Mrs. Frank O'Connor, who contributed 10 professionally printed posters with a cut of Miss St. Denis.

Treasurer, Mr. Ralph Hatch, whose bank experience lent much moral support to his handling of the funds.

Program, Mrs. Harrie Nutter whose constant co-operation extended assistance in many ways.

Music, Mrs. Clarence Whorf, whose experience in music enabled her to render assistance in securing an adequate piano for the performance.

Transportation, Mrs. Lester Armstrong who had secured volunteer drivers of cars.

Flowers, Mrs. Charles Underwood arranged with Mrs. Clarence Whorf and Mrs. Paul Avery, 39 lovely corsages of flowers which were sold by the following flower girls: Charlotte Underwood, Eleanor Murphy, Shirley Fellows, Sally Ray, Patsy Eberle, Jennie Lou Elliott, Myrna Zananakos, Theresa Faleta, Barbara Donaghey, Mary Haggerty.

Head Ushers: Prof. James Ware, Mr. A. Russell Ellis, Mr. Alfred Pennell and Mr. Charles Jordan, assisted by the following students: Roy Monson, Ted Greene, James Ware, Warren Costello, F. Herlihy, Thomas Drapeau, Vito Giacalone, Norman Bush, George Foskitt, Conrad Dana.

Ticket committee headed by the untiring co-chairmen, Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. Harold Bostwick and committee members as follows:

Mrs. Bernard Swiedler, Mrs. Byron K. Way, Mrs. William J. Murray, Mrs. Harrie N. Nutter, Mrs. Clarence M. Kriner, Mrs. A. Russell Ellis, Mrs. Glenn Browning, Mrs. Roland R. Carter, Mrs. Arthur C. Fay, Mrs. Guy P. Livingstone, Mrs. Francis E. Booth, Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. A. Kirby Snell, Mrs. Lucius Smith, Mrs. Harold Wass, Mrs. Henry McGrath, Mrs. Gerald O'Brian, Mrs. Winfield Hanson, Mrs. George L. Dolloff, Mrs. W. H. Sherburne, Mrs. James E. Campbell, Mrs. C. Frederick Eberle, Mrs. Frank Gunby, Mrs. Thomas N. Kirwan, Mrs. F. Ronald Brown, Mrs. Stanley W. Mobbs, Mrs. Martin S. Swanson, Mrs. Clarence Whorf.

Finally, we are grateful to our president of the board, Mrs. John Penniman for her enthusiasm and Mrs. Stanley Barnes, acting "mediator" for Mrs. Penniman in her absence and to Mrs. Lucius Smith for her high school contacts and contribution of several press releases.

The cast included Mr. and Mrs. Dermot Towneley-Tilson and Mrs. Robert Reynolds.

WINCHESTER YOUTHS HAVE OUTSTANDING RECORD

The recent appointment of Richard Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Elliott of 16 Stevens street, as assistant to the State 4-H Club Leader at Massachusetts State College, brought attention to the accomplishments of four Winchester young men which have been termed by 4-H officials as the most outstanding in the history of 4-H work.

The four Winchester young men, Charles E. Eshbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Eshbach of 44 Brookside avenue; Kenneth Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Benson of 312 Washington street; Richard Glendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Glendon of 4 Ware road; and Richard Elliott, were all members of the same Winchester 4-H Club, president of that club, leader of that club; all entered Massachusetts State College at Amherst in successive years, had outstanding careers, were graduated, have done graduate work, received or will receive graduate degrees; and are now occupying responsible positions. At one time, all four Winchester boys were at the State College, one in each of the four undergraduate classes. All are members of All-Stars, National honorary 4-H society.

It all came about in 1926 when Charles Eshbach enrolled in the 4-H Garden club, 4-H club work is a national program of project work carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture, the state colleges, and the county Extension services.

Young Eshbach's 4-H club work was an outstanding success. He participated in numerous exhibits, demonstrations and judging contests, and received several awards for exceptional achievements including a two-day trip to Massachusetts State College, the designation of county garden champion, and a medal from the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. His vegetables carried off prizes at several fairs.

The Winchester 4-H Club was organized by Eshbach and he became its first president, and later took over the leadership duties. Kenneth Benson, Richard Elliott and Richard Glendon were all members of that same club and when Eshbach went to college, Kenneth Benson succeeded to the leadership of the group. The next year he enrolled at Massachusetts State College and Richard Elliott took over leadership of the club. A year later, he too, enrolled at the State College, and Richard Glendon became the leader of the club until he, also, became a student at Massachusetts State College. Previous to their becoming leader of the club, each boy had served as president of the group.

The career of each Winchester youth at the State College was an outstanding one. Eshbash, who majored in English and agriculture, attained the seemingly impossible distinction of being the first person ever elected Editor-in-Chief of the Massachusetts Collegian, State College newspaper, in his sophomore year, and he did such outstanding work that he was awarded the coveted Conspicuous Service Trophy. He was president of the State College chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, member and president of various college organizations, one of the founders of the press club at the college, and a member of the college fruit judging team. During his college course, he did outstanding radio and editorial work as Editorial Assistant in the Extension Editors' office at the college.

Since graduation with the class of 1937, Charles Eshbach has been newspaper reporter, magazine editor and radio broadcaster. He worked for a time for the Springfield Union, a daily newspaper; was editor of 4-H Horizons, national 4-H club magazine until the war in Europe caused suspension of the magazine; and for the past three years has been Director of the New England Radio News Service, the New England regional radio office of the United States Department of Agriculture, engaged in preparing and presenting agricultural radio progams. He is heard over WBZ and WAAB in daily radio broadcasts. In spite of his many activities, Eshbach has found time to do graduate work, and upon completion of a thesis will receive his Master of Science degree.

Kenneth Benson, the first of the Winchester young men to follow in Eshbach's footsteps had an outstanding 4-H club record. He carried on work in several projects, including garden and canning, but it was in canning or food preservation that he attained his greatest achievement. His canned products were consistent prize winners at exhibits in many parts of the country, and he was sent to the National Congress in Chicago to represent the East in national competition. Benson came by this proficiency in food preservation naturally for his sister Mildred was one of the best 4-H canning club members in the history of 4-H club work.

Kenneth spent one summer demonstrating the coldpack method of canning throughout the Eastern United States for a large manufacturer of jar rubbers, and he has held several temporary positions of the same nature during his school years. Young Benson arrived at Mass. State College in 1934 when Eshbach was a sophomore at the college, and he enrolled in the food technology major. He was active in college affairs as a member of various organizations and is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Since graduation in 1938, Kenneth Benson has made a place for himself in the food technology field. He was instrumental in the starting of some pioneer work in combining market gardening with small food preservation enterprises, and had charge of this work in West Springfield; was food technologist for a Connecticut jelly-making concern; and is now assistant manager of the Pogm Marmalade Company in Malden.

Richard Elliott was a member of the Winchester 4-H Garden Club for six years served his turn as president of the group, and succeeded to the local leadership when Kenneth Benson went to college. He received many prizes in vegetable competition.

In 1935, Richard went to Massachusetts State College and majored in agricultural economics. As an undergraduate, he was president of the college 4-H Club, a position held previously by Charles Eshbach; president of the outing club; and a member and officer of various other college organizations. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. During his college course, Richard was a representative of the college at several country life conferences, one of which was held in Kentucky. He was at the National 4-H Camp in Washington, D. C. in 1939.

Upon graduation from college, he was appointed graduate assistant in the department of agricultural economics, and in addition to his other duties did graduate work in that field. He has now completed that work and will receive his Master of Science degree in June. Recently Richard was appointed assistant to the State 4-H Club leader at the college, and is doing work throughout the State with the older 4-H Club members.

Richard Glendon was seven years a Winchester 4-H Club member, formerly an officer in the local organization, and in addition to serving as leader of the local garden club was also leader of a group of canning club girls. He won high honors at the county 4-H camp in 1935, and even higher honors at the state camp in 1936, at which time he was selected as one of the two club members in attendance who best exemplified the spirit of the camp and the ideals of 4-H club work.

Richard entered Massachusetts State College in 1936, when Elliott was a sophomore, Benson was a junior, and Eshbach was a senior at the college. He majored in history and sociology, and was very active in college affairs, being a member of numerous college groups. He was president of the college International Relations Club and represented the school at several national conferences, including one at Washington, D. C. Richard was graduated from Massachusetts State last June and is now doing graduate work in history at Harvard University. He plans to become a teacher. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

These four Winchester young men have set up a record of achievement which has never been equalled in the 27 years that 4-H Club work has been in existence in the United States. All were members of a garden club and did outstanding work; all were presidents of that club and later took over the leadership duties; all went to Massachusetts State College in successive years, had outstanding college careers, received degrees, and did graduate work. Two of the four now have graduate degrees, and two others are working for their degrees. Three of the young men are now occupying responsible positions, while the fourth is attending Harvard University Graduate School, and three are members of the recently-formed Winchester 4-H Town Committee.

It turned time back to the days of '18 to see Lewis Parkhurst and James J. Fitzgerald marching together in the delegation of citizens escorting the big group of Winchester and Stoneham draftees to the railroad station yesterday morning. Both these sterling citizens were among the most active in looking out for the welfare of World War drafted men and it was only natural for them to be interested in the boys now leaving home for military service.

We note that two of our Amesbury friends, Sam Bailey and Lester Gibson, have jumped into the limelight of publicity through their official positions in the Long Range Thinking Club of that town. Sam, who has been Amesbury's able Moderator for many years, was the instigator of this organization, and Lester, with a Dartmouth background, has been an able lieutenant in furthering its activities. The weekly meetings are an Amesbury highlight. Now that the club is visting Boston April 9 for the purpose, so we read, of restoring frogs to the Frog Pond and erecting a bunker on Bunker Hill, it will undoubtedly receive official recognition and reception. The presence on this auspicious occasion of Governor Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin appears possible — which will certainly put the "Aim" in Amesbury. Lyman Arms, with his Ancient and Honorable Order of Pipe Organ Pumpers, had better look to his laurels.

When listing those rare individuals who give as well as get, do not forget to place Fortis Antippas well up on the list. Mr. Antippas, proprietor of the Splendid Lunch, in giving a farewell dinner at his restaurant Wednesday night for Winchester draftees leaving next morning for Army service, did a fine and generous thing. Yet it was no new thing for him to do. For years, Frank as he is generally known, has been playing host for from 50 to 75 homeless unfortunates at Thanksgiving and Christmas, while the number of hungry wanderers he has warmed and fed at other times is veritably legion. Glory, thanks, advertising, have absolutely no bearing on his generosity. Not a bit of it. His return is in the satisfaction he feels in giving others pleasure. Which all adds up to the fact that Frank is a pretty good sort of fellow to have around.

CHARLES H. BROWN

Charles H. Brown, 67, retired refrigeration engineer and resident of Winchester for the past 20 years, died early this morning at the Winchester Hospital after a short illness.

Mr. Brown, whose home was at 27 Eaton street, was a native of Austerlitz, N. Y., and former resident of Cambridge. He was a member of Mizpah Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Cambridge, Thomas Higginson Camp, Sons of Veterans and the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Florence M. Brown, a daughter, Mrs. Ruby B. White of Winchester, and a son, Marvin C. Brown of Melrose.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Crawford Memorial Church. Interment will be in the Cambridge Cemetery.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By James Coon

Wednesday afternoon, the teachers all had departmental meetings. Thus the students had a two hours' vacation that they wouldn't have ordinarily.

The threat of expulsion has successfully removed the water gun brigade from the school. The last stronghold, the group of die-hards at the Wadleigh School, left their guns at home for the last few days of the week. Thus the newest fad becomes old.

The Student Council at its recent meeting decided to put the suggestion of having a student captain at each lunch table before the different home rooms and let these home rooms discuss and vote on the suggestion. In most of the home rooms in which there was much discussion, the students seemed to feel that this was an unnecessary measure. At the present there are three faculty supervisors who wander around the cafeteria seeing that order is kept. The amount of disciplining necessary to the keeping of order is negligible. There is of course a certain amount of noise that would be present no matter what system is used in the cafeteria. Most of the students feel that the lunch hour is a period for relaxation, and a time to forget about their studies for awhile. They feel that to have a captain at each table would make the students self-conscious and take away some of the feeling of freedom that now exists. Most students think that the present way of handling the lunch hour is the best possible.

If you had happened to walk into the school on Monday, you would have been sure that the majority of the pupils were Irish. The splurge of green ties, sweaters, and various other bits of wearing apparel would have amazed you. For there to be so many different shades of one color is amazing and confusing.

There are now only about twelve more weeks of school for Seniors and about fourteen for the rest of the school.

POLICE GUARD VANADIUM WORK

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa.—Under protection of state motor policemen, "white collar" employees worked today behind the gates of the strike-affected Vanadium Corporation plant in this Pittsburgh suburb, loading materials needed by defense industries.

Representatives of 400 striking workmen refused earlier to comply with urgent requests for "cooperation" by Sidney Hillman, associate director of the office of production management.

The plant is reputed to be one of the principal producers of ferro-vanadium, an essential for metal cutting tools.

RAIL LABOR ASKED TO DELAY STRIKE

WASHINGTON — Railway labor organizations were requested by the national mediation board today to postpone counting of strike ballots—scheduled to begin tomorrow—and to submit to mediation the dispute between the carriers and employes over vacations with pay and in some cases wages.

Both sides were asked to confer separately with the board on March 19 in Washington. Approximately 750,000 employes are involved.

OPM DECIDES TO RATION ALUMINUM

WASHINGTON — Having established an industry-wide priority on aluminum to preserve first call on this vital metal for defense purposes, the Office of Production Management decided today to institute a strict rationing system to spread a diminishing supply for civilian use among the various industries manufacturing cooking utensils, automobiles, refrigerators and many other non-defense articles.

N. Y. BUS STRIKE MUST CONTINUE

Mediator Gives It up; Plea for Arbitration

NEW YORK—State Mediator Arthur S. Meyer tonight gave up as hopeless the task of trying to settle the five-day-old bus strike, which has eliminated 95 per cent of Manhattan's surface transportation.

He said he had informed Mayor LaGuardia that he was returning tomorrow to Florida to finish a health visit interrupted by the mayor's appeal to come here and seek a settlement of the strike.

The Transport Workers Union (CIO) called the strike Monday against the New York City Omnibus Corporation and the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, demanding a new contract including, among other things, a 25 per cent wage increase, a work week reduced from 54 to 48 hours and a three weeks' vacation a year instead of two.

The operators replied that they could not afford such terms.

The mayor, advised of Meyer's conviction that further negotiation was useless, appealed to the strikers to return to work and accept arbitration.

STRIKE PERILS PLANE OUTPUT

LOS ANGELES—What aircraft interests described as the most staggering blow yet to fall on national defense production in the west coast occurred in Inglewood today when the CIO die casting workers struck and shut down the Harvill Aircraft Die Casting corporation.

Although the plant is relatively a small one, employing 425 persons, it was described as a bottleneck plant because without some 30,000 vital airplane parts on which it has been working night and day to produce not a single airplane can be turned out for national defense by any Pacific coast manufacturer, corporation representatives said.

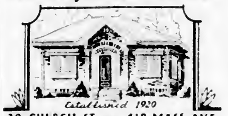

The union threw a picket line across the plant's entrances about 1 a. m., and all production activity was halted at once.

TOWN MEETING NOTES

Monday night's meeting didn't establish a record for late closing, though its 12:20 a. m. was right "up there." The fourth and final session of the 1930 meeting, held March 30, didn't break up until 12:36 a. m. Few members and none of the reporters have any desire to "go after" that record . . . Moderator Ray Wilkins did a great job in conducting the meetings, keeping things moving along smoothly and showing a nice sense of impartiality in recognizing speakers. Many marveled at the celerity with which he read necessary boundary statistics and the Star believes that with the script before him, he could give a very satisfactory rendering of "Speed" Riggs' war-whoop that starts the "Information Please" quiz on the radio each week . . . Selectman Cullen was the only speaker either night to get a hand when he got up to speak. "Jim" was pretty lonesome in his opposition to the purchase of the Brooks property, but remained consistent in his opposition . . . Apparently the more work you do and the better you do it, the less likely you are to win promotion in Winchester. At least that seems to be the way it works out with Assistant Town Clerk Helen Stinson . . Don't know as any one ever DID answer the question, where High street is going to when it finally gets that $36,000 face lifting job . . . Mr. Downs really ought to "drop in" at the Library some time. We are sure he'll like it there. Lots of nice things around, including the staff . . . You couldn't blame Joe Tansey too much for being befogged during the Chapter 90 discussion, the way the experts were tossing the percentages and fractions around. Joe thought they ought to agree, and it seemed to us he had something there at that . . . Pat Craughwell, the sage of Swanton street gave the Planning Board quite an endorsement when he said they had never been wrong since he's been going to town meeting. Pat's been 'tendin' meetin' for quite some time . . . 'Twouldn't been a bad idea for the meeting to have listened a bit more attentively to what Mr. Sanderson had to say about High street . . . When you hear better town meeting speakers they probably will have copied Mr. Parson's style. Get him on his feet with a pointer in his hand and the motion is practically carried . . . No one could accuse Mr. Worthen of being partial in his presentation of the proposals to change the limited town meeting act. He certainly gave both sides. But we have heard "Joe" when he had lots and lots more zip . . . And for all around inconsistency the action of the meeting on the proposed changes of the limited meeting act surely hit a new high. Spending an hour and eighteen minutes passing a lot of individual motions and then voting to throw the whole lot out of the window set some sort of a record . . . Joe Tansey tried hard for adjournment at 11:30 Monday night, but it was no dice . . . Lowell Smith was among the opponents of his motion to adjourn. Lowell got in late and wanted his money's worth. His "No" was very easily heard . . . When two speakers said Lewis Parkhurst favored buying the Brooks property that motion was all wrapped up for delivery. Mr. Parkhurst's opinion commands the respect to which it is entitled . . . Dick MacAdams was his usual sunny self at the second meeting. Seemed sort of "riled" the first night . . . Thursday's meeting apparently voted the school janitors a raise without giving them any money . . . And now, will you let the Park Board alone! . . . It would have taken a hardy and able speaker to oppose Mr. Worthen and Mr. Cusack who seemd to think the Park Commissioners have done a pretty fair job . . . Add the name of Lillian Snyder to the speakers who made a good impression on the meeting . . . Mr. Worthen's reference to the late James W. Russell was nicely phrased and well deserved . . . What's your bet the meeting wouldn't have banned fireworks in town, if the matter had actually gone to a vote? And probably no one would actually have searched Mr. Down's ear! . . . Officer Quigley went after a voter in the rear of the hall, and was his face red when the man showed him a Town Meeting member card! Never mind, Joe, we agree that some of those voice votes had quite an echo in the back of the hall! . . . Mr. Rowe is still the "great dissolver!"

JUNIORS HIGH SCHOOL HOOP CHAMPS

The Juniors won the interclass basketball championship of Winchester High School, and their numerals, by defeating the favored senior quintet last Friday, by the lop-sided score of 42-12.

Led by Frank Marabella, varsity three-letter man, and having in their lineup five players with varsity basketball experience in former seasons, the seniors were very confident as they took the floor, but the Juniors stood in no awe of their more experienced opponents. Past Varsity experience meant nothing to them, and they proceeded to go to work on the fourth year men, piling up a commanding early-game lead and enjoying a 13 point advantage at half time, the score standing 22-9 in their favor. Some nice shots by Bob Harris and Dick Murphy, coupled with effective teamwork, counted heavily for the leaders.

Senior faces were pretty red as they left the court and were covered with determination as play was resumed in the third quarter. The Juniors, however, nicely pepped up by their coach, Varsity Captain Pete Provinzano, refused to crack, and paced by Bill McAuliffe, who found the hoop with three fine long shots in a row, ran their margin to 33-10 at the end of the third quarter.

Murphy and McAuliffe scored again to start the final stanza and the Juniors coasted home easy winners in a game of which the seniors are destined often to be reminded.

McAuliffe and Harris divided scoring honors, each tallying 12 points. Dick Murphy was right behind with 10.

In the remaining games of the interclass series the seniors beat the sophomores, 30-11, the juniors beat the freshmen, 30-23, and freshmen beat the sophomores, 22-11.

Individual scoring honors for the series were won by Bill McAuliffe, 30 points. Frank Marabella had 18 for second, Bob Harris, 16, and Dick Murphy, 14.

WINCHESTER K. OF C. TOURNEY WINNER

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, won the playoff Wednesday evening for the Knights of Columbus Inter-Council Tournament, defeating Wakefield at games in the local council chambers and bowling on the Winchester Alleys. Wakefield was the first half winner of the local league, and Winchester, the second. DERBY BASKETBALL CAPTAIN

Dean Derby, aggressive back on this year's Winchester High School basketball team, has been elected captain of next year's team at a recent meeting of the varsity letter men.

This year has been Dean's first on the varsity quintet, and he showed a commendable improvement in all around play during the season. While noted primarily for his work on defense, he bettered his scoring record from game to game until at the season's close he had tallied 42 points, many of which came when needed.

Derby also plays football, was a regular halfback last fall and a letter man over the past two seasons. He is a member of the junior class at high school and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Derby of Church street.

Bible selections will include the following passage from I John 2:15, 17: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. . . . And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. WINCHESTER CURLERS IN INTERNATIONAL MATCH

Several Winchester curlers are participating in the International Gordon Medal Bonspiel at Montreal, Canada, this week-end, closing the current championship season. In this bonspiel 16 picked rinks from the United States will compete against Canadian rinks, each to curl one match only with the total number of points determining the winning country.

Boston is sending up a rink, composed of John Coulson, Robert F. Guild, Kenneth T. Young and James W. Spring, skip. Winchester's rink comprises Harold V. Farnsworth, Daniel P. Morse, Jr., Dr. William L. Davis and John Joy, skip. The Winchester rink left last night for Montreal. The Boston rink is going up tonight with rinks from the Country Club in Brookline in a special car on the B. & M.

Each United States rink will be entertained at luncheon Saturday noon by its host Canadian rink, the matches starting Saturday morning.

The big curling dinner for all rinks of both countries takes place in the Hotel Windsor Saturday evening and the local curlers are leaving on the Boston & Maine at 9:55 Sunday morning for home.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Herbert L. Baldwin of Ardley place, director of publicity for the B. & M., the train is stopping at Winchester Station at 7:15 so that the local curlers can go directly home.

RECOGNITION AND PLEDGE PARTY

Tuesday afternoon, March 18, the Epiphany Library, with the help of a cheerful fire and the inviting tea-table which Mrs. Malcolm Cook had furnished forth with flowers and silver and food, put off its workaday look and became the scene of a pleasant Girl Scout party.

The young guests brought with them a surprise, a $10 increase in the proceeds from "Tim the Chimney Sweep." In a week it had grown from the $80 reported just after the performance to $90 and Ruth Tapley presented this amount to the Chairman of British War Relief, Mrs. Fred Cameron.

In thanking the Scout troop, Mrs. Cameron told them that their gift had not only provided the last of the $1500 needed for Winchester's second "Rolling Kitchen," but had kept the fund in the hands of the treasurer, Mr. Dwight Cabot, behaving still like a miraculous pitcher, never empty. Some of their $90 would have a part in the third kitchen which Winchester hopes to send.

Mrs. Donald Heath, Scout Commissioner, presented attractive service pins, explaining that they were to be forward-looking, to future services a girl would do; not backward-looking, to the beanies she had already made or the part she had had in producing "Tim." In addition to the known beanies and dramatics she spoke of weighing babies at the Baby Clinic, folding bandages, or knitting.

On the walls were attractive samples of things to be made, a cape and a dress destined for some British girl, and an afghan made of scraps of yarn. The Scouts saw that 99 of the 4-inch squares could be done in speedy fashion by a whole troop and their captain. Mrs. Oliver, assured them she knew all the answers about size of needles and kinds of yarn.

Mrs. Burton Gage, who was present to greet them on behalf of the Maple Leaf Society had with her a most interesting possible activity. It was a jacket for ground-workers of the Royal Air Force, made of squares cut from old kid gloves. Here was a career for those who love to ask for things for a good cause and for accurate scissors and needles.

Mrs. George Dutting, head of the Winchester Red Cross work rooms, was out of Winchester and could not be present, but the varied services that a girl may render under Red Cross was stressed.

Other troops have already found their way to the Red Cross Rooms. Troop 11, Mrs. Marshall Symmes captain, has made bandages at the Red Cross Rooms in the Town Hall and will continue to do this in small groups, with Mrs. Harrie Nutter in charge.

Troop 7 and Troop 10, Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell captain, have sewed at the Red Cross rooms on Tuesday afternoons. Out of scraps of flannel they have made darling baby blankets, they have cut and rolled countless bands for babies, hemmed diapers, made and filled pin cases to go with the layettes, sewed labels on finished garments and made beanies.

The following girls of these troops have definite records of afternoon service:

TROOP 10
Patricia Record	7
Dorothy Bradford	5
Sally Osborne	5
Nancy Barker	3
Joan Robinson	3
Martha Fay	3
TROOP 7
Anna Rollo	7
Barbara Barksdale	5
Marjorie Barksdale	5
Madeleine Sullivan	5
Myrna Zamanakas	5
Dorothy O'Melia	3
Peggy Regan	3

Twelve other girls have worked one or two afternoons at the Town Hall.

A group will be working on Tuesday and Friday at the Baby Clinics, helping Miss Hope.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Committee of Safety Chapter

The February meeting of Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held on Monday, the 17th, at the home of Mrs. William E. Bottger, 17 Sheffield road. Among the guests present was Miss Leila Smith, recently chosen for her qualities of good citizenship to represent Winchester High School at the state conference in Boston, where each year the drawing takes place to determine the name of the Massachusetts girl who will go to Washington as the guest of the national society at the time of the Congress in April.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. George F. Smith, past president of the Lexington Republican Club; her subject was the Constitution. Mrs. Smith made her talk most interesting as she traced down through the centuries the ideals which were formulated in our Constitution and Bill of Rights. She urged a more possessive attitude toward our American institutions, warning against the danger of passive acceptance of our hard won privileges.

The date of our meeting coinciding with the anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by the British, Miss Clara Russell read a paper dealing with the events of the winter of 1775 which ended with the withdrawal of the enemy troops. The paper showed careful research and furnished much little known information.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bottger, assisted by Mrs. Charles Beaudry and Mrs. William Cole.

The Board of Selectmen and Planning Board, he said, had felt its possible acquisition of sufficient importance to seek the pleasure of the town in the matter.

Mr. Parsons, speaking at some length, explained the advantages of acquiring the land as a forest or public domain, not as park land, telling of its desirability for use by the Girl Scouts for woodcraft and nature study, of its great natural beauty and of the many fine trees upon its surface, some about 150 years old. He further felt that its acquisition by the town would have a tendency to control the development of homes in the district and pointed out that the average cost of homes being built in Winchester has declined from $10,009 in 1930 to $6000 in 1940.

Mr. Downs stated that in view of recent information received, the Finance Committee had changed its opinion of the project and favored purchase.

Mr. Symmes felt the land is a good buy and Mr. Tansey spoke in favor, stating that Mr. Lewis Parkhurst favored the purchase of the land. Mr. Croughwell spoke in favor, so did Mrs. McDonald, adding the people in the north end of the town should favor anything wished by Mr. Parkhurst because of the many improvements he had brought about in their district.

Mr. Gallagher spoke in favor, and the only real objection voiced was that of Mr. Cullen, who stuck doggedly to his opposition. Mr. McKenzie spoke in favor, adding that for once he and the Planning Board saw eye to eye.

The motion to acquire the land, carrying the $10,000 appropriation, was carried, 163 yes, and 9 no.

The proposal to acquire a strip of land in the Highlands near Brookside avenue as a right of way to Park land located there was tabled, after Mr. Belville, the owner, and Mrs. Snyder had spoken in opposition. The motion to table was offered by Mrs. Woodside.

Mr. Heath explained under Article 22 the Town Hall Improvement Committee's proposed plans for renovating and remodeling the town hall, showing charts and recommending the plan to improve the present structure at a cost of $90,000. Mr. Main also spoke in favor, stating that the shell of the building when improved will be good for at least 25 years.

Mr. Downs voiced the Finance Committee's opposition, arrived at solely on the ground that the expenditure is not necessary and in view of unsettled financial conditions, should not be undertaken. He added paradoxically in the event the town wishes to improve the town hall within two or three years that the committee's proposed plans should be carried out at once.

Mr. Olmstead and Mr. von Rosenvinge opposed the plan to improve, Mr. Foley and Mr. Tansey favored. The motion was then put and lost, 42 yes and 133, no.

The meeting then took up the town hall item in the departmental appropriations budget, put over from the last meeting and passed the requested appropriation of $8,723 originally asked by the Selectmen.

This brought the meeting to the consideration of the articles inserted to see if the members would accept certain recommended changes in the town meeting act, under which the limited town meeting functions.

Four articles, 24, 25, 26 and 27, were considered together and in acting upon them the meeting exhibited one of the most complete reversals this town meeting reporter has witnessed in 20 years.

Mr. Worthen of the committee provided for at last annual meeting to consider the defects of the present limited town meeting system in Winchester and make recommendations for improvement, spoke for the committee and offered eight specific motions, which in the opinion of a majority of the committee would improve the limited town meeting setup here.

Mr. Worthen explained that aside from the first two motions, dealing with the Finance Committee, now controlled by town by-law, the motions offered were all contingent upon the meeting's decision to petition the General Court for permission to change its enabling act so as to incorporate the changes, if the members desired to make them. He felt that each proposed change should be considered separately.

The first proposed change was that Town Meeting members elected to the Finance Committee should not resign as Town Meeting members. This was only a sense of the meeting motion and was carried by a voice vote. The second motion offered was to change the appointment of members of the Finance Committee, now chosen by the chairman and secretary of that committee and the moderator, so that they will be chosen by the moderator, chairman of the Finance Committee and chairman of the Selectmen. This motion was carried, 98 yes, and 48 no.

Next came the motion to petition the General Court for permission to have the town and not the state statue determine how many ex-officio members, town officers or job holders shall be members of the limited town meeting body.

In speaking to this motion Mr. Gerald Richardson pointed out that at present 30 per cent of the town meeting members are ex-officio members or job holders and in an appropriative body this is not desirable, since this group is most likely to attend town meetings and as a consequence generally constitutes 35 per cent of the deliberative body. Mr. Richardson stuck to his guns, despite questioning by Mr. von Rosenvinge, and the meeting accepted the motion to enable the town to control the number of ex-officio town meeting members, yes 88, and no, 56.

Other limited meeting act changes accepted were, (1) the abolition of special notices to town meeting members seven days before meetings; (2) requiring members seeking re-election to take out nomination papers like new members; (3) the establishment of 11 members as a quorum for any precinct meeting; (4) the provision that referendums from decisions of town meeting sessions be filed with the Selectmen and signatures checked by the Registrars of Voters; and (5) requiring one-fifth of the town's electorate to vote in any referendum reversing action of the limited town meeting.

There was little debate on the proposed changes and less opposition voiced to them, all being carried by voice votes.

Then after one hour and eighteen minutes devoted to passing the proposed changes, the motion to petition the General Court for permission to change the present town meeting act to include them in it was put, and lost, on a voice vote, Mr. Lyman and Mr. von Rosenvinge speaking in opposition and Mr. Cullen, in favor. As a consequence only the sense of the meeting vote and the vote changing the appointment of Finance Committee members go into effect.

The expected debate upon the proposal to increase the members of the Park Board from three to five failed to materialize. Mr. Worthen read a letter from Mr. Davidson, chairman of the Park Board, whose health did not permit him to attend the meeting. Mr. Davidson felt that the increase in the board's membership would be inadvisable and constituted a direct reflection upon the stewardship of the present board, all the members of which have been in the service for some years. Mr. Worthen, himself, spoke in support of the present board, lauding its services and trusting that the proposed increase in membership would be defeated. Mr. Cusack concurred, bespeaking the Finance Committee's high regard for the present incumbents and recalling the fact that the town has recently been awarded a plaque for the beauty of its public parks and playgrounds.

No one spoke in favor of the motion to increase and it was lost on a voice vote.

The meeting voted to petition the General Court for permission to discontinue the use as a public park of land adjacent to Judkins Pond and maintain this land as a playground or recreation center. It also voted to accept money provided by the will of Miss Cora A. Quimby, late librarian of the town, to purchase books for the public library. Under Article 33 the meeting accepted $500 under the will of the late Charles H. Mason, the income to be used to buy flowers to decorate the testator's lot in Wildwood Cemetery on certain days in the year.

Mrs. Woodside spoke for the motion to prohibit the use of fireworks in town, except under the direction of municipal authorities or with a permit from the Chief of the Fire Department. Covering the subject completely, Mrs. Woodside told of the movement spreading through the country to abolish fireworks, mentioned the bill introduced in the State Legislature to this end with the support of the Fire Marshal and asked the town to pass the motion to abolish the promiscuous use of fireworks here as progressive legislation for the best interest of the town and the children.

Mrs. Cusack recorded the League of Women Voters' support of the motion and Mrs. Barnes, that of the Mothers' Association, Mr. MacAdams, Commander of Winchester Post, A. L., spoke in favor of the motion as a safety measure. Mr. Downs of the Finance Committee stated that his group was not hostile to the change, but felt that more time should be given to study the proposed motion.

Mrs. McDonald wanted to know what penalties would be imposed in the event children fired off fireworks, Mrs. Woodside replying that those provided by the present fireworks laws would apply.

Mr. McDavitt moved to table the motion, but to this Mrs. Woodside objected, and Mr. Farnsworth felt that the entire subject matter should be referred to a committee for report at the next annual meeting. Mr. Parsons moved to amend by making the report possible at the next meeting held, stating that there might be a meeting in June.

Mr. Farnsworth accepted the amendment, and Mr. MacDavitt's motion to table was lost, Mr. Farnsworth's amended motion being carried, the committee to be appointed by the moderator.

Other committees appointed under committee articles were a committee to consider the need for additional school facilities and one of five members, including a member of the Board of Public Welfare, also to be appointed by the moderator, to consider the unemployment relief program and the possible rehabilitation of those now on relief by placing them in private industry.

Article 35, dealing with sidewalk obstructions, was indefinitely postponed. The meeting authorized the Selectmen to enter into an agreement with the Boston & Maine Railroad for the use by the police and highway department of the upper story of the gate tender's tower in the center.

Finally the meeting fixed the number of measurers of wood and bark at five and delegated the appointment of the same to the Selectmen. Then upon the usual motion by Mr. Rowe, official town meeting dissolver, the meeting was dissolved at 12:20 a. m. Tuesday.

BAPTIST YOUTH SERVICE

On Sunday evening, March 16, the regular youth service was held in the chapel of the First Baptist Church. Miss Florence Pynn was in charge of the worship service. Mr. Harry C. THE AMAZING EXPERIENCE of AUNT MATILDA and the "KIDNAPPED CHILDREN"

"Come, come," said Aunt Matilda, who knew more about child psychology than all the parents and doctors combined, "nobody's around, so let's go off for the day on the Iron Horse, sometimes called the Boston and Maine Railroad."

So Aunt Matilda and her nephew and her niece took a trip to a "distant city" (not really very far away) by train, and believe us, the children had the time of their young lives.

Just ask the youngsters in your family right now if they'd like to go somewhere by train. You'll find Aunt Matilda knows her children and what is really fun for them.

SPRINGTIME SALE AND TEA

You remember that Eve started right out christening things, giving names to all the animals. Some of her daughters are still just like her. They can hardly hear of a new baby without calling up the new father or the new grandmother and saying, "I do hope you're going to call him—." One of Eve's daughters can hardly resist the temptation to give a name to the tea and sale which will be held at the Epiphany parish hall next Friday, March 28. The sale of food and candy and plants will be all day long, from 10 to 5. The tea will be from 3 to 5. Eve wants to call them "The Crocus Sale and Tea."

The date is one reason. This annual event comes always just about the time when spring has got her bonnet off and is beginning to feel at home in New England and when the optimiists begin to have an eye out for the pioneer crocus. But a better reason is that the parish hall flowers out on this occasion with the gay crocus-colored aprons and caps worn by the very small waitresses, members of the lower church school. This year the girls in the crocus colors serving at the tea will be: Marilyn Hiscoe, Ellen Shoemaker, Marilyn Chase, Joan Bodman, Ann Votaw, Joan Salmon, Helen Walker, Ann Dillingham, Betsy Chilcott, Mary Emily Bodman.

This committee has the tea in charge: Mrs. Kenneth B. Hiscoe, chairman; Mrs. Elwood S. Bartman, Mrs. John W. Bodman, Mrs. Charles H. Burnham, Mrs. Alexander P. Aitkin, Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, Mrs. Gerald D. Curtis, Mrs. John L. Turner, Mrs. Frederic B. Taylor, Mrs. Thomas P. Salmon, Mrs. Daniel F. Barnard, Mrs. Paul Forester, Jr., Mrs. Evander French, Mrs. Luis G. Weil, Jr.

The purpose of the sale and the tea is to increase the offering which the individual self-denial of Epiphany children in the kindergarten and primary grades of the church school can put into their individual mite-boxes, given out just before Lent began. This Lenten sale and tea was instituted by Deaconness Helen Lane, who now from a distance has the satisfaction of seeing how substantial this her "lengthened shadow" has proved. Mrs. Edward F. Boyd, superintendent of the lower school, is in charge this year. She is assisted by these committees for the sale:

Food Table: Mrs. Ralph G. Swanson, chairman; Mrs. Paul G. Rocray, Mrs. Franc E. Votaw, Mrs. Lloyd L. Wallis, Mrs. Donald E. Woodward, Mrs. Donald B. Lovis.

Candy Table: Mrs. Ralph T. Jope, chairman; Mrs. Alfred J. Higgins, Mrs. J. McClure Barchus, Mrs. E. Phillips Walker.

JAMES R. YOUNG'S TALK ON JAPAN THRILLED A CAPACITY AUDIENCE

The visit of Japan's Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka to Berlin and Rome is the prelude to startling news which will break in Tokio on his return—either a cabinet shakeup or a military dictatorship with Matsuoka at the head, according to James R. Young, for 13 years Far East correspondent for International News Service, who spoke at the Unitarian Church last Thursday evening under the auspices of the Men's Club.

Thrown into confusion and political hysteria in international affairs, Matsuoka, having failed five times in bluffing the United States, is making a final effort to win German assistance of an European victory, a situation the Japanese navy leaders oppose for fear of involvement with the United States or England.

When Britain wins, Japan will suffer her "meditation" of the Indo-China-Thailand border dispute which the French say was a trick diplomatic job. Even if Hitler succeeded in his gigantic military campaign, he would knife Japan in the back. The Japanese in their desperation from failure to conquer China, and from acute commodity and raw materials shortage, have tried playing America at one end and Germany at the other, against the middle, and as with Italy, she will not succeed.

Since October, Japanese diplomatic agents in Rome have reported unfavorably on the Axis's weakness. Matsuoka is in Europe for a last glance before the collapse of either one of his Axis partners, or possibly his own set-up in Tokio.

Japan might even resign from the Axis pact with the explanation that Germany violated the anti-comintern pact which Japan initiated three years ago, Young declared.

Japan has waited too long. The Dutch East Indies and Singapore are in excellent shape. A year ago Japan could have taken both areas. Her navy is still in fine shape, but her navy leaders are anti-German.

Failure to end the China incident has brought confusion, dissension and intrigue in Japan. Rice riots are feared. Young officers in the fanatic military cliques oppose the Navy. Parliament and constitutional privileges have been suspended.

Japan's unprecedented shortage of rice and raw materials is serious. Twenty-two leaders of her steel and iron industry resigned en masse over failure to produce military needs. Oil shipments are down although the State Department continues export of aviation gasoline. Tankers are not available for crude shipments. Japan's soldiers sit in their own shadows in China as her politico-military groups struggle in conference, hoping Hitler will win.

Matsuoka's journey in Europe may be a one way ride, Young commented, adding that "the foreign minister's trip did not carry the best wishes of the Japanese Emperor, nor do the Germans want him to visit them at this time."

A stay of 64 days in a Japanese jail is not a pleasant affair at best. To add to his misery Mr. Young was almost constantly interrogated by military, economic, and "thought" police, who, in spite of their conclusions that a Greek fraternity pin meant that he was a Greek and not an American, and that membership in Rotary proved that he was a member of the "Internationale," he was allowed to leave the country on probation from a Japanese court.

Mr. Young was generous and highly informative in the question period which followed his talk. Metcalf Hall was filled in spite of the counter attraction of a Town Meeting.

ANOTHER "MEANEST THIEF"

Still another candidate for the "meanest thief" title presented himself last Saturday in the person who stole the British War Relief contribution box from the bake shop of Christie McDonald on Mt. Vernon street.

Mrs. Fred Cameron of the Committee working for British Relief in Winchester discovered the theft shortly before 5 o'clock. Miss Martha Peterson, store manager, informed the Police that the box had been there during the morning, but because of the bustle in the store on Saturday she and her clerks had not been able to watch it closely and could not tell how long it had been missing.

SCHOOL ARTISTS PRODUCE CLEVER WINDOW DISPLAY

Hevey's Pharmacy Entertains Vaudeville Show Puppets

Few Winchesterites will miss the unusual window display during the current week at Hevey's Pharmacy, where seven likelife mannequins, designed, created and dressed by a group of art students under the supervision of Miss Inez Keller of the Winchester High School faculty, are making their headquarters and telling the world in pantomime that the 1941 edition of the Winchester High School vaudeville show will take place in the high school auditorium on Friday afternoon and evening of March 28.

The youthful artists who are responsible for these clever puppets are Rachel Armstrong, Janet Doub, Muriel Fifield, Arthur Haggerty, Charlotte Hall, Maxine Lybeck, Richard Palson, Loretta Power, Donald Warren and Mildred Whitcomb.

Coat hangers, wood, papier-mache paint, and crepe paper all went into the creation of Indigo, the piano player; Sambo, the saxaphone artist; Bimbo, the drummer; Rastus, the trombone player; Rufus, the trumpeter; and Jasbo and Dinah, the jitter bugs.

All seven puppets will appear at the performance on the 28th, where they will make their bow during intermission. Every member of the audience will receive free a duplicate ticket upon entering the auditorium. During the intermission a drawing will be made and the lucky numbers will receive as a memento of the occasion one of these mannequins.

Another and far larger group of art students, under the supervision of Miss Goodrich of the high school faculty, and under the leadership of publicity committee chairman, Miss Shirley Brackett, has been busy for the past three weeks making colorful posters with which to advertise the show throughout the town.

Several store windows in the center and all the grade schools are displaying these excellent posters, and there shoud be no one in the Town of Winchester who is unaware of the time and place of the school's most popular entertainment, the vaudeville show.

HOW THE FREQUENCY CHANGE AFFECTS THE AVERAGE LISTENER

When Mr. and Mrs. Average American switch on their radios Saturday, March 29—any time after 3 a. m. they will be due for a surprise.

Why?

Because they will learn that most of the stations they regularly listen to are no longer in their usual positions on the dial. There will be just one exception in the Hub—WEEI—which will remain at 590 kilocycles.

WHDH, now heard at 830, will shift to 850; WORL, now on 920, will go to 950; WBZ changes from 990 to 1030; WCOP, which now broadcasts on 1120, will be heard at 1150; WNAC is now heard at 1230, but will shift to 1260; WAAB, now heard on 1410, will go to 1440; WMEX, now on 1470, will be heard in future at 1510.

All this means that millions of push-button radios must be reset. Many persons are sufficiently versed to change over their own sets. Many more are not. For them, the huge American radio service industry offers thousands of qualified men to do the job at low cost, quickly and efficiently. Their names are easily found in your telephone directory.

EN KA TRADING POST

The attic or rummage booth occupies a prominent place at the annual En Ka Street Fair. It is one booth that lures many collectors to the Fair, in the hopes of finding an unappreciated treasure. For others it serves a purpose in helping out the family budget, in providing clothes, dishes, and household articles, at a minimum cost.

This year the booth will be called "The Yankee Trading Post." First Lieutenants, Mrs. Percy Bugbee and Mrs. Ober Pride are in charge of this stupendous project.

To date many articles have been collected. In spite of the wintry weather, spring is just around the corner. An appeal is made to You and You, and You, to remember the Trading Post, as you clean out your attics and closets. Clever hands can repair and make saleable many articles that you might throw away. The more You give the more we can give to Charity. The members of this large committee will gladly call and collect your donations, if you will just give them a ring.

The list of Sergeants and Privates working under Lieutenants Bugbee and Pride are:

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

"Outwitting the Styles" is the interesting title of the lecture Irma Cofren Whitney will give at the next regular meeting, Monday, March 24, at 2 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. Mrs. Whitney, who now heads the Department of Costume Design at the Vesper George School of Art in Boston, is an accomplished artist, having studied in this country and Europe. For five years she has been the art editor of the Boston Herald. Her fashion talk will be illustrated with deft crayon sketches which the audience may take home.

The Fortnightly News staff, the art committee and the literature committee invite all the members to an open house and tea to be held on Wednesday, March 26, at 2:30 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. The program will be built about "The Well-made Book and Its Style." There will be exhibits of books, pamphlets, etc., showing good bindings, paper, printing and illustrations, and brief informal discussions of these points will be conducted by club members. Anyone who has any books or material of this sort is requested and urged to bring it for the afternoon. The program as outlined promises to be both enjoyable and instructive. Mrs. Hubert Arrowsmith is editor of the Fortnightly News with Mrs. Robert M. Keeney, assistant editor. Mrs. Everett L. Vincent is chairman of the art committee and Mrs. Arzillia M. Higgins, chairman of the literature committee.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

A Letter From A Leader

The following letter appeared in a recent college alumnae magazine and speaks for itself:

Dear:

I address myself to those with a little leisure, seeking a part time outlet for their ambitious spirits.

"Have you considered Girl Scout work as a channel by which you can maintain your social activities and home, and yet turn to profit the knowledge you gained from your years of scholastic endeavors? By profit I do not refer to the kind which wrecks lives and nations, but the constructive kind which is nectar to the soul. And I know whereof I speak, since during the past two years I have acquired, in due rotation, a husband, a home, a son, and four dogs and yet have found a continuous stimulus from creating and building up a Girl Scout troop. Beginning with an idea, there are now 25 active girls, eager to work on the slightest suggestion, and I am fool enough to believe that by helping them to help themselves I can add a little to their happiness and character; and by giving them satisfying recources for their spare hours, I am ultimately contributing to our national culture and welfare.

Wherever you are, try it yourself and find how anxious the youth of today is to get hold of real ideas, and catch for yourself some of their buoyant spirit. Intellectuals; turn your attention to helping the normal and intelligent. In Girl Scout work your hands are little tied by rules and regulations and the time required is only 1½ hours a week unless you are really interested. There are thousands of girls waiting for leaders, so be selfish and get the joy which comes from being wanted.

Sincerely,
(Signed)
A Girl Scout Leader"

Training classes for leaders will be held this spring for those who are interested in getting into Scouting in the fall.

A gala sports day was held at Cedar Hill last Saturday by the Girl Scouts. All kinds of sports were enjoyed and a "weenie" roast added greatly to everyone's pleasure.

If anyone having more rummage to contribute for the maintenance of Cedar Hill will call Win. 1179-M, Mrs. Reeves will be glad to pick it up. March is our month to help.

You will enjoy the editorial page in next Sunday's Boston Globe. Owing to the great demand, many dealers were sold out of the Boston Globe last Sunday. Don't forget—order your copy of next Sunday's Boston Globe today.

AIR'S FREE — so why not use it?

GETTING right down to it, one reason why you get as much as 10% to 15% more miles per gallon from a 1941 FIREBALL Buick with Compound Carburetion is that this engine is supplied with more air.

For it is a mixture of gasoline and air that gives you power.

A single carburetor, no matter how many jets it has, can handle only so much air—which is nearly always too little for full-out, high-power performance.

But two carburetors that function as needed, as is the case in Compound Carburetion, can meet any fuel-supply need from low-speed to heavy-power use—and always provide a well-balanced mixture.

They can double the air supply as well as the gasoline feed—and that's something you can't do in any single-carburetor car.

So Compound Carburetion leads to big savings in fuel costs.

You get as much as 800 miles for the gas-cost of 700 in earlier Buicks of the same size.

It also provides a walloping big bank of reserve power, which means an up-and-at-'em lift and surge that's nothing short of thrilling to experience.

And you can have Compound Carburetion, you know, on any 1941 Buick—it's only a few dollars extra on the swell big SPECIAL pictured here, and standard equipment on all other models.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the Business Coupe

delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

GROUP THEATRE ANNOUNCES CAST OF SPRING PRODUCTION

With rehearsals progressing rapidly toward the spring production of "Murray Hill" in the high school auditorium on April 5, Joy A. Woolley, production chairman, has announced the cast as follows: Barbara Campbell, Robert Campbell, Ivar Hakanson, Jean Leone Makepeace, Ralph Small, J. Henry Smith, Jr., Romala Smith, Sara Woodward.

Ticket chairman is Annette L. Burnham, (Mrs. Lyndon Burnham), of 72 Yale street. There will be no Friday night performance. A get-together and dance will be held at the Winchester Country Club after the performance and as the costs have been privately subscribed by a group of members, all receipts from this party will go toward the expenses of the production.

Any persons interested in joining the "back stage" crew and who would care to volunteer to paint scenery are asked to get in touch with George W. Hayden, Jr. at Winchester 0120. Newcomers will be especially welcome, whether members of the Winchester Group Theatre or not.

Those who have been present at the recent rehearsals for the new production anticipate that it will be one of the most interesting that the Group has presented, both because of the amusing comedy lines and situations created by its famous author, Leslie Howard, and because the cast includes so much new talent, never before seen in a Group production.

Quotations from eminent designers and interesting annecdotes of stage hands' heroism were included while the slides showed scenery, equipment and costume design. After her lecture Mrs. Samoiloff was guest of honor at the luncheon given by the club's chairman of hospitality, Mrs. Grafton Kennedy.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

Stepping-Up Production

The central work-room heard interesting news Wednesday, March 19, about a sudden increase in efficiency. On Mondays the Winton Club plies its needles for war relief, and the central work-room undertakes to see that garments are cut and ready for those who sew. The chairman last Saturday saw a good long half day's work for herself cutting by hand seven dresses. Then she had a good idea, she went a visiting. She went over to that best of neighbors, the Red Cross. Within an hour she was at home again, the seven dresses all ready for Monday and the Winton Club needles.

"Robbing Peter to Pay Paul?" Borrowing Red Cross workers' time? Not a bit of it.

Just magic! The true American magic, of a clever machine and cooperating neighbors.

The chief magicians were present while the charm was worked, Mrs. Wilfred MacKenzie of the Maple Leaf Society and Mrs. George Dutting of the Red Cross. Mrs. MacKenzie had collected almost the $150 needed for a cutting machine. Mrs. Dutting had let the business world know that Winchester might be in the market and at the Red Cross rooms she had been seeing salesmen and their wares.

People who have seen the masses of garments that Winchester women have this winter made for War relief in these three agencies express amazement that all the cutting has heretofore been done by hand except as that other good neighbor the Washington tailor, had helped. The machine will release workers for other kinds of work. The number of sewers can increase, so the full limit of our available time and good will and of the need which the head-lines day by day tell us. In 20 minutes Mrs. Dutting and the magic machine cut 75 dresses.

The machine will be at the Red Cross rooms, but will work for Maple Leaf and British Relief also.

The last few dollars for the cutting machine the Winchester Unit of British War Relief was privileged to give. The story of these dollars is a further story of co-operation. A woman gave the Winchester unit 50 copies of the morale-building book which Governor Saltonstall recently recommended to us, "Come Wind, Come Weather." Women at the central work room bought them. The co-operation of the American publishing company that broke all its precedents and put out a book by a best-selling author at just 25 cents a copy and the co-operation of the author, Daphne Du Maurier in foregoing her possible gains made the book available. And behind her is still another line of co-operators, the grocer, the doctor, the homemaker, the miners, the soldiers who lived the true stories she tells, who are winning the battle against human selfishness, against the old, lazy, go-as-you please, every man for himself attitude.

New friends still are asking their way to British War Relief. So we repeat.

For used clothing, Thursdays 10 to 1, at the rooms of the Fortnightly Club. Wednesdays, 10 to 4, Epiphany parish hall. At any time, Mrs. Fred Cameron, 47 Church street.

General information may be secured from Mrs. Cameron by telephone, Win. 1984 or by coming on Wednesday to the central work room, Epiphany parish house, Church street.

Yarn and instructions for knitting will be supplied, by Mrs. C. H. Wansker, Win. 2546.

VAU-DEVIL PREVIEW WARMLY RECEIVED

Climaxing its month and a half of preparation, the ninth annual Vau-Devil show of Winchester High School which will be presented March 28 in the high school auditorium, was previewed March 20, before the student body of the high school.

Heartily received, the preview of the Vau-Devil show, sponsored by the Athletic Association, followed an athletic awards assembly, and, as it was intended to show students mere glimpses of a few typical acts, lasted only 15 minutes.

As the production date of the Vau-Devil show is March 28, but one week away, the necessity of purchasing tickets at the earliest possible moment is again stressed and attention is called to the ticket advertisement on the back page of the Star.

The latest reports from grouns actively engaged in the Vau-Devil show indicate that things are running smoothly and according to schedule. Final and brush-up rehearsals will be held next week.

The contest for the program cover, which closed last week was won by Muriel Fifield, a senior. The ticket committee, meanwhile, is sponsoring its own contest, and will award two prizes to the two students selling the most tickets, 1st place winner will receive a cash prize, the runner-up, two balcony seat tickets. Posters have been placed around Winchester center, and enthusiasm is running high in town, both among residents, who remember the hilarious productions of former years and students, who have seen some 200 of their colleagues working towards the ultimate success of the show.

Student chairmen of various committees are: Art Tetrault, president of the Athletic Association; Dan Roop, stage and properties; Janet Hayward, candy girls; Jim Grimes, ushers; Dick Palson, program; and Shirley Brackett, publicity. Faculty advisors, ever on hand to plan and guide are: Mr. Hayward, Miss Fenton, Coach Knowlton, Miss Knowlton, Mr. Graves, Mr. Alley, Miss Kellar and Miss Goodrich. Mrs. John T. Phelps is coaching the dancing.

The latest rumor in connection with the past town meeting is the possibility of a referendum on the purchase of the land on the Brooks Estate as a public domain. In view of the 163 to 9 vote in favor of the purchase it would seem a referendum would be both a waste of time and money.

Interesting Records of Winchester Woman's Club Made Public

Dear friends,

Come with us for a few moments and scan some of the ages of the club's records.

Opening the book we find the first meeting was held Dec. 19, 1881 at Madam Sarah Nowell's house, 68 Church street, Winchester. Twenty-two women present. Madam Nowell chosen president pro tem and Mrs. Catherine A. Folsom, secretary pro tem. The object of this meeting was adopted in Art. II of the Constitution. "The object of this Association is to become an organized center for united thought and action." On Dec. 27, 1881 the club was organized at Madam Nowell's by the election of the following officers: President, Ann B. Winsor; vice president, Martha J. Rand; secretary, Mary F. B. Shepley; treasurer, Miss Sarah Nowell and five Directors. The club was named the Fortnightly, Jan. 23, 1882.

Committees were formed immediately: Literature Art, Education, Domestic Economy, Social Science, Finance; later History and Travel, and Current Events.

A committee of five members was appointed by the club to cooperate with the Trustees of the Public Library (at their request) in the selection of books.

A few months after organizing, the Education Committee presented a speaker from the State Board of Education, whose subject was "The Public Instruction of Our Children." The club invited the citizens of the town, and this meeting, followed up by constructive work, resulted in the appointment of a superintendent of schools.

In 1881 a reception was given to the president, Ann Winsor, on her return from England.

Same year—At the request of the Winchester Historical and Genealogical Society, a history of The Fortnightly, written by Miss Sarah Nowell, was printed by the Society and presented to the New England Historic and Genealogical Society.

May 1889 the Hospital Committee reported a growing interest in the establishment of a training school which should be at the same time the first stepping stone to a hospital.

Same year—The Shakespeare Class formed (the outgrowth of the Literature Committee).

1890 — Club magazine published "The Educator."

LATE WILLIAM E. WHITTAKER WELL KNOWN HERE

Many in Winchester learned with regret of the death of William E. Whittaker, former executive secretary of the Metropolitan District Commission, who died March 20 at his home in West Somerville. His position brought him often to this town and he assisted in securing many needed improvements for the local district.

Mr. Whittaker leaves in Winchester a sister, Mrs. George Dolloff of Norwood street, and a son, Norman Whittaker of Linden street. A brother, Arnold Whittaker of Rye, N. H., made his home in Winchester on Highland avenue for many years, serving for a time as town auditor, and another brother, Dr. Walter Whittaker, Somerville dentist, will be remembered as one of Winchester's best semi-professional pitchers back in the days of the late George LeDuc. Mr. Whittaker's father died in this town about a year ago.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the North Street Congregational Church in Medford Hillside with many dignitaries present, including Commissioner Eugene Hultman of the M. D. C. and Associate Commissioner William F. Rogers. A large delegation of Metropolitan Police was present, headed by Supt. Edward M. Woods. Sergt. Donald McFarlane, Metropolitan Police officer, of this town, was one of the bearers.

SAM MAIN IN TWELFTH NIGHT

Sam Main, who recently appeared on Broadway in "Brooklyn Biarritz," has joined the "Twelfth Night" Company with Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans now playing in some of the mid-western cities.

MRS. MARY F. WALSH

Mrs. Mary F. Walsh of 9 Oxford street, wife of Patrick T. Walsh, president of the Eastern Felt Company of this town, died early Wednesday, March 26 at the Chester Hospital in Cambridge, after several weeks' illness.

Mrs. Walsh was the daughter of Timothy and Catherine (Hurley) Ryan. She was born Feb. 24, 1866, in Cardiff, Wales, but came with her parents to this country as a girl, living in Dorchester, attending the Dorchester schools and being married in St. Leo's Church, Dorchester, Nov. 27, 1907.

For a few months after their marriage Mrs. Walsh and her husband lived in Woburn, then came to Winchester and had since resided here, making their home first on Washington street, then on Highland avenue, and for the past 23 years on Oxford street.

Mrs. Walsh attended St. Mary's Church and was actively identified with its Tabernacle Society. She was also a member of Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour. She was held in esteem by a wide circle of friends who learned of her passing with sincere regret.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Walsh leaves two sisters, Mrs. Annie Supple of Cambridge and Miss Agnes V. Ryan of Arlington.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass at St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

CHORAL EVENSONG MARCH 30

The service at 5 o'clock, Sunday, March 30, at the Church of the Epiphany, will attract some whose usual place of church attendance is elsewhere. All who find themselves helped in meditation and worship by music, will welcome this song service of Evening Prayer which the Epiphany Choir, directed by Mr. Enos Held, will offer to all Winchester.

There will be no sermon. The words which weld together the thought and feeling of the men and women, the young and old, who make the congregation here on Sunday will be only that unit of communal worship which for ages many people of all sorts and conditions have found serviceable to them, which will be said or sung far and wide in our land and in other lands on this March day.

WATCH THE CHECKS!

The Police have asked the Star to warn merchants and residents of the town against taking checks from unknown persons, for a bad check passer is reported at work in this district.

GIRL BADLY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY BICYCLE

Barbara Vincent, 14 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Vincent of 21 Warren street sustained a fractured leg, a dislocated hip and injured arm Wednesday afternoon shortly before 1 o'clock when she was struck and knocked down while crossing Church street at Central street by a bicycle ridden by a 13 year old Winchester boy. She was taken to the Winchester Hospital by an unidentified motorist.

Sergt. Joseph Derro of the Police Department, who investigated the accident, was told by two girls who were with Barbara at the time that the boy had attempted to scare them by riding close to them at high speed. In doing so he struck and knocked Barbara down. This story was corroborated by a boy who was present.

The boy riding the bicycle that struck the Vinson girl admitted the truth of the story told the Police, but denied that he struck her intentionally.

SELECTIVE SERVICE INDUCTS 10 MORE MEN

Local Selective Service Board, 131, serving Winchester and Stoneham inducted during the past week into training under the Selective Service and Training Act, 10 young men, which included the following:

William H. Holland, 12 Hancock street.

William F. Dunn, 38 Pickering street.

Robert J. Scanlon, 16 Lebanon street.

Joseph Anthony Cassidy, 22 Water street.

These young men left Winchester on the 8:12 train on Thursday morning, March 27 and will be transported, after passing their physical examination at the Induction Station, to Camp Devens, where it is believed they will be used for replacements in the First Army Corps Area.

The local Selective Service Board has been advised of a revision in its quota, whereby, they expect to have to call not more than 16 men during the months of April, May and June.

The frequency of calls for Induction under Selective Service and the and the number of men to be so inducted after June 30 is rather in doubt. It does seem apparent, however, that the requirements of the Army for Selective Service Trainees is reasonably satisfied for the time being and that until such time as the first men who were inducted into the Army are ready to be returned to civil life at the end of their training period the calls for more men will not be as frequent, nor as large as they have been in the recent past.

DR. BASIL MATHEWS OF LONLON, ENGLAND, TO SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

Dr. Basil Mathews of London, England, will speak to the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church on the Sundays of March 30, April 6 and 20. The Forum meetings are held at 9:30 Sunday mornings in Ripley Chapel. Fred Brown will be chaplain for this coming month. Winchester is indeed fortunate in having so famous a man as Dr. Mathews.

Dr. Mathews was born in England and is a graduate of Oxford University. For one semester each year while he is in this country he teaches at B. U. and Andover Newton Theological Seminary, where he holds the Chair of Christian World Relations. Dr. Mathews is now in government war service in Great Britain, but he has been released from his work for three months in this country. He has done governmental work in India in the past, and through his travels he has had exceptional opportunities of seeing present day realities in many different countries.

Lr. Mathews' new book, "England Faces the Future," has just been published and is a challenge and a philosophy showing the grim determination and the high courage of the British people in this present crisis.

MISS ALMAN ENGAGED TO MR. CHITEL

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Alman of Allston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Charlotte Theda Alman, to Jack L. Chitel, son of Philip Chitel and the late Mrs. Chitel of Brookline, formerly of this town.

Mr. Chitel is a graduate of Boston University, College of Business Administration. He is a member of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity.

Walter Josephson, Springfield College football player and former three sport star at Winchester High, underwent an operation last Saturday at the Springfield Hospital for a knee injury sustained in football last fall.

OLD WINCHESTER HOTEL THING OF THE PAST

As the final wall of the old Winchester Hotel on Main street fell in a heap of bricks and rubble last week to make room for the erection of a super-market, the final chapter was written in the history of a building that has had its ups and downs since it was erected by the late Sumner Richardson in 1872.

The date when the building was built has been argued by old timers around the center, and some contended that it was put up as early as 1847. Investigation by its last owner, Selectman James A. Cullen proved this date incorrect and it is believed that those inclining to it had in mind rather the S. S. Richardson building which stood across the street near Park street.

Mr. Cullen contended that the date when the building was built was 1872 and as no trace of the building can be found in the records of the Registry of Deeds prior to that year, it would seem he is correct.

The building was named Richardson's Block, in honor of its builder, who made his home on the site of the present Fire Station in a house which previously had done duty as the "Adams School" on Swanton street. Legend has it the block was largely constructed of second-hand bricks salvaged from the Boston Fire.

There is also another interesting annecdote in connection with the bricks in the building. Old timers contend that some of them were picked up and brought to Winchester by the late James "Jim" Mulligan, who in those days drove a "spike team" for Palmer's Mahogany Mill on upper Main street.

On his trips hauling lumber past the Somerville Brick Yards, Mr. Mulligan was accustomed to pick up the bricks which fell from teams leaving the yard and were left lying in the road for anyone who wanted them.

For a long time Mr. Mulligan brought the bricks to Winchester and as he passed his home on upper Main street, threw them into his yard. When Richardson's Block was built he sold the lot to the builder and they were used in the building. Bricks in those days were sun-baked and then burned.

The late Alexander MacKenzie, local contractor and father of Fireman A. W. MacKenzie and Edward P. McKenzie of the Woburn "Times" staff, hewed the big beams for the building, being one of the few in this district able to do that sort of work.

When the building was built it was the tallest in town and it continued the tallest until the erection of Stetson Hall a few years ago. When first erected the block had three floors and a large hall at the top, known as Red Men's Hall, in which many gay dancing parties were held in the old days and which was much in use by social and fraternal organizations.

MANY WINCHESTER ATHLETES IN DRAFT ARMY

Among the large number of local draftees who left town last week Thursday morning for induction into the United States Army and service at Camp Edwards were several who have made their mark in athletics at Winchester High and college as well as at prep school and in the independent ranks.

Larry Bairstow, former Winchester High sprinter, ran varsity hurdles at Brown and Eddie O'Melia, former Keith Academy all around star, won wide acclaim and All American mention as a varsity end at Holy Cross. Eddie coached the ends at Holy Cross in 1939.

One of the best all around athletes at Winchester High in recent years was Fred, the "Red" Noble, three letter player and captain of basketball in 1932-33. At New Hampton Prep "Red" continued his basketball and baseball success, later playing baseball with the Winchester Millionaires and professionally in the Canadian Colliery League.

Francis Corby captained Winchester High's undefeated cross country team that won the Harvard Interscholastic meet in 1931 and was a member of the track squad. Arthur G. "Sleepy" Farrell played varsity football in 1933 and Johnny Bottger was a regular tackle on the 1931 eleven.

Francis "Ducky" Rallo played baseball at high school and for several years has been one of the stars of the Winchester Cubs, winners last year of the town's independent baseball championship.

Ralph DelGrasso caught last season for the Knights of Columbus team in the Winchester Softball League and James A. Farley is a former member of the Winchester Hockey Club that competed a few years ago in the independent ranks.

This completes the sports roster of last Thursday, but some other athletic stars had already preceded these athletes to camp.

First to go was Robert L. "Rusty" Donaghey, three sport star and baseball captain at Winchester High who has starred behind the bat and with the stick for the Millionaires since leaving school. "Gerry" Ficociello is another super-star in the service, one of Winchester's greatest football players who later attended St. Joseph's College in Missouri. Peter Coss, all around star of 1928-29 at Winchester High and a fine running guard is in uniform with Arthur Smith, football and basketball letterman; Floyd Tremberth, football; and Andy Lynch, cross country in 1933 and 1934. Paul Wentworth played tennis at high school and Charles "Skitch" Farrar, high school baseball, and hockey with the Winchester Hockey Club and softball with the Lions team of the Winchester Softball League.

Mrs. Theodore R. Godwin and Mrs. James M. Joslin are in charge of the dining room and decorations. Helping them are Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Mrs. William Smith and Mrs. Ralph E. Joslin.

After the 1 o'clock luncheon, Mrs. Alger T. Bunten and her committee, including Mrs. John R. Wallace, Mrs. Warren F. Goddu and Mrs. Richard Fenno will be in charge of the bridge party. For those not caring to play bridge, a social hour has been arranged in the ladies' parlor.

Mrs. Everett F. Kidder is general ticket chairman for this spring luncheon.

Greigo Greiner, so they say, had his choice of skipping school or staying in bed. So he did both!

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Fortnightly unit of the British War Relief Society has an enviable record. Since last fall when they began their work of mending and cleaning used clothing, they have reconditioned some 1363 items. This does not tell the whole story, however, for some of these items are three-piece suits, bags of a dozen more pairs of stockings, etc., so that the total number of pieces is considerably more.

On Thursday, April 10, they hold their last meeting for this season, and at that time Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, who is in charge of this project and her committee invite the Fortnightly members to morning coffee in Fortnightly Hall from 10:30 to 12:30 o'clock.

They are particularly desirous of sending to Boston for their final contribution, an especially large quantity of clothing, so if any one has a pair of shoes, a hat (preferably of the beret type) a coat, a serviceable dress, etc., which she can bring, it will be much appreciated. Spring housecleaning should yield much material which will prove a blessing to the needy families across the water.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

On Tuesday, April 1, at 7:30 in the evening the Winchester Art Association will hold its annual meeting and election of officers for the coming year. There will also be a local talent show wherein there will be pictures, etchings, sketches, landscapes, sculptures. These will be competently judged by three well known teachers of art in the Boston schools.

As an additional attraction the committee is presenting Mr. Nicholas Jeon, a sculptor from the Museum School, who built a portrait head from life for the benefit of the members present. Refreshments will be served after the sculptoring and business meeting. All members or those wishing to join are urged to be present at this entertaining and instructive annual meeting.

MAPLE LEAF FUND

Word has been received in Winchester of the death on March 22 in Providence, R. I., of Mrs. Alice Helen Hill wife of Clarence E. Hill, formerly of this town. She was the daughter of the late Edwin A., and Ida H. Robinson and lived for many years on Wolcott terrace. Since leaving Winchester she had been making her home in Wentworth, N. H.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the chapel of Irving Drabble on Benefit street in Providence.

CHURCH SCHOOL NIGHT

Demonstration by Children and Dramatization by Young People

On Friday, April 4, at 6 p. m., the First Congregational Church is having a church school night dinner in the parish hall.

The program has been arranged by children and young people of the Sunday School and Forum, by teachers, superintendents, the Director of Religious Education, and Dr. Calkins. It includes a dinner, dramatization of the work of the church school from the nursery through the forum; an address by Dr. Calkins and an opportunity to meet the teachers, officers and forum leaders.

The program:

Before dinner the two youngest departments will give their part:

"We Worship," by the Kindergarten Department; "We Like to Do Rhythms," by the Nursery Department.

The Junior Choir will sing, "O God, Thou Who Givest All." The early part of the evening's program will be a few brief but interesting glimpses of the regular work of the Sunday School:

The Bible and How We Learn It

Our Sandtable by the Primary Department; Learning to Use Our Bibles by the Junior Department; The Story of Moses: a Marionette Play; The 24th Psalm by the Intermediate Department; Our Curriculum: In Class and in Service Project by the Junior High Department.

At the close of thes demonstrations Dr. Raymond Calkins will speak on, "Religion and the Home."

The evening will be climaxed with "Days to Come," a dramatization by the Forum, assisted by the Junior Choir.

Mrs. James Allen, Miss Evelyn Scott, Mrs. Gilbert Tapley, Mrs. Colver Dyer, Mrs. Eugene Pollard, Mrs. Mrs. Rex Crandall, Mrs. Robert Keeney, Mrs. John Jamison and Mrs. Norman Padelford are the committee in charge.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER

A regular business meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mother's Association was held last Tuesday, March 25, in the assembly hall of the George Washington School.

Mrs. Lyman B. Smith of the Central Board spoke explaining the new improved system of selecting the candidates for the Scholarship Fund. As the subject for the afternoon's lecture was Labrador, Mrs. Gardner, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. T. J. Edwards, sang two hymns popular in that land.

Miss E. Maud Phillips of the Animal Rescue League, a member of Sir Wilfred Grenfell's expeditions, gave a most interesting and educational talk on "Labrador." She was clothed from head to toe in the winter costume of that country and brought with her many samples of the work done by the natives. Lantern slides were an added feature. So intrigued was her audience that she was forced to reopen her lecture due to questions from her listeners. Those who braved the inclement weather that day found their efforts well repaid.

At the close of the meeting a delicious tea was served.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB APRIL 3

The program of the Epiphany Men's Club for April 3 has been arranged by Mr. Maxwell Fish, Mr. Malcolm Bennett and Mr. P. Stewart Newton.

The place and hour will be as usual, the parish hall at 7:45. The committee counts on having a goodly number present even though details about the program are still undisclosed. If it were a women's club, it might be thought that curiosity was counted on to assemble the members, but for a men's club the committee must be trusting to their reputations as impressarios. At any rate they are confident that they will have a contented crowd when the evening is over.

K. OF C. TO HOLD WHIST AND BRIDGE PARTY

The Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, will hold a whist and bridge party in their rooms, on Mt. Vernon street, on Friday evening, March 28. These parties are proving very popular and the committee in charge, consisting of Henry Murray, George Young, Thomas Travers, Daniel O'Donnell, Francis Tansey, Harry Boyle and Daniel Daly, is working hard to make this one the best yet sponsored by the local council. They promise also to have a table of attractive and varied prizes.

FASHION SHOW

The Winchester Junior Fortnightly will present "Fashions by Filene's" on Friday evening, April 4 at 8 o'clock in the Mystic School. Tickets which are priced at 45 cents may be obtained from Miss Priscilla Parsons, Win. 1710. Several professional models will show you the latest spring fashions while among the Junior Fortnightly members who will model many attractive styles are: Misses Charlotte Burr, Esther French, Eugenia Peppard, Miriam Snow, Betty Wright and Mrs. R. R. Robinson. Refreshments will be served.

"MY SISTER AILEEN," APRIL 4

For the play she will read in the Epiphany parish hall at 2:15 Friday afternoon, April 4, Mrs. Phyllis Thaxter has chosen a light and amusing current piece, "My Sister Aileen."

Immediately after the reading there will be tea served by members of the Symmes Corner Group. Mrs. R. E. L. Meehan will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Clifford Towner, Mrs. Maurice Tolman, Mrs. Ralph Swanson, Mrs. William Martens, and Mrs. Arthur H. Farrell.

Mrs. Fred V. Archer and Mrs. Russell B. Wiggin will pour.

ICE BOATING OVER

Ice boating on Mystic Lake ended for the season last week Thursday, March 20, strangely enough on the last day of winter. For three days previous the hardy skippers who make their headquarters at the Medford Boat Club building near the Parkway shore enjoyed fine boating, and Frank Trott, Mystic Lake than whomer, is authority for tne statement that the past winter has been the best for the sport in a long time. Each snowfall was followed by adequate softening to keep the ice in good shape right along.

Frank, Wally Manson and John Black were among the veteran skippers who sailed this year, the distinction of being the youngest skipper on on the lake going to "Rocky" Rockwood 11 year old son of the late A. Waldo Rockwood of this town. Boats from Norton, Essex, Lynn, Wellesley and Revere were sailed through the season and still another boat was brought all the way from Chicago by a student in the Harvard Law School.

The ice softened so much last Friday that it was unfit for sailing, though it was plenty thick enough to hold. Even over the week-end there was no water around the shores of the lake and there was but one open place at the gut, very unusual for so late in the season. Mr. Trott expected, however, that the ice would be about out of the lake by the middle of next week.

FINAL INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL STANDING ANNOUNCED

Auburn, Pennsylvania and Oregon were the winning teams of the Winchester High School Intramural Basketball League, in which about 150 boys have participated during the past season under the direction of Coach Henry Knowlton. With the varsity basketball team being coached this year by Edward Bartlett of the school faculty, Coach Knowlton has been free to devote his entire time to intramural activities and as a result boys outside the varsity first and second team groups have played more basketball than ever before.

Intramural competition has been divided into three leagues. Southern, for boys over 140 pounds; Eastern, for boys under 140 pounds; and Western, for the midgets, under 125 pounds. Teams have been named for popular colleges and the games have aroused considerable student interest as well as providing fun and exercise for the team members.

STALWART AGAINST THE STORM!

When the sea shimmers peacefully in the sunlight, the strong wall which protects the house above the shore seems useless and unnecessary. But the wise householder knows to what furies that still surface can be stirred; he rests content because the wall is there.

Storms break on the shore of every family's life — and nobody knows when they will come. That is why life insurance stands guard over homes where all is now serene. Seemingly unnecessary to-day — it becomes a strong wall against the world when financial storms arise.

The storm of adversity is at its height during the period immediately following the death of husband and father. The John Hancock Readjustment Income Plan provides protection during this critical period at a cost that is within the most rigid family budget. Ask us about a plan to fit your budget.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

Because of the number of people sick with scarlet fever, all students had their throats inspected last week for any sign of the disease.

Each Tuesday morning the Sophomore class is shown an occupational movie. This is a new project instituted this year. It endeavors to give the students an idea of what they are able to do and what they will enjoy doing in time for them to plan their school curriculm in order that they may get the most benefit from it. The home management classes also attend this picture.

The first call for the baseball batteries will go out the first of April. The candidates for the football team will meet next week in the gym. There are two teams from Winchester entered in the annual Boy's Club of Boston basketball tournament. The track team held its first practice on Monday. Most of the members of the girls varsity are playing in a basketball tournament at Woburn. The gym team will perform in the Vau-Devil. The tennis team is also starting to practice outside at the hard courts at Leonard Field.

Graduation is approaching rapidly. Some plan must be made soon as to the type of graduation that will be used. Parents of the Seniors who have suggestions should make them known for the graduation is for you as well as the students. Some people feel that graduation is recognition for four hard years of work on the students part, but many parents feel that they have worked just as hard, if not harder.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON IN WOBURN TOURNEY

The Winchester Flashes,, composed of members of the high school's unbeaten team of the past season, defeated the Woburn Collegians last Monday evening, 31—19, in one of the matches in the Girls' Championship Basketball Tournament being conducted by the Woburn Y. M. C. A. at its gymnasium.

Janet Hayward, speedy little local forward, led both teams in scoring with 20 points nine goals from the floor and two from free tries. Winchester led all the way having an 8—2 edge at the quarter, a 19—8 lead at half time and a 23—12 advantage at the three quarter mark.

Wedding Knot Origin

The phrase "tying the marriage knot" comes from an old custom in India. A Hindu bride wears a cord around her neck which remains untied until the marriage is consummated. Any time up until the cord is tied, the bride's father can dicker with the groom's family for more money.

The Winchester Cubs baseball team is sponsoring a dancing party to be held on Friday evening, May 9, at Christopher Columbus Hall on Raymond place, proceeds going toward defraying the expenses of the coming season.

Dancing will be from 8 to 12 and arrangements are in the hands of Sam Provinzano, Pete Provinzano and Frank Provinzano, Al DeMinico, Paul Rallo, Leonard Rallo, Tom Kenton, Eddie Manzie, Tony DeTeso, Ralph Murphy, Frank Procopio and Manager Mario Marrone.

The Cubs are going to miss the services of Frank "Ducky" Rallo, crack third sacker, who left last week for military duty at Camp Edwards. "Ducky" was a very handy man to have around, since he could play both the infield and outfield, and could in a pinch do a pretty fair job on the pitching rubber.

WINCHESTER BOY KIMBALL UNION TRACK LEADER

Joe Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Butler of Lagrange street, has been elected captain of spring track at Kimball Union Academy. He has been a consistent winner for Kimball in the high jump and 600 yard events indoors and has run on the varsity relay team that twice lowered the academy record.

At the Bowdoin interscholastic meet this winter Joe was shifted from the 600 to the 1000 yard event and did so well that his coach decided to keep him at the longer distance. In a recent meet with Deering High he won the 1000 in impressive fashion, and a promising future is predicted for him since he is a very strong runner.

Joe has not confined his athletic activity at Kimball to track. He played running guard on the Kimball varsity footbal team last fall, and would make the academy nine if it were not for his track. He is a big boy, standing 6ft 2½in and weighing 180 pounds.

Everyone should find the Fortnightly's Review of its 60 years' history, printed in this week's Star, both informative and interesting. Winchester's oldest women's club, still going strong after more than half a century, has played a prominent part in town affairs since its inception, having been aligned with every progressive movement of benefit to the town and its citizens. Through the years the Fortnightly and Fortnightly members have contributed in large measure to the social, cultural and civic improvement of the community, and the end is not yet! Indeed if the enthusiasm of its individual members and club groups may be taken as an index, the Fortnightly seems likely to continue on its successful way indefinitely. We are sure everyone hopes that it will!

DO YOU KNOW YOUR RED CROSS?

Recently the League of Women Voters had a series of interesting programs on "Know Your Town." Confidentially some of them didn't, and what they learned made Winchester, past and present, a more interesting place in which to live. Their discovery that there is a good deal to know if we really know our Massachusetts village sets one wondering how much money one would make, or miss on a "take it or leave it" program that just asked questions about Winchester.

For example, if we had a quiz program about the Red Cross in Winchester, would you come off with flying colors one who "knows all the answers?"

We wouldn't start with hard questions, of course. We would give you a chance to steady your nerves and to recover your normal pulse and breathing rate by giving without any hesitation the right answer to this question: name six churches in Winchester that have groups of women doing Red Cross work.

That question we really ought to apologize for; it was too easy. It ought to have said: name 11 church groups doing Red Cross work, and here is the correct answer: Baptist, Methodist, Second Congregational, Christian Science, St. Mary's, Epiphany Episcopal, New Hope Baptist, Unitarian, and First Congregational churches, and the Guild of the Infant Saviour of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Your second question is an easy one: is there any church in Winchester not doing Red Cross work? The answer to that is a very plain and emphatic "No." Every church in Winchester has a unit of Red Cross workers. We are one in that practical expression of pity for human suffering and need. If you meet any woman with a contrary opinion, just tactfully help her to "know her town" and her fellow Christians.

In addition to Winchester churches, one from a neighboring village, works in connection with the Winchester work-rooms.

What well-known Winchester club gave to the fund which Mrs. Wilfred McKenzie raised for the electric cutter? En Ka.

We can think up a lot of good questions for this quiz program. If a woman cannot sew, name three other things she can do for the Red Cross?

What varieties of work can a girl of 14-17 find?

Are there girl groups who work? Where?

Is there any older group than that of the Wyman School Mothers, who have been sewing for the Red Cross every Wednesday for two winters?

If we present the quiz program on a prize-winning basis, in order to be fair we'll have to rule out certain people as professionals. For example, there would be Mrs. Fred Dodge, who gives time every day at the Red Cross rooms; Mrs. Donald True, who is there every Monday and Wednesday; Mrs. Leonard Griffith, who is in charge of surgical dressings at the town hall on Tuesdays, and Mrs. Benjamin Snyder, who fills the same responsible post on Thursdays; and Mrs. Jane Frizzell who has come from Woburn every week for two winters. These good workers at headquarters would outclass the amateurs in the quiz.

Of course in a proper quiz program the public not only answers the questions, but it asks them. Is there something you want to ask about our Winchester Red Cross? Send your question in to the Town Hall.

GIFTS GALORE

Visit "The Knap-Sack Gift Shop"

Some of the busiest ladies in town are the members of the committee working for the En Ka gift shop.. The shop, christened "The Knap-Sack Gift Shop" will open on May 17 at the Yankee Street Fair. It will display many varied and intriguing gifts.

The chairman of this committee is Lieut. Mabel Chilcott. Lieut. Lois Ross is her co-chairman. On their committee are Sergts. Ellen Jackson and Margaret Bates, both En Ka members. The privates whose talents have been drafted, are pvts. Katherine Ayer, Eleanor Davis, Alice Dickman, Ruth Freeman, Lillian Parkhurst, Esther Sawyer, Doris Votaw and Esther Woodward.

On Friday April 4, from three to five, a tea will be held at the charming home of Mrs. Arthur Jackson of 212 Main street. On display, for a presale will be many of the fascinating aprons which they have fashioned from lovely colorful prints. Outstanding are the hand-smocked aprons and the individual mother and daughter twin models, also the gay cross-stitched patterns. The destructive moths are already appearing. To combat this menace, they suggest, the Pomander balls for blanket chests and closets. An assortment of appropriate Easter gifts, and decorative Easter wrappings is timely and worth investigating.

Labor savers are the bath tub cleaners, which these clever ladies have made. Hand-painted trays and unique boxes will appeal to many. It is a real opportunity to procure unusual and useful gifts.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

It is our sorrowful duty to record the passing of Mary F. Walsh, beloved wife of our senior member, Patrick T. Walsh. The sympathy of his fellow club members for Pat cannot be fully expressed in words; it springs from the depths of our hearts and is as lasting as it is sincere. May happy memories of a long and loving companionship rapidly soothe his present suffering.

John Roosevelt has returned from his journey to southern latitudes and Ralph Bonnell has departed in the same general direction. Which, with Bill Hevey's continued absence indicates a traveling delegation of two for the club.

Billy Beggs had the temerity to present himself today without Roger, who is slightly indisposed. Billy very properly believes that a Rotary club meeting is not a thing to be lightly turned aside.

We learn that the Rotary Club of Denver has already registered 200 per cent strong for the convention to be held in that city next June. Evidently the host club and its city will not fail in the hospitality to be extended to all Rotarians who visit Denver to attend this great gathering.

Nominees for the Board of Directors to serve Rotary International for the year 1941-42 include Rotarians from Columbia, Lebanon, Uruguay, Switzerland and China in addition to those who will represent the English-speaking nations.

The Rotary Relief Committee with headquarters in Chicago has received donations from Rotarians representing 18 different counrties. One can hardly overestimate the good which has been and is being done for sufferers in the war stricken nations by reason of these contributions. The work will be carried on vigorously and to the full extent permitted by accretions to the fund.

Guest speaker at our current meeting was Mr. Roger Dow, supervisor in history at Harvard University. His topic was Three Years of Nazi Warfare. Naturally Mr. Dow treated the present struggle from the viewpoint of the historian, being concerned with its relation to the development of civilization through past ages and future years rather than with a discussion of events now coming to pass. At the end of this war it will be necessary to negotiate a peace which will reasonably satisfy the aspirations of the nations involved, if humanity is to enter an era of true and general progress. A truly monumental task and one not to be accomplished without much deliberation and mutual forbearance.

At our next meeting on April 3 John Roosevelt will tell us about some of the high spots of his trip down under. Don't miss this meeting. John will soon be called to the military service of his country. Now is the time to give him a hearty welcome and Godspeed for his future undertakings.

PROPHETIC WORDS

". . . . The problem before the world today is the problem of reconciling what might be called the lesser loyalty, that loyalty which each nation owes to its own traditions and ideas and its own prosperity with the larger loyalty to the whole of the great human family of which each nation is a member.

"The great hope for the future lies more and more in the nations of the world realizing that they cannot stand or fall separately, but that they must stand or fall together, and that in the cultivation of friendly industrial relationships—because, after all every nation is dependent in some degree even for the necessities of life upon other nations—therefore the more and the closer the commercial intercourse and industrial fellowship can grow between the nations the greater is the hope for that lasting peace for which all so earnestly hope."

Ed. Note—The above exerpt is taken from the speech delivered Oct. 14, 1930, by the late Harry Collis, then Mayor of Wincehster, England, and guest of honor of the Town of Winchester at its Tercentenary Celebration in that year.

SELECTMEN REPLY TO BRITISH NAMESAKE

In response to the recent letters sent to our town by our namesake in England, which have been given publicity previously in the Star, the Selectmen have replied with the following letter:

The Hon. Lt.-Gen. F. H. Griffiths
Mayor of Winchester
The Mayor's Parlour
Guildhall, Winchester, England
March 24, 1941

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Your letters of Jan. 27 and 29 with the photographs and clippings arrived safely, both on Feb. 27, and were of great interest to our Board as well as to the townspeople. We enclose the reproduction which was printed in our local paper, the Winchester Star, and the reprint of your clipping.

The British Broadcasting Corporation in New York is contacting "namesake' towns regarding frequent broadcasts to England in the near future and Winchester is on the list.

News broadcasts from abroad start early in the morning here and are heard throughout the day and late evening. It makes the world seem much smaller to hear the commentators' voices and brings home to us very forcefully the terrible conditions abroad, although, of course, the news we get is so heavily censored that we really have no conception of what is actually happening. Are we mistaken in thinking we hear the other morning that Winchester had been visited by the bombers? We hope we are.

Our town is doing quiate a lot for British relief through several committees and we only hope that our efforts are being received where most needed. We are glad to know that the ambulance and rolling kitchen are in service.

We all wonder at the way you are carrying on in the face of such terrific attacks and have the greatest admiration for your spirit and dogged persistence in keeping things going.

Our national Lend-lease Bill, as you probably know, has gone through government legislation carrying tremendous appropriations, and except for the subversive groups, there is almost unanimous sentiment here for full co-operating for Britain.

We have recently been through our annual town election and our new Board is pleased to greet you.

May your courage never fail and the Royal Air Force increase!

God be with you, and may this terrible war end soon.

Very sincerely yours,
Alvin M. Litchfield

WINCHESTER'S SECOND ROLLING KITCHEN

Things move swiftly in Britain these days, and this very day Winchester's second Rolling Kitchen may be feeding the hungry in some bombed village or city.

These mobile feeding units are now being produced in Britain, and so a cable made very short the time between the completion of the fund in the hands of the Winchester treasurer, Mr. Dwight Cabot and the actual use of the kitchen.

Many Winchester friends of Mrs. Jane Burnham Cameron, who know of her heroic war service, had a very natural impulse to ask that this kitchen go to her own area in Leicestershire, to aid in what she is doing for her region. But those who knew Jennie Burnham best realized, on second thought that she would be the first to say, "No, let it go where the need is at this moment greatest.

No one can know that except those who are knowing all that befalls and are seeing Britain as a whole. And so the second Rolling Kitchen, like the first one given at Christmas time, has gone simply to a place where it is most needed.

OLD WINCHESTER HOTEL THING OF THE PAST

The Reform Club, a local organization with a membership of 400 dedicated to the reclamation of drunkards, maintained rooms in the building in 1876, and the Town Library was located on the second floor of the building for a time commencing in 1874.

At that time the building had a veranda extending across the second floor, reached by a long flight of steps. Old timers aver that the old Knights of Labor, who were active in the leather industry in Winchester years ago, made their headquarters in the building, their leader at the time being "Jim" Mooney, a man who ran a tavern of sorts in the block and who was known far and wide for his tall silk hat and wooden leg.

It is also reported that the Fortnightly Woman's Club at one time conducted a cooking school in the building, which was acquired along in the late nineties by Charles L. Tyler.

From Mr. Tyler the late Joseph H. Murray acquired the block and under the name of the Winchester Hotel ran the building as long as he lived, his widow continuing its management until 1924.

For some years the hotel did a good business, having a restaurant on the first floor and hotel rooms above. The old hall was demolished and another floor added for increased living quarters. Mr. William J. Murray, son of the former proprietors, told the Star that as many as 30 transients had "demanded" accommodations at the hotel on special occasions and had been put up on beds in the halls since in those days under the terms of certain hotel licenses operators could not refuse accommodations to those who "demanded" them.

For a time the Hotel maintained a stable at the rear of the building, in which six horses were kept regularly and horses of transients were put up.

Along in 1912 or so the Hotel figured in a kidnap case, details of which were carefully kept from the papers because of the prominence of the family involved.

One night a woman with a young child came to the Hotel to spend the night. Her appearance and that of the child aroused Mr. Murray's suspicions and he called a Boston detective agency, who had men at the Hotel in 20 minutes and the woman in custody. The child had been kidnapped from a prominent New York family and a good sized reward came to Mr. Murray for his part in the affair.

When Mrs. Murray disposed of the building in 1924 it was owned privately for a time, but later was taken over by the banking interests. from which Mr. Cullen purchased it. Of late it has housed the Park Radio and photographic studio of Frederick W. Horsman with small apartments above. It was purchased during the past winter by P. T. Foley, local plumber and member of the Board of Assessors, who is building the new building to house the super market which is to be occupied by the First National Stores.

So Richardson's Block, or the Winchester Hotel, or the "Cannonball" as it has been known for some years now, is a thing of the past, along with other old buildings which have been wrecked to make room for more modern structures and business expansion.

Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson street.) Open daily 11 A. M. to 5 P. M., Saturdays, 11 A. M. to 9 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

"Reality" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon, Sunday, March 30, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God" (Jeremiah 51:10). Other Bible citations include: "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue" (II Peter 1:2 3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man walks in the direction towards which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also. If our hopes and affections are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit" (p. 451).

WINCHESTER SCOUTING

A most interesting experiment in local scouting was concluded this week with the final meeting, of a series of three, devoted to the "Essentials of Scouting" under the sponsorship of the Winchester Leadership Training Committee of which Otis W. Leary is chairman. Early in February an invitation was sent to all friends of scouting and particularly to the fathers of boy scouts to participate in three Monday night training periods under the leadership of Mr. E. W. Nelson, Scout Executive of Fellsland Council. The purpose of the course was to give to the leaders in the Boy Scout program correct and fundamental information on scout training and activity and to give parents an opportunity to find out what their boys were doing in scouting.

Those who attended the training course at the American Legion Home on March 10, 17 and 24 were formed into patrols in the same manner as Scouts. There were three patrols comprised of:

Silver Fox Patrol: Gerald Curtis, leader; Chas. Hart, Paul Butterworth, Fred Cameron, Arnold Smith, Kenneth Hall.

Eagle Patrol: Frank Horne, leader; Nancy Fallsbusch, Ernest Butterworth, Robert Millican, Robinson Whitten, David Grosvenor.

Wildcat Patrol: Warren Maynard, leader; John Casler, Richard Rush, Lena Breen, Staff Rogers, Francis Sleeper, L. C. Andersen.

The agenda of the meetings included discussion periods dealing with such questions as:

What does a boy do in Scouting?

What part does a parent play in the scout program?

What kind of programs are held at scout meetings ;

What voice does my son have in building a program?

What is a typical yearly program of troop activities?

How long can I expect my son to continue in Scouting?

How is Scout work financed

Each night the members of the patrols were subjected to certain tests based on the information which had been presented and at the end of the series prizes were awarded to the Eagle Patrol, which had accumulated a winning total of 112 points. Certificates were presented to 12 of the group in recognition of perfect attendance and the satisfactory completion of the course in Elements of Scouting, part 1.

This initial attempt to foster better understanding of scout work in Winchester was encouraging to those who sponsored it and plans are under way for another similar series in the fall when it is hoped a greater number of fathers will respond to the invitation and so be enabled to discuss more intelligently with their sons the value of this great youth movement.

GROUP THEATRE PRESENTS "MURRAY HILL" APRIL 5

Climaxing a season that has shown much wider interest by the members at large, and a more varied program of activity for the Group as a whole, the Winchester Group Theatre presents "Murray Hill" by Leslie Howard, in the Winchester High School auditorium on Saturday evening, April 5.

With Joy A. Wolley as production chairman and Beulah Page Sibley again acting as coach, this amusing comedy has been rapidly rounding into shape, with a sparkling performance promised. New faces in the cast include Barbara Campbell, Ivar Hakanson, Jean Leone Makepeace, Ralph Small, Romala Smith and Sara Woodward; while J. Henry Smith, Jr. and Robert Campbell, Group Theatre veterans, also have important roles.

Among those who are participating in the work of the production are Marjorie Brown as properties chairman; William E. Spaulding as chairman of ushers; Lucille Towney-Tilson for costumes; Annette L. Burnham for tickets; George H. Hayden, Jr. for lighting; James Woolley and Edmund A. Merriam, Jr. for stage management; Elizabeth Pollard for rehearsal refreshment.

Guest tickets may be obtained from Annette L. Burnham, Winchester 0456, through Joy A. Woolley, Win. 0940 or through any member of the cast. Many dinner parties are being planned for that evening, and it is expected and hoped that many from the audience will gather at the Winchester Country Club for the after the show get-together. As the cost of the Country Club for that period has been taken care of privately by a group of WGT members, all of the receipts from the door will be available to apply against the cost of the spring production and other Group activities.

YALE STREET HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

A fire thought to have been started by sparks from a chimney did considerable damage to the house at 56 Yale street, occupied by Mr. Alton Dunsford, last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Dunsford called the Central Fire Station at 1:32 reporting a chimney fire, Engine 4 and Ladder 1 responding. The apparatus was held up by a train at the center crossing and within two or three minutes after the original call, other phone calls commenced to come in reporting the Dunsford house on fire. Box 58 was put on at Headquarters and the remaining apparatus left for the fire.

Upon arrival the men found a brisk blaze in progress in the upper part of the house. The fire apparently started from a spark which fell in a valley of the roof near the chimney, the flames eating through the roof into the attic.

The blaze in the attic was a hot one, but the firemen succeeded in limiting it to that area. The entire attic was burned out along with some of the roof timbers, damage being estimated by Chief David H. DeCourcey at about $1500. The fact that the roof was covered with wooden shingles let the fire out and permitted the smoke to escape. There was very little water damage, due to the small hose lines used by the firemen.

WINCHESTER SHOP-KEEPER INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Everett R. Mountain of 275 Washington street, proprietor of the Homecraft Exchange on Thompson street, had a narrow escape from serious injury Saturday morning at 6:45 when his Chevrolet coach was in collision with a Chevrolet half-ton truck at the junction of Main street and Mystic Valley Parkway.

According to the Police Mr. Mountain was driving east on the Parkway and the truck, operated by Henry Chamberlain of 189 Mt. Vernon street, Malden, was going north on Main street. The force of the collision forced Mr. Mountain's car off the road and across the sidewalk at the northeasterly corner of the Parkway, where it crashed through the fence and narrowly missed going into the mill pond.

Mr. Mountain was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Officer Roland Benson of the Metropolitan District Police and treated by Dr. Charles Rooney for a broken right collar bone, cuts and bruises.

Mr. Chamberlain was taken to a Malden physician for treatment for injuries to his left arm and numerous cuts about the face. Both machines had to be towed away.

DOUBLE COLLISION ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

Sunday shortly before midnight a Chevrolet sedan, driven south on Cambridge street by Michael J. O'Donnell of 11 John street, Woburn, was in collision as it turned into Blossom Hill road with a Hudson sedan, which was also being driven south on Cambridge street by Joseph P. Renault of 75 Newbury street, Somerville.

Renault's car was in turn in collision with an Autocar tank truck and trailer, owned by C. D. Stephenson of Bellows Falls, Vt., and driven by Floyd H. Reasoner of Newport, N. H. The tank truck and trailer was also headed south and struck the rear of the Hudson.

The latter machine was damaged about both the front and rear ends. The Chevrolet was slightly damaged in the rear, and the front end of the truck was slightly damaged. No one was injured.

MOTORISTS INJURED

Miss Virginia A. Canney and Mrs. Annie Canney, both of 53 Pleasant street, Woburn, complained of injuries following a collision in which their Ford cabriolet was involved with a Pontiac sedan at the intersection of Highland avenue and Main street Tuesday afternoon at 3:30.

According to Miss Canneys report of the accident to the Police she was driving the Ford north on Main street while the Pontiac, driven by Michael Kolligian or 28 Traincroft street, Medford, was heading south on Highland avenue.

Both cars were damaged and both Mrs. Canney and Miss Canney complained of being shaken up, the former also reporting injuries to her back. They were treated by Dr. Francis Logue of Woburn.

It just Breathes a little Deeper —and Wades In!

EVER stop to figure why Nature gave you both a nose and a mouth to breathe through?

Your nose, barring colds, does all right for ordinary purposes.

But go up against some heavy exercise and you can open up your mouth as well and increase the intake of oxygen.

Your 1941 Buick with Compound Carburetion* works something like that.

Its "nose," which is the forward one of your two thrift-size carburetors, does a grand joh of supplying "breath" for your engine on normal jobs.

But when the time comes that your engine has to dig in for a tough pull or a burst of power, then your extra foot-pressure on the gas treadle opens up the "mouth" and your engine "breathes" through two carburetors.

Simple, isn't it? Yet look what happens:

Your engine always consumes gas according to the need, never overfed by a carburetor too large for light jobs or underfed by one too small for the big ones.

By simply taking it easy when easy does it and breathing deep when the work piles up, your power plant gets as much as 10% to 15% more mileage from the same gasoline.

That, in these days, is nothing to be sneezed at.

So why don't you get the whole story from your Buick dealer?

WHITNEY LAUNDRY EMPLOYEES TO DINE AND DANCE

The Whitney Laundry Company of Somerville, with busy branches in Cambridge, Melrose, Reading and Winchester, is giving a dinner and dancing party for its employees on Saturday evening, March 29, at the Arlmont Country Club in Arlington, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Between 50 and 75 employees and guests are expected to attend and plans have been made to make the affair enjoyable from start to finish. A widely known and popular orchestra has been secured to furnish music for the dancing and an entertainment program will also be presented. Employees from the parent plant and all the branches will be present.

RADIO STOLEN FROM GARAGED CAR

When Leon E. Leavitt of 18 Stone avenue went out to his garage to get his car at 9:30 last Friday evening he was surprised, and not pleasantly, to find the radio had been stolen. Mr. Leavitt drove the machine home at 5:45 and enjoyed his radio at that time. He garaged his machine, but neglected to lock the doors! The Police were notified of the theft.

DAMAGE AT LUMBER COMPANY

The police were notified Saturday morning that sometime during the previous night boys had done considerable damage at the Blanchard Lumber yard on Main street.

Workmen discovered that a quantity of clay drain pipes stacked at the north end of the yard has been broken after closing time at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. The authorities are investigating.

FIRE AT HARVARD STREET HOME

An alarm from Telephone Box 37 at 4:52 Monday morning called the Fire Department to the residence of Mr. Jasper Asaro, 83 Harvard street, where a fire had broken out in the cellar.

The blaze started in a pile of old clothing and papers, and was quickly extinguished with only slight damage, the smoke which filled the house coming from the burning paper which does relatively little harm.

How Lightning Affects Trees

Although lightning frequently strikes trees there is usually no damage to the trees or else the injury is limited to the path of the electrical discharge, occasionally stripping off a narrow piece of bark or splitting the trunk or limb. However, in rare cases the lightning may be accompanied by St. Elmo's fire which gives a flaming or brush discharge from every twig and leaf. In such cases the tree usually dies within a few days or, if the St Elmo's fire should miss part of the tree, it may kill the greater part and several years may elapse before the remainder of the tree succumbs.

Jackson by No Means Lacking in Education

John Quincy Adams declined to attend the ceremonies at Harvard college in 1833 when the honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Andrew Jackson, then President of the United States.

His reason, according to his diary, was that "as an affectionate child of our alma mater, I would not be present to witness her disgrace in conferring her highest literary honors upon a barbarian who could not write a sentence of grammar and hardly could spell his own name."

Adams' estimate of Jackson has been challenged by Dr. Archibald Henderson, who tells in the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, the result of his exhaustive researches regarding Jackson's early life. He finds that Jackson, as a boy, received a better education than the average child of his station in life.

Later he attended Waxhaw academy. He continued his studies in that part of Carolina known then as New Acquisition. An account of the life of Rev. Francis Cummins, once a teacher at Bethel, S. C., shows that Jackson was one of his pupils and there is evidence that for a short time Jackson attended Queen's museum in Charlotte, N. C.

Bay of Fundy Tides

The famous Bay of Fundy tides are, even under normal conditions, the greatest in the world, the average variation along the Noel shore being 44.3 feet. The Noel shore sees the highest tides due to the fact that Cobequid bay receives the fullest force of the tides. The bay opens onto the Minas basin and tides pouring into the basin from the Bay of Fundy through the Minas channel surge into the smaller bay and can go no farther. To a somewhat lesser degree the same thing holds true for the narrow, easterly part of the Minas basin where the Avon and Cornwallis rivers empty into the basin.

Pineapple Curry Dressing Adds Special Palate Appeal to Salmon Salad

By BETTY BARCLAY

Here's a new version of that ever-popular dish — salmon salad — which is sure to win friends and influence appetites. It makes its appearance just in time to add variety to menus during the many meatless days that come during the Lenten season.

Chill the salmon thoroughly in the can before opening. Then drain well and flake. Combine with a little chopped green pepper and diced celery. Add a dash of lemon juice, and blend with pineapple juice curry dressing mixed with an equal amount of mayonnaise. Press the salad into a mold, and chill for one hour. Unmold and surround with slices of crisp, unpeeled cucumber, and hard cooked eggs. Garnish with parsley, or water cress, and radish roses.

Pineapple Curry Dressing

1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice
¾ teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon cold water

Cook cornstarch and pineapple juice, which have been mixed to a smooth paste, until thick and creamy, then add curry which has been mixed with the cold water. Beat thoroughly. Cool. It should be the consistency of a cooked salad dressing. If too thick, add a little pineapple juice. Vary quantity of curry according to taste, but never let the curry flavor predominate the pineapple.

To serve with salmon, tuna, or egg salads, mix pineapple curry dressing with an equal amount of mayonnaise and blend with salad ingredients.

This dressing will keep for several days in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Yield: Approximately one cup.

FORTNIGHTLY REVIEWS SIXTY YEARS

Same year—Club furnished the dining room and replenished the China closet of the "Home for Aged People." Club joined the General Federation of Women's Clubs that yea:.

MRS. MARY STONE GREGORY
President 1893-1895

1892—10th Birthday Party.

1893—Idea conceived for Scholarshi Fund.

1896—Club joined the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Club Chorus organized.

1897—Clubhouse Fund established.

The records have within its pages the names of artists, scientists, and writers who have made their contribution to the world—we mention two: Julia Ward Howe and Col. T. W. Higginson. The club gave a reception to Mrs. Howe on the evening of April 29, 1890. The members and guests heard the story of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." This was followed by the singing of the hymn. March 12, 1894, Col. T. W. Higginson spoke on "People I Have Met." Among the many illustrious people he had met were Emerson, Holmes, Whittier, Tennyson and Carlisle.

Five presidents served during the first 16 years: Ann B. Winsor, Catherine Folsom, Malina Dresser, Mary Gregory and Pleasantine Wilson.

In 1897 under the presidency of J. Arabelle Punchard the first big philanthropic undertaking was organized—the vacation playroom. For many years up to 100 children were kept busy with kindergarten work and for several summers added enjoyment was given by a barge ride and picnics with games and refreshments. This project developed until in 1907 a nursery was added accommodating about 60 babies who were cared for by two experienced women. Several of The Fortnightly members took active part in this work besides raising funds for its maintenance.

MRS. PLEASANTINE C. WILSON
President 1895-1897-1905-1905

In 1898 we find The Fortnightly arousing interest in the town for District Nursing in Winchester by conducting a special meeting with speakers to which many of the townspeople were invited.

In 1898 during Electa M. Sherman's presidency, the town proposed to abolish kindergaten and manual training in the schools; the club held a meeting and aroused the interest of the women to such an extent that the town meeting which was to vote on this subject was crowded by the ladies to the exclusion of some of the men voters—a most unusual occurrence—and the motion was voted down.

In 1901 Ida L. Ripley became president. In looking over the subject of the lectures at this time, we find a varied program with literature, travel, domestic problems, legislation, music, all included with a growing interest in the social hour which adds to the friendliness of the members.

Under Lena R. Wellington in 1903 "Gentlemen's Nights" were featured and were most successful and it is interesting to note that at the 25th anniversary of the club (three years later) one of the speakers prophesied that in the future there would be neither men's clubs or women's clubs but rather a club where both should be joint members.

In the fall of 1904 the club decided to wage war on the gypsy brown tail moths which had become a serious menace. A circular telling of this danger and the best means of overcoming it was left at every house throughout the town, as well as mailed to non-resident owners of unoccupied land.

A club magazine consisting of bright and original stories, poems, travel sketches and a monologue was given at this time and became a yearly event for several years.

When the club had its 25th anniversary, Mrs. Wilson was again president and with founders and most of the past presidents at this celebration, a day of reviewing the aims and growth of not only The Fortnightly but of the club movement all over the United States must have been inspiring.

In 1906 Minnie C. Ely became president. One of the outstanding meetings of this year was an afternoon with Dickens by the club members with tableaus and readings. It seems to have been the feeling in the early days of the club that home talent was more to be desired than speakers unless they were of the very highest class.

Continuing the chronical from 1907-1921, the records show that under Carrie F. Wheeler, the club prospered. $200 was raised toward the expense of the Biennial—the State Federation, with 900 delegates met in Winchester. The Chelsea fire, April 12, 1908 called forth a heroic response. A larger income allowed more generous entertainment. The annual club magazine was presented by Mabel G. Nichols, March 23, 1908. The Civics Committee offered a prize for the best essay on the history of Winchester. For Gentlemen's Night, Wegia H. H. Tracy, at short notice, wrote a clever play called "The Substitute" in which Blanche Reynolds took part.

Anna M. Dunning served as president, 1909-1911. A Dutch Kermess lasting two days netted $1,060. Harriet Hildreth's name was placed on the waiting list and one of the Home Talent Days allowed the different chairman to outline their plans for the year. Annual club magazine was read; a Children's Day for 250 children, a Burlesque staged by the Reciprocity Committee were features. Many classes were offered, partly supported by Philanthropy Fund and shared with teachers and pupils, who also benefited by the vacation school. Interest in the condition of the Aberjona and Suffrage are noted.

Mabel G. Nichols held office 1911-1913. An early event was the 30th birthday on Oct. 23, when she read the history of the club; 415 were present. There were many lectures and classes; a vote to furnish a room at the hospital, a vote of thanks to Lena Wellington for 17 years of service to the club. Another major enterprise was the Advertising Carnival which resulted in about $1900 for the Philanthropy Fund. Children's afternoon on New Year's day. An amusing note: Miss Cora Quimby, who was art chairman at this time, spoke at the club luncheon on the topic "What Women's Clubs Have Done for Old Maids."

From 1913-1915 Miss Maud Folts served. The treasurer's report was first included in Year Book. Home Talent Days included the 6th Annual Club Magazine presented by the Literature Committee and the Minstrel Show, with two profitable showings. Club departments were reorganized to follow the Federation plan. Donations were given to Dayton flood sufferers, the Outdoor School, the hospital and other philanthropies. The records speak of the "sale of several dozen forks since the club has grown too large to use forks." The 1914-15 season echoes the war, with money for Belgian relief, hospitals in northern France, linen for French hospitals. There was a vote that members wear neither hat nor gloves at the luncheon. A day of dramatics gave 200 at the business meeting and 600 at the play.

MRS. J. ARABELLE PUNCHARD
President 1897-1899

1915-1917—Stella R. Root (now Stella R. Robbins) president. Calendars were sold for philanthropies. There were contributions to State Forestry Association and to Anne Hutchinson's Statue for the Boston Public Library. On Dec. 18, 1915, the 35th Anniversary was celebrated mid responses from past presidents. Much interest was shown in home economics, in town affairs, suffrage, war and Prohibition. Membership was limited to 600. Music committee offered four lectures and Art, three informal talks on "Design in Common Things."

Annie F. Eaton presided 1917-1919. The Building Fund amounted to $375.86. On Dec. 9, the program was called "An Afternoon of Music and Humor." Presidents of 12 clubs spoke three minutes each. Because of United States entry into the war, the club voted to give up six meetings and give $50 for each to the Red Cross, money for entertaining boys at the front or returned, support three French orphans—in all the club spent $3,043.16 in war work without curtailing regular charities.

The next president was Lora A. Bond (now Lora A. Rhodes) 1919-21. Voted to invite to three meetings high school seniors and juniors and daughters of members. One hundred dollars voted for a school physician. Revision of By-Laws took much space in the records. Community singing at several meetings. Programs were arranged by departments—one by Legislation. resulted in endorsement of many bills. The vacation school fund was transferred to the building fund. The playground apparatus at Chapin School was presented to the Park Commission. Harriet C. Elmer's design for a club seal was awarded the prize.

1921-1923—Harriet C. S. Hildreth, president. The Fortnightly celebrated its 40th Anniversary. Two founders and nine past presidents were there. A short history of the club was read covering many activities for 40 years. During the social hour three large birthday cakes were cut by the past presidents. The Fortnightly News was started by the president with Anna R. Heaton as editor, October 1922.

The transportation service was established. Milk was furnished the public schools for undernourished children. The Fortnightly Cook Book was published and proved popular. Aid was given the "Near East Relief" also the State Federation's "Children's Bed" at the Children's Hospital and many other worthy causes were assisted.

MRS. IDA L. RIPLEY
When President from 1901-1903

1923-1924—Lillian T. Mason, president. The Education Committee as part of its program, gave books to the Winchester Public Library, in memory of seven members who had "passed on" during the year, thus supplying the reference department with much needed books and commemorating the names of revered leaders of the club.

Through the efforts of The Winchester Star and The Fortnightly, a Social Clearing House had been inaugurated. Many organizations used this service which proved its necessity and worth.

1924-1926—Helen B. Emerson, president. Civic Welfare was the keynote during this administration. The Girl Scouts circulated flyers asking the townspeople to clean up their premises to reduce the mosquito nuisance; a petition was circulated asking the Metropolitan Board to better conditions, an article was placed in the Town Warrant, asking that a committee be appointed and a survey made with $300 to be appropriated for expense. It was favorably acted on at the Town Meeting.

The Community Christmas Tree, a gift from the club, was presented to the Town, Dec. 24, 1925. Exercises were held in the Town Hall, the bells were rung. The State Federation song leader led the audienee of several hundred people in singing Christmas Carols. prominent speakers took part in the program and at the end the people marched to the Common, singing carols, where the tree was brightly illuminated with colored lights. The president presented the tree to the town which was accepted by the chairman of the Park Board. A tablet was placed at the foot of the tree, dedicating it to the memory of Ann B. Winsor, founder and first president of The Fortnightly.

1926-1928—Dr. Mary T. Maynard, president. The Dramatics Committee presented a program, printed in a special edition of the Fortnightly News showing a cover design, a short story, children's and advertising pages; 432 present. Tho Conservation Committee planted in the Middlesex Fells, the so-called "Fortnightly Grove." One hundred Oregon spruce were set out near the log cabin; an attractive sign was placed there and at Christmas time community singing was enjoyed.

1928-1929—Marion P. Powers, president. During this administration, a contest was sponsored by the Literature Committee for a Fortnightly song; a prize of $10 was offered by the president. This was won by Miss Amy Bridgman who wrote the words and music. The song was accepted by the club, March 25, 1929. The Education Committee gave to the Nurses' Home, Winchester Hospital, a year's subscription to the Ladies' Home Journal and Harper's Monthly.

1929-1931 — Christine E. Hayden, president. The present Fortnightly Glee Club was organized by the Music Committee. To finance this undertaking, a Garden Bridge was given at the home of the chairman, Mary T. Ghirardini. The proceeds financed the Glee Club for the entire season.

The outstanding events were the 50th Anniversary and the participation in Winchester's observance of its Tercentenary. On March 23, 1931, among the many guests of honor, were Miss Mary Winsor, a daughter of Ann B. Winsor, first president and a founder of The Fortnightly and Pleasantine C. Wilson, a founder and twice president of the club. Luncheon at the Country Club and reception at the Town Hall, then the Art Committee presented a program, printed in a special edition of The Fortnightly News, which included the founding of the club and various committee activities; 100 members took part. A review of the past 50 years in costume and song was given by the Glee Club. On Oct. 13, the club took part in the Tercentenary parade, featuring the early 80's. At a public reception in the Town Hall the president presented an etching by W. H. W. Bicknell "Midwinter in Winchester, Massachusetts" to the Mayoress of Winchester, England, from the members of The Fortnightly. Mayor and Mayoress Collis from Winchester, England, were guests in Winchester during the celebration.

MRS. ANNA M. DUNNING
When President from 1909-1911

During the last ten years, two new departments have been added. During Idabelle Winship's presidency, the club voted to form a special committee called the Preservation of Antiques. Under the leadership of Miss Eleanor Hudson (now Eleanor Hudson Welch) this Committee had a program of pilgrimages, exhibitions, hobby shows and lectures. It was due to the efforts of this committee that the Fortnightly voted to sponsor the formation of a Winchester Historical Society. Two years later, April 1935, Gladys Wilson president, announced that the State Federation had voted to inaugurate a department of Preservation of Antiques because of the outstanding work of our Antiques group. Miss Eleanor Hudson was chosen chairman and later became chairman of the newly created division of Antiques in the General Federation.

The club went on record as favoring the organization of a Junior Fortnightly; two senior advisors were appointed and February 25, 1935 the Juniors held its first meeting. Its interests are divided between social activities and welfare work. The high standard of the Fortnightly News and the Glee Club continue to give added prestige to the club.

An important event in the life of the club occurred in Febbuary, 1934, when we uprooted ourselves from the Town Hall and the smaller Fortnightly Hall in the Randall Building renting Waterfield Hall as our permanent headquarters.

The programs offered by the club in the last ten years, reflect the variety of its interests. In addition to our regular meetings, there have been special conferences, an art conference, an eighth district conference and a School of Politics arranged by the Legislation Committee in co-operation with the League of Women Voters during Dorothy Howard's presidency.

The Fortnightly has continued its interest in the State Federation. In recent years an increasing number of The Fortnightly members have served in Federation offices and State Committees. Among them we count our ex-president and honorary member, Harriet C. S. Hildreth, former State President and now General Federation Director.

Any accurate history of the club must stress its varied and continuous service to the community. This is partly accomplished through the Community Service Committee which has quietly and steadily helped needy families of the town and shared in various social welfare movements.

MRS. LENA R. WELLINGTON
When President from 1903-1905

The program during the last ten years includes helping the Town Unemployment Relief Committee in its distribution of clothing, taking an active part in the work of the Recreation Center. It has sponsored musical evenings for parents in the North End schools, took an active interest in the summer playground at Wedge Pond and provided a counselor for a month. It has made a survey of the needs of the community and the existing public agencies. It has sponsored a public lecture on Child Guidance. At present, it is actively engaged in the Recreation Center on Mt. Vernon street.

MRS. MABEL G. NICHOLS
When President from 1911-1913

The committee for co-operation with War Veterans, also working steadily and quietly, has helped veterans and their families. Other committees have made direct contributions to community life. The Conservation or Music committee has each year sponsored the singing of carols around the tree on the Common, Christmas Eve. The Conservation committee in 1933 planted a rock garden in the Highlands district. In Anna Grosvenor's presidency, the club, under the direction of the Dramatics Committee, brought the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre to Winchester. The Education Committee has at various times co-operated with the school department.

Money for philanthropies has been raised by rummage sales, bridge parties, lectures and food sales. In 1932 and again in 1933 the Dramatics Committee presented a very finished play to the public for this purpose. During Clara Reynolds' presidency, an Historical Pageant and Ball proved a great social success and helped our philanthropies substantially. Our Scholarship Fund has continued its aid to students through the years. While contributing to the welfare of others, we have found time for self-culture. Committees singly or in co-operation, have presented departmental programs of special value in our club life. Many members recall the excellence of the plays given by the Dramatics Committee on its special afternoons and the enjoyable Morning Musicales. The Garden Group since its organization in 1933 has held monthly meetings during the club year of special interest to lovers of birds and flowers.

The members of the Literature Committee are sometimes regarded by the uninitiated as the intellectuals of the club but those within the group recognize only a humble search for information and a joyous spirit of adventure and comradeship as together they have explored the literature of our country or have occasionally gone abroad to consider Scandinavian or Irish literature.

This year The Fortnightly observes its 60th birthday and at the same time shares the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the General Federation. As part of this celebration we have this year honored four pioneer women. Medals have been presented to our two oldest living ex-presidents, Ida Ripley and Lena Wellington and to two members for outstanding service to the Federation, Harriet C. S. Hildreth and Eleanor Hudson Welch.

The serious international developments of the past two years are turning our energies in other directions and once more The Fortnightly is helping to meet an emergency. As individuals most of its members are actively connected with one or more of three relief agencies in Winchester. As the club's special project, it has taken over the reclaiming of clothing for British civilians in connection with British War Relief and a goodly amount of fine clothing has been sent abroad. The Fortnightly continues to recognize the problems of the day and to bend its energies toward their solution.

The History Committee hopes to have within the club's files, a formal history of the club which will include the 60th Anniversary of The Fortnightly.

The memory of presidents, secretaries, treasurers, makers of Year Books and programs is blessed. The individual workers may be unsung but their influence still lives in all the resourcefulness, good fellowship and high purpose of today.

"ONE THING NEEDED"

Sermon by Rev. Mr. Chapman Sunday, March 23

Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman took these words of Jesus as the text of his sermon on, "The Episode of Mary and Martha" last Sunday. He pointed out the contrast between Mary and Martha in their attitude toward Jesus. "Martha thought of the meal and the housework and could not talk in peace until the work was done. Mary could not work with her hands until her mind was at rest. Jesus chided Martha for endeavoring to press Mary into service and disregarding her temperament and her needs. Was this not an unusual occasion, had not their brother died? Jesus declared: "But one thing is needful."

Mr. Chapman concluded: "How difficult it is to see and do the 'one thing needful?'" We become absorbed in the daily round; or benumbed by the monotony of life; or we get in our own light, and it becomes so dark we cannot see the one thing needful. If we can lift ourselves out of the rut of routine, if we can find and do "the one thing needful," we need not be disturbed and anxious about other things, for we will be filling our time and place and doing our part."

Mr. Chapman will preach the second in the series of Easter season sermons next Sunday on the theme: "And When He Was Come Near."

CASTAWAYS OF GERMAN RAIDERS FOUND ON EMIRAU

Emirau Island, from which survivors of seven allied merchant vessels sunk by German raiders were recently rescued, is one of the minor members of the Bismarck Archipelago off the northeast coast of New Guinea, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

While some of the islands of the archipelago are mountainous and of volcanic origin, the bulletin states, "Emirau is a low island of the flat coral type, heavily wooded. It is one of the St. Matthias group, and is marked by the 150th meridian east.

Once Ruled by Trade Company

The island is about 12 miles southeast of St. Matthias Island, and is eight miles long. Variously named by explorers and owners, it has also been known as Sturm, Squally and Kerue Island.

Emirau in recent years has been inhabited by as many as 250 Papuans, but the populations of the islands shift. When deaths become very numerous, their custom has been to migrate to some place selected by the magicians as more favorable.

Natives of the archipelago were once cannibals, noted among early mariners for their treachery and cunning. Missionaries have succeeded in converting the tribes from cannibalsm, for the most part, but even now strangers are in danger among isolated tribes.

At the eastern end of Emirau is Eulolou Harbor and on the northern coast is Hamburg Bay. The greatest of the German traders in the middle of the past century were from Hamburg, the firm of Godeffroy & Sons.

In 1884 a German protectorate was declared over the archipelago, which was named after Bismarck the following year. The German New Guinea Company was set up as the governmental agent.

The Royal Australian Navy, on Sept. 11, 1914, took possession of the Bismarck Archipelago without much opposition. The islands, used as naval bases by an enemy, would be dangerous to the Australian Continent, and for that reason a mandate over them was assigned to Australia.

Odd Ways of Greeting

Polite Arabs used to kiss the hands of their superiors. But when two Arabs of equal rank met, neither wished to appear conceited by allowing the other to kiss his hand. This meant a scuffle, and soon a compromise—they shook hands. There are many queer handshakes. The Ainu, living in northern Japan, rubs his palms together and strokes his beard. Negro chiefs snap the middle finger three times when greeting their friends. On Banks Island, British Columbia, Canada, men lock the middle fingers of their right hands. Both then pull their fingers loose with a crack.

REFUGE OF AXIS SHIPS OIL-MADE TAMPICO, ENFORCED

Tampico, enforced haven of Italian and German ships (one of which was recently seized while attempting to run the British blockade) is at the far end of the geographic blind alley of the Gulf of Mexico. To reach even the threshold of the exit from the Gulf, the bottled-up ships must steam some 800 miles, points out a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. After that, innumerable islands narrow and bar the way to the open Atlantic, from the great body of Cuba, whose head is thrust across the center of the Gulf opening, to the dozens of smaller islands, spaced like a giant handful of vari-shaped land scraps strewn from the tip of Florida to the South American mainland.

The City That Oil Built

Modern Tampico is a city of some 70,000 people, the first port of Mexico. It has one of the country's outstanding harbors, with improved breakwaters and jetties, huge warehouses and modern dock machinery. It is on an international air line, linking North, Central and South America. Three railway lines have their termini at Tampico. One runs northwestward to Monterrey to tie in with steel stretching over northern Mexico and beyond into the United States. A second drives westward to San Luis Potosi, and thence south to Mexico City; while the third extends a short distance southwest of Tampico, to tap important petroleum regions. In addition, canal services operating both north and south of the port provide still another travel facility in these parts.

Yet 40 years ago Tampico was a sleepy little town with no more than 10,000 inhabitants. Its exports were few and unimportant, drawn from a fertile but undeveloped back country. Sanitation and health there left much to be desired.

Then came the swift development of neighboring oil fields, as some of Mexico's most productive wells came in at the rate of hundreds of thousand barrels a day. During the World War, when prices were high, one such producer accounted for 260,000 barrels of petroleum in the first 24 hours. Some 200 million barrels of oil flowed through the port in 1929.

Tampico became the city that oil built. Oil pipelines cut across the countryside to it, "like so many telephone wires." Barge lines brought still more oil from upriver regions of the Panuco, on which Tampico lies. Huge steel storage tanks rose along the river banks, from a point beyond the city to the Gulf.

As a result of the boom, Tampico is today a city of wide, paved streets and big buildings, in interesting contrast to older sections of mellowed Mexican style. It has electricity, modern shops, restaurants, hotels, and banks. It also has a large foreign population, including many Americans. This port has been called the most Americanized city in Mexico, both United States money and language passing current. Because of its bustling "Yankee" atmosphere, the Mexicans themselves have been known to call Tampico "Gringoland."

In recent years, however, the "American Colony" has been considerably reduced. Owing to economic and other factors, its population has dropped from some 2000 in 1930 to less than 700 in 1940.

Other exports through Tampico include silver, hides, sugar, coffee, hemp, honey, cattle and copper.

Tampico is also an industrial center, with small shipbuilding yards, a power plant, machine shops, and factories producing clothing and furniture, ice and preserves.

"Man-Power" of a Nation

"Man-Power" of a nation really refers to the number of men available for service in time of war, says London Answers Magazine. We arrive at it by taking the total population and estimating how many of these are men between certain ages—say, eighteen and forty-five. From the figure this gives, we must deduct a certain proportion of weaklings of all kinds. The remainder left may then be called the "man-power" of the nation. Speaking broadly, a nation can put ten per cent of its population in the field. That is its man-power.

Washington's Escape Cited

History tells how Washington, a colonel under General Braddock in the French and Indian war of 1775, was one of the few survivors in the ill-fated ambuscade of July 9, but there is a sequel which records the wonder of his escape. Years afterward an aged Indian chief came from a long journey to meet him, saying he had a great wish to see the man who was protected by the Great Spirit, and could not be slain in battle, how in that ambuscade, he had specially singled out Washington, bidding the others to do so also, without any effect, until they were convinced he could not be shot and ceased to aim at him.

EPIPHANY YOUTH RALLY

Epiphany young people from 14 to 20 will be the guests of the parish at supper Sunday evening, March 30, at 6 o'clock in the parish hall. An effort has been made to reach individually all those in this age belt, but it is not easy to make such a search absolutely cover a parish, and so the Rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley and the chairman of hospitality, Mrs. Harold Blanchard, urge all young people of the parish to serve as an active invitation committee and to bring themselves and others.

On this occasion those who have good ideas about next year's officers for the Young People's Fellowship will hand in their nominations to Leonard Sherman, this year's president or to Mr. Frederick Phinney, adviser. These nominations will be taken into account by the Executive Committee when it makes up the ballot for the election to be held April 6.

At 7 o'clock Mr. Alfred B. Starratt of Cambridge Theological School will talk on what a national youth committee in the church at large sees for young people to do in the church, and through the church for the community and what young people want the church to do for them.

The Winchester Youth Rally is a rising of the water in our little inlet of church life from the tide that began flooding into the general church last October. At the tri-ennial convention in Kansas City one week-end was set apart as "youth week-end." From their jobs, from their schools, from their colleges, 1400 young neople came, some of them from as far as 500 miles.

Before the supper and rally, young people will attend the Choral Evensong at 5 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Symmes returned from California last week.
